

PRETTY WEDDING RECENTLY AT ST. JOHN'S MATHESON

A correspondent writing from Matheson last week says:—"St. John's Anglican church here was the scene of an interesting wedding when Teresa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crigger, became the bride of Mr. Oswald Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wolf, of Anthony. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a white silk voile with bertha of pointed radium lace with veil and wreath of orange blossoms and carried a beautiful bouquet of roses. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Broadfoot and during the signing of the register the congregation sang "O Perfect Love." The bridesmaid, Miss Alma Miller, was gowned in flowered georgette with hat to match and carried a bouquet of roses. The groom was supported by his brother, Leo. Immediately after the ceremony which was performed by Archdeacon Woodall, of Porquus Junction, the party motored to the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held followed by a dance in Anthony Hall. The happy couple will reside at Iroquois Falls."

"Face Disfigured From Eczema"

Writes the Nurse who finally tried D.D.D. "The disease had eaten her eyebrows away. Her nose and lips had become disfigured. Since the use of D. D. D. her eyebrows are growing. Her nose and face have assumed their natural expression."

WRIGHT-HARGREAVES TO INSTALL NEW BALL MILL

In addition to the extensive mine development campaign under way at Wright-Hargreaves' mines, the management is planning to increase production at an early date. In this connection the company has purchased the ball mill from the Kirkland Rand interests. The mill was installed in the old Montreal Ontario plant and is said to be in first-class condition, having been in use only a few months. When the new installation is made it is stated that producing capacity at Wright-Hargreaves will be increased by at least 20 per cent. of its present output. Development work at the mine is understood to be centred largely on the opening up of the extension of Lake Shore's No. 2 vein, which was recently located on the 1,750-foot level. The vein has been opened up for a distance of about 250 feet, according to information from the camp, with a width of six feet and average values of $14 to the ton. A raise will be started immediately on the ore from the 1,750-foot level. Ore from this zone is now being used as mill feed.

HOMING PIGEON TAKEN IN CHARGE LAST WEEK AT BAY

The North Bay police last week took a real bird, though scarcely a jail bird, in charge last week. This bird is being held, but though apparently escaping from custody will not be prosecuted but is being treated like a royal visitor, until such time as those from whom he escaped are discovered. The bird is a homing pigeon carrying on one ankle the tag with the inscription, "August 29, D 4624." It flew into the mining recorder's office at North Bay through an open window and made itself at home, being quite tame and apparently accustomed to human beings, allowing itself to be picked up and handled without excitement or objection. This bird is said to have caused the staff in the mining recorder's office at North Bay to have palpitation of the heart by trying to spear a drink from an ink bottle sitting in a partly-finished map on a table. It was feared that the outlook for the bird's health was black and also that the map might be ruined if the bird continued its efforts to get its head in to the neck of the bottle. The bird and bottle were both rescued from calamity before untoward accident happened. After this incident the bird was carried to the police office at North Bay where it is being held pending information as to its owner. Anyone, knowing this bird should communicate with the police office at North Bay.

Barrie Examiner:—Premier Ferguson gave a pleasing instance of the truth that age is a matter of feeling and not of years, on the occasion of his 60th birthday, when, in reply to a reminder of the report that he might at this date retire from public life, he smilingly said: "We do not measure age by years. One's age is determined by his outlook on life and his spirit. Measured by that standard, I have not yet reached 35." Hence Mr. Ferguson's political opponents need not look for his resignation from office within the next 20 years.

ANNUAL REPORT OF LABOUR ORGANIZATION IN CANADA

Report Issued by Dominion Department of Labour Indicates Another Gain in Trade Unionists in the Dominion in 1929.

The nineteenth annual report on Labour Organization in Canada, being for the calendar year 1929, which has just been issued, divides the trade union movement of the Dominion into six classes of labour bodies as follows: (1) local branches of international craft organizations, having headquarters in the United States; (2) One Big Union, an international industrial union, with headquarters in Winnipeg; (3) local branches of the Industrial Workers of the World, a revolutionary industrial union which seeks to abolish the wage system, with headquarters in Chicago; (4) Canadian central labour organizations; (5) Independent trade union units; and (6) national Catholic unions.

The international craft union group, which consists of the Canadian members of 85 organizations, two more than in 1928, has 1,953 branches in the Dominion, a gain of 80, with a combined membership of 203,514, an increase of 16,567. The One Big Union reported 43 local units in Canada, loss of three with a membership of 22,890, an increase of 2,861. The Industrial Workers of the World claims six local branches, a loss of one, with a membership of 3,975, a falling off of 425. The Canadian group, consisting of 25 central organizations, a decrease of two, have between them 639 local branches, a gain of 53, with an aggregate membership of 53,277, an increase of 1,419. The independent units number 31, a loss of five, the combined membership of which is 10,820, a decrease of 578. The national Catholic group of unions numbers 106, a gain of one, their combined membership being 25,000, a loss of 1,000. These figures indicate a net gain in branches of 125 and an increase in members of 18,874, making a grand total of 2,778 branches of all classes of unions in Canada with a combined reported and estimated membership of 319,476. In 1928 the increases were 49 in branches and 10,320 in members. These figures show that trade unionists represent 3.26 per cent. of the population of Canada. The membership of all classes of organized labour bodies in Canada as reported to the department for the past nineteen years, has been as follows:— 1911, 133,132; 1912, 160,120; 1913, 175,759; 1914, 166,163; 1915, 143,343; 1916, 160,407; 1917, 204,620; 1918, 248,887; 1919, 278,047; 1920, 373,842; 1921, 313,320; 1922, 276,621; 1923, 278,092; 1924, 360,643; 1925, 271,064; 1926, 274,604; 1927, 290,282; 1928, 300,602; 1929, 319,467.

Of the trade union members reported for 1929 the report shows that 155,546 are identified with the Trades and Labour Congress in Canada and 51,461 are affiliated with the All-Canadian Congress of Labour.

Trade Union membership by provinces—The province of Ontario has 1,055 of the total of 2,778 local branch unions of all classes in the Dominion, Quebec being second with 504, and Alberta third with 279. The remaining six provinces rank as follows: British Columbia, 271; Saskatchewan, 212; Manitoba, 185; Nova Scotia, 141; New Brunswick, 119, and Prince Edward Island, 11.

Trade union membership in Canadian cities.—Thirty-five cities in Canada have not less than 20 local branch unions and represent approximately 60 per cent. of the total number of branches in the Dominion and contain about 52 per cent. of the total trade union membership. Montreal stands first in the list of cities, and including the national Catholic unions, has 200 local branches of all classes of unions, 147 of which reported 41,389 members, Toronto ranks second with 147 branches, 105 of which reported 27,512 members; Winnipeg occupies third place with 109 branches, 71 of which reported 12,510 members, Vancouver being fourth with 103 branches, 83 of which reported 14,371 members. The remaining 31 cities in order of number of branches are: Calgary, 74 branches, 65 reporting 6,181 members; Edmonton, 69 branches, 59 reporting 5,544 members; Quebec, 69 branches, 42 reporting 4,689 members; Hamilton, 63 branches, 54 reporting 5,306 members; Ottawa, 62 branches, 48 reporting 4,253 members; London, 59 branches, 43 reporting 4,052 members; Victoria, 47 branches, 40 reporting 2,503 members; Halifax, 43 branches, 32 reporting 3,842 members; St. John 43 branches, 34 reporting 2,633 members; Regina, 43 branches, 37 reporting 2,218 members; Saskatoon, 41, branches, 34 reporting 2,195 members; Windsor, 40 branches, 35 reporting 2,617 members; Moose Jaw, 34 branches, 26 reporting 1,828 members; Fort William, 31 branches, 27 reporting 1,991 members; St. Thomas, 29 branches, 25 reporting 1,994 members; Lethbridge, 27 branches, 25 reporting 1,880 members; Port Arthur, 27 branches, 17 reporting

1,237 members; Sherbrooke, 27 branches 16 reporting 838 members; Brandon, 26 branches, 20 reporting 1,142 members; North Bay, 25 branches, 23 reporting 1,811 members; Moncton, 24 branches, 22 reporting 3,155 members; Brantford, 22 branches, 20 reporting 929 members; Guelph, 22 branches, 18 reporting 496 members; Stratford, 21 branches, 20 reporting 1,773 members; St. Catharines 21 branches, 15 reporting 553 members; Kitchener, 21 branches 18, reporting 454 members; Three Rivers, 20 branches, 14 reporting 1,533 members; Hill, 20 branches, 17 reporting 1,143 members; Sault Ste. Marie, 20 branches 18 reporting 953 members; Kingston, 20 branches 13, reporting 611 members, and Peterborough, 20 branches, 18 reporting 430 members.

Trade union benefits.—Eleven of the 25 Canadian central labour organizations reported payments for benefits in 1929, the total disbursed being $48,051, an increase of $12,717 as compared with 1928. Of the 87 international bodies operating in Canada 67 had expenditures for benefits, the combined disbursements being $27,888,892, an increase of $3,091,524. The outlay for each class of benefit was as follows:— Death benefits $17,438,977 Unemployed and travelling benefits 1,221,963 Strike benefits 1,329,257 Sick and accident benefits 2,292,022 Old age pensions and other benefits 5,507,553

Benefits paid by local branches.—Besides the amounts expended for benefits by the central organizations a statement is included in the report showing the amounts disbursed for benefits by local branch unions to their own members. The total of these payments were $445,627, an increase of $39,596 over the year 1928, the disbursements for 1929 for each class of benefit being: Death benefits $165,392 Unemployed benefits 27,653 Strike benefits 37,413 Sick benefits 150,197 Other benefits 64,982

Other features of the report.—Apart from the statistics published the report discusses the various labour organizations with which the Canadian organized workers are either directly or indirectly connected and, also refers to some of the more important events concerning organized labour. The report is a complete labour directory, containing lists of central organizations, delegate bodies and local branch unions, together with the names and addresses of the chief executive officers for the year 1930.

Non-trade union associations.—The report also gives information concerning a group of 106 associations embracing wage earners which though not identified with the labour movement are sufficiently important to warrant their names being printed in the volume. These include organizations of school teachers, Government employees, commercial travellers, etc., with a combined reported membership of 103,811.

W. H. McCAY PASSES AWAY AT WORK AT KIRKLAND LAKE

W. H. McCay, known throughout the North as "Slim," veteran of the Klondyke rush and pioneer resident of Northern Ontario mining camps, dropped dead Friday while at work on a street at Kirkland Lake for the municipality of Teck, by whom he was employed.

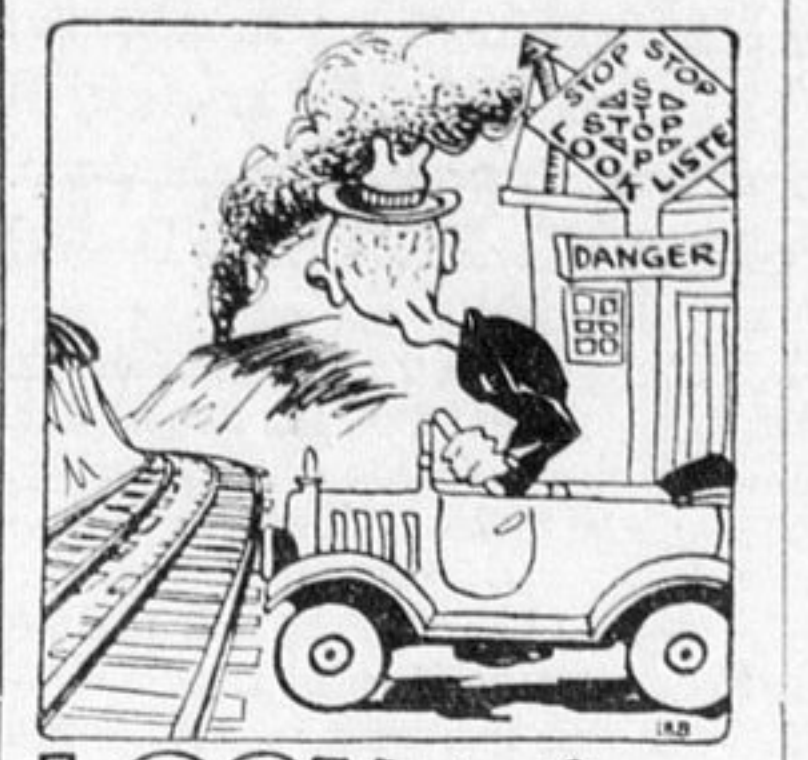

Heart trouble was the cause of death. Mr. McCay had been in good health prior to his sudden seizure.

A native of Nanaimo, the late Mr. McCay participated in the gold rush to the Yukon over 30 years ago, later coming to Cobalt in its early days. For years he was engaged in the service of the municipality there in various capacities. Afterwards, he conducted a restaurant at Swastika; worked for two years at the Barry-Hollinger mine in Boston Creek, and latterly had been living in Kirkland Lake.

The grave is the tenderest part of the chicken.

Titbits (London, England):—Rarely, if ever, are flowers placed on a gypsy's grave. Some little possession that they loved in life—a toy for a child, or a blackened teapot, broken first, for an old woman, and so one—is the usual choice.
