LATE MR. STEVENS WAS AT HOLLINGER FIFTEEN YEARS

Highly Esteemed by All Who Knew Him, and Widely Known in North.

In addition to the brief reference made to the funeral of the late Mr. W. M. Stevens in another column of this issue, it may be said that he was one of the oldest employees of the Hollinger Mine, both in years and in point of service. He was at the Hollinger Mine for 15 years, being one of the shift bosses there. He was esteemed by all who came in contact with him, being a man of high character and agreeable disposition. He was 70 years of age at the time of death, being born in Londonderry, Nova Scotia. Fourteen children survive, the sons including: Ernest, Robert, Charles John and Walter, all of Timmings, Sandford, of Maine, U.S.A., and two other sons away from home. The daughters are: Mrs. C. McLean, Mrs. Moring, Mrs. Wm. McInnis, Mrs. H. Cox, of Timmings, and two other married daughters in Nova Scotia.

HOLLINGER GAVE OUT INFORMATION FREELY

Toronto Newspaper Comments on the Courtesy and Thoughtfulness of the Big Mine.

The following from The Toronto Star of Monday evening will be endorsed by every responsible newspaperman who covered the disaster at the Hollinger. Despite the undoubted strain under which the officials laboured, despite the fact that they were working so hard, without proper rest or time for meals, despite all the nervous tension and physical exhaustion endured, the officials were most considerate and kindly and missed no opportunity to relieve anxiety or to give information. Of course, they would not give out information until they had the facts. They were not at all concerned as to whether this or that newspaper had a "scoop" or not. Their only idea was to give out any facts that would help the public in general or make the situation more clear. The Toronto Star sums up the matter in these words:-

"The frankness and readiness for the most searching enquiry into the Hollinger mine fire, exhibited at all times by the mine executives, is a credit to an organization which might have been defended for a close-mouthed policy at a time of such uncertainties and anxieties.

"On Saturday morning The Star was given a full list of the miners whose fate had been ascertained and those still missing, and so accurate was it that it stood up fully under the test of later developments.

"On Saturday noon, within a very few minutes of the finding of five men alive by the rescue party, an account was given to The Star men there, so that it appeared in The Star and was being read on the streets a scant half-hour later.

"Finally, the president of Hollinger Consolidated Mines Limited, Noah Timmings, a few minutes after coming out of the mine on Sunday night, read to a Star staff reporter his own personal notes made during the progress of the fire."

TWIN BROTHER KEPT A FAITHFUL WATCH AT MINE

Waited for Hours at Mine Shaft to Learn Fate of the Brother with Whom he had Served Overseas

Friday afternoon and all day Saturday and Sunday there were crowds of anxious relatives at the Hollinger waiting for word of their loved ones who were known to be underground in the mine. One sad woman, with a babe in arms, stayed patiently on the scene all day and would not be induced to leave on any account. Young girls and boys showed equal devotion. Many of the cases were pathetic, indeed. One of the most touching was that of Mr. Ossie Martin, whose twin brother was underground at the time of the accident. Mr. Martin had been home ill, but he came to the Hollinger, Friday afternoon on learning of the disaster, and there he stayed until on Saturday at midnight the body of his twin brother, Frank Martin, was brought to the surface. The two brothers had been especially fine friends through life. They had gone to the war together, and together they had come to Timmings to take up civil life and work together. "I will not leave until I can take Frank home with me, alive or dead," said Mr. Martin. And he stayed at the shaft head, his children bringing him food, but no inducement being enough to draw him away from his post, where he stayed until he was able to take Frank with him, though the twin brother was brought up dead from the underground workings of the mine.

If mirrors possessed and could express a sense of humor, vanity would get many a jolt.

The "Nothing Doing" sign that you see in so many faces is the result of doing nothing.

RELATIVES OF BONIFACE HACHE ASKING FOR HIM

If he is in Timmings he Will Relieve Anxiety by Wiring to his Brother at Ottawa.

Mr. J. J. Lynch, district manager of the Metropolitan Life Co., has received several wires this week from Ottawa inquiring regarding the safety of Boniface Hache. The name is not a common one, and his relatives seeing "Hache" listed among the dead in the Hollinger Mine accident wired here at once. Mr. Lynch made very prompt enquiry and found that the dead man was Caesare Hache, a native of Bathurst, New Brunswick, aged 27, with a widow and two children, which did not at all answer the description of Boniface Hache, whose home is in Ottawa. Enquiry at the mine showed that Boniface Hache was not among the employees missing. Other enquiry failed to locate Boniface Hache. Mrs. Caesare Hache, widow of the dead man, said that her husband's home was in New Brunswick, and that she did not know of any relatives in Ottawa. Mr. Lynch wired this information to the relatives at Ottawa, but the mother is still anxious for her son, Boniface. Yesterday, Mr. Lynch received the following wire from Ottawa:- "Will you have Boniface Hache, formerly of Ottawa, wire brother, Wilfred Hache, 200 Stanley avenue, Ottawa. Family anxious as to his safety." This telegram was turned over to The Advance, with the suggestion that it be published in the hope of reaching Mr. Boniface Hache or some one who knows him, so that the anxiety of the mother may be relieved by a telegram. It appears to be certain that the man killed at the Hollinger in the disaster there and Boniface Hache are not the same or even related.

COCHRANE MIDGETS ARE FINE HOCKEY PLAYERS

Defeated Timmings Lads of Twelve and Under by Score of 4 to 1 on Saturday

Cochrane Maple Leaf Midgets (boys of 12 years and under) came to Timmings on Saturday last to play a pick-up hockey team of lads of the same age at the rink here, and won the game by a score of 4 to 1. The Cochrane lads were in charge of Mr. Palangio, an old-time hockey player, and the midget team was a credit to themselves and to their coach and manager. Mr. J. D. Brady picked the Timmings team which did very creditably, considering that it was their first game together. The Cochrane youngsters got all their goals in the first period, after which they could score no more. The game was a dandy one, clean and speedy and the spectators thought it was great stuff. The Cochrane boys are experienced and very clever and will be heard from in the future.

The following is the line up:-

Cochrane Maple Leaf Midgets:- Goal, Macaulay; defence, Palangio and Pickering; centre, Owens; wings, Fasano and Logan; subs., Martin, Eaton, Chamandy, Day.

Timmings:-Goal, Scully; defence, Baul and Daly; centre, Kennedy; wings, Murtagh and Gauthier; subs., Reno, Hamilton, Kent, Twaddle, McKenzie and Genard.

After the game, the visitors were entertained at lunch by local people. The Cochrane team came down at its own expense, and all the way through showed the finest of sportsmanship. Hockey fans who saw the game Saturday said it was the finest possible, and that the boys of both teams show wonderful promise.

McINTYRE MINE RESUMED WORK ON MONDAY MORNING

Mine Clear of Smoke and Safe in Every Way. Opening Connecting With Hollinger Closed for Time.

When the Hollinger mine workings filled with smoke and gas from the fire burning in the old stope at the 550-ft. level, some of the smoke and gas drifted over to the McIntyre Mine's workings adjoining, the spread of the vapours and fumes being made possible by the fact that on the 550-ft. level of the McIntyre there is a connection with the workings of the Hollinger, and it was thought that this opening might be used to allow some of the imprisoned men in the Hollinger to get to safety from the gas and fumes. When it was found that the connecting link could not be used for this purpose, the opening was effectively closed and sealed so that the McIntyre would not be affected by the gases and smoke. In the meantime however, as a precautionary measure, all the underground men at the McIntyre were brought to the surface and all work on the levels affected was discontinued for the time. Since then the McIntyre workings have been very thoroughly inspected and everything being found all right, with no danger from any smoke or gas, the McIntyre Mine was able to resume operations in the portion of the mine referred to, the men going back to work on Monday morning.

day said it was the finest possible, and that the boys of both teams show wonderful promise.

To all those who have lost their loved ones in the Hollinger Mine disaster we extend our deepest sympathy
