ELOQUENT ADDRESSES AT SCHUMACHER ANNIVERSARY

Rev. J. D. Parks, of North Bay, Welcomed to Camp by Hosts of Old Friends. Other Interesting Items of News from Schumacher Correspondent.

Schumacher, November 19th. Special to The Advance.

Mrs. H. R. Tester and daughter of Toronto, are visiting at the home of Mrs. J. O'Donnell, Second avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bilson, of Timmins, have moved to Schumacher, and taken up residence on 38 Railroad street.

The anniversary services at the United Church Sunday in charge of the Rev. J. D. Parks, were well attended. In the morning the subject was "The Sacredness of Money," which made a very impressive and instructive topic the way it was so ably dealt with by Rev. Mr. Parks. In the evening Mr. Parks took for his subject, "Bridges With Hinges," which made a fitting lesson on modern times, individual and national. The church was filled to capacity, some being turned away unable to obtain standing room and anyone missing these eloquent services might well regret it.

On Monday night the anniversary services were continued in charge of the Schumacher Male Voice Choir, the programme furnished being a pleasure to listen to. Programme:—part song, "Jolly Roger," by the choir; Mr. C. Roberts, Sr., a tenor solo; "Kentucky Home," by the choir; quartette by Messrs Roberts, Thompson, Skelly, Granvill; baritone solo, by Mr. H. Parnell; "Comrades' Song of Hope," by the choir; duet, Messrs Roberts and Skelly; address by the Rev. J. D. Parks, "Left-Overs," humorous and inspiring; bass solo by Mr. Skelly; quartette, "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes"; "Old Black Joe," by the choir; organ solo, Mr. W. H. Wilson; part song, by the choir "Martyrs of the Arena"; an address by the chairman, Rev. Mr. Summerell. The concert was brought to a close by singing "God Save the King."

Mrs. MacDonald, of Toronto, is a visitor at the home of Mrs. Adamson.

Mrs. C. Ward left yesterday for a holiday at Englehart and Elk Lake.

The card party and dance under the auspices of the Firemen was a success socially as well as financially. Prizes for bridge were: ladies, first, Mrs. W. J. Mackay; ladies, second, Miss Mary Byrnes; consolation, Mrs. George Webber; gentlemen, first, bridge, Mr. P. E. Cooper; second, Mr. I. A. Solomon; whist, ladies, first, Mrs. F. E. Armstrong; ladies, second, Mrs. J. G. Harris; gentlemen, whist, first, Mr. J. W. Phillips; second, G. Phillips; euchre, ladies, first, Mrs. George Proulx; second, Miss Nora Dillon; gentlemen, Ira Fraser, first; Lew Breddick, second. It is hoped the Firemen will not forget to put on another one of these popular evenings in the near future.

Mrs. Jarrett, of Toronto, is visiting her daughter here, Mrs. E. Pooley, Third avenue.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Willis are pleased to see him back in the camp again after an extended visit in England.

Born—November 18th, 1930, to Mr. and Mrs. Bannick, Second avenue—a son.

The Rev. Mr. Summerell returned

The Oyster Dirge

(By Edell Hamilton, Timmins). Gently the snowflakes sifted in Through the chinks in the wall of the old coalbin

And here, next the office of C.I.L. There flitted a ghost in an oyster shell.

It tried to make friends with the lumps of coal But they were all foreign and lacking in soul.

So the "Blue Point" ghost lay down in despair A salty heap in the frozen air.

"What's dat I hear mak' noise en haut?" Came the voice of a "Malpeque" down below;

The "Blue Point" ghost jumped from its shell At this watery sound from the depths of Hell.

"I was an oyster once," it replied, "How soon do you expect high-tide?"

"Parbleu! you crazy for talk comme ca The sea, she's mebbe dix mille arpents; Dat's tree, four months since I leave here

But where you liv' fore you come here?" "My family lived in Maine till the fall. Then we left for Gatehouse, Montreal. Before my grandad "crossed the bar."

At Panze's, he said, "You'll so far, My boy, but little did I know My fate lay in this land of snow."

For a moment "Malpeque" did not reply. But wiped a tear from its coal-black eye.

"Sacre! dat jus' de same lak me; I come here wid ma familie Nine hender tirty, I tink we were We come in barrel, par chemin de fer. For wan beeg feast, she's geev by "Lay" With beaucoup "Grande Chablis" on tap.

The "Blue Point's" face cracked into a smile Which shook some coal down off the pile.

It's worth your while to come this far Just to hear the jokes in that oyster bar.

And to see the miners smack their lips And homeward roll like laden ships. After many a glass and warm hand-shake.

And the phantoms laughed till their sides did ache: "I'd sooner be swallowed with wine, wouldn't you?"

Than have to be boiled for oyster stew."

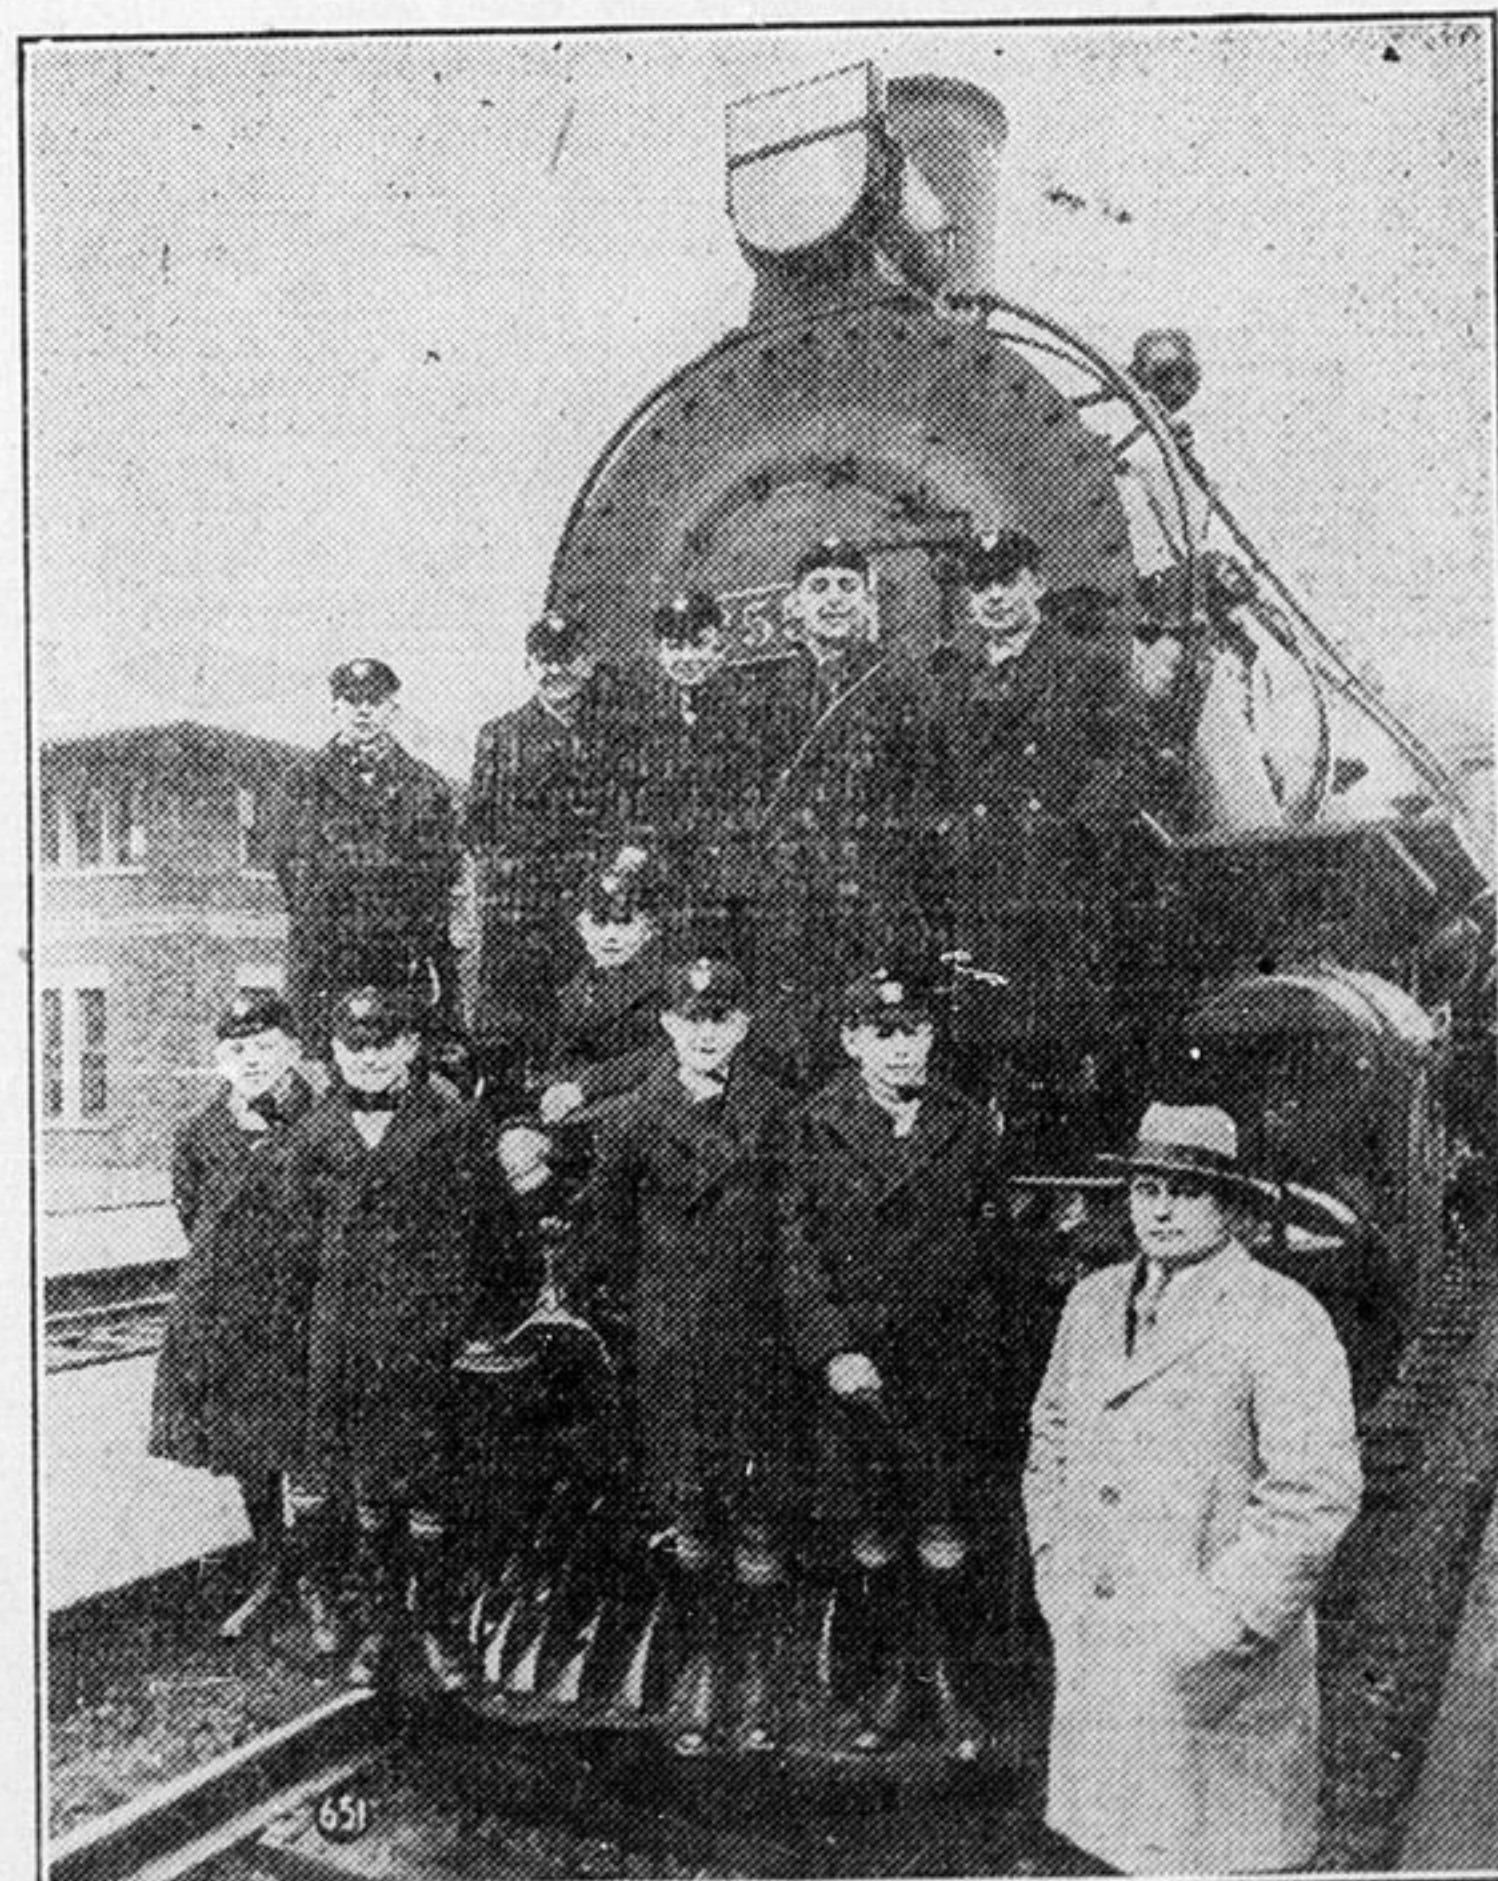

But nothing burns like an oyster shell. And late that night at the C.I.L.

Their crackling mirth could be heard afar As they burnt in the stove by the oyster bar.

Toronto Mail and Empire:—"Quite a time has elapsed since the world had a major poem from Mr. Rudyard Kipling. Judging from the cable dispatches, his metrical attack upon the Ramsay MacDonald Government for its action regarding the decoration of soldiers' cenotaphs is a biting indictment. No poet of this generation has a more mordant pen than the man who a generation since wrote of "flanneled fools at the wicket, muddled oafs at the bat."

Monday night from North Bay, where he took charge of the United Church service Sunday, during Mr. Parks' visit here.

"His Majesty's Choir Children" to Sing

Canada is honored—and delighted—by the visit to the Dominion of the children of His Majesty's Savoy Chapel Choir, composed of twelve boy sopranos, the pick of England's best youthful singers, all of them under sixteen years of age. It is the first occasion in the 700-year history of the Chapel that a King of England has given permission to the children of the choir to leave Great Britain. They will take part in the Christmas Festival to be held this year at Lucerne-in-Quebec, and they will also give a recital at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, December 23. Those who associate the choir with strictly church music will get a surprise, for programmes to be rendered by the boys include not only this type of music but also some of the best known of secular songs, glees and part songs presented in solo, trio or choral form. When they sing church music they are garbed in scarlet and gold costumes surmounted by the quaint Tudor ruff, exactly as they appear upon festival occasions in London. They come to Canada as representatives of an institution which typifies the best traditions of choral singing in a country where choral singing is unexcelled in any part of the world.
