MANY INTERESTING AND RARE OLD COINS IN TOWN

Readers Bring in Collections of Unusual Old Coins. Half Penny Dated 1721 is the Oldest

Last week The Advance made reference to a collection of old coins in the possession of Mrs. Chas. Wallingford, Timmins, and during the past week as a result of the article. The Advance has been about deluged with collections of old coins. It is remarkable that in a young country like this North Land there should be so many old coins preserved. Of course, in each case the coins are family possessions brought here from homes in older lands. Some of those bringing in coins here last week are anxious to know if the coins they hold have any value, though none of them desire to dispose of the old souvenirs; they simply want to know just as a matter of curiosity what the old coins may possess in the way of market value. So far as The Advance knows there are no experts in this district in the matter of old coins.

The oldest coin shown to The Advance was one in the collection owned by Mrs. Thos. Dodd. This is a half-penny, dated 1721, and in a good state of preservation. It is a British coin with the usual inscriptions. An Upper Canada half-penny token, dated 1812, is another interesting coin in this collection, which also includes a 10 cent piece of 1803. Mrs. Dodd has a number of Upper Canada coins, bank tokens, etc., while some that appear to be coins turn out on close scrutiny to be otherwise. A couple of "model" half sovereigns are in this class, being not part of the coinage, but simply showing the design in other metal than gold. Similar metal pieces, not strictly coins, are among some of the other collections noted in the following paragraph.

Mr. Chas. Carey brought in a number of interesting old coins. One of these is a Canada bank token dated 1837, the year of the accession of Queen Victoria. A United States one-cent of 1826 is included in this collection as also are Queen Victoria pennies of 1896, 1897 and 1898.

Mr. Ernest Stevens has a remarkable collection of old coins. One of the older specimens is a copper coin half as big again as a present day penny and twice as thick. It is made of copper and a dollar's worth would be a load. It was made in the reign of George III and is dated 1797. Two other coins of the same type are still older, one being dated 1768 and the other 1790. An interesting thing about these coins is that the coat of arms on them contains the French fleur de lis, reminiscent of the fact that the English crown once claimed sovereignty over France. A very battered and worn specimen in Mr. Stevens' collection is an 1830 Canada half-penny. Another is a Nova Scotia coin stamped "commercial change" and dated 1815. There are also United States cent pieces dated 1819 and 1838. An 1815 half-penny, bearing the profile of George III on one side and the figure of Britannia on the reverse is engraved with the words, "Genuine British Copper." This is one of the most interesting coins in Mr. Stevens' big collection. Another specially interesting one is a Spanish coin for "cinco centimes," dated 1878 and bearing the head of Alphonse XII.

The largest collection of rare old coins brought in to The Advance, and probably also the most interesting, was the bagful owned by Mrs. Copps, who inherited them from her father, the late Alex Parks, of Eganville, Ont. The bag containing these coins is itself of more than passing interest. It is probably fifty years old, and is in as good condition as if it were new. The late Alex Parks used it as a receptacle for the old coins he liked to gather and keep. It is a bag made originally to hold shot. The bag bears the name of the Montreal Rolling Mills, Montreal. Some of the specially interesting coins in this collection include:—A penny piece of 1784, in the reign of George III; a half-penny token, 1812; penny tokens, 1814, 1834 and other dates, bearing in addition to the usual inscription, the words, "Pure Copper, Preferable to Paper"; a copper coin, 1812, with the inscription, "Merchant's Exchange"; a coin, bearing the picture of a building with the words, "Built 1827, rebuilt 1835," and the motto, "Not one cent for tribute, millions for defence"; Montreal bank tokens, 1816, and later dates; silver florin, 1843; a metal piece (not, perhaps, part of the coinage with the words, "Success to the Fisheries; Speed the Plough"; number of U.S. coins; number of 1837 coins of British and Canada; French bank token coins; Chinese silver coin, 1843; coins of the French Empire, bearing the profile of Napoleon III, and of dates 1855 and 1862. Upper Canada coins of 1850 and other dates; New Brunswick coins; a six-penny piece, 1819, George II.; a cent of 1831, with the inscription in Latin; an 1857 Prince Edward Island coin; German coin, 3 pfennigs, 1848; Nova Scotia coin, 1843; Upper Canada coin of 1857; a coin or token bearing the words only, "Ships, Colonies and Commerce"; and innumerable other interesting old coins.

Many of the coins in the collection held by Mrs. Copps are so old or so worn as to be undecipherable. The same holds true of coins in the other collections noted in this article. Many coins, apparently very old, have had the dates rubbed off by constant usage or by exposure to the elements.

TREATY MONEY TO INDIANS ON ARRIVAL OF MAXWELL

Provincial Party Safe at Trout Lake. Conclusion of Treaty Made, and Money Paid Over

According to announcement made in The Toronto Globe this week, The Globe had definite assurance over the week-end of the safety, at Trout Lake, of Captain W. Roy Maxwell, Provincial Air Force Director; Walter C. Cain, Deputy Minister of Lands and Forests; H. N. Awrey of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa; Dr. Bell of Sioux Lookout, J. George Rutherford, Provincial motion picture cameraman; and the air engineer of the ill-fated Dominion Indian Treaty machine which dived to its destruction in the waters of Lake Joseph last Friday night.

This assurance was given in a message from Captain Maxwell that apparently was brought out to Osnaburgh House by Pilot R. K. Rose on the trip on which he crashed, and was then carried to Sioux Lookout by a Provincial Air Force machine, and relayed by wire to Toronto.

In his message Capt. Maxwell speaks of the "glassy water" conditions that are supposed to have brought about the loss of the Dominion seaplane, and with it the death of Alex. Morrison.

Captain Maxwell states that, while the Moth machine in which he and Mr. Cain are making the long treaty flight reached Trout Lake from Osnaburgh House at 9 o'clock on Wednesday night, July 3, the Dominion plane did not manage the hop until the following day, and then, because of the calm water, had to reduce its load and do it in two flights. On the first flight it carried in Mr. Awrey and Dr. Bell and one of the second it carried Cameron Rutherford and the air engineer.

Evidently the $40,000 in treaty money carried by the Dominion officials was not on Rose's machine when it met its end, for Captain Maxwell in his message to The Globe distinctly states that the 600 Indians at Trout Lake have already been assembled, the chief and his council have been appointed, terms of the treaty have been signed, and actual enrolment of the Indian families, and with it payment of moneys, have begun.

Captain Maxwell states that the Trout Lake Indians comprise the best band he has ever seen in Northern Ontario. "They are not pagan," he declares, "and very friendly, exceedingly intelligent, healthy, and good hunters."

Since the flight party left Fort Hope the weather has been fine, with an odd shower of rain each day. Radio reception has been faint. With weakened batteries, the party has had a hard time to pick up the daily weather bulletins on the District of Patricia, which The Globe, with the co-operation of the Toronto Meteorological Office, is broadcasting on their behalf.

"All is well," says Captain Maxwell with regard to the individual members of the party.

Formal Opening of Fine New Shelter at Sudbury

Despatches from Sudbury this week say that the formal opening of the new Children's Aid Shelter at Sudbury and the laying of the corner stone of the building took place on Monday afternoon. Hon. Chas. McCrea, Minister of Mines, who was to have officiated, was detained in Toronto through the illness of Mrs. McCrea, so that Geo. B. Nicholson, ex-M.P., of Chapeau, placed the stone in position after which the silver trowel which was used, was given back to the president of the society to be sent to Mr. McCrea.

Rev. Father Trainor was chairman of the afternoon proceedings and introduced the different speakers, Canon Brewer, and J. G. Henry, of Sudbury; Captain Martin, M.P.P., Brantford, and Hon. Finlay MacDiarmid.

All the speakers were loud in their praises of the splendid building which is a monument to the enthusiasm and enterprise of the committee and citizens of Sudbury and district.

After the speeches, the visitors made an inspection of the building and tea was served by the ladies' committee. The memorial room, given by Hon. Charles and Mrs. McCrea in memory of their son, Dent, is complete in every detail. The I.O.D.E. furnished the isolation ward and each church and society in town and many individuals furnished coats so that the equipment is very complete.

On Monday evening a meeting was held at the Nickel Range hotel by the Children's Aid Society of Sudbury and district. At this meeting Mayor Bibby presided and a fine musical programme was rendered.

Mr. Nicholson, Captain Martin and Hon. Finlay MacDiarmid addressed the meeting and told of the work of the Ontario Government for Ontario in furthering the social service work in different institutions.

J. J. Kelso, superintendent of Children's Aid work in Ontario, gave the address of the evening and reviewed the work of the society here since its inception in 1907. Mr. Kelso's address was a specially interesting and able one, dealing in very illuminating way with the good work of the C.A.S. and giving very effective presentation of what the society is accomplishing for the betterment of the opportunities for children in this province.

Capt. and Mrs. Ford are the new officers in charge of the Timmins Salvation Army, succeeding Capt. and Mrs. Evenden, who were recently transferred to Toronto.

MOYSEYS ARE CHAMPIONS FIRST HALF OF SOFTBALL

Game on Friday Last was Snappy and Interesting. Moyses Had Their New Sweaters on

Playing in favourable twilight weather, and with a good crowd in the stands cheering, Moyses beat Monarchs 13 to 7 in the softball on Friday night, and accordingly are champions for the first half of the softball schedule. By beating the Monarchs, Moyses showed that they deserved the new sweaters which they received recently and wore at this game for the first time. The Brokers trotted out a new first baseman in C. Abrams, and he filled the position to perfection, besides getting two home runs and a two-bagger. His team-mates, Platus and Toy, also had home runs. Dinty Moore, for the Monarchs, also knocked one for four runs.

Both Sanders and Ray pitched good ball, though Sanders seemed to have the edge, being nicked for only 11 hits while Ray allowed 18.

The game was snappy and interesting, besides having its comical moments, as, for example, when a slow foul tip hit one of the fans in the stands squarely on the head.

Moyses are now champions of the first half and will play off at the end of the second schedule with the winners of the second half.
