TRIBUTE TO THE MEN WHO WORK IN MINES OF NORTH

Men Showed Wonderful Spirit and Courage in Recent Disaster.

In an editorial article last week The Sudbury Star pays the following tribute to the men who work at the mines of the North Land:—

"An arresting and amazing tribute to the character of the average man who works underground in the mines of Northern Ontario was revealed last week when it was disclosed that an examination of all records in connection with the recent Hollinger disaster fails to uncover a single instance where a miner or underground man raised the yellow flag. Officials of the mine and rescue crews alike unite in stating that not a single individual is known to have shown signs of fear in the face of emergency or tried to save himself at the expense of someone else.

"On the other hand, when volunteers were needed to go down the mine in an attempt to rescue the entrapped men, the rescue parties were literally overmanned by workmen and officials, anxious to be of service. One of the touching scenes in connection with the whole tragedy is said to have been the spectacle which occurred when the first instalment of rescue apparatus arrived.

"At one end of the machine shop," said an eye witness who is closely connected with officialdom, "I saw something which raised a lump in my throat. There, with smoke and poisonous gases still literally belching from the mine, were about thirty miners of every nationality, each one trying to persuade the men in charge of the apparatus 'how good he was and actually pleading for a chance to go down the mine to rescue his comrades."

"Once again let it be emphasized, mining is a hazardous occupation. It is hazardous from every standpoint. The man who speculates his wealth is running a hazard that is only surpassed by the men who hazard their lives. The life of a miner is one of constant contact with possible death, from the time he steps on the cage and thrusts his life to the strands of a cable, until he steps off the cage again at the end of his shift. In the interval he handles death every hour of the day in the form of dynamite which he works with a coolly as a clerk might handle a pen. Walking along the transport ways he sees the red light flash and steps aside while a carload of explosives whizzes by. There are many times in the course of a day's work that a false step or a false move would bring his life into instant danger.

"Such experience breeds a spirit of fatalism among miners that in wartime is described in more splendid terms as heroism. No other spirit could have made it possible for 2,500 odd miners, representing a dozen nationalities, to come through the Hollinger disaster with records 100 per cent. clean."

CURLERS FROM TIMMINS VISIT IROQUOIS FALLS

A number of curlers from Timmins visited Iroquois Falls on Friday last and report a very delightful time. The Iroquois Falls curlers saw to it that the visitors were well used and that they enjoyed the visit fully. In the evening the visiting curlers had the pleasure of seeing the hockey match between Iroquois Falls and Sault Ste. Marie, most of the curlers coming home again on the hockey special. The following were the curlers going over from Timmins to curl with Iroquois Falls rinks:—Messrs P. Dougal, R. H. Hall, R. W. Sullivan, T. A. Solomon, E. H. Hill, W. R. Rinn, Don. Sutherland, H. J. Marshall, H. W. Hooker, J. W. Wray, J. V. Hunt, G. S. Drew, J. E. Newton and Geo. Lake.

GRAND IRISH CONCERT ON FRIDAY, MARCH 16TH.

Friday, March 16th, there is to be a grand Irish concert held in the New Empire theatre, Timmins, under the auspices of the choir of the Church of the Nativity. Irish folk will be more than delighted with this event, while all others who like good music and pleasing entertainment will find the evening a very pleasant one.

One of the special features of the event will be a Highland dancing competition open to all in the Porcupine camp. Medals will be awarded to the best in two classes, -5 to 9 years of age, and 9 to 15 years. Entries for this competition must be made not later than March 10th, to Mr. J. T. Heffernan's store, Third avenue. From present indications there will be a comparatively large list of entries, and this feature alone will be worth several times the price of admission.

The rest of the programme for the evening will consist of part songs by the choir, vocal and instrumental solos, duets, quartettes, etc. There will also be dancing of Irish Jigs and Hornpipes.

Altogether, the programme is one that all Irishmen and Irishwomen will find specially delightful, and no other people who enjoy a good evening's entertainment will care to miss.
