To Spread the News of the North's Attractions

Some time ago The Advance referred to the plan being advocated from North Bay for a tourist information bureau in that city to give particulars as to the beauties and attractions of the North Land. A number of the towns favoured the idea though Timmins held that the centre should be nearer to the origin of tourist traffic, that is farther south. However, the plan has recently been pushed forward and is to be in force this summer. In this connection The Haileyburian last week says:-

"With the object of spreading the gospel of the attractions of the North Country among the visitors who come by motor from the south, Mr. W. J. McLean left on Tuesday evening to spend the next few months in North Bay in connection with the publicity scheme in which a number of municipalities, organizations and individuals coming their way. The object is to carry out, in a manner yet to be decided, the project of establishing an information bureau at North Bay, in order that accurate and detailed infornation on roads, amusements, accommcdations, etc., at the various points along the Ferguson Highway may be available for the visitors who might otherwise pass up the Northern trip and thus miss one of the most interesting and profitable tours that are available to the motorist. In his missionary work among the visitors. Mr. Mc-Lean will represent the whole territory this side of North Bay. The towns here have joined in contributing toward the expense of keeping a man in that city during the summer months.
