Execution of John Ivanchuk Now Stayed Until July 19th

Man Sentenced to Hang on Friday This Week for the Murder of Inspector Constable Granted Reprieve by Minister of Justice. Thought that Stay of Execution is for Purpose of Considering New Evidence.

Word was received in town yesterday that Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice for the Dominion, had granted a reprieve for John Ivanchuk, convicted in the early part of April of the murder of Inspector Harry Constable at Cochrane in October, 1926, and sentenced to be hanged on Friday of this week, June 21st.

It was to the jury to decide whether it was to be believed or not," said Chief Justice Latchford, who also deprecated the value of the new alibi evidence presented by the defence counsel at the appeal, pointing out that the case with which evidence of an alibi is procurable is one reason why it is looked upon with suspicion.

PLEASE DON'T BATHE YOUR DOGS IN GILLIES LAKE

Wrongful Use of Gillies Lake Spoiling Place Fixed by Council for Use of Youngsters as Bathing Place.

Last year the town authorities spent some time, effort and money to arrange a safe and suitable place at Gillies Lake for the youngsters of the town to use as a bathing place.

During the past week or so, however, the comfort of the youngsters has been considerably interfered with through the practice of some people of using the place for the bathing of their dogs.

It is to be hoped that the objectionable practice complained of will be stopped at once. Unless the interference with the rights of the youngsters is stopped, there will no doubt be further steps taken to prevent the objectionable use of the place fitted up for the use of the children for bathing.
