SUDBURY DISTRICT MAY REVEAL BIG GOLD FIELD

Tremendous Quartz Outcrop Among the Largest on This Continent. Study Being Made.

The following is from the last issue of The Financial Post:—"Can Sudbury produce a great gold mine? Many arguments have been advanced against such a possibility, just as they have been advanced against the possibility of mines in other localities which later confounded the prophets. Hon. Chas. McCrear, Ontario's Minister of Mines, is a strong believer in the gold possibilities of the Sudbury area. "The operations which started with a re-study of the Creighton gold mine have revealed a situation which certainly was and is practically unknown, namely, the existence of a range of quartz deposits on the inner rim of the nickel eruptive in Creighton township, which are described by an eminent engineer, whose professional experience has covered most of the continent as being among the largest, is not actually the largest, on the North American continent. "Values so far demonstrated are somewhat low, but they appear to be constant over the areas so far explored, and are regarded only as an indication. Even, however, if they should prove the maximum, they will, if general, make a low grade gold mine which would rival the famous Homestake in Dakota, or the Alaska-Treadwell. "It may be stated positively that geological conditions have been established in the immediate vicinity which will come as a distinct surprise, even to those who have been working in the Sudbury Basin for years. "Further geological work will be carried out under the supervision of Professor A. P. Coleman, whose work on the general geology of the Sudbury Basin is the classic on that area. "Actual development problems and policies will remain under the active direction of Andrew Walz, M.E., with M. W. Summerhayes, M.E., as consultant engineer, thus bringing together a strong combination of knowledge and experience. "It is, of course, possible that the history of the Vermilion Mine, which started as a gold mine and turned into a mine outstandingly rich in copper and precious metals may be repeated on a larger scale. "The Vermilion-Victoria-Worthington group are undoubtedly related to the Creighton quartz deposits, being in the same system of faulting and fracturing described by Dr. Coleman, in his 1912 monograph. "A study of the work of both Dr. Coleman and Dr. Barlow reveals the fact that the Vermilion-Victoria-Worthington group have characteristics which distinguish them from all the other nickel-copper mines in the district. The outstanding difference is the presence of gold-bearing quartz."

Desperate Cavalry Rush In Film Here This Week
A cavalry charge such as might rival that famous desperate rush of the Light Brigade at Balaklava, had it been in earnest war rather than in pictures, was one of the many startling features limned by D. W. Griffiths for "Drums of Love," his first personally-directed United Artists feature in over five years, to be shown at the Goldfields theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week. The charge, in which 835 uniformed and mounted men participated, was staged by Griffith 24 miles from Hollywood at Calabasas, a rolling, pastoral country. In addition to the cavalrymen, the majority of whom were ex-service men, the director had 203 veterans serving behind trenches keeping up a hot fire that for sheer intensity equalled his historic battle scene in "The Birth of a Nation." More than 20,000 rounds of ammunition were used up in the bloodless fray. "Drums of Love" is the story of two feudal brothers, pledged to one another by the death-bed wish of their father, who fight and play together and finally part when the younger violates the oath and falls in love with the elder's captive wife. "Drums of Love" is a picture as romantic and human in appeal as "Broken Blossoms," and as colourful and spectacular as "Intolerance" or "The Birth of a Nation," all Griffith productions. In the cast are May Philbin, Lionel Barrymore, Don Alvarado, Tully Marshall, William Austin and a host of well-known character actors.

Editor Finnish Paper Committed for Trial
At Sudbury last week in police court, Arvo Vaara, editor of the Finnish news paper, Vapaus, which has a fairly large circulation in Timmins, was committed for trial on a charge of publishing seditious libel concerning His Majesty King George V and the Prince of Wales. He was allowed out on the same bail of $10,000 as granted while he was awaiting the preliminary trial. The basis of the charge was an article referring to the Kings illness, which article was mentioned in some detail in previous issues of The Advance. Features of the police court trial was the reluctance of the Finnish interpreter Jarvis to translate the articles complained of, and the similar reluctance of the business manager of Vapaus to produce the subscription lists asked for by the Crown. After both had been threatened with contempt of court proceedings, counsel for the Vapaus editor conferred with them and the wishes of the Crown were acceded to. The magistrate held the articles to be objectionable and sent the case on to trial.

Mother and Son Before Magistrate on Same Day
There was a rather unusual occurrence at the last police court session in Cobalt, a mother and her son being before the court on the same day. The son, Aarne Niemi was charged with stealing some scrap iron from the town dump, the Cobalt town scavenger claiming that such material was one of his perquisites. The young man said that he took the material to build a bath house and fireplace, and thinking that it had no regular owner and was simply waste material that he could take without objection. He was allowed to go on paying the costs. The mother did not fare so well. She was accused by the police of having home-brewed beer on her premises on Third street where she ran a steam bath. She was convicted of an offence against the Ontario Liquor Act and was fined $100.00 and costs or thirty days. She accepted the jail term.

Christmas Mass at the St. Anthony's Church

At Christmas, the midnight High Mass was celebrated at St. Anthony's church with very impressive ceremony. Rev. Father Theriault officiated, assisted by Rev. Father A. Lafontaine as deacon and Rev. Father G. LaForest as sub-deacon. The special music for the occasion was provided in very effective way by a mixed choir of fifty voices under the able direction of Mr. Omer Demers. "Holy Night" was sung by Mr. Joseph Belanger, accompanied by a pleasing orchestra composed of several members of Birrell Bell's orchestra. The orchestra included:—Birrell Bell, H. Perreault, Miss Poulin and A. Laporte. During the offertory Mrs. Joseph Theriault sang "The Pastoral" in pleasing way. During the second mass hundreds and hundreds of communions were distributed to the faithful. During that time a violin quartette was played by the Birrell Bell quartette, accompanied by the organ. This excellent music was one of the specially attractive features of the service. The third mass was the thanksgiving mass. The church was taxed to capacity for this service, fully 1500 persons being present. On Christmas Day, Dec. 25th, at 10 a.m., the mass was sung by a group of thirty boys under the able direction of Rev. Father A. Lafontaine. The solemn High Mass of Christmas with deacon and sub-deacon, will be repeated on Epiphany Day, Jan. 6th. The sermon of the day will be delivered by Rev. Father A. Lafontaine.
