CONDITIONS BETTER AT VIPOND CONSOLIDATED

Important New Ore Being Developed at the Vipond, Adding to Previous Ore Reserves There.

The following is from the last issue of Gibson's Fortnightly Review, and refers to progress at the Vipond Mine:

"Recent reports from Vipond, with particular reference to the new ore body being developed at the 700-ft. level, reflect material improvement in the outlook for the property. Some time ago the opening of this ore body was reported as showing a length of 40 feet, with $8 values over a six-foot width. Later reports indicate that the vein has now been opened for a length of 170 feet, that side slashing has revealed a width of 17 feet and that the grade has increased considerably.

"If this ore body continues to stand up under development as it has done, a substantial addition to Vipond's ore reserves seems certain.

"Another interesting, though as yet less fruitful piece of work is the long crosscut being pushed out to the southwest into Thompson-Krist ground, at the 800-ft. level. To date nothing of material importance in the way of new ore intersections has been reported from this work. The drive has still several hundred feet to go before exhausting the possibilities of the ground being explored.

"From a production standpoint, Vipond has been doing a whole lot better than recent market quotations for the stock would indicate. Output during the first six months of the current year, according to government returns was $322,325, a rate of well over $50,000 monthly. Latterly production has been stepped up to around $60,000 per month. Since no dividends are being paid, a substantial amount is being added to the previous surplus and it is rumored that at the end of the fiscal year, July 31st, current assets stood at $400,000.

"Although Vipond commenced the fiscal year just closed with an estimated ore reserve of 170,000 tons at $8.23 grade ore, equal to something over a year's supply, unofficial advices state that as the result of new ore developments this year, there is now about two years' ore ahead, with bright prospects of this amount being further increased as exploration and development progresses.

"Comparisons are no doubt odious, nevertheless when it is considered that Vipond ranks eighth among the Ontario gold producers and is steadily piling up profits, the stock even though it has experienced a bulge within the past week seems out of the line with others of the smaller producers whose production is considerably less and whose prospects are no brighter."

Prospectors Thought to be Lost in the Bush

A despatch from Cobalt to the North Bay Nugget this week says:— At noon to-day provincial police headquarters here were without further word of the two men, John Dick and John Finnerty, reported missing in different parts of the Northern bush.

Sergeant Frank Gardiner, in charge of the district in the absence on holidays of Inspector Moore, has been in communication with the Miller Lake-O'Brien Mine at Gowganda regarding Dick, and also talked with Constable Devlin at Englehart about Finnerty, but the only information forthcoming was that the search for both men is proceeding. Prospectors spoken to here are agreed that conditions in the bush are not favourable. The undergrowth is exceptionally thick they state, and one experienced man said that it was impossible to see more than 15 feet ahead. Added to this the weather has been bad, rain having been frequent and fairly heavy so that the swamps are filled, thus adding to the difficulties of travel. Sixteen men are searching for Dick in the North Williams township section, H. G. Kennedy, manager of the Miller Lake-O'Brien Mine, told Sergeant Gardiner to-day, while two, and possibly three smaller parties, are hunting for Finnerty in the Flavell township area.

Harry Jones, who was Dick's partner, underwent considerable hardship during the trip, according to word reaching here from Gowganda. Jones had arranged to meet Dick at Number 4 post of the claims on which they were blazing lines, and when Dick did not show up Jones went to Number one post. Indications there were that Dick had reached that point, but there was no further trace of him. Jones lit a fire to attract his attention; made a birch bark horn and shouted and searched for him, but without success. Subsequently, he went to their camp two miles away to find that most of the food left in the canoe, had become water-logged in their absence. Leaving most of the food that still was eatable for Dick should he turn up, Jones suffering from hunger, kept up the search, but eventually he was found by timber cruisers in an exhausted condition and taken to Gowganda.

Boy Scouts All Ready Here to Search for Man Lost in Bush

Jos. Wojciechowski Loses Way While Duck-Shooting and Spends Night in Bush. Weather Very Wet and Cold. Boy Scouts Ready to Start the Search When Man Returns Home Himself. Incident Proves One Valuable Feature of Boy Scout Work.

On Friday afternoon last at 3 o'clock Mr. Jos. Wojciechowski, 217 Pine street south, left home for a little duck-shooting. He intended to be home again to go on shift at 11 o'clock at the McIntyre Mine where he is a caretender. When he failed to come home that evening before midnight some alarm was felt by his family, and when morning came and he still failed to appear the alarm was increased, as it was felt that he must either have met with some accident or become lost in the bush. Rev. Fr. Savinski reported the matter to the town police, and Saturday morning Chief McLaughlin started to organize search parties. Friday night was cold, stormy and wet,—the worst sort of an occasion to spend a night, unprepared, in the bush. It was thought that Mr. Wojciechowski had gone out to the Wealthy Lake area and the chief sought for men who were well acquainted with that section. It was suggested that he enlist the services of the Boy Scouts, and it was found on enquiry that both the Timmings and Schumacher Boy Scouts were well accustomed to the bush and would make an ideal search party. In addition, the Timmings Boy Scouts were particularly well acquainted with the Wealthy Lake area, having visited there on several occasions. When request was made for the help of the Boy Scouts the response was very prompt. Soon after the suggestion was made there were about thirty Boy Scouts from Timmings and Schumacher gathered at the town hall here, with their Scoutmasters and other officers, and all ready for effective search work. They came provided with lunches and dressed and equipped just right for bush search work. In the meantime it had been learned that the missing man had been at Miller Lake, past Dalton's farm, instead of in the Wealthy Lake area. This, however, did not stop the usefulness of the Boy Scouts, who were also acquainted with the Miller Lake area and knew just how to conduct a search there. They were all lined up ready for the trip, and eager to be of service, when word came that Mr. Wojciechowski had safely reached home. This information was confirmed by Chief McLaughlin, and the Boy Scouts quietly disbanded. The incident, however, proved the value of the Boy Scout work here. In a very short time, there was a party of over 30 competent young fellows, all ready for the search work. The boys were well equipped for the work, had an intimate knowledge of the areas concerned, and a good working knowledge of how to go about the search. In addition they were anxious to be of service; all this making a fine combination. Mr. Austin Neame, of Schumacher, sent out about a dozen of the best of his Schumacher scouts. Mr. D. E. Keeley, of Schumacher, phoned the chief that he was organizing a party of men to aid in the search. The Timmings Boy Scouts were quickly mustered all ready for action. They were in charge of A. Wright, scoutmaster; C. R. Cushing, troop leader; E. Ansara, patrol leader; L. Fournier, patrol leader. The Scouts all skilled in bush craft, gathered here included:—H. Armistage, J. Riley, H. Fournier, M. Everard, H. Ostrosser, A. Leduc, E. Lacy, H. Fox, N. Roy, W. Cowan, D. Ansara, and Ernie Lacy. D. McLaughlin and other Boy Scouts also tendered their services for the day to help in the good work. The Scouts were going out under Scoutmaster Wright who was planning a thorough and exhaustive search in conjunction with Officers W. Parcher and W. Orr of the town police.

The fact that the missing man arrived home safely made the preparations unnecessary further, but did not alter the fact of the usefulness of the Boy Scouts for work of this kind. Mr. Wojciechowski arrived home about one o'clock Saturday afternoon, word previously reaching his home that he was safe at D. Nora's dairy farm about two miles from town. Mr. Wojciechowski lost his bearings Friday just at dusk while he was at Miller Lake. He was unable to find his way to any shelter and had to spend the night in the bush with the air very cold and the rain coming down at times. He had a trying experience and suffered from the cold and exposure but by keeping himself warm by exercise he was able to pull through without serious injury. His matches got wet so he was not able to build a fire. The discomfort of going so long without food was also

Docket at Police Court Not Heavy One This Week

The police court docket this week was not a very heavy one and none of the cases were very important. Magistrate Atkinson assessed each of four men the sum of $10.00 and costs each for being intoxicated in a public place. A man accused of being disorderly paid a fine of $7.00, with costs. Another disorderly case was remanded for a week. A young man on a charge of theft was allowed to go on suspended sentence after he had been duly warned by Magistrate Atkinson as to the inevitable results that would ensue unless the lad changed his mode of living. Another young man paid $25.00 and costs for speeding in an automobile, while he was also given a second fine of $10.00 and costs for neglecting to see to the transfer of a driving permit. A charge of assault arising from some trouble in Schumacher was withdrawn by the local police on account of the papers in the case not being along the usual lines. This was due to the fact that the local police had understood that the alleged offence had occurred in Timmings, while it transpired in the preliminary evidence that it actually took place in the township of Tisdale and so the case should have been tried at South Porcupine. It is understood that this assault case will be re-laid, the case this time to be tried in the court for the township of Tisdale, held at South Porcupine.

INQUEST TO BE HELD INTO DEATH OF WILLIAM FORGET

According to a despatch this week from Cobalt, Coroner E. R. Tucker, of Cochrane, is to hold an enquiry at an early date into the death of William Forget, a young married man who resided in Kapuskasing, and whose badly mutilated body was found on the C. N. R. tracks near Lowther, 30 miles west of Kapuskasing, recently. Information in the hands of the police indicates that Forget, with a number of other men, had been drinking at Lowther, and it is said a fight resulted. Subsequently, Forget was killed by a train, probably the westbound Continental Limited, although there were no eye-witnesses of the tragedy and neither of the men on the locomotive saw him. His body was found the next morning on the tracks. Provincial Constable Franks has been investigating.

an unpleasant feature. On Saturday morning, after some difficulty, he made his way eventually to Nora's farm, where a piping hot meal and generous care soon changed the outlook for him.
