the situation philosophically. The people who pioneer in a country like this are used to hardships. This fire destroyed the homes of several families who went through the same experience in the Porcupine conflagration a few years ago. There is no use grumbling at your lot just because your house has blown away." "Let's start all over again." And that's what they are doing."

HARDEST OF HARD LUCK IS TAKEN WITH PHILOSOPHY
 The Cranberry Portage Northland says:—
 "The newspapers and public outside of Cranberry Portage were apparently more excited about the fire here last week, than were the residents, many of whom lost their "all" in the flames. Of course, there were many pitiful scenes, but nothing quite as bad as pictured in some of the outside newspapers.

"It is tough, speaking in the vernacular, to stand by, helplessly, and see all you possess licked up in a few minutes.

THE FORD CAR STEEL BODY

Combines Strength with Beauty

THE high grade steel used in building Ford car bodies gives maximum driving protection. Beauty of design has been combined with rugged strength in these all-steel bodies. The wood parts shown in the diagram are used only for attaching the interior trim and roof material.

If this body—that of the Tudor Sedan in this instance—mounted on a Model "A" chassis, were turned over and resting on the roof, it would support the chassis, engine and all without even bending the narrow window pillars. Such is the strength and high safety factors of Ford engineering.

Vision obstruction is reduced to a minimum by the use of narrow steel pillars. Lower rear panels, including the wheel housing, are made in one piece. This unusual feature on body construction gives additional strength.

Electrical welding adds greater rigidity and reduces the possibility of squeak and rattle. Panels and frame sections are welded or riveted. In assembly of large units where bolts are necessary, strips of anti-squeak material are used between sections. Sound deadening material is also used. Soft roof construction, of heavy padding over galvanized mesh wire, provides an additional element of quietness.
