Floods at South Porcupine Blamed on Blocking of River

Committee Investigates and Finds Pulpwood Piled in Porcupine Creek. Mr. W. L. McChesney, of Timmings, Marries South Porcupine Young Lady. Other News Items from Correspondent at South Porcupine.

South Porcupine, April 24th, 1928. Special to The Advance.

Word has been received in town of the death of Miss Hilda Smith at the Essex County Sanatorium, Sandwich, on Friday, April 13th. Miss Smith was a resident of town until her health forced her to go to the sanatorium and there are many here who will regret her untimely demise.

The water is steadily rising on Railroad street. Some of those who have property which has been submerged made a trip down to the Porcupine creek to size up the situation. They claim that about three-quarters of a mile from Golden City there are thirteen hundred cords of pulpwood in the creek. This makes a considerable congestion but farther down, just out from the Three Nations Mine conditions are much worse. Here the water is dammed back to a width of two hundred and fifty feet and the pulpwood is piled solid from the bottom of the river to ten feet above the water level. All along up to this point the creek is full of pulpwood, it is claimed. Below that there is not much wood in the creek and the water is flowing away freely, the creek there not occupying more than thirty-five feet in width. The party who went down took photos of the situation at various points and these are to be sent to the Provincial Government as soon as developed. Complaints have already been lodged with the government and an investigation asked as this damming up of the creek with pulpwood is judged to be one of the main causes of the flooded area around Porcupine Lake.

On Wednesday, April 18th, Beatrice Jobanna, eldest daughter of Mrs. J. MacNulty and the late Mr. McNulty became the bride of William Lloyd, son of Mr. Sam McChesney, and the late Mrs. McChesney of Timmings. Rev. Fr. Lagrevol tied the nuptial knot. The wedding dinner was served at the future home of the bride and groom in Timmings, being at the beautiful home recently built by the groom's father at 73 Wilson avenue. Miss Hannah Burns, of South Porcupine, and Mr. Melville Reed, of the Paymaster Mine, supported the bride and groom. The young bride was most becomingly attired in a blue flat crepe gown with hat to match and wore a gray coat. She carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid also was gowned in blue and gray. The happy young couple are taking up their residence in Timmings, where the groom is associated with his father and brothers in the lumber business. "SEVENTH HEAVEN," ONE OF THE SCREEN'S TRIUMPHS

In regard to the motion picture "Seventh Heaven," to be shown at the Goldfields theatre on Friday and Saturday of next week, May 4th and 5th, it is generally said by those who have viewed this picture that "all that has been claimed for it and more" will be the verdict of all who see it here. It is a marvellous love story, that for sheer simplicity and heart appeal can not be equalled. It carries to the height of stardom two new Fox Film finds, Janet Gaynor and Charlie Farrell. One reviewer says that these two give a performance that surpasses in simple sincerity any that has yet been done on the screen. The wistful beauty of Janet Gaynor smiling through her tears, weary of body and soul, but still climbing hopefully with Chico up the winding stairs to 7th Heaven is something many will go to see again and perhaps yet again.

What marvellous photography in this scene and in the one in the garret beneath the stars with Paris stretching at the feet of the youthful pair. But speaking of photography some of the best shots ever seen on the screen are probably those showing the drive of the taxi cabs from the streets of Paris to the battle front and holding in check the invasion of German army.

"Seventh Heaven" is generally described by the reviewers and motion picture fans as a marvellous picture, with a story that grips the heart and the imagination. It is the kind of picture that people want to see for a second or third time.
