ACONDA NOW DEVELOPING WHITESIDES PROPERTY

Ross Property, About Twenty-five Miles Southwest of Timmins Now Receiving Attention

In referring to the activities of the Aconda Mines, Limited, a correspondent of The Sudbury Star last week writes as follows:—

"Aconda Mines Limited have lost no time in transferring their energies and activities to new fields following their decision to withdraw from the Steep property in Godfrey township, under option since last October. This decision was based on the failure of their efforts to link up satisfactorily the favourable ore intersections into one definite ore body or a series of commercial lenses. The surface indications on this property were exceptionally good, the best indeed in Kamiskotia, apart from the original Jamieson discovery, and it is one of the fortunes of mining that after spending upwards of $60,000 on its development the company was forced to the conclusion that further expenditure was not warranted.

"Aconda's second 'bet' in the Porcupine area, known as the Ross property, is located in Whitesides township, about 25 miles southwest of Timmins. Although staked two years ago for tin by 'Lost Charley' Ross and associates of Kirkland Lake the showings which distinguish the claims from the ordinary prospect are copper, three well defined breaks, 12, 16 and 20 feet wide respectively, having been uncovered with masses of pyrrhotite carrying copper mineralization. The breaks are parallel and about 16 and 40 feet apart.

"First steps in Aconda's programme is to do some diamond drilling and it is understood that with the road to the property nearly completed and camps erected a drill will be on the property and running by the end of this week. In order to move the drill to the claims a five mile road has to be cut south from a point a mile east of the Old Union Mine on the road from Timmins.

"Besides the Ross prospect Aconda Mines Limited is understood to have several other properties under examination. Aconda engineers are carrying on an aggressive search for prospects and have been particularly active of late in the Rouyn and Sudbury districts."

PRISON TERM FOLLOWS BIG ARMISTICE PARTY

Edward Phillips, of Kirkland Lake, was sentenced some days ago to three months in jail on a charge of keeping liquor for sale. Police raided his place in Kirkland Lake and say that they found a regular barroom. The place is known as the Blue Heaven, and the police suggested that the sky was the limit in the matter of joviality. There were nine men in the place drinking beer when the police arrived. The defence was that the accused was only giving a little celebration to his friends in honour of Armistice Day. One witness said that Phillips was giving the liquor away, being a man of means. When the magistrate asked the witness how he knew that Phillips was well off, the witness replied, "because he has a brother-in-law in the Admiralty." Even such high connection did not save the accused from the penalty mentioned above.

Some Tips About Taking of Giving Tips on Stocks

Discussing the matter of tips on the market, The Northern Miner editorially last week said:—

"Tips on the market is the commonest commodity in the North. There are many varieties of it, but hot ones are the most in demand and enjoy the greatest distribution. Even though they may be quite lukewarm, or even cold, the author makes believe that they are right off the griddle. There is the quiet tip, the mysterious tip and the confidential tip. The urgent tip, the inadvertent tip, the careless, the jocular, the boomerang, the blatant, the transparent, the mistaken, the vindictive, the well-intentioned and the two-edged tips tread on each other's heels. From whence arises the impulse to give tips and to accept them? Surely it comes from the universal eagerness to give and to receive "inside information." No matter how hard-boiled or skeptical a man may be, there is for him an allure in listening to confidential revelations and news from the inner circle. He feels vaguely complimented by being trusted with this news. In his tip-dispensing capacity he feels he is conferring a favour. He is letting his close friends in on a good thing, and he hopes they will reciprocate in their turn. This is crediting him with honesty of intention. The trouble with the tip-broadcasting fraternity is that where they are not mistaken they may be venial. They may be keeping some irons hot with this fuel. Alas, it is done. The man who tips with an ulterior motive can be caught out and tagged for what he is, but the well-intentioned, self-convinced tipper with a wrong idea or a half-truth is equally dangerous to his friends. What to do about tips? One cannot avoid getting earfuls of them, but at least it is feasible to subject them to a critical analysis and the acid test of experience."

BE IT NEVER SO HUMBLE, THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME, PERHAPS

Believe it or not, the following is from the last issue of The Northern News, of Kirkland Lake, and no one should be so suspicious as to ask The Northern News to place the "deserted shack" more definitely than "in Northern Ontario," which can scarcely be termed specific. The Northern News says:—

"The following was found pinned on the door of a deserted shanty in North Ontario: 'Fore mile from a nabur; twenty-five miles from a postoffice; twenty-five miles from a r.r.; a mile from water; God bless our home, but I'm glad I'm leavin'."

Sudbury Star:—It is a little difficult to tell from this distance whether all the excitement in Wall Street is due to enjoyment over the election of Herbert Hoover or the departure of Cal Coolidge.

Northern Settlers Ask For Work Not Charity

The Sudbury Star last week says:— "Farmers of the Englehart district have taken the pains to impress upon the Government that they will not accept anything in the form of a dole to compensate them for their damaged crops. They are in hard luck, but are too resourceful to become objects of charity.

"This is the spirit that has made the North what it is. Men who come into this country are content to 'dig in' and make a livelihood for themselves and their dependents. All they want is a fair field, and Governments in the past have learned to respect and appreciate any demands that were made upon them.

"Pioneering in any sense is no child's play. There are hardships to be encountered, and when they come the average settler in the North grapples with them and overcomes them, if they can be conquered. The quitters have been few.

"The sentiment expressed by the farmers of the Englehart district will no doubt be echoed by those in other sections of the North, whose entire year's labours were nullified by the heavy rains this fall. The average settler is too proud to take a 'hand-out,' but the circumstances are so abnormal that the Government is justified in introducing certain relief measures. The public should and will concur. And the succor must be in the nature of methods by which the farmer can earn something to recompense him for the crops washed away by the floods. There can be no quarrel with him if he desires to give something in return for what he gets."

APPOINTED MANAGER OF WOODS DEPT IROQUOIS FALLS DIVISION

(From The Broke Hustler) Following the appointment of Mr. Schanche to the position of General Manager of Woods Operations for the Abitibi Company, Mr. C. B. Davis was appointed Manager of the Woods Department of the Iroquois Falls Division.

Mr. Davis has been continuously with the Woods Department of the Company since 1919, arriving at Iroquois Falls shortly after Mr. Schanche. Mr. Davis was employed in the original Forestry Department as Assistant to Mr. Schanche. In this capacity, he was in charge of the field work of that department. During the period 1919 to 1921, the Woods Operation Control work was developed and Mr. Davis became Chief of Control.

When Mr. Schanche took over the Wood and Railroad operations of the Company, in 1923, Mr. Davis was appointed Logging Engineer. He served in this capacity until 1926, when he came Assistant Manager, in charge of all operations.

CANADIAN AFFAIRS AT THE AMERICAN MINING CONGRESS

Canadian mining affairs are to occupy an important place on the programme of the annual convention of the American Mining Congress, to be held at Washington from December 5th to 8th. The rapid progress of mining in the Dominion and the interest of mining men in the United States in that development have led to invitations being extended to a large number of Canadian officials and operators to attend the meeting. Arrangements are being made to have these delegates make the trip to Washington in a special car. Sidney Norman, editor of Canadian Mining World, formerly active in the work of the Northwestern Mining Association and a life member of the American Mining Congress, is assisting in arrangements for the Canadian deputation. Among the subjects that will be up for discussion will be "The Future of Copper," introduced by C. F. Kelley, of New York, president of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company and "The Flow of Minerals in the World Trade," by J. W. Furness, of the U.S. Department of Commerce.
