GRAVEL AND SAND—AND PLACER

In the death of Mr. T. F. King the town of Timmins loses a good citizen and the whole North Land a helpful and thoughtful friend. The late Mr. King was one of the pioneers of this part of the North Land, and his interest and earnest loyalty to the country were not only of great value to the progress of this new land, but they also served as example and inspiration to others. Until the last year or two, when ill-health made it necessary for him to retire from many lines of activity that he had previously followed, he devoted a large amount of time and effort to the work of the Board of Trade and other agencies that sought to serve the advantage of the country and its people. He was generous to all worthy causes not only in money but interest and effort that often proved of special value. In public and in private life he was deservedly popular and his death is a loss to the town and the district.

Fire Chief Borland asks The Advance once more to warn people against the use of coal oil, gasoline and other similar products for the purpose of lighting fires. Coal oil and gasoline all too often prove altogether too successful in the matter of making a fire go, starting fires of much greater proportions than desired. The use of such agents as kindlers is dangerous in the extreme. During the past few days Timmins has had one example of the danger in allowing the use of these oils in connection with the igniting of fires. The use of coal oil in this way endangers life and safety as well as property. All would do well to avoid always, and all ways, the use of coal oil or gasoline for starting stove fires in view of the danger of starting house fires and causing serious danger and damage.

A sarcastic settler suggests that the continued rains are badly needed for the crops. Without these rains, he says, it would take so much longer for the crops to properly rot on or in the ground.

Some of the British miners who were brought to Canada to assist in harvesting the crops in the West are quoted as complaining that conditions were too hard for them. In view of the record made by one Timmins lad, these grown men might well be ashamed of themselves. These men had all their expenses paid to the West and they received a considerable amount of time and attention until they reached the West. The lad from Timmins, a boy of fifteen, worked at one of the lumber mills all summer and saved enough money to pay his passage to the West. He made the trip to Winnipeg without any care or attention from Government or other agencies. He secured a place for himself on a farm and he worked hard and well. Some days ago he returned home to Timmins, and this is what he had to show for his harvesting experience:—He came back looking well and feeling well; he had bought himself a nice outfit of clothes from his earnings in the West; and he had no less than $50.00 in cash when he reached home. The Advance would not trade a boy like that for a hundred of the disgruntled adults who found nothing in the West but cause for complaint. A cheerful worker like this lad of fifteen will make the type of citizen that will develop Canada on the best lines.

In a previous issue The Advance called attention to the injury done to young boys in town through the use of cigarettes. Doctors and others who have studied the matter agree that cigarette smoking is harmful so far as young lads are concerned. The sale of cigarettes to boys is strictly forbidden by law. It is a breach of the law to give cigarettes to boys under any conditions. Some merchants suggest that the sale of cigarettes to boys who produce a note from their parents is not illegal. The fact is that the law strictly prohibits the supplying of cigarettes to youngsters in any way. Notes do not legalize the sale of cigarettes to minors. The reading of the law in the matter would suggest that parents who supply cigarettes to their growing boys or girls or wilfully permitting the children to use them are breaking the law and are liable to penalty therefor. During the past few years some stores in Timmins have drifted into the habit of selling cigarettes to children without question, and apparently believing that no trouble will result. Sometimes the sales are made thoughtlessly. It would be well for the stores to completely discontinue this sort of illegality that is working serious injury to a number of boys. Chief of Police McLaughlin is planning to stop the practice of the sale of cigarettes to minors. Hereafter prosecutions will follow this form of offence. The stores should take warning in time and avoid unpleasant consequences. In the interests of all concerned, the sale of cigarettes to minors should be stopped.

Hon. P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General has made another attempt to explain why he over-ruled the appointment made by the Civil Service Commission when a crippled returned soldier was notified that he was duly given the position of postmaster at Simcoe, Ont. Hon. Mr. Veniot's second explanation is no more successful than his first attempt. Mr. Whitaker, the returned man who was selected by the Commission, gives the lie direct to the latest explanation in its vital points. It would appear that the whole situation sums up to this:—That Hon. Mr. Veniot ill-used a crippled returned soldier to score an advantage for his well-known tendency to political patronage and the spoils system. If the people of Canada will tolerate this, they are not the sort of people The Advance believes they are.

In discussing the resolution adopted by the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade in regard to the proposed belt line of roads for the North, The Toronto Globe seems to be under serious misapprehensions in the matter. In an editorial The Globe says that "so far, little or importance in minerals has been opened up along this virgin route." As a matter of fact there is practically no part of the belt line that could fairly be termed a "virgin route." All the line of roads that it is suggested be followed to complete the belt line has already been cut out. Practically all of the route has been in actual use for some time past. There are strips of roadway already in use for automobile traffic, and other stretches follow the power lines and are in use as roads for the transporting of men and supplies in the usual work of the power companies. The proposal is to link up the several stretches of constructed road and complete the power line wagon ways so that they may be used for roadways for regular traffic. When it is mentioned that the proposed link from Timmins to Sudbury to complete the suggested belt line would pass through Shaw, Langmuir, McNeil, Baden, Cairo and other townships where good gold discoveries have been made, and would also serve other adjacent townships, and when it is also noted that the road would link up the southern section of the Porcupine with the Matachewan, Elk Lake, Gcwganda and Shingtree camps, it is surely easy to see that The Globe is mistaken in thinking that "little of importance in minerals has been opened up along this virgin route." The Globe is on firmer ground when it refers to the abundance of timber in the region, though it would appear to be wrong again in its suggestion that consideration of this feature should be deferred to the future, rather than taken up at present. As The Advance has repeatedly urged, the completion of the belt line of roads for the North would double the attraction of this country for tourists; it would open up a wonderful country rich in timber, game, fish and scenery; it would make possible the development of noteworthy stretches of most desirable agricultural land; it would make possible the opening up of mineral lands of great promise; and it would bind together all the communities of the North. The Advance is earnestly in favour of the belt line of roads and the earliest completion of this roadway as a means for the better development of the North.

When it looks like rain in this country these days, it usually is rain.

A judge in Toronto the other day went out of his way to stress the fact that policeman should not interfere with suspected criminals except in the gentlest way imaginable. Reading the judge's learned statements, it would appear that the policemen has no rights and no privileges, which is peculiar in view of the fact that they are chosen specially to represent the law which is supposed to express the will of the people. The judge stressed the freedom that should be assured to men in general by the police. He emphasized the right of all men to liberty and so on. But if a newspaper were to say right out what it really thought of the line of talk indulged in by that judge, it is practically a foregone conclusion that the newspaperman would be clapped in jail for contempt of court. It is noteworthy that the judges who expect the police to stand so much will not stand very much themselves. Too much consideration for law-breakers and not enough respect for those paid to enforce the law is what has made cities like Chicago the lawless places they are.

A local Scot has handed in the following which may be new to some:—"Why is it that on a cold morning Scotsmen walk with their mouths open?" "Because there is a nip in the air!" A joke like that is liable to be a frost.

The Orillia Packet and Times points out the odd twists that may be given to the law's pronouncements by linking isolated cases, as it were. In Quebec, says the Packet and Times, a boy who has attained the age of 14 may, with the consent of his parents, contract marriage, but even with the consent of his parents he cannot go to a moving picture show till he is 16. The law referred to by The Orillia Packet and Times in regard to boys attending motion picture shows is another example of passing regulations after tragedies have occurred instead of before the accidents happen. In Quebec for some years a wrong condition prevailed through the careless attitude towards youngsters attending theatre performances. No one seemed to pay any attention to children attending the shows, noon or night, and there did not seem to be any thought as to whether some of the shows had good or ill effect, or whether the youngsters obtained the admission fees legally or otherwise. If they had the price they were admitted. Then a tragedy occurred in a Quebec city, and several children lost their lives and others were seriously injured when an alarm of fire was given during a theatre performance and the youngsters were crushed and trampled in a rush for the doors. After the tragedy had occurred, there was then all sorts of attention given to the problem of children attending motion picture theatres. Drastic laws resulted. As usual in such cases, the other extreme was touched. From extreme carelessness in the matter the law turned to what seems to be undue precaution. It would have been far better if action of moderate kind had been taken before the tragedy came. On the one hand it does not seem to be particularly harmful to a boy of 16 years to attend a motion picture, nor on the other hand, to follow the line of The Packet and Times, does it appear particularly wise to mangle off many boys of fourteen.

The St. Mary's Argus-Journal makes a good point in regard to the advantages of town and country respectively when it refers to the turkey suppers for which the country sections in Ontario are famous. It may be added that the happiest place of all is a town like Timmins that has all the city equipment and advantages, and still also has all the city turkey suppers, furnished by those who know how. In regard to the turkey supper idea, the Argus-Journal says:—"Living in the city may have its advantages but just now while the season of hot fowl suppers is on in the rural churches, the argument is all in favour of the country. One doubts whether even the new Royal York at Toronto will have anything on its menu quite so appetizing as those roast chickens stuffed with dressing which cause the church tables to groan at this season, or quite so palatable as the pumpkin pies which have a way of melting in the mouth, or even like the crossbar raspberry and elderberry pies which the good ladies of Blanchard and Nissouri Townships know how to make. There's nothing like 'em!"

The authorities will kindly take notice that the murderer of Inspector Constable has not yet been apprehended.

The continued wet weather in this North Land has interfered with the harvesting of the crops, the farmers and settlers suffering heavy losses as a consequence. It is likely that the price of potatoes this season will impress the disaster on the people in general.

The following clever advertising jingle is from "Inklings," High School students' page in The Pembroke Observer:—

By the shores of Cuticura,
By the sparkling Pluto Water,
Lived the Prophylactic Chiclet,
Dandering, fair Bulck's daughter,
She was loved by Instant Postum,
Son of Camels and Victrola;
Heir apparent to the Mazda;
Of the tribe of Coco-Cola.
Through the Shredded Wheat they wandered,
Through the darkness strolled the lovers,
Lovely little Wrigley Chiclet;
Washed by Fairy, fed by Postum,
No Pyrene can quench the fire,
Nor an Aspirin still the heartache,
Of my Prest-O-Lite desire;
Let us marry, little Djer-Kiss.
