

From Mother of Six

"I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is wonderful! I have had six children of which four are living and my youngest is a bonnie baby boy now eight months old who weighs 23 pounds. I have taken your medicine before each of them was born and have certainly received great benefit from it. I urge my friends to take it as I am sure they will receive the same help I did."

Fined at North Bay for Illegally Having Gold

At North Bay last week a man named Joseph Limoli was arrested by provincial officers on a charge of illegally having gold in his possession. The arrest was made following information from the North. The accused had paid a visit to Timmins and after he left here it was suspected that he might have gold illegally in his possession. Word was sent on to North Bay and the arrest followed. Limoli had been on a motoring trip through the North and was travelling in a car with a Massachusetts license. When arrested he had what was practically pure gold and this gold in his possession was considered by the police as being worth about $300.00. Limoli's story in court on Wednesday morning last at North Bay was to the effect that he was given the gold as a souvenir of the Porcupine. According to the despatches from North Bay, Limoli pleaded not guilty, and said that, while in the Empire Hotel at Timmins on Friday evening, he was approached by a man whose name, he believed, was Johnston, and who opened up a friendly conversation with him. In the course of their chat, Limoli said he told the other man he was from Boston and knew nothing of the north country. The talk subsequently shifted to mining topics and Johnston said he would give Limoli a piece of gold to take back home. True to his word, Johnston brought the stuff just as Limoli was leaving the hotel to start the return trip.

The gold found in Limoli's possession was found to weigh 17 1/2 ounces. District Magistrate McGaughey fined the accused $10.00 and costs on the charge preferred against him.

SHOULD DO SOMETHING TO CHECK GROWTH OF WEEDS

Towns in the North Suffer from Growth of Certain Noxious Weeds in Lawns and Gardens

The new provincial law in regard to weeds is a good one, if enforced. The trouble, however, is that the enforcement so far as towns are concerned is left to the municipalities and the latter appear to have no machinery for the enforcement of the law in this regard. In the last issue of The New Liskeard Speaker there is a thoughtful article on the matter of weeds in that town. One suggestion in The Speaker article will strike many as very sadly true, and that is that people who try to keep their lawns and gardens free of weeds are greatly handicapped by the indifference and carelessness of other folks. For instance, this year there is a regular epidemic of dandelions in the lawns in Timmins. One lawn where every dandelion was carefully rooted out last year and absolutely destroyed is just full of dandelions this year because other places nearby did not try to keep down the nuisance. The dandelions on a lot of lawns were allowed to go to seed and blow around, spoiling all the lawns in the district. This spring The Advance published a good suggestion made by a gentleman in town who is an expert in horticultural matters and whose success in growing flowers and vegetables here has been noteworthy. He suggested that everybody at least see that the heads were cut off the dandelions so that at least they would not blow around and seed down other lawns with the dandelion pest. Unfortunately, the advice was not generally followed, though a few did carefully carry out the good suggestion. The daily newspaper editors here last week were particularly impressed with the number and beauty of the lawns and gardens here, but they did not know how much trouble lawns and gardens entail here. Some, at least, of the trouble is unnecessary, due to animals allowed to go to seed in yards and vacant lots.

Those interested in better lawns and gardens and in the improvement of the appearance of the town, will be interested in the article in The Speaker. In this connection it need not be forgotten that good lawns and gardens are not only a pleasure to visitors and leave a good impression, but also are a matter of enjoyment to people in the town as well as a source of profit to those with good gardens.

The article in The Speaker is as follows:—"There are many very excellent vegetable and flower gardens in New Liskeard, and the best gardens have the fewest weeds in them for the simple reason that roots and vegetables do not flourish if in close proximity, say, to a flourishing sow thistle. Weeds draw the nourishment from the vegetables and flowers. In our walks around town looking at gardens, we have discovered the perennial sow thistle—said to be the most dangerous of weeds—the Canadian thistle, ox-eye daisy, etc., growing in gardens or on waste land. Some we have seen on the town streets. A man was employed cutting weeds on town property, but cutting weeds does not kill them, and it is only a matter of a few days ere these weeds are again in bloom. The only sure way of getting rid of the sow thistle is to dig it out, not leaving a fibre of the roots in ground. Cutting the stalks does not keep the roots from extending, and the next season a more thrifty thistle will be seen than it was when cut. The sow thistle flourishes by being pruned. The town council should take energetic action not only to destroy all weeds growing on the town's property but against careless citizens who allow dangerous weeds to grow on their property. How would it do for the members of the council to divide the town into sections, and personally visit every part of the town. It is a shame to allow noxious weeds to be growing on such splendid soil as we have in New Liskeard. And the responsibility for eradicating the weeds rests very largely with the town fathers. We have known citizens to cut weeds on their neighbours' property to save their own property from being seeded, but they take chances of being fined for trespass. The law gives the council authority to deal with the weed problem. Last week a meeting composed of sixty farmers was held at Tupperville, County Kent, for the purpose of organizing to eradicate the sow thistle. Only nine farmers of those present could say they had none of these weeds on their farms. How many Liskeard gardeners can say they have

Changes in Personal of North Bank Staffs

A despatch from Cobalt last week says:—"Changes are announced in the personnel of the Imperial Bank staffs in the North, these affecting one of the oldest employees of that institution in this district. H. A. Seguin, who has been associated with the Imperial Bank in Porcupine and Cobalt since the early days of both camps, has been transferred south. For the present, Mr. Seguin has been relieving at various branches of the bank in Toronto, and subsequently it is expected he will be located in the city. Mr. Seguin has left Cobalt and his furniture has been shipped to Toronto. He will return to spend a few holidays in the north in the course of next month. His place here is being taken by F. G. Trott, of Sault Ste. Marie, who, in turn, is being succeeded by Gordon Dunlop, manager of the branch at Elk Lake. This branch is to be closed, it is announced. Mr. Dunlop formerly was accountant at the Cobalt branch. Two other prominent Cobalters have left town for Toronto. F. D. Reid, general manager of the Coniagas Mining Co., an old citizen of this camp, left with his family for Toronto on Monday, where he will make his home in future. He was followed today by Richard Pearce, president of the Northern Miner."

EXPECT WORK OF SINKING TO START BY END OF MONTH

The headframe at the property of Ridgedome Mines, Limited, has been completed and the management expects that sinking operations will be started before the end of August. All the necessary machinery has been installed and the power house completed.

The Ridgedome property is situated approximately 3 1/2 miles from Hollinger on what is known as the Dome Ridge and is located next to the Hayden Mine, who have recently been diamond drilling, with encouraging results.

no sow thistle growing in their gardens? While on our way down street on Wednesday morning we picked a bunch of sow thistle—down all ready to carry the seed to people's gardens and so prevalent are these weeds that it occurred to us that perhaps some of our citizens cannot distinguish between the dandelion, the buttercup and sow thistle. We placed a few samples of this thistle in a window of The Speaker office. There they may be seen with stalks from a few inches in length to nearly three feet in length and roots over two feet in length. What nonsense for any one to imagine that Canada's worst weed can be destroyed by cutting the tops off. When this is done three very healthy stalks generally grow where but one stalk grew before."

ABOUT MARCH GOLD AND PORCUPINE UNITED

Electrical Survey Made of Porcupine United. May Do Similar Work on the March Gold

The Northern Miner last week says: "According to information secured at the property, July was the best month March Gold has ever had, as far as production is concerned. The Northern Miner is informed that production for the month ran over $22,000, with an average recovery of about $6.75. The mill averaged about 140 to 145 tons daily. The mill is still treating about the same amount of material to date, and even better results are expected this month, the manager says. Underground, work is going ahead on two levels, the 550 and 675-foot, and good results are being obtained. It is said. On the 550-foot level, stoping and drifting on 555 vein is proceeding. The drift is now opened up for 350 feet, 150 feet on the west side of the fault and 200 feet on the east side. The Northern Miner is informed that this is all ore. On the 675-foot level drifting is being done on the same vein, and a length of 300 feet has been obtained here. One hundred and forty feet of stoping has been done on this level. Millfeed is coming from development work on both levels. Installation of a new pump on the 675-foot level is also being completed. Bernard N. Hyman, general manager, is to visit the property next week. About 83 men are on the pay roll. An electrical survey of the property has been started, similar to that just completed on the Porcupine United property.

An electrical survey of the property of Porcupine United Mines, adjoining Hollinger in Porcupine, has just completed. This survey was conducted by Dr. Amblem, of Germany, who is now conducting a similar survey of the March Gold property. Full report of the survey had just been made to the head office of the company in Buffalo, and results have not yet been made public. The mill on Porcupine United is treating about 25 tons daily and according to an official recovery is running between $15 and $20. Development work is going ahead on the 300 and 500-foot levels, where small stopes are being opening up. Future work will be outlined from the survey. Twenty-five men are on the payroll."

COBALT CHINESE CAFE CAN CAUSE CHANGES IN COOKS

The Royal Cafe at Cobalt had two cooks and two complete changes in staffs and ownership inside of two weeks recently. A new management and ownership from Brantford took over the business but after carrying along for less than two weeks the business was turned back to the original management and ownership.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Vansickle and Mr. Randall Vansickle left this week for a motor trip to the south.

THIRTY YEARS NOW IN THE DOMINION POSTAL WORK

John C. Ross, North Bay's popular postal superintendent, and well-known throughout the North, on Thursday of last week, Aug. 22nd, entered the thirtieth year of his service as a Dominion postal employee. He has been what is generally known as a quiet and popular official. He is a son of the late Col. George Ross, I.S.O. former general superintendent for Canada.

He started as junior clerk in the Post Office in Toronto in 1900 and worked through the different departments there. During the year 1909-10, he worked in the post office at Ottawa after which he was transferred to North Bay.

In 1923 he was appointed superintendent of the local district, in which position he is today. Mr. Ross spoke highly of the splendid foundation laid for postal service in this country by Sir William Mulock who was postmaster general in Laurier's cabinet at the time Mr. Ross entered the service in 1900.

NINE YEARS of Increasing Profits for Confederation Life Policyholders

FOR the ninth successive year profits for participating policyholders of this Association have been substantially increased. And remember—100% of all profits earned by the participating branch are allotted to participating policyholders.

What does that mean? It means that the Confederation Life Association is well managed, that it is careful in the selecting of risks and that it is particularly prudent in the investment of policyholders' funds.

These are reasons why Confederation Life Association is so satisfactory a company to insure with.

Write for the pamphlet entitled "Profits to Policyholders". It describes some policyholders' experiences.
