

"It's your turn to have Mother"

HONOUR thy father and thy mother." Most of us remember the commandment but in later life when we become fathers and mothers ourselves we are apt to consider the responsibility for our own parents' upkeep a bit of a burden.

Cases are not rare when family quarrels have arisen because children don't want mother or father unloaded on them for so many months each year.

Well, do you, yourself, want to be in this position when you will have become old?

Certainly not! Then prevent it so far as lies in your power by setting aside part of your earnings now, so that when the time comes, you will not need to sacrifice your self-respect by becoming a burden to your children. CANADIAN MINERAL ZONE WIDENING ITS BORDERS

Under modern means of transportation and travel the boundaries of Canada's mineral zones are steadily being pushed back and a number of fields that a few years ago were considered outside the bounds of exploration possibility, have been brought to within a few hours journey. The old methods of tramping the wilderness, carrying heavy packs have been displaced by the airplane, with the result that today valuable mineral lands have been discovered in districts that were but rarely traversed in earlier days. As an example of the progress being made, it is reported that two diamond drills and a crew of men have been sent from Sudbury on behalf of Dominion Explorers to a spot around the 60th parallel, close to the Arctic circle, where a find of copper, nickel and precious metals is said to have been made. The exact location of the discovery has not been announced, but the men, with supplies for several months, are being sent through Edmonton over the C.P.R. to waterways, where they will be loaded on barges on Athabasca river. Their destination is said to be 800 miles beyond this point. The deposit is understood to have been traced for a distance of two miles with widths ranging from 20 to 30 feet. The samples resemble Sherritt-Gordon ore and the geology is similar.

That she still leads the world in law enforcement is shown by Chicago turning to her for advice as to how to suppress crime. And that she has a long lead in common sense is again demonstrated by the order issued by the Ministry of Transport to magistrates in regard to unnecessary noises.

Sad Reminder Found of Haileybury Disaster

Despatches last week from Haileybury tell of the finding by workmen engaged in the erection of the new Roman Catholic cathedral at Haileybury of a grim reminder of the reason for the need of a new cathedral at Haileybury. Two sets of human bones have been discovered in the ruins of the former Holy Cross cathedral which, with a large part of the town, was wiped out in the fire disaster which swept down upon Haileybury and other parts of the district in the late afternoon of October 4, 1922.

A skull and thigh bones of a woman, together with a woman's plain gold wedding ring, were among the gruesome discoveries. From these it is believed that one set of remains are those of Mrs. St. George, who is known to have lost her life in the tragedy, and who, it is thought, probably took refuge in the cathedral when the flames, breaking beyond control, swept through the doomed southern part of the town. Some of the people reported missing were never accounted for.

There is no clue to the identity of the other victim whose remains have been found nearly seven years after the disaster. It is recalled that, when the terrible tragedy broke over Haileybury, a number of the citizens gathered in the cathedral, but the edifice was razed in the general disaster. At the same time, one or two patients in the Sisters of Providence Hospital are believed to have been trapped when that institution fell a prey to the flames, and their bones are thought to be under the ruins there.

BOOK ON THE ART OF MAKING PERFECT HUSBANDS

(From New York Times)
If a woman should write a book on "The Art of Making a Perfect Husband," readers would pick it up in the expectation of finding a detailed and personal account of her experiences, but the publishers of a recent book of that title tell us that the author is a man "whose name would instantly be recognized on both sides of the Atlantic." They guarantee that it is not a literary fake.

This prepares the reader for something personal in the way of revelation something also generalized and perhaps practically applicable to other husbands. Wives will doubtless be pleased with the book. Here is one husband who holds that the man is responsible for happiness in the home. He must do and be everything for his wife. Goodness is desirable, but it is less important than wisdom. "A good man can at times be highly objectionable." He should cultivate certain attractive weaknesses. Above all, he must use his imagination, his powers of persuasion and his histrionic ability.

If women are certain to applaud these sentiments, they are almost equally sure to frown at some of the generalizations about their own sex. They admit that "there is a strong element of childishness" in all women. They may grant that "most women think with their reason." They may agree that it is easier to humour a woman than to argue with her. But they will also declare, with sensible men, that these statements are just as likely to be true of the opposite sex.

Toronto Mail and Empire:—It seems almost incredible that any person should purposely start a fire in the forest and destroy valuable timber, and if it be true, as the Manitoba police suspect, that incendiaries have caused forest fires in that province, the guilty parties should be relentlessly pursued and severely punished.

RECIPES FOR THE USE OF PEACHES IN MANY WAYS

Fruit Stand These Days an Inspiration to House in Planning the Day's Meals

The following article written by Barbara B. Brooks, the noted domestic science expert, should prove of special interest at this time. It is a peach of an article on peaches.

At this season one need look no further than the fruit stand for inspiration in planning the day's meals. There quantities of rosy-cheeked peaches meet the eye and immediately the housewife thinks of at least a half a dozen ways in which this versatile fruit may be prepared and served. For breakfast, either fresh or stewed, with ready-to-eat cereals; as a base for luncheon salad; combined with melon in the dinner cocktail or made in a delicious dessert, this meets with universal favour.

To make a delicious salad, arrange halves of large peaches, hollow sides up on salad plates, covered with lettuce or endive. Chop hearts of celery, almonds and mix with cream cheese. Fill cavity in the peach with the mixture. Cover with another half peach (to resemble a whole peach). Spread over with mayonnaise, and over this a rather soft cranberry jelly. Sprinkle with parsley.

Peach-Stuffed Cantaloupe Cocktail
2 cantaloupes, 2 cups peeled sliced peaches, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, whipped cream.

Chill and halve the melons, remove the seeds and fill the cavities with the peaches, freshly sliced and blended with the sugar and lemon juice.

Peaches in Meringue Nests
6 whites of eggs, 2 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon vinegar.

Beat the egg whites to a stiff dry froth, add the sugar a little at a time and beat. Add the vanilla and vinegar. Press the mixture through a pastry tube to shape the "Nests." Bake in a very slow oven (40 minutes or longer will be required). Put half a ripe peach in each nest, dust it with powdered sugar, and pile with sweetened whipped cream.

Peach Up-Side-Down Cake
3 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon lemon, 1 cup All-Bran, 1 cup of flour, 11 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt.

Beat the eggs until light. Add sugar, water and flavourings. Sift flower, baking powder and salt. Add to liquid together with All-Bran. In an iron skillet or deep cake pan, melt 3 tablespoons of butter. Add 1 cup brown sugar. Cover bottom of skillet with halves of fresh peaches and pour over cake mixture. Bake in a moderate oven 45 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

MARRIED AT TORONTO WILL TAKE UP RESIDENCE HERE

With the comment that Mr. and Mrs. Barr, on their way to their home in Timmins, spent a week camping at Sesekinika Lake. The New Liskeard Speaker last week printed the following paragraph from The Toronto Mail and Empire:—

"Miss Marion Mildred Dodge, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dodge, Arthur, was married to Mr. Henry Barr of Timmins, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Barr of New Liskeard, on Wednesday, Rev. J. B. Paulin, cousin of the bride, officiating. Miss Lillian McQueen played the wedding music. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin and lace and an embroidered tulle veil with coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lily-of-the-valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Hazel Prettie, of Gravenhurst, wore a period frock of blush taffeta and tulle with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses and baby's breath. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. W. Barr of New Liskeard. After the wedding dinner the bride and groom left by motor for Toronto and Northern Ontario, the bride wearing a honey-beige georgette dress, brown opossum-trimmed travel coat and brown felt hat. They will reside in Timmins.—Mail and Empire."

Meaford Mirror:—There is an old saying that all men are liars. It is the remark of a cynic, but that all fishermen are liars seems to be an accepted fact. There is no other reason for visitors recently to Meaford who caught big fish demanding that they get a certificate of the chairman of the fish committee of the board of trade. The demand for such testimonials has become so keen that the board decided to have certificates printed to be signed by a witness of the catch, the official weight and the signature of the mayor to add official dignity to the document which looks like a bond minus the interest coupons. The document places an embargo on fish lies out of Meaford.

Hollinger Investment Trust and Bond Company

The Northern Miner last week had the following comment on Hollinger's Investment and Bond corporation:

The "investment trust" which has been formed by Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines is known as the International Bond and Share Corporation, it was announced yesterday. The company, which will operate under a Quebec charter, will have much wider powers in regard to the purchase of securities than those possessed by Hollinger through its original charter. International Bond and Share Corporation has the powers of investment held by the ordinary investment trust and will be controlled by Hollinger through the shareholders.

The investment trust organization has an authorized capitalization of 400,000 shares of $1 per cent. cumulative redeemable preferred stock of $25 par value, totalling $10,000,000, and 1,500,000 shares of common stock of no par value. The surplus of the Hollinger company, consisting of securities and cash, will be transferred to the International Bond and Share in exchange for shares in the latter company.

Hollinger will receive returns from the investment trust in the shape of dividends on the preferred stock, and it is hoped, will later receive dividends on the common stock as well. In addition, Hollinger will benefit also by an increase in the value of the portfolio of International Bond and Share. The directors of the new organization are the same as those of Hollinger, with three directors forming an executive committee for investment purposes.

The investment account of Hollinger, which will form the main part of the assets of the investment trust, has grown very considerably during the past ten years. The report for 1928 shows the following items among the liquid assets: Canada Victory Loan, $540,000; C.N.R. bonds, $11,316,690; Provincial bonds $600,843; municipal bonds, $652,400; Abitibi Power and Paper, $3,741,200; Home Copper Corporation, $2,450,000; shares in other companies, $2,018,000, and accrued interest on investments, $154,135; a total of $11,473,270. Cash, bullion and accounts receivable, total $935,184, giving a grand total of $12,408,454.

St. Mary's Journal-Argus:—It is true in a sense that "nothing ever happens in a country town" but that after all is one of its great assets. There are no murders, no riots, no communistic disturbances. The citizens are thrifty and are producers—not destroyers. It should be a matter of pride that "nothing ever happens in this town."

High-Grade Samples from Week's Run of the Press

Barrie Examiner:—The "Red uprising" in Toronto has had one effect. Never before have so many had an opportunity of declaring in the public press that they are not Communists, but from the tenor of many of the letters published there is strong ground for suspicion.

Moncton Transcript:—The Federal Government is seeking ten Canadian seamen and Canadian war veterans to whom war reparations are due and unclaimed. Possibly they have died of old age while awaiting the awards. Buffalo Courier-Express:—Added evidence or dryness: The Bartenders' International League of America, in convention in Kansas City, has changed its name to the Beverage Dispensers' International League of America.

Many parents have learnt from actual experience the poor economy of buying "cheap" shoes for their children. In the long run they cost more, both in first cost, and in cost per day, than the so-called "high priced" shoes because they go often to the repair man.

Hurlbuts do cost more, but only the first cost. Due to superior points in construction, these well-known shoes last longer than ordinary shoes, and the cost per day is so greatly reduced as to make them the cheapest in the end. You buy fewer pairs per year.

O'Keefe's Dry GINGER ALE

What is the secret that gives O'Keefe's Dry that exclusive...inimitable flavor?

First...the water, crystal-clear, from a famous spring...then it is because we skillfully blend the finest Jamaica Ginger, pure cane sugar and selected fruit essences, and further because O'Keefe's, like a rare old wine, is mellowed by age.

There is no secret about the fact that O'Keefe's Dry is Canada's favorite beverage.
