Miss Minnie Levinson of Windsor, paid her mother a visit before leaving for North Bay to attend Normal during the ensuing year.

Miss Marjorie Dysart is in the Porcupine Presbyterian hospital having undergone a successful operation for appendicitis.

The Porcupine Agricultural Fair was favoured with ideal weather and there was the usual big crowd attending. The displays in flowers, vegetables and women's work was exceptional but the poultry and pet stock exhibit was much smaller than usual. There was also not very much competition in the livestock classes except among the horses. The flowers and vegetables were quoted as being the equal in quality of that seen at Toronto Exhibition. Mr. A. Londry's three large Trentonian Dahlias would have been an acquisition to any show. Mrs. G. Gauthier's collection of three Decorative Dahlias, including the wonderful new Jane Cowl would have attracted attention among the best of the land. She also had a Col. Lindbergh, Rose Fallon and Gladys Sherwood. In the gladiol display she had the beautiful Duchess of York, one of Mair's best in exquisite shades of soft rose with apricot markings. Her pansy collection which took first prize had specimens two and one half inches across. An Amaryllis shown by Mrs. A. Hogg among the house plants, and a Rex Begonia by Mrs. H. Rapsey, brought very favourable remarks. Two boxes of fine strawberries of the ever-bearing variety were also exhibited by Mrs. Rapsey, as well as home-grown currants of unusually large type prepared by the cold-pack method. The

First Meeting of Excelsior Club. Corn Roast Was Enjoyable Event. Marriage of Schumacher Couple at Timmins Last Week.

Schumacher, September 17th, 1930. Special to The Advance.

Miss Kitty Duxfield left Sunday to continue her studies at North Bay Normal School.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Summerell and Calendula exhibited by Mrs. Irving, of Elm street, Timmins, was very attractive. Perennial Phlox in a great many colourings was another of the good features.

Mr. I. P. Wilson's display of vegetables was an eye-opener. There was one giant squash which weighed seventy-two pounds and was five feet in circumference. This squash was grown outside in highly enriched well worked ground but was never given any special feeding as many who saw it imagined must have been done. There was a pumpkin nearly as large. The exhibit included ten varieties of squash and vegetable marrow, two each of tomatoes, pumpkin, peas, cabbage and beans besides turnips, rhubarb, parsnips, lettuce, onions, cucumbers, carrots, celery, potatoes, radish, beets, citron and cauliflower. There were thirty-four varieties of vegetables in the display, and all of a superior quality.

Mrs. Art Ewing won two special prizes, an electric hot plate for the most points in cooking in which she obtained eight firsts and four seconds. In fancy work she received an electric toaster as a special for the most points having got eight firsts and four seconds in this class also. The fancy work especially embroidery in colours, of Mrs. Horvath of 263 Birch street, north, was the cynosure of admiring eyes. Her work included cushions, aprons, centre pieces and table cover in cut work. Four firsts and three seconds were the allotment of this young Hungarian woman. The breakfast set in silk and wool by Mrs. W. W. Wilson created many curious guesses as to what it really was. Some thought it new styles of kimono tassels, others guessed buccoir caps. As a matter of fact it was a coffee cosy and six eggs coseys. The drawings of Annie Michaluck and Francis King were well executed. Mary Miller's fancy work was also good in the girls' work. In the poultry the Jersey Black Giants were noticeable for their size. A large White Rock cock shown by Mr. W. D. Pearce very jauntily carried off the honours as the best bird in the show. A life-size porcupine in a cage on the flagpole was the side show that attracted most of the attention. Sir Porcupine evidently liked the fuss that was made over him for when five-thirty came he climbed the pole under the flag and refused to go home. He was the property of Mr. R. Campsall. A white rat in a cage was another attraction. The Girl Guides again had their baby creche which was a boon to mothers with children. The Porcupine Goldfields band discoursed their music liberally throughout the day. William Ewart Stanlake was the winner of the first prize at the baby show. This young gentleman is four and a half months' old and weighs sixteen pounds, six ounces. He has dark brown eyes but fair hair and was so happy over his prize that he just wanted to sleep and dream about it. The full prize list is in another part of the paper.

Some bold thief or thieves stole Hilton Miller's Chevrolet coupe on Saturday night last as it was left standing in front of his home on Bruce avenue. Up to time of writing he has got no trace of it. Hilton had just had seven gallons of gas put in it last thing before he brought it home on Saturday night. Evidently this courtesy mightily pleased the thief and enabled him to make a good get-away.

On Monday evening a number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stone, gave them a surprise party at a housewarming at their home on Bruce avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Letterman acted as master and mistress of ceremonies. Many good wishes were showered on the young couple, after which the ladies were asked to write out two "Dont's" and one "Do" for young husbands and the men were asked to do likewise for young wives. Mrs. J. McCaffrey won the prize among the ladies for the most original advice and Mr. Ray Stone himself turned out to be the author of the advice to young wives which was chosen as the prize-winner. The toast to the young couple was proposed by Mr. J. V. Stone. With many words of welcome to the young couple their friends departed after a happy evening.
