COLLECTED VALUABLE DATA ON COAST ESKIMOS

Eskimos from Department of the Interior Visits Settlements Along Canada's Arctic Coast.

Canada, through the Department of the Interior, is keeping a watchful eye on the well-being and advancement of the Eskimo population of the Dominion's Arctic coast and islands, and every opportunity is being taken to increase our knowledge of conditions among these native wards. While en route to the region around King William Island, where he will carry out a number of important investigations, Major L. H. Burwash, of the North West Territories and Yukon Branch, conducted a survey of Eskimo conditions as he proceeded by boat along the coast between the mouth of the Mackenzie river and Hudson bay. Valuable information concerning the various settlements was collected and considerable material on wild life was also obtained. Major Burwash reached Cambridge bay on the southeast coast of Victoria island on August 31 and after replenishing his supplies proceeded to the west coast of Boothia peninsula where he will establish his winter camp in the vicinity of the magnetic pole.

Advice of the progress of Major Burwash's work was contained in a wireless message received by the Director of the North West Territories and Yukon Branch from Cambridge bay, through the Hudson's Bay Company's steamer Baymond, which is equipped with a strong wireless set. Early in June this year, Major Burwash left Ottawa for Edmonton from which point he began the long trip to Aklavik in the delta of the Mackenzie river. The Department's auxiliary power schooner Ptarmigan, which was brought down from Great Slave lake, was turned over to him at Aklavik and about the beginning of August he began the trip eastward along the Arctic coast. From his winter base on Boothia peninsula Major Burwash will carry out his investigations around King William island and on the mainland. A survey of the proposed tractor route between Cockburn and Wager bays will also be made. This project is being investigated with a view to ascertain-

LADIES' BASKETBALL DANCE VERY NOTEWORTHY SUCCESS

One of the best dances ever held in the Hollinger Recreation hall was held on Thursday evening last by the Ladies' Basketball team for the benefit of the Hollinger Recreation Football Club. It was an Armistice Dance and the hall decorations were noteworthy for their beauty and art. Each light was decorated in red, white and blue streamers. The windows had blue crepe across the top and red at the bottom, these being artistically connected by white streamers with bunches of poppies placed on them. The orchestra was in a bower of red, white and blue. The whole effect was most attractive and the ladies deserve the greatest credit for the pleasing decorations. Once again they proved their talent at decorations. The other features of the dance were equally attractive. The dancing was of the best, and plenty of it. There was one of the largest crowds that ever attended a dance in the Hollinger hall and every dancer was delighted with the evening. There was a lucky spot dance, the winners of the prizes being Mr. and Mrs. Carroll. One thing that everybody enjoyed was the supper served. There was surely plenty of good things to eat. The music was supplied by Tommy Stephens' orchestra and the orchestra was generous with the music. Indeed, the committee hardly had time to gather up all the dishes after supper before the orchestra started again in response to the call for further dancing. This splendid dance broke up just after 2 a.m.

"Ben Hur" Coming to the Goldfields, Nov. 21 to 24

"Ben Hur," the world's mightiest attraction to which all New York has crowded for many months and which equally delighted Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia, is coming to the Goldfields theatre for a run of four days, November 21, 22, 23 and 24. This wonderful picturization cost $4,000,000, three year's time and the labours of 150,000 persons in Italy and California. It culminated in the construction of the gigantic circus maximus and race course of Antioch and in the filming thereon of the thrilling chariot race. Instead of eight horses and the old-time mechanical illusion of the stage show, the new and greater "Ben Hur" shows twelve teams of horses. The details of General Lew Wallace's famous "Tale of the Christ" have been reverently followed. Not only that; the picture heightens the powerful melodramatic and love interest of the play centering in the four romantic characters of Ben Hur, Messala, Esther and Iras, enacted by Ramon Navarro, Francis X. Bushman, May McAvoy and Carmel Myers. The sea fight provides thrills on a spectacular scale. You will gasp at the great circus. You will thrill at the galley scenes. You will marvel at the chariot race. You will cheer the sea fight and will tingle at the love romance. You must see it at least once!

Among the news and notes in the current issue of The C.N.P.C. Review issued in the interests of the employees of the Canada Northern Power Corporation, the following are among the paragraphs under the heading "Timmins Tips":—
Our friend, the Stork, on September 21 visited Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brunt and left a bouncing baby girl. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sutherland are the godparents. To the new arrival best wishes.
Our genial Branch Manager, Mr. J. P. Burke, whose picture appeared in a recent issue of the REVIEW, was married in the early part of September, and we take this opportunity of expressing our best wishes to both him and Mrs. Burke.
Harry Dunfield left on Saturday for Montreal to spend a part of his holidays with his parents. However, a little bird has whispered that he has a soft spot in his heart for the Halleybury Division, so that it is to be expected that his stay in Montreal will be governed accordingly.
Mr. J. E. Sims, our Branch Auditing Inspector, is now with us, and he is rapidly making friends with the employees of this division with his very genial disposition, and his suggestions are very helpful in improving the work of this division.

LIFE

Life is like a deck of cards. When you are in love it is hearts. When you are engaged, it is diamonds; when you are married, it is clubs; and when you die, it is spades.

In Washington they tell the story of a golfing clergyman who had been badly beaten on the links by a parishioner thirty years his senior and had returned to the club house rather disgruntled.
"Cheer up," his opponent said, "Remember you win at the finish, you'll be burying me some day."
"Even then," said the preacher, "it will be your hole."

"Say, Bozo, I heard you were sick last week."
"Yes, I was. I had the new disease called 'clothing sickness?'"
"What on earth is that?"
"Well, I had a coat on my tongue and my breath came in short pants."
