A NEW PRIVATE SECRETARY FOR BRITAIN'S PREMIER
Premier Stanley Baldwin has appointed Hon. R. G. Vansittart (left), to succeed Sir Ronald Waterhouse (right) as Principal Private Secretary to the Prime Minister. Sir Ronald started his career as private secretary in 1918 and served Mr. Bonar Law, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Duke of York and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald. Hon. Mr. Vansittart was private secretary to Lord Curzon for four years and since 1924 has been the head of the American Department of the Foreign Office.

W. O. LANGDON SPEAKS TO KIWANIS CLUB ON "LAW"

Interesting Address at Monday's Luncheon. Solos by Mr. Ludlow, Toronto, Appreciated by Club

The Kiwanis Club luncheon on Monday proved a specially interesting one, with several outstanding features. Among the special items were the address by Mr. W. O. Langdon, solos by Mr. Ludlow, of Toronto, and the outline by Mr. Karl Eyre of the vocational guidance plan of the committee.

The president of the club, Mr. Chas. G. Keddie, conducted proceedings in his usual effective way.

Among the visitors were:—Jos. Beeman, secretary of the New Liskeard Kiwanis Club; D. A. Stewart, London, Ont.; Earl Ludlow, Toronto; Mr. Spence; Duncan McPhail, of the West Dome Lake Mines.

Mr. Ludlow, a baritone of much talent, favoured the gathering with a vocal solo, "Invictus," which was much appreciated. As a response to the encore given, Mr. Ludlow sang, "Little Grey Home in the West."

Karl Eyre outlined the idea of vocational guidance, explaining the plans of the committee and asking the co-operation of all to make these plans completely successful. The vocational guidance committee has the following members who will be glad to give any details or information at any time:—Dr. Lee Honey, district supervisor; Karl Eyre, chairman of committee; Rev. J. D. Parks, Dr. Brennan.

Reference was made during the luncheon to the International Kiwanis convention to be held June 17th to 21st at Seattle. Four of the Timmins Kiwanis Club have already signified their intention to attend the convention this summer.

It was expected to have Dr. Doolittle, famous for his work for good roads in the Dominion, to address the club Monday, but the date for this speaker has been deferred. Dr. Doolittle will be here on April 30th. A special meeting will likely be held for that occasion.

The speaker of the day was Mr.

MOTHER OF MR. A. TUIITE DIES AT DUBLIN, IRELAND

Mr. Andrew Tuite, shift boss at the Dome Mines, received the sad news this week that his aged mother had died at the old home at Clontarf, Dublin, Ireland. The sympathy of all will be extended to him in his loss.

CORNISH SOCIAL EVENT SATURDAY NIGHT, APRIL 21

A social by the Cornish Social Club will be held in Hollinger Recreation hall on Saturday, April 21st, at 8 p.m. Social is open to members only. Each member is entitled to bring one visitor, and will be responsible for conduct of same. All members are requested to bring refreshments. No charge at door.

OATMEAL'S NAE MINERAL IT'S A RARE FLOO'ER

The following is from the editorial columns of The Kapuskasing Courier:—

"It was reported in the Porcupine Advance that a man who was furiously shovelling snow off the sidewalk was discovered to be a Scotchman, who had dropped a nickel early in the winter. But this isn't the cause of all the excitement among our local Scotchmen. A recent report of a great discovery in the Land of the Heather has set them all agog. Just imagine! Quite close to Aberdeen it is said they have uncovered an 18 foot vein of oatmeal!"

W. O. Langdon, who spoke on "Law,"—a subject on which he is eminently fitted to speak. He traced the history of law from earliest times, touching on ancient law, especially Roman law, which he pointed out was based on the customs of the various people in the wide Roman Empire. Roman law was the basis of English law. Mr. Langdon cited Blackstone's definition of law, and showed the difference between the common law and statutory law. Mr. Langdon added to the interest of his address by reading extracts from a law book of 1844, these extracts proving of rare interest.

POULTRY BEING FEATURED IN THIS NORTH COUNTRY

Evidence of the way poultry is being featured in this North Land is given by such items as that from Kapuskasing last week, in which it was noted that a shipment of 550 White Leghorn chicks had arrived there for the McKay Poultry Farm at Hartly.

THOMPSON-CADILLAC IS MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

Development of the Thompson-Cadillac has been so rapid that it has passed all expectations of the owners, according to the consensus of opinion at an informal meeting of the shareholders held at the invitation of the Canadian enterprises, Ltd., Thursday night in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto.

James Thompson, who had just returned from Rouyn, had an interesting unofficial report of progress to make. The No. 1 shaft, which is now 150 feet deep, will be carried to 300 feet, he said. The contractor who is doing the work has been making the record of 125 feet per month, and expects to have the shaft finished before the middle of May. No. 2 shaft, which is at present 100 feet deep, is the scene of extensive drifting. When the 300-foot level is reached in shaft No. 1 drifting along the main orebody will be commenced.

There is a first-class plant on the property, and it is operating in full, Mr. Thompson told The Mail and Empire. A crew of 40 men, working in two shafts, is on the ground, and there are sufficient supplies on hand to last until well after the opening of navigation. The company was financed for a year in advance, said Mr. Thompson, and prospects appeared bright for Thompson-Cadillac for the coming year.

A special dance is announced for this (Thursday) evening, April 19th, under the auspices of the St. John Ambulance Brigade. Among the dances will be novelty and mystery numbers that will prove of particular interest. There will be the best of music and all other features of the evening will be of the very highest standards.

NATIONAL MAGAZINE FEATURES LOCAL WRITER

Mr. Vincent Woodbury, Author of Series of Stories in The Canadian Magazine

Mr. Vincent Woodbury, of Timmins, is the author of a series of six interesting stories now running in The Canadian Magazine. These stories depict life in earlier days in the Porcupine Camp, a dog of rare intelligence and fine philosophy being chosen as the narrator of the various stories in the series. The dog, "Monk," has a happy faculty for narration, and not only tells a tale of interest but also embellishes it with descriptive touches that show life in the Porcupine and samples of humour and philosophy that are sure to please. In the current issue of The Canadian Magazine, the fifth in the series of stories is "Monk's Surprise Party."

The dog's master was in hospital with a broken leg just before the big Porcupine Dog Race. "You can heal a broken head," says Monk, "but a broken leg is serious." Monk attempts to cheer his master by bringing him a pretty little striped animal that he (the dog) had killed. Everybody flees from Monk and the skunk. This is Monk's Surprise Party. Mrs. Cross, who conducts the hospital where Monk's master is recovering from his broken leg, is naturally doubly "Cross" at Monk's Surprise Party,—cross by aggravation as well as by nomenclature. The story describes Mrs. Cross, as "a little overdone in the face, a few pounds above good running order, and cut exacting like around the cheekbones, which means clean sheets and pillow cases and education." References are made in the story to the Hollinger, the Porcupine Crown, Sandy Falls, Timmins and other actual places in this district, but, of course, the characters are all imaginary, or composite. The next issue of the magazine is to contain the sixth and last story of the series, which is to depict the Porcupine Dog Race and Monk's part on the great winter event.
