At the end of a hot and lazy summer day...

As the sun goes down and the shadows begin to creep across the veranda, a cool breeze stirs and you welcome the evening. And to accompany the promise of the coolness to come, pour yourself a glass of ice-cold "Canada Dry."

It sparkles and cheers you from its bubbling crystal depths. Savor its bouquet as you sip it. Feel its tingle of goodness and refreshing taste on your tongue. And know that you are drinking a real ginger ale made from real Jamaica ginger.

You'll never know how good a ginger ale can be until you taste this delicious beverage. Dry. Mellow. Full-bodied. With a subtle gingery taste and a secret method of carbonation which enables it to retain its sparkle long after the bottle is opened. Pure. Balanced so skilfully that it mixes deliciously with other beverages.

Big Supply Speckled Trout for Waters of This District

Many Rivers and Creeks in the Area to be Re-Stocked. Sportsmen and Others Asked by Rod and Gun Club to Help When Supply Comes in. 50 Cans of 5,000 Fingerlings Each.

Thanks to the efforts of the Porcupine Rod and Gun Club there will be very considerable re-stocking of the rivers and creeks of this district this year with speckled trout. The necessary applications have been duly made to the Fish and Game Department and approved, and as a result there will be fifty cans of the speckled trout fingerlings sent here in the near future for the re-stocking of the waters of this area. Each can holds about 5,000 fingerlings, as it will be noted that quite a re-stocking is assured from this material shipment.

The speckled trout when received will be used in re-stocking the following rivers and creeks:—Mattagami river, Redstone river, Bristol creek, Craft creek, Shaw's creek, Water Hen creek, Mountjoy creek, Grassy river, Redsucker river, Kemiskotia river.

The re-stocking last year and in previous years has proved successful and the people of the district will have the benefit of this good work in years to come. All should assist in every way possible to make the plans successful. The Government and its departments have done their part well, so has the Rod and Gun Club; now it is up to the people in general to help make the matter a complete success. Without this effort the district would soon be depleted of fish. Now the public generally should see to it that the various rules and regulations and the fish and game laws generally are very carefully observed, so that the full benefit of the good work of the sportsmen interested may be enjoyed. It may also be noted that the game warden, Mr. R. Eddleston has given very valuable assistance to the work of fish and game preservation by his efforts to see that the law is observed by all.

The supply of speckled trout for re-stocking the waters of the district will be here shortly. The date of its arrival will be announced in The Advance. The Rod and Gun Club solicits help in the work of putting the trout in the waters designated. Naturally, it will involve a lot of work, and it all has to be done in a comparatively short time. As a consequence the Rod and Gun Club would ask for volunteers to assist in the prompt distribution of the trout in the waters referred to. Anyone who can and will assist in this good work should get in touch with Mr. J. D. Brady and arrange to help on the good work. The value of the re-stocking of the waters is a very noteworthy matter and one that all lovers of angling and good sport in general should be pleased to help along.

NEW GAME MAKES BIG HIT IN LONDON, ENGLAND, NOW

More Than Rivaling the Crossword Puzzle. Several Newspapers Taking It Up.

A game that has achieved the proportions of a common craze is reported from London, England. It has the crossword puzzle knocked off the map. Many of the big popular journals in London are understood to have taken it up, offering prizes, and running it in the way of a contest. It is the game of naming the dozen (or some other number) greatest men in the world today (or ever, as the case may be). Here is a sample list of answers (all the answers possible are published in each case). This list is the work of a popular young member of the House of Commons. It will be noted that reasons for the choice are given after each name, this being one of the rules of most of the contests. The list of answers referred to reads as follows:

Paderewski, because not only was he the greatest musician of his day, but also the inspired leader and president of a nation of 30 millions.

Baldwin, because he personifies everything that a Christian, an Englishman, and a politician should be. Also because he has gained the highest office in the world, and if he retired from it tomorrow into private life he would be equally happy, if not happier than he is at the present time.

The Earl of Balfour, because he possesses a more brilliant brain and a more searching critical faculty than any living man; because he is a philosopher who has no desire to impose his philosophy on anybody else; and because he combines these characteristics and qualities with a charm of manner which makes the stupidest bore think he is the only individual with whom he desires to converse.

Mussolini, because he has evolved a new system of government, and successfully carried it into effect for the last six years over a population numbering 40 millions.

Clemenceau, because he personifies the logical mind of the French. One of the few people who know what they wanted during the war and afterwards, and got it.

Einstein, partly because he is the greatest living scientist. He has discovered, or is in the process of discovering, something that will advance the cause of science and incidentally increase the comfort and happiness of mankind.

Marconi, because he has given to the world one of the greatest assets of civilization.

Kipling, because he has a unique imagination, which he has used to illustrate everything that is best in British traditions.

Churchill, because he is among the greatest orators of his time, and is also among the greatest writers of English.

P. G. Wodehouse, because he has given infinite pleasure to vast numbers of people.

Henry Ford, because he personifies to the world at large the efficiency of mass production combined with the business ideal of putting service of the public before profits.

Baden-Powell, because he started a movement which has had the greatest possible influence on the modern generation.

The Cochrane Northland Post last week says:—"Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Prince of Barrie, Ontario, who have been the guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Jas. Proudfoot, left on Thursday morning for Timmins."

RACE OF AIRPLANES TO NORTH YET TO HAPPEN

Schooners on Way to Chesterfield Inlet will be Met by Aircraft After Race to North.

Flying a large monoplane, a 425-horsepower Fokker machine, A. Cheeseman reached Winnipeg on Thursday afternoon last after covering the distance from Hudson, Ont., some 230 miles, in one hour and 50 minutes.

The arrival of Mr. Cheeseman, the Northern Aerial Minerals Exploration Company's chief pilot, at rest rumours of a race between machines of the Hammell interests and the rival Lindsley interests in Toronto to mineral areas north of Hudson's Bay, unexplored as yet and said to be fabulous in their mineral treasure. Mr. Cheeseman denied that the planes were in an actual race.

He stated, however, that a real race between the Hammell and Lindsley planes will commence shortly. Two schooners, one bearing prospectors employed by J. E. Hammell, director of the Northern Aerial Minerals Exploration Co., and the other with Lindsley field men, are racing from St. John, N.B., to the shores of Hudson's Bay, he said. When the boats arrive in a week or so at Chesterfield Inlet, there will likely be a race between planes of the two mining interests to reach their prospectors and carry them inland from the shores of the Bay, Mr. Cheeseman, believes.

COCHRANE WOMAN HURT BY MOTOR CAR IN TORONTO

Traffic police of Belmont station said the driver saw the woman, but struck her with the rear of his car as it skidded in swerving. Mrs. Stellors was taken to Orthopedic Hospital with a dislocated hip and several facial cuts. The driver was not held.

PRESENTED HANDSOME WATCH TO SERGT. GARDNER

A number of the friends Sergt. Frank Gardner has made during his work at provincial police headquarters in Cobalt, gathered last week and presented the Sergt. with a handsome gold wrist watch as a mark of their appreciation and a token of the general esteem and regard in which he is held. DEVELOPMENT PLANNED AT TASHOTA GOLD MINES

Development of the Tashota Gold Mine in the Onaman river section is to be carried out from a main working level at a depth of 200 feet, according to an announcement by R. W. Norrington, managing director. The shaft, which was recently completed to the 100 ft. horizon, is already on its way to the deeper level where a station will be cut and lateral connection will be established with the north and south breaks where the main ore developments are expected to occur.

Ore has been encountered to two zones on the Tashota property, said Mr. Norrington. The south break has been opened up on surface for a length of about 1,500 feet and the north break for about 500 feet. The shaft was put down midway between the two breaks and at a depth of 100 feet a connection was established with the north break, where a pay streak was encountered showing between 5 and 6 feet of $20 ore. In order to establish contact with the north break in the most economical manner it has been decided to continue the shaft to a depth of 200 feet. A main working level will be established at this horizon from which both north and south breaks will be explored and developed.

The cross cut on the 100 foot level was reported in ore about the latter part of June. It is anticipated that the shaft will be completed to 200 feet and cross cutting both north and south will be again in ore about September 15.
