Ten Years Ago in Timmings

FROM DATA IN THE PORCUPINE ADVANCE FILES

R. W. Bro. H. W. Sutcliffe, D.D.G. M. of the 22nd Masonic district, visited two of the local lodges in his district ten years ago. He was accompanied to Porcupine Lodge by R. W. Bro. C. W. Haentschel, P.D.D.G. M., W. Bro. R. LeHeup, W. Bro. C. G. Williams, W. Bro. D. A. Hoggarth, W. Bro. Geo. Vary, and others. The D.D.G.M. was very heartily welcomed. Degrees were put on and other work given to show the progress of the Craft. Refreshments and musical and other features added to the evening's pleasure. Under the capable hand of W.M. Bro. R. E. Sullivan, the event proved to be one of the most attractive and successful meetings held in the district. On the following Friday evening, Abitibi Lodge, Iroquois Falls, was visited; a large number from Timmings, South Porcupine and other neighbouring lodges being present, in all 28 different lodges being represented. A memorable night in the annals of the baby lodge of the District of Temiskaming was the result, said The Advance at the time. Among those present from this camp were:—D. A. Hoggarth, B. E. Martin, A. Joyner, V. Woodbury, W. McHugh, Geo. Lake, H. M. Martin, Rev. R. S. Cushing, of Timmings, and C. M. Carr and R. E. Sullivan, of South Porcupine. Handsome collections were taken during the evening, the Red Cross receiving $25.00. Among the songs well rendered during the evening were selection by Bros. McHugh and Joyner, while Bro. H. M. Martin played the accompaniments on the piano.

"There are a number of owners of dogs who have still neglected to pay the current year's dog taxes in town and Chief Wilson intends to summon the defaulters to court in the next few days," said The Advance, ten years ago, in the hope that the tip would make at least some of the owners concerned hurry to pay, and so avoid court costs and annoyance. Some of them did.

Ten years ago Provincial Inspector Rowell and License Inspector Blackwell seized a couple of long and odd-looking parcels that came into the camp by express. The parcels were supposed to contain plaster of paris pillars or pedestals, but in their express journey here one of the pedestals started to leak and the smell of liquor was beautiful. Investigation showed that under a coating of plaster there were ten containers filled to the top with bounteous booze. The man to whom the parcels were addressed apparently learned that the police were onto the game and he never called for his pillars of booze. At Haileybury on June 8, 1918, Magistrate Atkinson committed Charles Cooper to stand trial on a charge of murdering his step-father, Theodore Taylor. According to evidence at the preliminary trial, the accused had threatened to do away with his step-father. Ninety dollars in cash was taken from the Taylor home at the time of the crime. To Inspector Rowell, Taylor was alleged to have admitted that he and two other men went to the Taylor home to rob the late Mr. Taylor, but he claimed he had stayed outside while the others had gone in the house. The two men named were also arrested.

In The Advance of June 12th, 1918, there is a comprehensive review of the plans for the General National Registration to be held on Saturday, June 22nd, 1918, in the public school. All persons from 16 years to 1600 were required to register, whether male, female, British, alien, white, yellow or copper-coloured. For Timmings the deputy registrar was H. E. Montgomery, who selected the following assistants:—D. A. Hoggarth, Thos. Torrance, H. C. McDonald, J. P. Taillon, B. V. Harrison, Geo. Wagner and D. Ostrasser. In addition fifty volunteers were required for the writing of the necessary cards. The Advance printed the card to be filled out so that all could study the form, be sure of the information and ready to give the facts quickly and accurately. The Advance also pointed out that interpreters would be present for all languages.

Timmings council for 1918 struck the tax rate at 36 mills for both the public and the separate school supporters. This was a reduction of 9 mills from the previous year, but it left the town with a deficit for the year, the rate being set too low. Nevertheless, those were the days when Timmings did not have so many things to pay for and the tax rate accordingly was not so high as it necessarily became in later years.

Ten years ago the Hollinger declared a dividend of one per cent payable June 17th, this being the first dividend declared from April, 1917.

The Miners' Union in this camp ten years ago formed a Women's Auxiliary, the new branch starting out with a membership of 35. Mrs. Hawley was president; Mrs. P. O'Neill, vice-president; Mrs. N. King, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Harriet Prenter, of Toronto, addressed the Women's Auxiliary at a public meeting in the New Empire theatre.

"Pte. Clifford G. Jemmett, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Jemmett, of Timmings, was married at Cobalt on June 5th, 1918, to Miss Olive Adeline Berry, of Haileybury," says The Advance ten years ago. "The groom is one of the well-known and popular young men of the North Land, having been a valued employee of the Canadian Express Company for some time. He was stationed at South Porcupine previous to his enlistment and had hosts of friends in the camp. The best wishes of their many friends will be extended the young couple. During Pte. Jemmett's absence on active duty overseas, Mrs. Jemmett will reside at Haileybury."

Some spectacular samples of gold ore were brought to town ten years ago from some claims near the Crocus owned by Mr. Chas Pierce, of Timmings.

The annual report of the Dome Mines for the year ending March 31st, 1918, showed ore reserves estimated at approximately ten million dollars. The average grade of the ore reserves was given at $5.10 per ton. There were 258,917 tons mined and hoisted and 247,000 tons milled, the average grade of the latter being $4.17. The total surplus of the company was given as $524,797.

The total shipments from the Timmings Red Cross to headquarters to be forwarded to the soldiers at the front were valued at $883.60 for the month of May, 1918.

An editorial article in The Advance ten years ago scored the Government for unfair leniency shown some foreigners here. The British people are doing the fighting, the praying, the paying, the sorrowing, the pinching. They are giving, and giving generously in most cases, to all patriotic causes. The foreigners are giving nothing as a rule; they point out that they are foreigners. But when it comes to making money out of the country,—then they are not foreign to that sweet game. The foreigners have every benefit and blessing that this land can give, but when duties or responsibilities are suggested, then they are foreigners in this land." The Advance pointed out that there were many worthy foreigners who were exceptions to the rule, but in general it was a case of getting as much as possible for nothing in return,—not even goodwill. The Advance urged the Government to do something about it.

Ten years ago The Advance and The Haileyburian had a little argument as to whether a marriage certificate or a wife and family were the best proofs of marriage for showing the Military authorities in connection with the conscription regulations. The Haileyburian suggested that marriage certificates could be borrowed, but not so with families. To which suggestion, The Advance replied:—Just at present men in the North Land are not lending their marriage certificates to anybody, but it is not so uncommon a thing for a man to borrow a wife and family. Only a few days ago an Austrian was brought back from North Bay to Timmings for borrowing some clothes and money, along with the wife and family of a friend. If he had left the money he is not likely to have been disturbed. Marriage certificates may not be absolute proof of anything but neither are women and children beyond question. Does The Haileyburian remember the man in Cobalt who asked the council to bury a dead man from his house. "Why, we will not bury your wife for you!" they said. "She not my wife," he answered, "she just woman." Though she had lived with him for several years and no one questioned their marriage, he was legally correct as to his lack of responsibility. He figured to save $70 or $80 funeral expenses. To-day such a man would be figuring to save himself from conscription by displaying the "just woman" as "This my wife," and "me married man."

The Military police ten years ago took a man in charge under the Military Service Act. He had come up from Quebec without the proper protecting papers, but had apparently passed through all the watchers on the line. While being taken to Iroquois Falls for examination he jumped straight through the window when the train was going at a twenty-mile-an-hour clip. Officers Coulis and Cox, however, got after him and after a weary chase chaptured him, and he was soon giving his energies to military service at Toronto.

Among the local and personal notes in The Advance ten years ago were the following:—"Mr. R. C. Campsie has left Sehemacher to take a position at Hamilton, Ont." "Mr. Sam Bucovetsky is in Toronto attending the wedding of his brother." "Among those going to Toronto last week to join the C.E.F. was Mr. John Power, of the Mattagami." "Mr. Jas. Heppleston leaves to-day for Toronto to report for military service." "Mr. Pete Leclair, Mattagami Road, has an interesting pair of pets that are attracting the attention of all who go near the place. The pets are a couple of bear cubs, healthy and happy and growing fast." "Why not a Twilight baseball league?" "Many were interested Saturday evening in watching the partial eclipse of the sun. The event was plainly visible here through smoked glasses." "About 300 aliens reported here on Monday." "Mr. Frank Evans has returned from Ottawa where he has been in the hospital for the past few weeks. He underwent an operation which was very successful, and he has returned feeling and looking especially well." "Mr. R. LeHeup, inspector for the Children's Aid Society, came up from Haileybury last week and took down with him a young lad who has proved beyond parental control. The lad had been a persistent truant from school and his mother could do nothing with him, so Magistrate Atkinson turned the boy over to the C.A.S."

MAP SHOWING PULP AND PAPER MILLS IN CANADA.

The Department of the Interior recently got out a most instructive map showing the location of plants, names, of companies and products manufactured. The map was prepared by the M.R.I. Service, in co-operation with the Dominion Forest Service, Bureau of Statistics and the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association. Anyone interested in the pulp and paper industry in Canada would be well advised to secure a copy of this map, which may be obtained upon application to Intelligence Service, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

STYLE IN GLASSES

Much has been written in past years on the subject of "Style in Glasses." And more recently style authorities have commented on the decided trend toward lighter weight glasses and particularly toward the use of white gold and white gold filled for eyewear.

There is no doubt that there is a distinct tendency in that direction and one cannot but notice the great popularity of glasses of this type.

We carry white gold frames in several styles. They are beautiful in design and wear well. The vogue for white gold glasses is sweeping the country. Look them over.
