GRAVEL AND SAND—AND PLACER

Timmins, Ont., Thursday, March 6th, 1930

The editorial shows that The Mail and Empire has an intelligent sympathy with the settlers in this North. On several occasions this important daily newspaper has evidenced a similar helpful interest and appreciation of the situation of the settlers in this North. It is an encouraging sign. With the important newspapers of the South sympathetic and understanding the settlers are very likely to receive better treatment than in the past and this will be for the general advantage of the province. The present Government, The Advance believes, is earnestly anxious to do all possible to develop the North Land on the best possible lines. This will be the easier to accomplish with support from the South. The attitude of the South will naturally be much influenced by the stand taken and the information given by the newspapers of importance. The settlers who recently met at Cochrane realized the need for the co-operation of the press in making their needs known. It will be heartening to them, indeed, to read what The Mail and Empire has to say. The Advance is particularly pleased to note that The Mail and Empire endorses the idea of the bonus plan for settlers. The settlers ask little indeed in this line, but anyone knowing the situation feels that that little would be a remarkable assistance. The Advance does not agree with The Mail and Empire that a new department for the guarding of the interests of the settlers is not necessary. The department of Lands and Forests has so much to look after at present that it is difficult to see how the Minister and his staff could do much more than they are doing at present. A new department for the advantage of settlers only would be the ideal remedy to cure the ills of the past and present so far as settlement is concerned. The Advance believes that further study of the case will convince The Mail and Empire of the truth of this. In the meantime the settlers, who have not been overburdened with friends, will be pleased, indeed, to know that powerful helpers are ready to serve their interests at court.

The weather during the last few weeks seems to have taught the weather prophets a lesson. Quite evidently they do not know anything about the weather until it arrives, and signs, portents, and omens are of little avail. Of course, with reasonable latitude the weather prophet may still justify himself. For instance, Friend Preston, of Matheson, said some weeks ago that March would come in like a lion and go out like a lamb. March the first was a very lamb-like day, but it did storm up a little in the evening and on the following day at odd times, the snow falling and blowing around as it fell. At the same time, while it may thus be argued that March came in like a lion it could with equal logic be said that it was chiefly of the lamb kind. Another sign to be shattered for the hundredth time was that about the bears coming out to see their shadows. The bear would have no trouble seeing his shadow on Feb. 5th this year, but the trouble really is that the bear's shadow would not give a shadow of truth to any theories about the weather. As a matter of fact there were bears who did not come out at all on the appointed day, while there were other bears that were out of their dens before the day and after. For instance, there is a bear on Haeuwyer Farm up the river, that has been snooping around nearly every day this winter. He does not seem to be concerned about seeing his shadow. He is evidently not even afraid of his shadow, becoming rather tame and tending to nose into everything that he is able to reach. Those who place their faith for weather in the shadow of a bear are putting their trust in an empty myth. The Advance believed there was one sure sign of the immediate approach of spring, but even this is now in question. This supposedly sure sign was based on the first day that boys in general started to play marbles on the street. As long as men can remember, and marbles were invented, boys have started their marble games irrespective of the weather, but the marble games almost without fail would be only a few days before the arrival of spring. This year, the boys were playing marbles on the road a month ago, and spring is still around the corner. All signs fail!

It would be difficult to find many people to agree to a plan of taking this section of the North Land out of settlement. People who have given study to the matter and are in position to judge believe that the North Land's clay belts are remarkably rich and fertile and will develop to advantage as agricultural land. In addition the majority of the people are aware that the North Land, like all other sections of Canada, must base its permanent prosperity on agriculture and its allied branches. All this being agreed, it surely must be admitted that the pioneer farmers of this North—the settlers—should be given a fair chance to make good. It will be the part of wisdom to assist the settlers to succeed. The North Land may prosper for a time without the benefit of real settlement, but at least it is beyond question that a prosperity that includes thriving and contented settlers on the land is particularly to be desired. The settlers themselves are pointing out the way in which they may be assisted in the best way. A department to look after their interests and a small bonus for the clearing and breaking of land are the chief suggestions they make. A number of copies of a petition asking the Government for these helps are now in circulation and should receive, kindest and most sympathetic consideration from the Government. The necessity for a separate department to watch and guard the interests of the settlers is apparent to all who have given the question study. The bonus plan has been of material value in Quebec province. Certainly something is needed to better the position of the settlers in this North. They have themselves pointed the way to betterment. It would appear to be the best of policy to follow their lead.

OUR DRINKING WORDS

"The Dragoon" in the Daily Express

Judicial ignorance has become almost proverbial, but it is scarcely surprising that a solicitor at Tottenham Police Court was compelled to ask a man, who declared that he was "cut," to interpret the meaning of the word. "Cut" is a very archaic slang word for tipsy, and may possibly be a corruption of the French "cuite," which is used in different grammatical construction to imply the same state. Most of our drinking words, curiously enough, come from abroad, and support the theory of Camden that the English in their long wars in the Netherlands first learned to drown themselves in immoderate drinking and by drinking others' healths to impair their own. The phrase, "Half seas over," for instance, is a Dutch one; the word "carouse" is Danish and arises from the drinking of healths by a large company out of

POPULAR COUPLE MARRIED ON SATURDAY, MARCH 1ST

Two popular young people of the town were united in the holy bonds of matrimony on Saturday last week, when Mr. Henry Perreault, assistant town clerk and treasurer, and Miss Annie Gerovac, also of the town office, were married by Rev. Fr. O'Gorman. Hosts of friends will join in extending sincere good wishes.

SHY ON GEOGRAPHY

(St. John Telegraph-Journal) An official of the Division of Geology and Geography of the National Research Council, New York, has written asking for information regarding the earthquake of last November. He addressed his letter to Saint John, Nova Scotia. Others have done this previously, but never, so far as records go, has one so intimately connected with a geographical division of a Research Council. Of course, Saint John was once included in Nova Scotia, but not for the past 146 years, and that is quite a considerable period to be behind the times in geographical research.

ANIMALS IN TALKIES

(New York Times) Any handsome young dog in the Madison Square Garden Show who finds the applause of the crowd going to his head had better think twice before leaving a happy home to go West and win fame in the films. Rin-Tin-Tin was a great dog in his day, but that was when pictures were still silent. Now that the talkies have come, unemployment in the best animal circles in Hollywood is simply appalling. The difficulty, according to one animal expert, is that you can't control the noises that animals make. To have the dog hero suddenly yap at the studio cat when he was supposed to be registering silent devotion to his master would ruin the scene and the dog star's chance of success. Lions and tigers, whose random growls and roars could never be overlooked in a sound film, are being sold first from studio zoos. One film concern which prided itself on its collection of lions and leopards has disposed of them all. It took three days, and perhaps more than a mile of walking, to find a camel for a recent comedy film.

Petrolia Advertiser-Topic—Mayor P. J. Henry of Ridgetown has been returned by acclamation for his 20th term. This is a record that few towns can equal and most mayors will not envy.

"SYMPATHY"

("Max Murray" in the Daily News and Westminister Gazette) A young Indian came into my carriage the other day between Cannes and Nice, and he said to a man, who looked like an Englishman, "Read that," and gave him a copy of the Times. The man read it and then said indifferently: "Well, what about it?" The young Indian said, "You are an Englishman, aren't you?" The man said, "No, I'm Russian." "We," the young Indian said, "are going to kick all the English out of India. We are going to make India like your country." The Russian was bored. "I happen to be one of the people who lost all they possessed in Russia," he said. "It's a waste of time talking to me about the new Russia." The young Indian argued till the Russian got up and found another carriage. Then the young Indian asked another man if he spoke English and this one said gently, "No, I am afraid my English is hopelessly inadequate." The poor young Indian then talked to nobody in particular about what he was going to do in India. People who talk about their own grievance in strange railway carriages are never impressive.

Here and There

(482) The bull sale at Kamloops this year is scheduled for March 19 and 20. The show is becoming an important event in western livestock records. A big list of Alberta entries has been received.

The Maritime Livestock Marketing Board have extended their purchasing plan so that now farmers' clubs and associations may purchase feeds at a considerably lower price than formerly. Several carloads of feed have already been ordered.

The directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway have decided to apply to Parliament for an amendment to the company's charter permitting it to change the par value of shares of its ordinary stock from $100 to $25 per share with the exchange of one share of the old stock for four shares of the new. This action has been dictated by a desire to place the company's shares within the reach of investors of moderate means and thus increase the number of its shareholders, particularly in Canada.

Miss Doris Parkes, of Vancouver, becomes "Her Majesty" of the 23rd British winter sports carnival following her election as Queen at the recently concluded gathering at the famous mountain resort. She won against rivals from Calgary and Australia and was crowned amid colorful pageantry in the closing hours of the carnival.

"Not how much land settlement work, but how good," was enunciated as the policy of the Canada Colonization Association by W. M. Neal, general manager of western Line Canadian Pacific Railway, at the annual dinner of officials of the organization held at Calgary recently. Mr. Neal said that during the past five years the association had settled 4270 families on 844,268 acres at a purchase price in excess of $88,000,000.

The largest terminal grain elevator at any port on the seven seas has recently been put into operation at Vancouver by the Alberta Wheat Pool. It has a capacity of 5,150,000 bushels and is known as Vancouver Pool Terminal No. 1. During the crop year ended July 31, 1929, Vancouver shipped 96,138,218 bushels of grain as compared with 9,715,512 and 34,415,653 in the two previous years.

Barrie Examiner—We haven't heard of any fines being paid in this vicinity for tardiness in securing 1930 markers. But the motorist cannot put off the evil day much longer.
