THESE THREE TEETH CUT THROUGH MARRIAGE BOND

A reader of The Advance has handed in the following clipping that evidently cut through his sense of humour. It is a despatch from Chicago as it appeared some days ago in The Hamilton Spectator and reads as follows:—
"Here's a divorce case with teeth in it—three teeth—Mrs. Celia Wagner's teeth. She won a divorce from Ralph Wagner, a broker, yesterday and she hung her complaint on the teeth. Having need recently of getting a tooth extracted, she told her husband. He poo-hooed the idea of going to an exodontist, urging the good old method of a string extending from said tooth to the knob of a door; said door to be slammed suddenly, yanking the tooth. That worked all right, Mr. Wagner officiating as door-slammer. Unfortunately the string was attached to two teeth—the bad one and a dandy one directly east of it. As two teeth swung gorily at the end of the string, the Wagners swung into conversation of a highly personal character. It was then, Mrs. Wagner set forth, that her husband, unaided either by string or door knob, removed a third tooth from her mouth. The three vacancies in Mrs. Wagner's molar system won her the divorce."

Annual Grant Should be Made to Jack Miner

At the session of the Dominion parliament in the spring of 1929 a grant of $5,000.00 was made to Jack Miner, the noted Canadian nature lover, who has done so much for game preservation in this Dominion, and whose big estate at Kingsville, Ontario, has for years been practically public property. At the Miner farm there was established the first sanctuary for the migrating wild ducks and geese and the information gathered by Jack Miner about these birds is alone worth the grant. Last year Jack Miner wrote the members of the Dominion parliament making it plain that unless he was given some help he could not continue his good work. Previously he had defrayed the expenses of the sanctuary and of keeping the place open to the public from his own pocket. Much of the money for the purpose was raised by lecture tours made by Jack Miner. Last year he felt he had done more than his share and if the work was to be carried further there would have to be aid from some outside source. When the grant was made in 1929 by the Dominion parliament he was very pleased and grateful, but was under the impression that it was to be a yearly grant. It turns out now that the grant was only made for the one year. If it is not repeated this year it means just as it did last year that the work will have to be discontinued now. Mr. Miner can not carry on further without support. Last year practically all the newspapers of the Dominion joined in urging a yearly grant to Jack Miner. They should do the same this year. No man should be asked to carry on such a work without assistance from the Dominion. To help along the agitation for a continuance of the grant. The Advance publishes herewith the letter sent by Jack Miner last month to all members of the Dominion parliament:—

Kingsville, Ontario, March 31, 1930
Dear Federal Member:—Last year I asked for an annual grant of $5,000 to help maintain my bird sanctuary, which was granted, and I was always under the impression this was to be annual until I was advised differently a few days ago.

Now, gentlemen, you spend thousands of dollars for game wardens and I challenge any ten of them to show more birds being cared for and less being shot by violations of law than I can.—You spend thousands of dollars in National parks and I leave my grounds open to public from March 20th to April 20th, except Sundays, and I doubt if there are any wild life parks in the world with more birds here on sanctuary; thus I have a clear conscience in asking that you interview proper authorities to see that grant of last year is made annual, which doesn't by any means take care of my expenditure, let alone my own time and that of my family and three men in caring for wild fowl, as well as giving my land for the purposes of care and protection.

You men represent the people of Canada and if I am not made an annual grant of at least $5,000 I cannot carry on. Gentlemen, before you turn me down come and stay all night with me and see for yourself.

Yours truly,
JACK MINER

APPRECIATES AFFLICTIONS THAT EDITORS ENDURE

Last week The Advance made passing reference to a rather unpleasant letter received from a reader of the paper. They are not all like that. Often, indeed, there are kindly and inspiring letters that do a world of good and prove most encouraging. It may not be out of place to publish a recent note of this latter type. It was received from a gentleman who once in a long while writes The Advance in regard to matters he feels of interest or importance. His letters are not frequent, but they are to the point and always serve a useful and helpful purpose. It was some years ago that this correspondent wrote his first letter to The Advance. It had just the sort of tone that assured it a ready welcome. It was easy to see that the writer was a good citizen and was inclined to think that other people were the same unless there were proof to the contrary. Since that first letter the occasional letter sent in by this writer has received very sincere welcome. In the recent letter referred to, this reader of The Advance says:—

"I desire to thank you for your kind comments in connection with my feeble efforts on former as well as the last occasion, wherein I have sought to express views through the medium of your journal. I also thank you for such touching-up and corrections as you have seen fit to make from time to time. I am here first because I am the owner of property that was registered in the family name long before Porcupine or Timmins were thought of; second, because I hope and expect eventually to receive some compensation for my outlay of time, money and the worry connected therewith; third, because I feel I can best promote my own interests of seeking to be of some service to my fellow-man and the community in general. I appreciate the affliction that so often rests on the editor of a journal of such high standing as The Porcupine Advance. Too often correspondents reveal an eccentricity in their attempted literary stunts that is deplorable, no doubt engendered by foolish conceptions of the appropriate or fraught with egotism. This is, of course, a personal, private letter, but if it is of any value, or can serve any good purpose, you may publish the same. In such a case, however, I would ask that it be in such form and wording as will leave me behind the literary curtain."

The Advance has a growing number of friendly correspondents like the writer quoted above. They are not only helpful through the new views, ideas and suggestions they frequently present, but they are also among the many bright spots in the editor's daily grind because of the encouragement and inspiration their friendly co-operation arouses. This friendly reader's identity it would seem is sufficiently concealed that his modesty will not be offended, and The Advance believes that the use of his letter at this timely point will be pleasing to him as a friend of The Advance.

RUBY OIL AND COAL SYNDICATE

Capitalization $100,000.00
Two Thousand Units of Fifty Dollars a Unit

The Syndicate has staked out and hold boring permits on four square miles on the French River, approximately twelve miles east of the present Government workings on Blacksmith Rapids. The Syndicate has found lignite on this property and there is also an important outcropping of oil shale.

At the mouth of the Herrickshaw River the Syndicate has staked on an Island two square miles where lignite has been found on what we understand are the old workings of the Hudson's Bay Company.

In addition to the above we have staked and recorded seven square miles of ground on what we consider an important outcropping of lignite, at the Junction of the Klasko and Nottawa Rivers.

Our prospectors are now in the field staking what we consider valuable ground, where the Syndicate intends to bore for oil. In order to raise sufficient funds to test this ground and prove out our locations during the coming summer both for coal and oil we are offering for sale a limited number of Units at the par value of Fifty Dollars ($50.00).

Please address your communications to Ruby Oil and Coal Syndicate, Imperial Bank Building, North Bay, where we will be pleased to give you all information we have as to our locations which have been staked by experienced men with expert knowledge of the Moose River Basin.
