At the annual meeting of the Halleyburian Board of Trade last week, H. C. Dunbar was re-elected president for 1929; W. J. McLean, vice-president; and L. W. Coon, secretary. A despatch last week from Montreal told of the sudden death there on Friday of Terry O'Shea, of Cochrane, at the age of 25 years. An inquest was held and the jury returned a verdict of natural death, the autopsy revealing an abscess which was without doubt the cause of the untimely death of the young man from Cochrane.

The epidemic of measles which struck the town of Cobalt early this year is continuing with little apparent abatement. New cases are still being reported to the authorities. About 40 or 50 cases altogether have been reported, but fortunately none of them have been of serious type. Last week there were a half-dozen homes placed under quarantine from new cases developing.

Stephen Fournier, Sudbury's first mayor, and for many years a valued and respected citizen of that town, died last week, aged 75 years. For the past 22 years he was registrar of the Sudbury district. North Bay, Cobalt, Cochrane and other city and town councils have gone on record as opposed to the proposal that the municipalities be required to contribute to the province's half of the old age pension scheme of the Dominion Government. While it is admitted that municipalities have enough already to look after in the way of finances, it should not be forgotten that directly or indirectly the individual municipalities will have to contribute to the province in the matter. Hon. Mr. Ferguson's plan that they should pay in proportion to their part in the scheme seems to be fair enough.

IROQUOIS FALLS TIES SECOND HALF MONDAY

Continued from Front Page this section man combination, but Baxter saved. Pender drew first blood in this period, when he made it two for the Eskimos. Time 14.45. From the face-off the Falls kept the play in South End territory, and two minutes later Fraser and Chircoski went in, the former finding the net behind Baxter. Iroquois Falls 3. Again from the face-off the Falls pressed, and a scrimmage occurred in the corner near the South Porcupine net. Evans was crushed against the boards, the St. John Ambulance Brigade men carrying him off suffering from a nasty cut in the forehead. Mill went to the box for five minutes for this offence. With the Gold Miners a man shy, the Falls made extra efforts to score. Chircoski tried one but Baxter saved, and with seven seconds to go he came in again with Fraser shot, Fraser got the rebound and scored. Iroquois Falls 4. The face-off gave South Porcupine their chance but the going rang with the Miners rushing on Kerr. South Porcupine 1, Iroquois Falls 4.

Third period:—This period opened with the Miners still one man shy, Mill finishing up his penalty in the box. Fell went in, but was wide, Hudson went through alone, but Kerr saved. With one minute and forty seconds gone, Gilmour went in alone and made it two for South Porcupine. Mills returned to the ice, when the period was two minutes old, and fifty seconds later Pender and Wilson went in, the latter making it five for the Eskimos. South Porcupine pressed hard, the play was kept in Falls' territory. Fell went to the box for a trip, Fraser joining him right after for the same offence. With nearly seven minutes gone Mills found the net behind Kerr for South Porcupine's third counter. Hudson went in, but Kerr saved. The Eskimos now started the old game of the winning team, of shooting the puck up the ice, and they kept this up fairly regularly until the end of the game. The Miners kept pressing the play, with a four-man forward line, but were forced to keep falling back when the Eskimos consistently shot the puck up the ice. Wilson made a rush, and with only Baxter to beat, failed. Gilmour was hurt, but didn't leave the ice. Spence was consistently loafing off-side. He got a nasty butt-end, and had to be helped off the ice to the dressing room. Trotter went to the box when he tripped Hudson, when the latter was going through for what looked like a sure goal, and right after when the husky doctor was again going in, Huggins replaced Trotter's performance and was given an enforced rest. Kerr now proved his ability. With his team two men shy he came in for a regular bombardment but was proof against all shots. More then ever the Eskimos shot the puck up the ice. The return of Trotter and Huggins saw Eskimos make their last effort to score, but Baxter made a nice save. The final gong rang, with Kerr stopping them from all sides, and the South Enders four men strong in front of him.
