TEN YEARS AGO IN TIMMINS

From data in the Porcupine Advance Files.

Timmins organized a town tennis club in April of 1921, the officers being:—F. C. H. Simms, president; W. S. Macpherson, secretary-treasurer; W. H. Hooker, C. S. Carter and D. B. Curtis, executive. Among the plans of the Timmins Tennis Club there was one announced to the effect that fine new tennis courts would be built for the use of town players, which same was duly done.

The Northern Ontario Football Association ten years ago accepted Kirkland Lake Football Club as a member of the association. The officers of the N.O.F.A. for the year were:—H. G. Laidlaw, president; Geo. Sherrett, vice-president; W. A. Field, secretary; Rev. W. J. Armes, treasurer. The honorary officers were practically the same as in this year of grace, 1931.

Troquois Falls lady bowlers lost rather badly to Timmins ladies in a bowling match at the Falls ten years ago. After the match the ladies were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. T. Richards.

Ten years ago The Advance announced the purchase of the Peters, Duncan, Limited, wholesale by the firm of Gamble, Robinson. This gave the new firm five branches then in Canada,—at Timmins, North Bay, Cobalt, Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie.

The annual election of officer for the Timmins Citizens Band ten years ago resulted in the following being chosen for the ensuing year:—Fire Chief A. Borland, president; Mayor J. A. McInnis, honorary president; A. E. Prout, vice-president; A. Clarke, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Walla was appointed leader of the band pro tem until the standing committee (C. Grill and Chief Borland) could meet the town council in regard to plans for a permanent leader.

At the regular meeting of the town council ten years ago the resignation of E. W. Johnston as bandmaster was received. In his letter Mr. Johnston thanked the council for their hearty support and co-operation in building up the band. The town engineer suggested a plumbing by-law, as much improper plumbing had been installed in town. Councillor Longmore did not favour any by-law that would create a monopoly. He wanted the public interest protected without unnecessary injury to the individual. On motion the mayor was authorized to write the Government asking for the immediate removal of the remaining bush fire hazard south and west of the town. It was mentioned at the council meeting that the growth of the town would soon require the construction of another water main. On motion of Councillors King and Morin the town clerk was authorized to order a town scale to be erected on Cedar street alongside the fire hall. Councillor T. F. King referred to the necessity for a revision of the building by-law and the due enforcement of the measure by a skilled man. The town engineer was appointed building inspector and was asked to go through the by-law to see what changes, if any, were necessary.

Timmins always liked to see things conducted in orderly fashion. The "wild and woolly" did not find much favour here, because the people who lived in town were a pretty good sort and saw no sense in being the victims of any bunch of half-baked yaps who might want to create disorder. A paragraph from The Advance ten years ago says:—"Chief Greer and his staff intend to clean up the local restaurants and to make them all that they ought to be,—quiet, orderly and well-conducted places of refreshment. Recently there have been one or two of the local cafes where disorders are not infrequent. This is due to a couple of main causes—first, the fact that the Chinese owners, for the fear of losing business, are not anxious to follow and prosecute those who cause disturbances; and, second, the habit of certain fellows with a "skinful" gathering in these places and allowing themselves more or less freedom of talk and action. Chief Greer and Constables Grenier and Roy are agreed that these disorders are not to continue, and they have ways and means of putting their views into effect. All evidences of rowdiness are to be followed up and the offenders prosecuted. The cafes are to be made and kept orderly and decent. Rough talk and rough action alike are to be cut out and all concerned should take warning and govern themselves accordingly."

Ten years ago there was more or less of a shortage of housing and rooming accommodation and the situation was met as soon as it was seen to have developed. One way used is indicated by the following item in The Advance ten years ago:—"The dances in the theatre basement have been discontinued and the big comfortable "Underworld," as it has been humorously called, has been fitted up by Manager Bardesono as a rooming apartment. Fine beds and other necessary furnishings have been installed and as the manager phrased it "beds de luxe," are now provided to assist in accommodating the inflow of men into the camp. The New Empire theatre with its usual enterprise in accommodating the public is thus doing a noted service as the need for beds and rooming of new people coming to town have found the accommodation inadequate to handle the sudden inflow of men. The regular hotels and rooming houses have been crowded and on more than one recent evening the chairs in some of the local hotels have been used for sleeping quarters at night for lack of better. A large number can be accommodated in the theatre basement and with other provisions being made all will find accommodation here after this."

One of the most important items in The Advance ten years ago was in regard to the building of 150 new Hollinger houses in town. The information in regard to these proposed new houses was given to The Advance by the management of the Hollinger. In the issue of April 13th, 1921, The Advance says:—"Hill-Clark-Francis have been awarded the contract for the erection of the 150 new Hollinger houses to be built on the plains to the west side of the town. After they are built,—and that will not be a distant date for they are to be rushed forward with all speed,—after they are built, perhaps, The Cobalt Nugget then will admit that the ball grounds were not used for building purposes this year, although no doubt then some other misrepresentation will be used against the camp to take the place of this libel that has been recently featured by the Cobalt paper for its own improper purposes. The new houses that are to be built will be commodious four-roomed residences, well-finished and equipped. The erection of these 150 new houses is another evidence of the sincerity of the Hollinger management in the expressed intention of building up increased permanent staffs and providing good accommodation for all the families brought here. The Hollinger is not only largely increasing its staffs, but by the plans adopted is also doing a material part in the building up of the community. The speedy erection of 150 new houses is called for by the contract, and it is understood that the Hollinger expects all the dwellings completed at the earliest possible moment and are pressing the contractors for the utmost speed compatible with good workmanship. Those who know the Hill-Clark-Francis firm will recognize that the work is sure to be well done and the contract fulfilled at as early a date as possible. Hill-Clark-Francis are bringing in a number of skilled workmen to rush through the contract. To accommodate these men contractors are erecting a large bunk house. After the contract is completed this bunk house will be taken over by the Hollinger to accommodate its employees further. From these facts it will be seen that the Hollinger is not only increasing its staff of men very materially and planning further increases but it is also providing the necessary accommodation to support the increases and thus building up the community here on approved and permanent lines."

The Advance ten years ago chronicled the death of J. L. Englehart, former chairman of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission, who died in Toronto on April 6th, 1921, after a lengthy illness. He had been in poor health for a couple of years and had taken several lengthy trips to improve his health. The late Jacob Louis Englehart was born in Cleveland, Ohio, on Nov. 2nd, 1847. He came to Canada in 1870, and as head of the firm of J. L. Englehart & Co., he engaged for some years in the producing, refining and exporting of Canadian petroleum, being one of the pioneers of the industry in Western Ontario. He had no special interest in the North until 1905 when he was appointed chairman of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission. He then came into more or less prominence as a "booster" of Northern Ontario. He resigned as chairman of the T. & N. O. in 1919, owing to ill-health. The late Mr. Englehart was noted for his benevolence and his donations to many worthy causes. He endowed the hospital at Petrolia, Ont., in memory of his wife. Another of his gifts was the donation of a chime of eleven bells to Christ Church, Petrolia. His gifts to patriotic causes were notable during the war. He was popular with the staff of the railway. He was a member of the Anglican church, a Mason, a Conservative in politics, and belonged to several of the leading clubs of Toronto and London, Ont. The funeral took place at Petrolia, Ont.

The Advance ten years ago also chronicled the death of G. H. Clemes of Toronto. The late Mr. Clemes was well known in Timmins and throughout the North. He was a pioneer hotel man of the North, having the Prince George hotel in Cochrane, and was twice burned out there. In the second fire which he experienced, and which was responsible for much destruction and loss of life, Mr. Clemes organized relief parties and fed the refugees until help came from Toronto. His work in this instance was very highly commended by all.

Among the local and personal items in The Advance ten years ago were the following:—"Mr. P. Dougall was a visitor to North Bay on business last week." "The New Liskeard Council, like the town's hockey executive last winter, were in a state of "protest" at the last meeting. The New Liskeard Town Fathers protested among other things against any change of the fares charged on the Nipissing Central electric railway without a proper hearing before the Railway Board and that the Dominion Railway Board be notified accordingly. Mr. Geo. W. Lee, chairman of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission, recently announced that the Nipissing Central had not been paying its way and suggested that until it showed a better balance sheet the service would have to be curtailed or the rates raised, or both, so as to make it a paying proposition." "The Sudbury Star last week says that about 200 left Sudbury for the Porcupine within a few days." "Mrs. A. Roberts left on Monday for New Liskeard hospital for treatment. Her mother accompanied her to New Liskeard. They are expected home again this week or early next week." "Last month Mr. W. Bird, of the Mattagami River, was beaten up by two men whom he asserted used sticks to make a good job of it. He accused Oliver and Jules Brazeau and Provincial Officer Moore was soon on their trail. Jules was arrested by the Provincial officer, but Oliver could not be found. This week Chief Greer got on the tracks of Oliver, and a few minutes after Constables Roy and Grenier marched the wanted man into the police station. He will come up before Magistrate Atkinson tomorrow on the assault charge." "Dr. A. S. Porter and Mrs. Porter and their baby girl spent a few days last week the guests of friends in Powassan." "Mr. Tallon, of Ottawa, has been the guest of his son, Mr. J. P. Tallon, manager of the Timmins branch of the Bank of Commerce." "All will be pleased to see Chief Greer able to be out after a few days' illness. During the two or three days that Chief Greer was in bed ex-Chief M. Sully was back at his old post."

Pembroke Standard-Observer:—"The appeal of the Horticultural Society should receive cordial support from every household in Pembroke. We should clean up and beautify the town all that we can. Join this society and give it the helping hand."
