Cochrane Establishes Soup Kitchen and Beds

Cochrane has between 100 and 125 men out of work and without means of living and to care for these the town has started a soup kitchen and beds in the building just west of the town and formerly used by the Cochrane Woodworking Company. In this building meals will be available, as well as beds for those who are down and out, but Cochrane has very wisely placed the restriction on this service that the men who accept the hospitality must give some work in return. This will discourage a certain type of genuine "bum." This type was encountered at North Bay and other centres, where soup kitchens and free beds were started. When it was made one of the regulations that men accepting free meals and beds must work for the city for at least four hours per day to pay for their keep, the honest fellows were delighted at the idea of being able to pay their way, but there was a group of some proportions that at once picked up and left North Bay. They objected to work and moved where there were free soup kitchens and charity without restriction. It may be that Cochrane will not decrease its charity patients by the plan but if this is the case the town will still have the satisfaction of knowing that the men being fed and sheltered are willing to work and are not common bums. Cochrane felt the fire at the Queen's hotel in connection with its unemployed. The owner of the Queen's had conducted an employment agency and in connection with it he had a cheap meal service and also allowed the use of the basement of the hotel for the free shelter for men not able to pay for beds. When the hotel burned down a couple of weeks ago the unemployed missed these helps and the town stepped into the breach and started the soup kitchen and free beds as noted above. The Department of Northern Development is lending the town the cooking utensils, dishes and blankets required. The building was bid in by the town at the tax sale on December 5. It is well-built and warmly lined, stoves have been set up to keep it warm, and it should provide very comfortable quarters. It is hoped that local merchants and residents will donate food, but if not, the town will buy what food is required. A watchman and cook will be provided.

QUEEN'S HOTEL, COCHRANE, TO BE REBUILT AT ONCE

Word from Cochrane is to the effect that Jas. Palangio, Sr., owner of the Queen's hotel recently destroyed by fire, intends to rebuild at once. An architect at Kirkland Lake has been engaged to prepare plans for the proposed new building. Mr. Palangio is quoted as saying that the new hotel will be a modern fire-proof building, with structural steel framework, steel stairways and cement floors. A gang of men started last week to clear out the basement of the destroyed structure and to get the place generally in shape for the re-building plans. There were stoves set up to avoid damage from frost and other measures taken to facilitate the work of clearing up and preparing for the new building.

Toronto Mail and Empire:—Rudyard Kipling has passed his 65th birthday. We recall that a long time ago Henry James spoke of him as a "young man who has travelled a long way before breakfast." The promise of his youth was fulfilled in his maturity and he is yet far from the evening of his days.

TEN YEARS AGO IN TIMMINS

From data in the Porcupine Advance Files.

The Advance on Jan. 12th, 1921, noted that wages were to be reduced 75 cents per day or about 15 per cent. at the Cobalt mines. The reduction was said to be due to the power situation and the price of silver, and really to be an alternative to the closing of the mines altogether.

The Advance ten years ago said:—"The fire brigade has an established record for very prompt response to alarms but last night shortly after eight o'clock they excelled even their usual good time. The team and several members of the brigade were at the scene of the fire before the alarm had ceased ringing. The alarm was turned in on account of a chimney fire back of Dalton's livery. The brigade had a line of hose laid in practically no time and were all ready for the speediest action, but their services were not necessary."

The victory of the Porcupine hockey team over the Halleybury team in the N.O.H.A. series was recorded with much pleasure by The Advance ten years ago. There were about a thousand people out to see the game and while the local lads completely outclassed the visitors the Halleybury team fought gamely to the finish. The final score was 10 to 1. The opening period was good hockey but the other two stanzas were not so good. The Porcupine team included Walters, Cox, Spring, McGuire, McCurry, Brown, Parker and Jacobs; while Halleybury was represented by Burns, Masterson, McParland, Speck, Austin, Jones, Laughington and Carmichael. Masterson was the best man for the visitors.

The inaugural meeting of the 1921 council appointed the following as the chairman of the various committees:—finance, E. L. Longmore; police, J. E. Sullivan; waterworks, E. S. Noble; fire and light, L. S. Newton; public works, T. F. King; contingent, J. E. Morin. As each member of council had the chairmanship of a committee, the above list shows all the members of the council. The mayor for 1921 was Dr. J. A. McInnis.

In the Advance ten years ago it was noted that J. C. Houston had gone to Mexico to examine some mining properties down there for Ontario and other interests. Mr. Houston had previously been on the Dome Mines engineering staff, and with the Schumacher Mines in the times of some of the trains on the T. & N. O. were noted in The Advance ten years ago. There was only one Toronto train a day this train leaving here at 2 p.m., instead of 11:30 a.m. The train from Toronto reached here at 6:30 p.m.

Troquois Falls board of trade ten years ago passed a resolution which was forwarded on to the Associated Boards of Trade, asking the Government to appoint a commission to investigate the requirements of the North Land as a whole and recommend to the Government what public works should be undertaken and the order in which they should be done. According to the resolution the Government should name the chairman of the commission and two members, and the Associated Boards should name the other two. This commission, it was urged, should make a thorough survey of the North and consider all representation from local boards of trade and similar bodies and from individuals as to ways and means for the advancement and betterment of the North Land. Of course, the Advance was in favour of such a commission and gave much space to show how it could accomplish much for the North. The Government, however, did not put the idea into operation, though the Associated Boards recommended it. Since then the necessity for a commission of this kind has decreased with the increased knowledge of the North and its problems and the good work done by the members of the Legislature in explaining the needs of the country.

Ten years ago The Advance published a telegram just received the day of publication, to the effect that John Jones and his team of 14 dogs had safely brought out the three balloonists from James Bay to Mattice where they could take the railway to Cochrane and from there proceed to their homes in the south. After referring to John Jones and his dog team, The Advance said:—"John Jones has had dog teams working in the Hudson Bay district for the past few months. That is no doubt how he came to be on the spot when a team was necessary to take out the three American balloonists. The daily newspapers have been filled with stories of these balloonists. Three U.S. Navy men left Rockaway, N.Y., in December for a brief trip in a naval observation balloon. They got lost apparently and drifted rapidly north, eventually going to earth in the Moose Factory district where they were taken charge of by the Hudson Bay factor at that point. According to the daily newspapers, the whole world has been waiting breathlessly for their return to civilization. This idea is not quite true about the North Land. This country was pleased at all the advertising it was receiving and amused at all the fuss. While the location of the three balloonists was not known there was naturally some anxiety, but as soon as people here knew they were at Moose Factory, all felt they were perfectly safe and would be well cared for and returned to their homes without special discomfort. Just as expected they are back now to where railroads run or walk. Johnny Jones brought them out in his 14-dog team. It would be just a pleasant trip for Johnny and he would see that the three men had easy travelling and little more discomfort than on a steam railway with parlour car and dinner service. Next!"

The Advance ten years ago said:—"Miss Lowe of the provincial board of health department, Toronto, is the trained nurse secured by the town of Timmins to assist in the good work of guarding and improving the public health. The town has opened an office for Miss Lowe in the premises recently occupied by Miss Copp on Pine street. Miss Lowe will visit the homes of Timmins and special clinics will also be held for mothers and children. It will be remembered that two or three months ago the provincial board of health stationed two nurses here with the purpose of improving and safeguarding the public health by means of visiting homes, holding clinics for children, giving advice to mothers and prospective mothers, and gathering such data as would prove of usefulness in dealing with the health of the town. These nurses, Miss Linton and Miss Meiklejohn did unusually helpful and effective work here for the public health. Through their efforts mothers learned of physical imperfections or incipient diseases in their children, these being easily remedied at the time, perhaps, but likely to prove serious if allowed to develop. Attention was called to adenoids, enlarged tonsils and other throat, nose and ear troubles. Very valuable advice was given to mothers and prospective mothers in regard to the care of children. The council decided the service was of such value to the town that the board of health was authorized to engage a permanent nurse for the town through the provincial board of health, and to have a suitable office in a convenient location in the town. Miss Lowe has been engaged and the office opened on Pine street as noted."

A letter from J. E. Cook in regard to township of Tisdale affairs was published in The Advance ten years ago. Mr. Cook reviewed what he considered the issues of the election and pointed out that owing to illness he had not been able to address meetings or carry on a campaign as planned. "To the good health of sports who supported a sick man I express my gratitude and to one and all I wish a happy and prosperous new year," he concluded his letter.

Teek township council ten years ago was elected by acclamation. John McLennan was reeve, and the councillors were John McIsaac, Archie P. McDonald, James Doig and Robert Pellock. James Grant was elected public school trustee.

Porcupine hockey team lost its first game ten years ago in the N.O.H.A. series when New Liskeard won the game here with the score of 4 to 3. The Timmins lads gave the Creamery town boys a run for their money. New Liskeard was defeated by the score of 7 to 1 at Troquois Falls the same week.

The pleasing news of the appointment of Geo. W. Lee as chairman of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission, was chronicled by The Advance ten years ago. "The Advance approved the selection as an excellent one and one that was sure to find popular favour, but the Government was condemned for its long and unnecessary delay in making the appointment. It took the Drury Government over a year to make up its mind as to this appointment. In the meantime Mr. Lee was acting chairman and had carried through the duties of the office with remarkable success. The Advance showed the unfairness of leaving Mr. Lee so long with all the responsibilities of the office any yet without the full authority that should go with the position. The Advance suggested that with the appointment eventually announced it was only fair to the country, to the railway and to Mr. Lee to give him a free hand to run the T. & N. O. He had already shown his capabilities and was entitled to the fullest opportunity to make good further by being allowed to carry out his plans without interference. In its reference to Mr. Lee, The Advance said:—"He knows the road, the country, the people, the needs. His heart is in his work. He should be allowed the fullest scope to go ahead, and the Government should give him the heartiest co-operation and support. If the Government allows Mr. Lee anything like the same latitude of authority that was permitted a former T. & N. O. chairman by a former Government, then the people here will be assured that they will have a real railroad and the best of service."

The North American Incinerator Company did not lose any time after the necessary by-law was passed by the town of Timmins in getting to work on the construction of the joint incineration for Timmins and Tisdale ten years ago. The work was started ten years ago and was rushed along to completion.

Among the local and personal items in The Advance ten years ago were the following:—"Mrs. A. Borland and Miss Maimie left on Saturday evening for London, Ont., Mrs. Borland being called home on account of a telegram received telling of the serious illness of her mother." "The first of the Hollinger Consolidated dividends to be paid in 1921 is announced this week. It is dividend No. 80 and is for one per cent. It is payable on January 28th to shareholders of record Jan. 13th." "Marty Wright and nephew, of Halleybury, reported last week as lost in the Maple Mountain district, and who were thought to be dead, turned up all O.K. last week at Halleybury. They had been delayed at their claims for the Christmas holiday season, and of course being out of touch with other people where they were, they were unacquainted with the anxiety caused by their absence." "A team belonging to Walter Wilson, one of the settlers near town, was lost last week when the animals were drowned when they went through the ice on the Mattagamung river." "The Timmins branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society have collected by canvass the sum of $1177.11 for the work of the society. Among the collectors Mrs. Alexander made a record by taking $51.40." "Born—To Mr. and Mrs. P. Chapman, River Road, on Saturday, Jan. 8th, 1921,—a son." "His Lordship Bishop Latulippe has left Rome, and he and his secretary, Rev. Fr. Dupuis, are expected back in Halleybury in the course of the next ten days." "The following are the members for the public school board for year 1921.—D. Ostroser, B. E. Martin, W. G. Smith, H. J. Marshall, Dr. A. S. Porter, and J. W. Reed." "The merchants in town closed their business places on Saturday evening to allow their staffs to attend the hockey match. That is, all the merchants but one, and he does not have a staff. This one, thoughtlessly, perhaps, conducted his business on Third avenue as usual, forgetting that this was not playing the game fairly by the other merchants who wanted to give themselves and their staffs the opportunity to see the big hockey match." "The sympathy of all will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. A. Brazeau in the death last week of their infant child." "Capt. Tom Magladersy, M.P.P., and Major Mac Lagg, M.P.P., were in town on Saturday last for the hockey match, the former cheering the New Liskeard team and the latter suggesting that if he is as good a prophet in regard to hockey as he proved to be at the weather, the result will not be long in doubt."

Ottawa Journal:—An expert says that drinking of alcohol causes the teeth to fall out. Yes, and a whole lot of people seem to prefer that method to going to the dentist.
