ONTARIO TOURIST TRADE ASSOCIATION'S MEETING

Fish Hatchery Proposed for North Bay. Officers Elected for Year. Wolf Question Discussed. About Tourist Trade

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Tourist Trade Association held in North Bay recently, many subjects of interest to the tourist industry were discussed.

E. L. Hughes, president of the association, spoke on the need of a fish hatchery for North Bay to take care of restocking for the Nipissing district. "At the present time," stated Mr. Hughes, "the nearest hatchery is 280 miles away, and fry en route is often held over night with the result that serious losses occur."

M. U. Bates, vice-president of the association, cited the case of the loss of 200,000 fry in one shipment due to delay in transit. Propagation of bass presented the greatest problem with which the department had to contend. Unlike trout and other species, pond culture was the only means by which this fish could be propagated. An increased grant by the provincial government to the department of game and fisheries to further the work of conservation and propagation was recommended. The need of more game wardens was also stressed.

The wolf question came in for considerable discussion. T. E. Stewart, of Magnetawan, stated that the farmers in his district had been so bothered with wolves that some had been forced to give up sheep raising. The association favored the demand for an increased bounty.

H. E. Elder, of Pickering River, suggested that Cat Lake, four miles in from the French River, be set aside by the government as a rearing pond for small mouth bass. The association also favored the licensing of tourist resort owners.

"I would suggest," said Mr. Hughes, "that all outfitters be licensed and charged a fee. This would not only create a new source of revenue for the department, but would raise the standard of the trade by eliminating the irresponsible or undesirable 'wild-catter' from its ranks."

A committee composed of E. Poole, D. Hains, A. Stevens and M. U. Bates was appointed to draft a resolution to this effect to be forwarded to the provincial government.

The matter of issuing of guides licenses was also discussed. The present system of issuing licenses broadcast was condemned as defeating the object for which they were intended. It was pointed out that on the guide fell a lot of the responsibility for a party's safety while in the woods as well as the matter of fire prevention. The latter feature was an important one to members of the association, most of whom have heavy investments in camps and outdoor equipment. A recommendation was made that more discretion be used in future in issuing guides' licenses, particularly to juveniles, and that an age limit of 18 years be set in the case of the latter.

The matter of travel permits for tourists and other woods travellers during the fire season was also dealt with at some length, and the following resolution adopted: "That the department of lands and forests be asked to enact the following regulation: That no smoking be allowed on portages, or while travellers are en route over woods trails during the fire season."

The suggestion was also made to the department that as a reminder to the traveller "no smoking" signs be placed by rangers on all portages.

The foregoing regulation is not meant to apply to the traveller while at his camp, or while on the water.

Complaints were heard of the depletion of pickerel in the Nipissing district from illegal fishing. It was recommended to the department of game and fisheries that a closed season be placed on pickerel and pike in the following waters: Lake Nipissing, Mattawa and French Rivers and their tributaries from the 1st of January to the 15th of May. "With illegal fishing stopped, and the bag limit observed, no restocking of pickerel in these waters would be necessary," Mr. Hughes declared.

The evening session of the association was attended by representatives of the North Bay Board of Trade, the Ontario Motor League and the Ontario Federation of Anglers. The mayor and city council are anxious to help the Ontario Tourist Trade Association in building up a greater tourist traffic. J. H. McDonald, president of the North Bay Board of Trade, declared, "The tourist trade means millions of dollars to the province every year. It is a fact that more than 50 per cent of the money taken in by some of our merchants in the summer is American money. The city council and the board of trade are at the disposal of the association, and we want suggestions that will lead to the building up of the tourist traffic. We are not working for North Bay alone, but for Northern Ontario as a whole."

H. B. Nichols, president of the Ontario Motor League Association, and Jos. A. Sheedy, president of the Ontario Federation of Anglers, also stressed the value of tourists traffic in the development of Northern Ontario. "We are doing our best," said Mr. Sheedy, "to get the public 'tourist minded' so that the department of game and fisheries won't be hampered by politics as it is at present." Both speakers stressed the need of a fish hatchery in the North Bay district.

Officers were elected for 1930 as follows: President, E. L. Hughes; first vice-president, M. U. Bates; second vice-president, A. Stevens; secretary, M. L. Troy; executive: A. Stevens, Temagami; W. H. Sing, Meaford; C. A. Bailey, Pembroke; C. C. Calvert, Rainy River; R. L. Vanderbeck, Nakina; J. A. McDonald, Iron Bridge; A. O. Seymour, C. K. Howard, Montreal; H. E. Elder, Pickering River; J. A. Sheedy, North Bay.

Second Annual Swimming Marathon July This Year

All who remember the general interest occasioned by the big Swimming Marathon held last August by The Goldfield Drug Store will find interest in the announcement that plans are now under way to hold the second Swimming Marathon in July at Golden City. Karl Eyre will be in charge of the contest this year, with Chas. Roach as his assistant.

In speaking of the swimming marathon to The Advance this week, Colonel S. B. Scobell, of the Goldfield Drug Co. stated that it would be bigger and better than the event last year, with a larger prize list, and the reason for holding it in July was that the weather could be depended on to a greater extent than a month later, and will be warmer for both contestants and spectators.

Announcement will be made later in The Advance as to the exact date, and other particulars concerning the second annual swimming marathon, but in the meantime plans are being carried on to make this the season's outstanding event.

JANET GAYNOR STRUMS A MEAN ZITHER IN MUSICAL

Janet Gaynor, winsome screen favorite who makes her Fox Movietone musical comedy debut in "Sunny Side Up," now showing at the Goldfields theatre, has added another accomplishment to supplement her singing and dancing in this production.

The script for "Sunny Side Up" called for Molly Carr, leading lady, to play the zither in several sequences.

"But Miss Gaynor is no zitherist," protested Fox executives.

"I'll learn," she said. And she did! The zither, with its plaintive tones, supplies a perfect complement for Miss Gaynor's voice, one of the sweetest yet heard on the audible screen.

"Sunny Side Up" is being shown for four days at the Goldfields. It showed it big crowds last night (Wednesday) and the other performances this week Thursday, Friday and Saturday, are likely to draw even bigger houses.

"Sunny Side Up" has made a general hit wherever shown.

FOUND NOTHING ABROAD THAT EQUALLED SARGON

"A sluggish liver brought on constipation that made me a slave to purgatives. My digestion went to pieces and I wasn't free of sour stomach day or night. In a week's time after I started Sargon my liver was functioning right and my digestion was perfect. I eat now with more relish than I have since I was a soldier in the field. Every trace of dizziness and headaches have disappeared and my sleep is wonderfully improved. I have taken medicines in England, Egypt, South Africa and Canada during the eight years I served in the British Army but I never found any that approached the Sargon treatment."—Harry E. Rose, Box 151, Long Branch, Ont.

Sargon may be obtained in Timmins at The Goldfield Drug Store.

Fergus News-Record:—If an editorial writer on a daily paper wants to get his stuff copied all over the country, all he needs to do is to write an article calling the weekly press "the backbone of the country," or something like that. Hun'ngdon Gleaner—Male resentment of the collar button's proclivity for losing itself reached a climax in Vienna some days ago when a chauffeur gave it as his reason for attempting suicide. Fritz Mimmler tried to jump from the window of his third-floor flat. A policeman who had noticed his preparations caught him by the waist and hauled him back into the room. Mimmler told the officer that he had tried five times to fasten his collar. Finally the stud fell out and rolled out of sight; and he decided to depart for a better world where there were presumably neither collars nor collar buttons.

Cornish Greeting Given to Lady Haig Recently

Last week The Advance made reference to the annual dinner of the London, England, Cornish folk and the fact that Lady Haig was the chief guest at the dinner. Mention was made by The Advance to the fact that the event of the evening was the parade of Cornish characters, headed by Dolly Pentreath, played by Mrs. George, of Redruth, who welcomed Lady Haig in the Cornish language. The words of welcome were given by The Advance with the suggestion that if some local Cornish folk could not translate it into English, the translation would be given in this present issue. Several Cornish people have been appealed to and asked to make the translation but one and all approached confess that they can not read the Cornish language which they say is rapidly dying out. Accordingly, following the promise in the last issue The Advance is printing the English translation herewith. The message in Cornish, as printed last week reads as follows:—

"Lowena dheugh why a venen wek gesuegh vy agas dascor tokyn adhy-worth ateaas bro ger ny ha ny a dalgwelgs ef dhe vas kemeres geneuegh orth kernow rag carenga."

This is an old Cornish greeting which was written by "Hay Wyn" (R. St. V. Allin-Collins), and is translated as follows:—

"Greetings to you, O sweet lady. Take you our gifts as tokens from us and our dear land; from Cornwall, for love."

After this quaint greeting Lady Haig was presented with flowers and fruit and many other gifts typical of Cornish people and Cornish customs.

Kirkland Lake Legion is understood to be arranging to hold a monthly exhibition of boxing at that town. A recent card put on proved very attractive. It gave Kirkland Lake fight fans their first opportunity to see Willie Stevens in action since he won the Ontario middle-weight championship, and Kid Williams who is the welterweight champion.
