

Flowers Blooming in Town These Fine Days

The last week or two have been remarkable for the beautiful weather enjoyed in this North Land. The air on most days has been like summer and flowers have been blooming and blossoming in the gardens of the town and district without any protection except the fine weather itself.

This week several readers of The Advance have brought or sent to this office flowers growing in the open and unprotected in their gardens. Probably the most remarkable of these were marguerites picked in the garden of Mr. Jean Pare, Jr., 212 Balsam street, north on November 18th. This looks like a record for the North Land.

There were several who picked pansies in their gardens here this week. Of course, pansies will live under the snow, but the weather has to be remarkably mild for them to bloom and flower as they have been doing in town during the last week or two. From the garden of Mrs. McKinley, 203 Birch street, south, there came some fine pansies, fresh picked on Nov. 18th. Mrs. Mahar, 76 First avenue, was able to give a regular bouquet of choice pansies of rich colorings, all fresh-picked from an unprotected garden on Tuesday of this week. Mrs. D. McDonald, of Gold Centre, Schumacher, also had pansies growing as in summer in the garden.

SOUTH PORCUPINE VISITOR AT TIMMINS I.O.O.F. LODGE

Timmins I.O.O.F. lodge held their regular weekly meeting in the Oddfellows' hall, Spruce street, on Friday evening, Nov. 14th. There were quite a number of brothers present. P.G. Bro. Stone, of South Porcupine Lodge No. 453 was a visitor and gave all the brothers of Timmins Lodge and also every member of the Sister Rebekah Lodge of Timmins a very hearty invitation to their annual anniversary social and dance at South Porcupine on Monday evening, Nov. 17th.

"Terrible links, caddy, terrible."
"Sorry sir, these ain't links—you got off them an hour ago."

She lived for many years in Winnipeg and is now a resident of Vancouver.

HIGH-CLASS TECHNICOLOUR WESTERN PICTURE THIS WEEK

The feature at the Goldfields theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week, Nov. 21st and 22nd, is the high-class Western type of picture, "Under a Texas Moon."

"Under a Texas Moon," the theme song for Warner Bros. first 100% talking, singing, outdoor picture in technicolour of the same name which will be at the Goldfields next week-end as noted above, is reckoned as the most important single number in the season's productions by Warner Brothers. Both words and music are by Ray Perkins, head of the song writing department of that studio.

The song is heard a number of times in the picture for every time the susceptible Don Carlos sees a pretty lady he either sings it, or has his two guitar-strumming henchmen serenade her while he makes love. It echoes across the Texas plains as the three adventurers ride in the moonlight; it is heard in a lovely inn as Don Carlos faces love and death with a laugh; it is heard in more than one garden as that same inconstant heart-breaker seeks to make new conquests in the game of love.

Frank Fay, who plays the coveted Don Carlos part and George Stone and George Cooper as the two followers of the bragging, dashing Carlos, have splendid voices and the theme song for their use was painstakingly worked over for many weeks.

"Under a Texas Moon" was directed by Michael Curtiz. The cast includes Armida, Noah Berry, Mona Loy, Raquel Torres, Betty Boyd, Mona Maris and many other beauties of the screen. "Under a Texas Moon" is an adaptation of Steward Edward White's "Two-Gun Man."

DEATH OF CORNELIUS DWYER AT PEMBROKE LAST WEEK

Friends in the North Land where the deceased had several relatives will regret to learn of the death of Cornelius Dwyer, whose funeral took place on Saturday last from his late home at Eganville to St. James' church and cemetery there. Mr. Dwyer died in Pembroke General Hospital Thursday, following a severe illness of only a day's duration. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Dwyer, Irish emigrants, and a native of Grattan, where he spent nearly all the four score years of his life. He followed farming, lumbering and railroad construction and was widely known and respected throughout Ottawa Valley.

Surviving are his widow, Catherine Grier; six sons, and four daughters; Rev. C. W. Dwyer, Pembroke; Patrick S. Fossmill, Ont.; John J. Pembroke; T. E. Cobalt; T. L. Hearst; George Barry's Bay; Mrs. W. P. Cannon, Cobalt; Mrs. E. J. Cannon, Dalhousie, N. B.; Mrs. T. A. Crawford, Hearst and Mrs. Pat Quinn, Englehart.

All but Thomas, of Hearst, were present at the obsequies. One brother, Timothy, of Eganville, and a sister, Mrs. Ellen Rankin, of Ruby, also survive. Requiem mass was celebrated by Rt. Rev. P. T. Ryan, Bishop of Pembroke, assisted by Rev. D. J. Breen, assistant priest; Rev. P. Dwyer and Rev. W. C. Dwyer, deacons of honour; Rev. J. S. Grier, deacon of the mass; Rev. Dr. Clarke and Rev. J. L. Ennis, masters of ceremonies.

The sermon was preached by Rev. A. McNery, of Renfrew. Present also in the sanctuary were Rev. Fathers Ryan, Sloan, Holly and McDonald, of Pembroke; Hogan, of Brudenell; McNamara, of Wyllie; McElligott, of Mt. St. Patrick; I. A. French and R. J. Roney, of Eganville; J. N. George, of Cormac; Major Leo Enright, Calumet; Quinn, Renfrew; Schruder, Amprior; A. Rice Griffith, T. Wingle, Osceola.

The pallbearers were Patrick, John, Ted and George Dwyer, sons; Victor and Leo Bonnah, grandsons.

Falls and District Rod and Gun Club, and C. S. Jessup, the secretary-treasurer. A feature promised for the occasion is that the meat for the occasion will be venison. The club has for its object the promotion of the interests of legitimate sport in regard to fish and game, better co-operation and good feeling among sportsmen, proper measures for the conservation of game and fish, the re-stocking of waters, suitable game areas, and the guarding of regulations of the taking of fish and game. Despatches in some outside newspapers suggest that Iroquois Falls has the first rod and gun club in the North. This, of course, is not the fact. The Porcupine had a rod and gun club over ten years ago and this organization is still in existence and even recently has been carrying on useful work for fish and game. Iroquois Falls and District Rod and Gun Club, however, may justly take pride in being a very active and helpful organization of its kind in the North.

Killed by Fall of Loose Rock at Kirkland Lake

Raymond Kingsley Arthur, son of Dr. R. H. Arthur and the late Anna Arthur, of Sudbury, was fatally injured when a loose rock weighing approximately 1,000 pounds fell on him while he was working at the Lake Shore Mine at Kirkland Lake on Wednesday evening at 9 o'clock. He was rushed to the hospital at Kirkland Lake, but despite all medical aid he died of a broken pelvis bone and internal injuries at 8 o'clock on Thursday morning.

Deceased was born in Sudbury 33 years ago and attended the local schools there. Later he attended the Royal Military College at Kingston, from where he enlisted for overseas service when still under 18 years of age. On his return from the battlefields of France he returned to Sudbury. For the past month he was an employee of the Lake Shore Mine.

Surviving him are his father, Dr. Arthur; two sisters, Mrs. M. E. Gillespie, of New York, and Miss Dorothy Arthur, of Toronto, and two brothers, Morris, of Sudbury, and Dr. Wilfred Arthur, of Maine.

The late R. K. Arthur was known to many in Timmins and district. The funeral was held on Saturday last at Sudbury to the Anglican church and cemetery.

Report Ten Years Ago on Matchewan Gold Area

With the Matchewan gold area again in the limelight it may be interesting to reprint a brief review from The Advance of ten years ago. The Advance of Nov. 17th, 1920, had the following article headed "Government Report on Matchewan Gold Area."
"The second report on the Matchewan gold area has recently been issued by the Ontario Bureau of Mines." The report is by A. G. Burrows. The report concedes that the Matchewan area is a continuation of the Kirkland Lake district. The granite porphyries of the course of the ore, are the same in both fields, the report says. Mr. Burrows suggests unusually high values in gold at Matchewan, but does not think the ore shoots are as long as those in Porcupine. Mr. Burrows finds that in the Matchewan field the iron pyrites take up from 12 to 18 per cent. of the ore. This is unusually high for a gold ore. He also discovered scheelite, an important ore of tungsten, also crystallized garnet of the variety known as andradite.
"Comments on the report of Prof. Burrows are very interesting. Mr. Frank C. Loring, the well-known mining engineer, when asked relative to Mr. Burrows' reference to the comparative length of ore shoots in Matchewan and Porcupine told a Toronto newspaper that faulting made the shoots in the Matchewan area look shorter than what they actually are, but that this condition would right itself at depth. Dr. Cooke, of the Dept. of Mines at Ottawa, notes the presence at Matchewan of considerable bodies of peridotite. This rock is favourable for garnets, asbestos, platinum, diamonds, etc. The asbestos and garnets have been found. If diamonds and platinum are eventually discovered in commercial quantity, as the signs thus say they may be,—well, the North Land will surely then be SOME mining country."

Armistice Day Observed at Abitibi Canyon Camp

Word relayed from Cochrane gives the interesting story of the observance at Abitibi Canyon camp of the Armistice Day this year. The observance at Abitibi Canyon was one of the farthest north observances of Armistice Day by so large a body of men. There are close to two thousand men in and near the camp and the greater part of the number observed the Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day holiday in the spirit of the occasion. The memory of those who passed west in the great war was duly honoured by the men at Abitibi Canyon. A special feature for Thanksgiving Day was the real old-time Thanksgiving Day dinner event given by the Dominion Construction Company, Limited, who are in charge of the work at the Canyon. There were over 1100 men who were delighted with this great dinner. In the evening of the holiday on the Monday a concert was given in the recreation building at the construction camp. This concert was under the auspices of the Protestant church at the camp. The programme was all by local talent and was exceptionally good. It took about two hours to go through the programme and every item was greatly enjoyed.
