

"The woman who waved my hair told me this secret to success"

"She was happy . . . prosperous . . . busy. As she did my hair we chatted about her work. She told me how she came to have a beauty shop of her own. Her story was an inspiration. It was the secret to success I had wanted so long."

"To-day, like her, I have a smart little shop of my own."

Both these young women are students of the same academy. Their names can be had on request, but there are dozens more who can tell you the same story of happy success. All over Canada there's a growing demand for girls who can trim and wave hair and give beauty treatments. Year after year, Robertson's Hairdressing Academy Ltd. sends out women and men who have been trained in this profession. The average time for learning is about three months. Some take longer. But all are competent before they start out for themselves. All find the work interesting and refined. None have ever failed.

If you want to get ahead and feel serious about it, let Mrs. Robertson tell you personally what the academy can offer you. She has helped many, many girls to success. Men too. You are in touch with her, the moment you sign and send the coupon.

Mrs. Betty Robertson,
Robertson's Hairdressing Academy, Ltd.,
137 Avenue Road, Toronto.

Please send me your booklet and particulars about this profession which I can learn in four months or less.

Pembroke Standard-Observer:—A Liberal member in the Local Legislature suggests the Quebec method of placing a tax of 10 cents on meals that cost $1.00 and upwards. Why not put a fine upon those serving them? Those who sit down in a grill room and order a la carte and those who patronize the diner when travelling are of the opinion that they pay quite enough. The prices went up during the war, but many people apparently do not know that the war is over.

Death at Haileybury of Mrs. A. J. Carson

One of the Most Highly Regarded of the Residents of Haileybury. Business Places Close During Funeral Last Week.

Last week reference was made in these columns to the death at Haileybury of Mrs. A. J. Carson, mother of P. Carson, of Timmins. Mrs. A. J. Carson visited her son here on several occasions and had many friends here who deeply regret her death. Many former residents of Haileybury and Co. now living at Timmins or in this district, will remember Mrs. Carson with affection and regard. In referring to the death The Haileyburian last week said:—

"Haileybury lost one of its old and highly esteemed citizens this week in the person of Mrs. A. J. Carson, wife of Councillor A. J. Carson, who passed away at the Misericordia hospital at 6:30 a.m. on Tuesday, March 31st, after an illness of less than 10 days. She had been in her usual health throughout the winter, but on Saturday, March 21st, she contracted pneumonia. The following day she was removed to the hospital, where at first it was hoped that she would recover, but during the last few days she gradually sank until death resulted."

"The late Mrs. Carson, who was 67 years and 11 months, was born at Shanty Bay, Ont., the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Budd, prominent residents of that place. On June 6th, 1888, she was married to Mr. Carson and lived in the city for a time, later going with her husband to Barrie and residing there some years. In 1906 Mr. and Mrs. Carson came to Haileybury, where they have lived ever since."

"During her long residence in Haileybury Mrs. Carson had become endeared to a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. She took an active part in all work of the community, was a kind friend to many in distress and will be deeply mourned by all who knew her. Formerly a member of the Methodist Church, Mrs. Carson was an active worker in the United Church here after Union was consummated and took a deep interest in the women's organizations and was otherwise a valued member. She was also a member of the Haileybury Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, a society in which she took a deep interest and in the councils of which she will be greatly missed."

"Surviving are her husband, Mr. A. J. Carson, prominent business man and a member of the town council, one daughter, Mrs. Ruby K. Ferguson, of Toronto, and two sons, Percy H. Carson, of Timmins, and Harold A. of Toronto. All members of the family were summoned home during Mrs. Carson's last illness and were present when she died."

"The funeral is being held this afternoon at Barrie, the former home of the family. Previous to departure from Haileybury yesterday evening, a service was held in the United Church by Rev. D. A. MacKeracher, who paid a sincere tribute to Mrs. Carson's life in the community. The church was thronged with friends and acquaintances who came to pay their last respects and there were many beautiful floral tributes sent."

"The pallbearers were Mayor Geo. T. Hamilton, Dr. J. C. A. Crawford, Messrs. A. P. Knechtel, H. G. Pickard, J. E. McCuaig and A. G. Kirkpatrick. During the hour that the service was being held the business places downtown were closed as a mark of respect. Members of the Eastern Star attended the service in a body and followed the cortege to the station."

"Mr. Carson and the family have the sincere sympathy of the whole community in their time of sorrow."

Hong Kong Press:—Christian teaching is becoming widely diffused in China. It is working as its Founder said it would work, slowly, like the growth of grain and the action of heaven. An error of the missionaries has certainly been in their insistence on their special interpretations of Christianity. Now, however, it is recognized certainly by many Protestant missionaries, that Chinese Christianity will be a religion peculiar to itself, expressing Chinese characteristics, and very probably, extremely heretical to the West.

SISTER OF MRS. BOISSONNAULT PASSES AT HAILEYBURY

The Haileyburian last week says:—"Death came suddenly on Saturday morning to Mrs. Pamphile Lemieux, for many years a well known resident of Haileybury, at her home on Elliott street. She had been in poor health for some time, suffering from heart trouble, but had been able to be around and had risen that morning. She was suddenly stricken and fell across her bed after calling to her daughter, and died later without regaining consciousness. Before she passed away, however the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church were administered. The late Mrs. Lemieux, who before her marriage was Miss Gagnon, was born in Castlemans, Ont., and had lived here for many years. She was the eldest daughter of Mr. Phillip Gagnon, Sr., now of New Liskeard, and the late Mrs. Gagnon. Besides her husband she leaves to mourn two daughters, Misses Claribelle and Margaret, and one son, Cleo. Her father, five brothers and three sisters also survive. The brothers are Phillip junior and Prosper Gagnon, of New Liskeard, Dr. L. Cochrane, A. G. of Haileybury, and Joseph A. North Bay. The sisters are Mrs. J. P. Vachon, Haileybury, Mrs. Alfred Boissonault, Timmins, and Mrs. Malcolm Thibault, of Gattineau Mills, Que. The funeral was held on Monday, with service in the Roman Catholic Cathedral and interment in the Roman Catholic cemetery. The service was held at 9 a.m. and was attended by a large gathering of friends and relatives, who came to pay their last respects to one who was well known and highly respected by all. The sorrowing husband and family and other relatives have the sincere sympathy of all their friends here and throughout the district. There were many spiritual offerings presented and a great profusion of floral tributes."

1402 Forest Fires In Ontario in 1930

Annual Report of Department of Lands and Forests Says That Campers Caused 76 per cent. of the Forest Fires Last Year.

According to the annual report of the Department of Lands and Forests, which Hon. William Finlayson tabled in the Legislature, forest fires took a toll in Ontario of 711,809 acres during the season of 1930.

Of this burned-over acreage, 56.1 per cent. was timber and, 9.8 per cent. cut-over and 14.1 per cent. young growth and 20 per cent. muskeg, grass land and barrens.

To this devastation 1,402 fires contributed. Fifty-four per cent. of them occurred before the end of June and burned over 94 per cent. of the total area for the whole year.

In the area burned contributory causes were: Setters, 3.6 per cent.; campers, 77.6 per cent.; railways, 1.7 per cent.; lightning, 8.3 per cent.; logging operations, 0.8 per cent.; smokers, 0.8 per cent.; road construction, 0.1 per cent.; miscellaneous, 3.2 per cent. and unknown, 3.9 per cent.

"The fire season of 1930," Mr. Finlayson sums it up, "was very similar to that of 1929, with almost every part of the Province experiencing a particularly high hazard at one time or another. The most critical situation developed in the western districts where the fires accounted for 94 per cent. of the total area burned."

With respect to pulpwood operations for the year, the report states: "Contrary to expectations, the cut of pulpwood was much larger than last year. It was predicted that there would be a lessening of field operations by the reason of the general instability in the newsprint situation, and yet from Crown lands more than one million cords were cut, while last year there were less than five hundred thousand cords. Even on settlers' lands the cut, all of which is free from dues, increased over the previous year by nearly 100 per cent., there being operated no fewer than 917,026 cords, as against 461,992 cords for the year ending Oct. 31, 1929."

"Of the total taken from settlers' lands, all of which is exportable, only 496,534 cords were exported, or 54 per cent., as against 64 per cent. last year." Speaking of prospects for the future in the pulpwood industry, Mr. Finlayson says: "So many factors enter into a consideration of the question, such as, among others, overproduction, restricted markets resulting from worldwide economic depression, European importations and divided efforts toward stabilization, that it is impossible to say within reasons what the future will bring. However, there are those whose faith and optimism in the natural resources of the country, with the business acumen of the experienced leaders, are such as to hope that in the general righting of things the industry in due time will recover from its present illness and assume a stronger position."

TRAGIC SONG THEN DIES

Immediately after singing a tragic song in a fashionable cabaret at Copenhagen, the popular singer, Knute Bergstrom, flung himself across the table. The public at first took no notice, supposing the singer to be acting a dramatic end to his song. They were horrified later to discover that he was dead. His heart apparently had given way under the strain.

Orange Bread Pudding

1 1/2 cups St. Charles Milk
1 1/2 cups water
1 cup fine bread crumbs
2 egg yolks and 1 whole egg, beaten
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
Juice of two oranges
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Grated rind 1 orange
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
4 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 tablespoon melted butter

Dilute the milk with water and bring to scalding point. Remove from fire, add the bread crumbs and let stand until cool. Blend the eggs, sugar, butter, salt, fruit juice and rind and stir into the bread and milk mixture. Pour into a buttered pudding dish. Cover the top with a meringue made with the beaten egg whites and four tablespoons sugar. Brown lightly in a slow oven.
