Eno is so Mild and so Good for the Whole Family

ENO is so effective, yet so gentle and soothing, it can be given to any child. You will like it and children soon learn to love its pleasant taste and sparkling bubbleness. ENO supplies just that help which Nature needs to prevent the accumulation of trouble-making poisonous waste matter in the inner system . . . to keep those tender bodies inwardly clean and outwardly healthy. Start giving your children ENO to-day and take it yourself, but remember there is only one ENO's "Fruit Salt" . . . that non-habit-forming health beverage celebrated the world over for 60 years. Resolutely refuse substitutes.

The words "Fruit Salt" and ENO are the registered trade marks of J. C. ENO Ltd.

Ten Years Ago
in Timmins

From data in the Porcupine Advance Files.

In this column last week extended reference was made to the address given at Timmins by Councillor Peter Wright of the British Sailors' Union, in which he scored the Bolshevik. In the issue of April 9th, 1919, The Advance makes reference to another address by Peter Wright, speaking to an audience of 1500 soldiers at a dinner given in Toronto by Mr. Edmund Bristol, M.P. Among other things Councillor Wright was reported as saying: "Now, men, as an old man who has been knocking round the world for a good many years, I make an appeal to you now that you are out of the Army to make a resolution that you are going to live for this Canada of yours and make it a happier land and reap the full reward of that for which you fought. Only a week ago when I was speaking at Timmins, I was handed a leaflet upon which was written an appeal to the soldiers now that they have won the war to unite for the purpose of creating a revolution. I ask you to beware of the dirty hounds who put forth such arguments. I have been in Petrograd; I have seen the Soviet; I have seen that dog, Trotsky. And my advice to you is to keep clear of the blighters."

In an interview ten years ago, Chairman J. L. Englehart, of the T. & N. O., said that the actual extensions of the railroad decided upon for 1919 were a seven-mile spur from Swastika to Kirkland Lake, and an extension from Timmins to the Mattagami river. He indicated that much preliminary work was also to be undertaken in preparation for the Hudson Bay extension.

Speaking of Kirkland Lake, The Advance ten years ago published an interview with Mr. M. Boivin who had just returned from a visit to Kirkland Lake. Here is part of what Mr. Boivin said about Kirkland Lake ten years ago. It looks well in view of the developments in the Kirkland Lake area in the meantime:—"Kirkland Lake is a big and thriving camp, and its growth and enterprise are certainly remarkable. I expected to see a few houses and a shaft or two, but what I actually saw was a bustling modern camp and a stretch of about two miles of shafts and other mining works. The people of the North Land should be proud to know that they have a new camp like Kirkland Lake. It certainly looks like a comer."

It was the sad duty of The Advance ten years ago to refer to the death of Major C. H. Gordon. The Advance said:—"Many friends and acquaintances here will learn with very deep regret of the death of Major C. H. Gordon, who was second in command of the Forestry Battalion recruited here in 1917, and who visited here and addressed meetings in the camp during the recruiting of that battalion. He died at Regina, Sask., after a week's illness from pneumonia, following an attack of influenza during a visit to Halleybury recently. He was a brother of Mr. W. A. Gordon, barrister, of Halleybury, and Lieut. Gordon, who had charge of the recruiting for the Forestry Battalion. The late Major Gordon served in France with the Fifth Battalion and was seriously wounded in September, 1916, at the battle of the Somme. He was invalided home to Canada, but went back overseas with the Forestry Battalion. In January of this year he again returned to Canada, following the sad news of the death of his wife."

Reginald Osman Hawkins, a miner who came to Timmins from South Africa early in 1919, died on April 6th, 1919, from pneumonia, following an attack of influenza. He was only one week. A widow and two small children were left to mourn the untimely loss. The late Reginald Hawkins was born in England in 1884, and had followed the mining business for many years.

Ten years ago, two brothers were arrested "up the river" on charges of being defaulters under the Military Service Act, and also failing to register as required by the war-time law. The evidence showed that the two young men had been staying in the bush to avoid military service. They had a system of signals to warn them of the approach of officers. On one occasion officers going to arrest them had been driven away by shot-gun fire. The defence was to the effect that they had not known of the law's requirements, but at the same time they admitted that they had remained in the bush in hiding because they were afraid of punishment. The young men were reminded that not only had they avoided the requirements of the law, but their attempt to defy the authorities was even more objectionable at the time. They were each sentenced to three years in Kingston penitentiary.

At the regular meeting of the town council ten years ago, Dr. H. H. Moore, Medical Health Officer, recommended the extension of the waterworks and the installation of a sewerage system as a measure of protection to health and sanitation. He also urged a mechanical method of chlorination of the town water as superior to the plan in use. The recommendations of the M.H.O. were turned over to the Contingencies committee. Several accounts for the burial of victims of the influenza were ordered paid and others were held over for enquiry, as some of them were for people formerly resident out of town and for which other municipalities might be liable. Mayor McInnis referred to the good citizenship shown in the matter by the undertaker J. T. Easton. The latter felt that for the public health and safety, the bodies should be buried as quickly as possible; after attending to this duty, he had made every possible effort to collect from the relatives and friends of the deceased. A by-law to authorize the mailing of tax notices was given its requisite readings and finally passed. After a general discussion the council decided to proceed with the preparations for the waterworks extensions, and also to at once secure the advice of the Provincial Board of Health regarding the need for sewers. The mayor and several of the councillors believed the sewerage system very necessary for the public health and safety.

Frank McCurry, a man of about sixty years of age, who had been living in a cabin on the other side of Pearl Lake, was found dead in this little house one day ten years ago. The body was frozen when found. The door was locked on the inside and had to be forced to gain entrance when the man was missed and acquaintances became anxious about him. The unfortunate man apparently had fallen on his head, perhaps in a fainting spell. His neck was broken. The coroner, after viewing the body and investigating the circumstances, considered an inquest unnecessary. The late Frank McCurry had been living in the shack all winter. He had no relatives in the district and practically nothing was known about him here. Announcement was made in The Advance ten years ago that J. K. Moore had purchased the building at 36 Third avenue, opposite Dalton's and was opening an ice cream parlour and confectionery shop. A bakeshop was being built on the rear of the building.

There were two items in The Advance ten years ago about Jack MacLean, then, as now, one of the very popular residents of the district. The one item said:—"Mr. J. D. MacLean returned on Thursday last from the south, looking well and feeling as good as he looks he says. He was in Toronto some weeks undergoing medical treatment for his injured back, and seems now to have found the road to a sure cure. He was treated by specialists at the Toronto General hospital and is to return in the course of a month or so for final treatment." Jack was injured at a hockey match in which he was playing for New Liskeard and the feeling of New Liskeard in the matter was partially suggested by the other item referred to. This other item was headed:—"A Pleasant Surprise for a Good Fellow," and read as follows:—"Last week Jack MacLean, who had been south taking medical treatment, was at his home in New Liskeard. He noticed posters for a hockey game,—"for a good cause," the bills said, though the cause was not stated. "I guess it must be for the hospital," Jack said, and so like the good fellow he always is, he went to the game and took two girls along. This week he received a letter from the secretary-treasurer of the New Liskeard fire department enclosing a cheque for $60.50, being the proceeds of that hockey match. This amount had been turned over to the department by those in charge to be forwarded to Jack MacLean as a slight token of the esteem in which he is held as a former member of the New Liskeard hockey team, the amount being forwarded with all good wishes."

A front page article in The Advance ten years ago showed that Timmins was the centre of a forty-mile area of gold. The article pointed out that there was activity in the vicinity of Gold Island, Night Hawk Lake section east of Timmins. A deal was on for the purchase of the Jamieson claims in Robb township, west of Timmins. Across this stretch of forty miles, it was explained there were about 20 mines at work, to say nothing about the score or more of good prospects. Another article in the same issue referred to the special activity expected in the coming summer in Deloro township, the Ankerite, Porphyry Hill, Little Pet, Preston claims and others, to be worked on extended scale, it was hoped.

Reference was made ten years ago to the plans under way by Labour men of the North Land to establish a newspaper to specially present Labour news and views. In the committee dealing with the matter were:—N. McKinnon, Timmins, John Vanier, Ironquill Falls; E. Sheppard, North Bay; J. McGuire, Cobalt; H. Kineburg, Kirkland Lake, and others. There was consideration of the idea of purchasing the plant of The North Bay Advocate.

"The North Land lost a well-known, popular and gifted citizen last week," said The Advance ten years ago in referring to the death of Mr. Geo. Ross, formerly town solicitor of Cobalt. "He was one of the authorities on municipal law in the province and otherwise a man of unusual gifts. In addition he was always a genial gentleman, widely known and much esteemed throughout the North Land. In his earlier days he was in the newspaper business and also served for a time as a school teacher. Then he went into the practice of law, being in partnership for a time with the famous counsel, E. F. B. Johnston, Toronto. One of the most famous of Mr. Ross' cases was his defence of the Hyams twins accused of the murder of their brother for insurance money. Although there was much circumstantial evidence against them they were acquitted largely through the good work of the late Mr. Ross. Mr. Ross came to Cobalt in the early days and was for many years town solicitor there. He was 56 years of age and unmarried. He died in the hospital after an illness of only 24 hours."

The report of the Porcupine Consolidated Patriotic Club for the year ending March, 1919, was given ten years ago by the treasurer, J. P. Tallon. The total contributions made by the P.C.P.C. to the Canadian Patriotic Fund at Ottawa totalled $16,500.00, while the Canadian Patriotic Fund had sent $6,500.00 from Ottawa to Timmins for local disbursements to soldiers' wives and families, thus leaving a surplus of $10,000.00 more sent from here to Ottawa than paid by Ottawa here. During the year the total receipts of the Porcupine Branch of the Patriotic Fund were $6,569.50. The disbursements were $5,763.95, leaving a balance of $805.75 as at March 31st, 1919.

Ten years ago Chief Chas. McInnis was busy cleaning up affairs in the township of Tisdale. Each week he had a large list of court cases and made it very plain that everything must be conducted on a decent and law-abiding plan in Tisdale township. Among the local and personal items in The Advance ten years ago were the following:—"A number of friends spent a very enjoyable social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. La Prairie on Thursday night last, the occasion being in honour of Mr. Henry Mueller, recently returned from overseas. He enlisted with the 228th and spent about two years overseas." "The Timmins Firemen's Club last week received a cheque for $100.00 from Mr. J. P. McLaughlin to be used for the purposes of the club, and they express very sincere appreciation of the generous gift." "Mr. and Mrs. Jack West have returned to the camp." "Mr. E. P. Ladbroke left on Friday on a visit to his home in England."

"Mrs. A. G. Carson and daughter, Evelyn, leave this week on a visit to Shawville Quebec." "Sergeant A. E. Sims, brother of Mr. Robt. Sims, was one of the returning soldiers arriving from overseas on the Corona." "Mr. P. Dougal returned last night to the camp, accompanied by his bride, Mrs. D. W. O'Sullivan is another of the new brides to come to the camp last night." "Mr. Jos. Brisson, who has been so successfully conducting the Timmins Lunch Car, opposite the station, and next to the theatre is opening up a restaurant this week at South Porcupine."

"Sergeant S. R. McCoy, brother of W. E. McCoy, of the Hollinger, is in camp. Sergeant McCoy recently returned from overseas after an active service of 22 months in France." "By the end of next week the Goldfields branch of the G.W.V.A. expect to be settled temporarily in their club quarters in the upstairs of the King-Amusement Parlours building. The rooms are kindly given free to them by Mr. T. F. King until more permanent quarters are secured." "Mr. R. E. Leonard, who has been a popular and esteemed citizen of the camp for the past four or five years, leaves to-day to take a position as travelling representative for a big wholesale grocery concern. During his residence in camp Mr. Leonard has won innumerable friends by his invariable courtesy, his straightness and competence in business, with his general high character, and he will be much missed here in many circles." "The Wabi Iron Works have had men here at work remodeling the water tank at the rear of the fire hall so that it may be used throughout the year as an auxiliary to the pumping service." "Mr. C. J. Appel, for the past year manager of the New Empire theatre, leaves shortly for Brandon, Man., where he will have charge of the Allen theatre there as manager. Mr. Appel is at present in Buffalo on business, but on his return will proceed to the West, accompanied by Mrs. Appel and little Miss Patsy, if the latter is sufficiently recovered from her present illness. Patsy has been ill for some days with influenza, but all will be pleased to know that she is making good progress to recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Appel have been several months here and will be particularly missed in musical circles where their talent was a decided asset to the town. Mr. Gene Colombo is taking Mr. Appel's place as manager of the theatre." "Just as he was boarding the train here on Friday last, Provincial Officer Moore was taken with a fainting spell and collapsed on the platform. Medical aid was at once summoned and he was taken to his home at South Porcupine where he is making favourable progress to recovery. It appears that Provincial Officer Moore and members of his family and friends partook one day last week of some canned goods, after which all of them were taken ill. The symptoms were of ptomaine poisoning and Mr. Moore was specially affected, being quite ill for a time. On Friday, however, he was recovered sufficiently to be around again at his duties until seized by the illness again just at train time." "The Schumacher Pleasure Club gave a supper and dance to the returned soldiers of the town, and a delightful time was spent by all present at the event. In addition to the dancing and a particularly attractive supper, there was a choice musical programme, including solos by Messrs S. Lynn, T. Huntly, W. Curtis and Mrs. Parker." "Lieut. Garner, formerly of the Hollinger and McIntyre staffs, but for some years overseas, where he was seriously wounded in one leg, was welcomed to the camp last week. He has come here to take charge of the Government Employment office now located in the building formerly occupied by Sims & Hooker, and more recently by Mrs. N. Auld."

REFUSED TO RESIGN SO INSPECTOR WAS LET GO

Some days ago the council of the township of Teck meeting at Kirkland Lake asked for the resignation of Sanitary Inspector Alex O'Hara. The inspector refused to resign unless some valid reason was given why he should do so, and as the council could suggest no other reason than the idea of economy, Mr. O. Hara refused to resign. As a consequence the Teck council held another meeting at which the Sanitary Inspector was dismissed, his duties being added to those already performed by Gordon Browne, the township foreman.

The Halleyburian last week says:—"Mrs. O. Mayhew has gone to Timmins for a visit with friends and relatives."
