Unusual Radio Feature
at 10 p.m. This Evening

Dave Barry, the famous "long count" referee in the Dempsey-Tunney fight, and Texas Guinan, the "Hello Sucker" girl, are co-stars in a special radio feature over the Columbia broadcasting system this evening (Thursday) at 9 p.m., Central Standard time, and C.F.R.B., Toronto, 10 to 10.30 p.m. Eastern Standard time.

Barry in answer to more than two years of razing from the fight fans is "going to do it all over again." He will repeat, word for word, the instructions he gave to Dempsey and Tunney before they mixed it at Soldier Field, Chicago, on that memorable night of September 22, 1927. It is the first time in history that the "spectators" have listened in on one of these three-men parleys.

He will repeat the crisp command he shouted to the eager "Manassa Mauler" while Tunney, glassy-eyed, sprawled on the canvas and while more than 10,000 fans were on their feet in a roar that mingled amazement, joy, and disappointment. And then he will again tell off the "long count."

This repetition of the most debatable incident in all sport history will come in the course of a mimic battle between Kid Carbon and his opponent, Al Carbo-Solve. The programme is sponsored by the Alemite Corporation of Chicago and the Stewart-Warner-Alemite Corporation of Canada Limited, Belleville, Ontario.

Miss Guinan is, of course, the mistress of ceremonies for the broadcast. New York dubbed her "Queen of the Night Clubs." Chicago where she is now appearing, gave her still another title. There, she is called the "National Weakness."

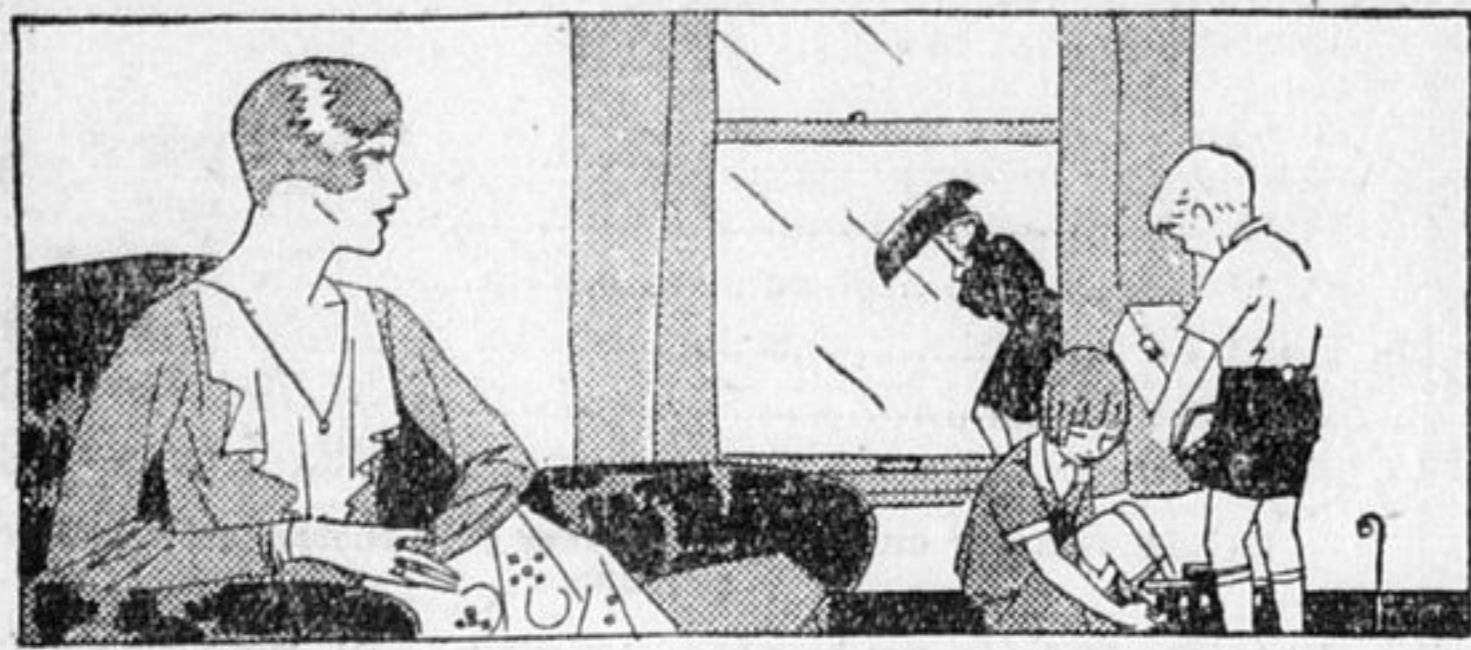

Miss Guinan is a woman of versatile personalities. She recently appeared before the leading Chicago woman's club and told the members where they erred in their efforts to keep their husbands. She made them like it, too.

In her microphone gayety, Miss Guinan will have the backing of Ted Weems and his orchestra in a typical night club scene.

Dave Barry's lot has not been a happy one since that memorable night at Soldier Field. He is still a leading referee under the Illinois Boxing Commission, and whenever he climbs between the ropes it is the signal for action among the boys up under the roof.

There is a long-drawn, booming shout of "One," then a deadly pause, then a shout of "Two," and so until "Fourteen." Then there are boos and cat-calls. The more fair-minded portion of the fight fans try to offset the boos with cheers, but their efforts are of little avail. Barry's only answer is a grin. He did what he thought was right at Soldier Field, and he still thinks he is right.

WBBM, Chicago, is the key station for the Columbia Broadcasting System during this broadcast. Pat Flanagan, widely known mid-west sports announcer, will describe the mimic battle. Harold Fair will announce the remainder of the programme.

for indoor days

Crisp cold air brings a touch of color to every one, but it soon passes unless good health keeps it there. Shredded Wheat is an ideal indoor-weather food. It contains the mineral salts that make healthy red blood and the bran that promotes regular habit even though exercise is restricted. Plenty of nourishment—and easily digested too. Eat Shredded Wheat every morning—a biscuit or two with hot milk for a delicious, vitalizing breakfast.

STORY OF CURSE SAID TO BE ON EGYPTIAN EXPLORERS

Many references have been made recently to the curse supposed to be on the group of scientists and others who discovered and raided the grave of Tut-Ankh-Amen. The story in detail is told in comprehensive way by the following paragraph from the "Chronicle News Bits" in The Huntingdon Gleaner:

"Death shall come on swift wings to him that toucheth the tomb of a Pharaoh"—Ancient curse of the Egyptians. This "Curse of the Pharaohs" was recalled this last week when Lord Westbury, grandson of Queen Victoria's noted lord chancellor, fell seven storeys to his death from a flat in London, in which were several exquisite Egyptian art work laboriously dug from the Valley of Kings. When the golden coffin of Tut-Ankh-Amen was borne to the tomb in the Valley of Kings at Luxor, Egypt, thousands of years ago, the priests pronounced that curse with strange rites. The lost tomb was discovered a few years ago. Six weeks after the discovery the first member of the party died. Since then ten others among them have been stricken down. Lord Carnarvon died from the effects of a mosquito bite six weeks after the discovery. A few months later, Lord Carnarvon's half brother, Col. Aubrey Herbert, who had entered the tomb, died in London. The Hon. Richard Bethell, son and heir of Lord Westbury, was secretary to Howard Carter, who carried out the excavations. A series of mysterious fires broke out at his home, and he was found dead in his room. H. G. Evelyn-White, the scholar and Egyptologist, committed suicide. He left a letter in which he said, "I knew there was a curse on me." And death came, too, to these men concerned with the tomb—Sir Archibald Reid, the famous radiologist who had agreed to X-ray the mummy. Professor Laflour of McGill University, who went to see the tomb and died at Luxor. Benedite and Pasanove, who took part in the research work, and died suddenly. Jay Gould, the American rail magnate, who contracted pneumonia while watching labour at the tomb. Dr. Jonathan W. H. Carter, who was killed recently in a motor car smash at Columbus, Texas. And now, Lord Westbury. But Howard Carter, head of those who broke the peace of the tomb, still defies the curse—and laughs at it.

Timmins Man Freed of False Pretences Charge

On Friday of last week at North Bay Alfred White, a well-known prospector, of Timmins, was acquitted by Judge Valin of a charge of obtaining money under false pretences from P. Adams, a North Bay business man. Despatches last week from North Bay in commenting on the case said that the action arose out of a deal between White and Adams in connection with mining claims in the Porcupine owned by White. It was alleged by Adams that White had given him (the plaintiff) what was alleged to be a sample of gold from the property in the Porcupine over the deal was made. Adams further held that on the strength of his sample he had formed a syndicate and instituted the sale of stock in the said syndicate. Later, Adams claimed, the alleged nugget was found to be brass instead of gold. In his own defence, Mr. White claimed that he had produced the supposed nugget in good faith and believing it to be what it was represented to be. One of his employees had given it to him, he said, assuring him that it was a gold nugget from the mine. Further, on behalf of the defence, it was contended that Mr. Adams, subsequent to the production of the sample, had visited the property in company with a mining man of his own choosing and the property had been duly inspected. Mr. White held that he had not misrepresented anything knowingly or wilfully and that he had acted in good faith throughout. The judge evidently agreed with this as the accused was acquitted of the charge laid against him by Adams.

Porcupine Old-Timers at Golf Down in Florida

A note from J. W. Fogg written at Deland, Florida, is to hand and says: "Thought you might want to scan the score of a golf game played at Dayton Beach by the Timmins 'Old-Timers.'" At certain stages of the game the language was slightly "corrupted" but we finally finished up without any casualties. The Emerys have gone to Lakeland for a month. C. G. and wife are here with us. Wish you could come down while we are here. Let us know ahead of time if you can come. Regards to the boys."

The "Old-Timers" playing this famous golf game at Dayton Beach were: J. W. Fogg, V. H. Emery, C. M. Auer and C. G. Williams.

DEER CHASED BY DOGS TAKES REFUGE IN FARMER'S BARN

The story of a deer that took refuge in a farmer's barn when chased by dogs is told in The Gore Bay Recorder in a despatch from Little Current as follows:

"A full grown deer, estimated to be about two years old, was chased by dogs a few miles from town into Robert Eades' barnyard. There is turned on its pursuers and with firm footing under it started to fight the two dogs. Bob Eade happened to be in the barn and, hearing the commotion, rushed out to see what was the matter. Leaving the door of the barn open, he started to chase away the dogs and when he again turned it was to find that the deer had gone into the barn and the stock were in an uproar. The deer was finally tethered to a post and has now been tamed so that it will eat out of its rescuers' hands. Bob intends to keep it until spring and then turn the creature loose when the grass begins to get edible."

HAROLD F. RITCHIE HEADS GROUP BUYING POMPEIAN CO.

Definite announcement has been made that the Pompeian Company has been purchased from the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company by a group of individuals well known to the Drug, Department Store and Toilet Goods Trade, consisting of: Mr. Harold F. Ritchie of New York and Toronto, Canada, (President of Harold F. Ritchie and Company, Inc., New York, Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Ltd., Toronto, Canada, and the British Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Ltd., of London, England; Toronto, Canada; Sydney, Australia; and Wellington, New Zealand, and also President of International Proprietaries, Ltd., owners of Eno's Fruit Salt and Thermogene), and Messrs F. M. Shoemaker, Guy S. Shoemaker, Clayton S. Shoemaker and M. Holmes Shoemaker of Elmira, New York (executives of the Frostilla Company).

Negotiations have been going on steadily for the last several months and the new owners took over the management of the company on March 1, 1930. The development of the Pompeian business on a greatly enlarged scale will be the immediate aim. Further announcements will shortly be made concerning the new moves and increased selling and advertising programme.

The Pompeian Co. was originally a Cleveland concern and became one of the largest concerns in the toilet goods field. Early in 1927 it was taken over by Colgate & Co. After the merger of Colgate and Palmolive-Peet, this concern was approached and negotiations started which finally were consummated in the sale of the Pompeian Company to the mentioned group.

The line is well known to Mr. Harold F. Ritchie, as the Harold F. Ritchie and Company in Canada acted as sales agents for Pompeian Products in Canada and several countries in the foreign field up until the time that Colgate and Company purchased it.
