YOUNG TIMMINS WOMAN HURT BY MOTOR CAR IN TORONTO

The Toronto Globe on Monday of this week says: "Believed to be suffering from internal injuries and a broken wrist, Nella Elma, aged 24, a Finnish maid, who came to Toronto three days ago from Timmins, was admitted last night to the Western hospital. The woman stepped from a T.T.C. car at Bloor street and Runnymede Road and, walking behind the car, was struck down by an automobile driven by J. E. McEwen, Hiawatha avenue."

Example of Benefit of Children's Aid Effort

In an editorial article last week The Halleyburian says: "An example of the work of the Children's Aid Society of Temiskaming came directly under the observation of the writer last week-end and the satisfaction it gave to one of the principals was so apparent that one could not fail to be impressed anew with the importance of what the society is doing for the betterment of conditions in the homes and amongst the neglected children. A boy of about 16 arrived in town from farther north to get his little brothers and sisters, who were being cared for at the shelter here, and take them to a new home in Rouyn, where the father had secured a job, rented a house and was again prepared to provide a home for his family. The youth was so evidently over-joyed at the prospect of having the family re-united that he could not refrain from telling about it and happiness was shining on his face. Perhaps the occurrence was a common one. We know nothing to the circumstances who led up to the children being brought to the shelter, but we are convinced that if those who are doing the work could have witnessed the result in this one case, they would have felt amply repaid for any efforts that they had made in the interests of the children. We venture to say that there is no one home which has been saved, one family that has regained happiness and an opportunity to become an asset to the country as a result of the work of the Children's Aid Society in this particular case."

Maintenance Work Will be Heavy on the T. & N. O.

"We are very optimistic about the outlook for this summer season and feel that everybody connected with the railway, will be busy," declared George W. Lee, chairman of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission when interviewed last week by The North Bay Nugget in connection with the prospects for the ensuing months. To this Mr. Lee added that the extension from Coral Rapids, northward, is progressing very satisfactorily and it is practically assured that the line will be completed and trains operating to the coal fields by April 30.

Mr. Lee announced that the Commission has approved of plans entailing the expenditure of $300,000 in special maintenance-of-way on the main line, between North Bay and Cochrane, and in addition to the amount expended annually for the upkeep of the road. This will include repairs to bridges and culverts, new buildings and twelve miles of new steel to be laid in the Englehart division. A two-mile stretch, south of Englehart, will be relaid with new steel, one mile in Englehart will be renewed and a similar work will be done over a three-mile span, two miles north of that point. New rails will also be laid between mileage 17 and 23, north of Englehart. "This programme will be started on May 1, and will keep from 300 to 400 additional hands busy until autumn," Mr. Lee said.

IF WOLVES NOT LAUGHING OLD SETTLERS HERE ARE

(From The Pembroke Standard-Observer). The Department of Lands and Forests, Toronto, sent some hunters into the Algonquin Park to hunt wolves. Even with the park rangers they had poor luck. From Jan. 27th to April 1st the 32 extra hunters secured only 7 wolves, while the 30 permanent rangers trapped 17 wolves in the same time. So the department has issued this statement, viz: "It confirms the department's previous assertion that wolves are not destroying deer, and other game in anything like the large numbers alleged." When Mark Twain read the report of his death, and what was said about him, he said that the report was greatly exaggerated—so Toronto officials hold the same views regarding the slaughter of deer by wolves. All the same settlers, who see half devoured deer lying here and there through the forest, are far better judges of the situation than officials in the Department of Lands and Forests. And the settlers hold different views. Start out 62 settlers and it is probable that they will bag more than 24 wolves in two months, but wolves are not always got when the hunter is after them, and it is certainly of no use to take a brass band along when hunting these animals.

BISHOP FROM THE ARCTIC FINDS RADIO BIG BOON

Radio is a great boon to the people of the Arctic, said Bishop W. A. Geddes of the Mackenzie River diocese to The Mail and Empire last week. Bishop Geddes has arrived in Toronto from Aklavik, where there is a small broadcasting station. In the winter, the service is very good but in summer time there is so much static that it is difficult to get any good connections. The mail service by airplane is one of the greatest advances in the north and Bishop Geddes was warm in his praise of the mail carriers who deliver the mail every two months instead of twice a year as formerly. The Bishop reports successful work at the Aklavik hospital, where the Government has stationed a physician and surgeon. Last winter 30 major operations were performed, and the hospital is always crowded, he said. A territory of 600,000 miles is covered by Bishop Geddes, who has about 4,000 Anglicans in his diocese. He conducts his services in three languages, English, Eskimo and Indian. His sermons are interpreted but the order of service is read in different languages. Mrs. Geddes has accompanied the Bishop to Toronto and will go with him to the Lambert Conference in London, England, returning to the Far North in the autumn. It is reported from Rouyn, Quebec that Wilfrid Perreault for several years on the Timmins police force as constable, is now chief of police at Noranda in succession to S. Newton.
