Thin and White— Couldn't Do Work

Mrs. Smart's Faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic) Was What Saved Her.

"I became thin and white," writes Mrs. Jessie Smart, Newmarket, Ontario, "and could not do my work."
"Then I remembered what my mother used to give me, and I sent my husband out for a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He laughed at me, but he would not laugh now!... I kept right on with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and now I work hard and feel as young as I did 20 years ago."
The iron and other elements in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills increase the amount of haemoglobin or oxygen-carrying agent in the blood—enabling the blood to carry more oxygen to the tissues. The increased oxygen re-vitalizes your body just as a draft of air kindles a fire.
The old standby, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is in every drugstore, ready to help you. 50 cents a package. 136

Some Newspaper Errors as a Change from the Humorisms Credited to Youngsters Writing on Exams.

This is the time of year when newspapers are inclined to print columns of humorisms supposed to be seriously perpetrated by pupils writing on their school examinations. Last week, for instance an editorial note in The Toronto Mail and Empire says:—
"Here are some statements made by children in their written school examinations. They were collected by The London Times: "There happened something for which James II could not be held responsible. His wife bore him a son"; "Solomon had 300 wives and 700 porcupines"; "A momentum is what you give a person when they are leaving"; "A monologue is a conversation between two people, such as husband and wife." "What part did the U.S. navy play in the war?" "It played," answered an ingenious child, happily an American, "the Star Spangled Banner." Of the story of King Alfred, when the pupils were forbidden to mention anything so hackneyed as the cakes, there emerged the following: "King Alfred walked on until he came to a cottage and, going in, he found a lonely woman, but of the rest the less said the better."

A sportsmanlike variant from the publishing of the blunders by the youngsters is a compilation by Editor and Publisher, of New York, a trade journal for newspapermen. Editor and Publisher gives a column of blunders made by newspapers, the humor being all unconscious and unintended. Indeed, the errors instead of provoking a laugh would in nearly every case rouse bitter anger and anxiety. Some of the blunders might be headed why so-and-so lost his job on such-and-such-a-newspaper. Out of mistaken kindness or for reasons of diplomacy and business, Editor and Publisher does not give the names of the blundering newspapers, but all the items are authentic newspaper blunders. No one made up any of these deliberately. That is, more than might be said about some of the alleged schoolboy "howlers." Different articles becoming mixed, letters being omitted or misplaced lines omitted or in the wrong place, and the plain pesky typographical error are some of the reasons for the blunders quoted. They make good reading for newspapermen who will thus be inspired to more carefulness. As for the general public they should enjoy the majority of them as "things that would better be left unsaid." The following are some of the newspaper blunders quoted:—
"Among the first to enter was Mrs. Clara Adams of Erie, Pa., lone woman passenger. Slowly her nose was turned around to face in a southwesterly direction, and away from the hangar doors. Then, like some strange beast, she crawled along the grass."
"Many Broadway celebrities were present and the litertl glimpsed in the throng included Fannie Hurst, with her marmoset, Carl Van Vechten."
"Mrs. Annie Besant, eighty-year-old theosophist leader, was confined to bed today at the home of friends at Wimbledon. A severe child forced her to cancel all lecture engagements."
"By an unfortunate typographical error we were made to say on Tuesday that the departing Mr. — was a member of the defective branch of the police force. Of course this should have read 'the detective branch of the police force.'"
"This is the first picture taken showing Europe's other famous Queen Marie with the infant Prince Andria, her third son."
"It is proposed to use this donation to purchase new benches for our parks as the present old ones are in a very delapidated state."
"Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smith are the parents of a nine-pound boy, who arrived at the house last night. Plain Dealer Want Ads Bring Results."
"Mrs. Thurston Gaylord and daughters are planning to tour the Black Hills, Yellowstone Park and other places of interest. They are taking a tent and cooking utensils and will vamp by the side of the road."
"Germans are so small that there may be as many as one billion, seven hundred million of them in a drop of water."
"New York March 4.—Helen Hayes, whose work on the stage was interrupted by maternity, is to return in a manless play."
"The Bishop will then go to New York for a weep."
"Calvin P. Foulke, of Whitmarsh, won two distinctions at the annual class elections of the seniors of Princeton. He was voted the 'most likely bachelor' and the 'greatest woman hater.'"
"For the less formal interior, straight-hanging, unlined draw curtains are helpful in creating an atmosphere of hostility."

"With an effort, Janet pulled herself together. She stopped crying and dried her ears."

"Miss Hazel Gregg's gladiola garden has been attracting considerable attention of late. She spends many hours each day in the garden and her large collection of pansies."

"Jenkins, it is claimed, was driving at a high rate of speed and swerving from side to side. As he approached the crossing he started directly towards it and crashed into Miss Miller's rear end which was sticking out into the road about a foot. Luckily she escaped injury and the damage can be easily remedied with a new coat of paint."

"Among the first passengers were Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, who is now associated with an aviation corporation as Washington counsel. Mrs. Willebrandt carried a quart bottle of water taken from the Atlantic ocean, which she poured into the Pacific upon arrival in Kansas City."
"Richard Henry Howell was sentenced to two years in the McNeil Island federal penitentiary by Judge McNary yesterday on a plea of guilty to a charge of violating the Mann act by transporting Betty Moore from Sacramento, Cal., to Portland. Gordon Onstad and Albert Gillette, vocalists, and Abe Ber-cowitz, violinist, of the Oregonian's radio service, KGW, contributed the musical part of the programme."

REPORT ON ORGANIZATION IN INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE

The tenth annual report of the Federal Department of Labour on Organization in Industry, Commerce and the Professions, being for the year 1931, has just been distributed. The volume, in addition to conveying some idea of the development of organization among those connected with the industrial and commercial life of the Dominion, contains much information in regard to societies whose members are engaged in professional, technical and scientific pursuits. The organizations are divided into eighteen groups.
The report points out that the first seven divisions contain the names of 355 main and branch associations, with a combined membership of 48,549, composed of persons or firms who are identified with industries in which many wage-earners are employed. Some of the employers included in these groups have working agreements with the corresponding organizations of workers covering the conditions of employment in their respective establishments. In the remaining ten groups the employment of labour is in some cases only incidental, and with the exception of the retail merchants' section there is no corresponding body of organized workers. While in the main the associations whose names appear in the report are purely Canadian, a number are connected with organizations whose headquarters are in the United States. The report gives the objects of the various associations, some of which, among other things, aim to secure freedom from unjust or unlawful exactions and to procure uniformity in the customs and usages of their respective trades. The names of all classes of associations published in the volume number 837 main bodies and 477 branches, making a total of 1,314 associations, with a combined membership of 967,865.

AND THEN WHAT ABOUT THE CONFERENCES ON HIGHWAYS?

An editorial note in The Ottawa Journal says:—"Disarmament conferences remind us of the company director in a recent stage skit who remarked: 'Boys, this has been a dandy conference—let's have another.'"

Sudbury Star:—"The northern parts of the North may be exhibiting initial signs of approaching autumn, but even when fall comes there will still remain the memories of one of the most enjoyable summers the North has experienced in many years."

Alleged High-Grade Proves to be Copper

Former Resident of Timmins Acquitted on Charge of Illegally Having Gold. Material Proves to be Only Copper and Zinc.

A couple of weeks ago The Advance carried a despatch from Sudbury relative to the arrest of Tony Matychuk on a charge of vagrancy which was expected to be changed to one of illegal possession of gold. He was arrested as he stepped from the train having come under the observation of the provincial police at the Sault. When he was arrested Tony had a suitcase and in this was found what was said to be high-grade gold ore. The value of this supposed high-grade was estimated to be about $5,000.00. It was stated that Matychuk had tried to sell this "gold" to persons in the Sault and that from this fact had come the interest shown in him by the provincial police. Even the fact that one time Tony Matychuk had lived in Timmins and worked at the Hollinger did not save him from arrest at Sudbury. After he was arrested the "gold" was examined by jewellers in Sudbury and then sent on to Cobalt; to the provincial assay office there for regular assay. The charges against Matychuk was adjourned until last week, but when he came up in court he was not only acquitted and allowed to go but he was also permitted to take his "gold" with him. The so-called "gold," according to the assay at Cobalt, was not gold at all but just copper and zinc and practically of no value. The despatches from Sudbury give no idea of the meaning of the whole affair—how the man came to be carrying this stuff around with him, or why it should be mistaken for a more precious metal. The story of the police court case at Sudbury last week is told by the following in The Sudbury Star last week:—
"The $5,000 worth of 'gold dust' conveyed in a satchel, which Tony Matychuk had in his hand when taken into custody by the provincial police at the C.P.R. station on his arrival from Sault Ste. Marie, August 13, has proved to be only gross—valueless copper and zinc."
"A quantity of the 'loot,' sent to the government laboratory at Cobalt by the authorities, revealed that the stuff was of no commercial value, and Tony Matychuk is again a free man. Sudbury jewellers had previously informed the crown that the contents of Tony's grip were valuable."
"Matychuk appeared in police court last Monday morning, when the con-balt assay office was the rock upon vining evidence supplied by the Co-which the charge against Tony broke down. The laboratory advised that the "gold dust" was, in reality, copper and zinc, and had no value.

"When the accused appeared in court Monday morning, he appeared pretty worried, but the proceedings only lasted a few minutes, and in view of the report of the assay, Matychuk was quickly set free.

"Don't palm it off on the Sudbury jewellers," said Magistrate McKessock in discharging Tony and advising him he could keep his "gold."

"J. J. O'Connor, counsel for the defence, remarked that he would like to have the custody of the 'dust' to sell to the local jewellers. But Tony took his grip and its contents, no doubt appreciating that all is not gold that glitters."

CONCERNING THE CROPS IN TEMISKAMING DISTRICT

The New Liskeard Speaker last week says:—"Like the tomato crop, we found the Indian corn crop was quite an uncertain crop in Temiskaming although every year some of our farmers and gardeners have good crops in each kind. This year local grown corn, not only the squaw or Manitoba kind, but the best varieties of table corn have been sold in New Liskeard during the past ten days. Mr. A. Aiken of Thornhill says he had successfully grown corn on his farm during the past 22 years. He had a quantity of the best kind for sale here on Saturday. Local gardeners have had ripe tomatoes during the past ten days. Since gardening was done in the spring up to the present it does not appear that there has been any frost in New Liskeard serious enough to injure even beans. However, the time is fast approaching when we should be on the look out for a frost which will injure tender garden crops, and it is best to have covering ready for your melons, citrons, cucumbers, squash and tomatoes. We remember when during the last week in August frosts killed vines all the way between Port William and Toronto. So do not take chances. After the first few frosts we generally get a spell of very fine warm weather. Do not let your tender crops be destroyed by an early frost if with a little effort they may be spared to ripen perfectly. A thin covering if it be but factory cotton, coarse bagging, or even paper will save your tomatoes, etc. Better be sure than sorry."

Grensboro (Georgia) Herald-Journal—Rockefeller puts dimes in circulation and Woolworth takes them out.

Nearly a Thousand are Unemployed at Kirkland

Nearly a thousand unemployed registered at Kirkland Lake last week. Of this number it has been estimated that there are 200 British subjects on the list. There are about 400 Jugoslavs on the list, with a few each of Russians, Scandinavians, Germans, Austrians and others. In a comment on the registration, The Northern News says:—"Conspicuous by their absence is the great number of Finnish names not on the records. Up to Wednesday only about fifty had filled in their cards, though J. Laboda, chairman of the local unemployed association, is the authority for saying there are over two hundred Finns without work in Kirkland Lake."

A tabulation made of the first 527 aliens to register, according to the same authority, showed that 47 of them were married with families in Ontario, 271 had wives in the old countries, and the other 209 were single men. They had been unemployed for terms ranging from three years to a few weeks. Ontario was given as the home province for the past year, though there are other addresses recorded, from Nova Scotia to British Columbia. The Northern News concludes by saying that the registration last week tallies largely with that made by the township of Teck council during the present summer in connection with the relief work carried on. "Until Tuesday," says The Northern News, "Chief Shane had given out eight hundred and one work tickets, single men getting two days' work, married men four days and rate-payers three days a week. This relief scheme cost the municipality over the sum of $6000 up to August 11th and in return the men worked at clearing brush, widening streets, ditching, retreat pavements, and in connection with the cemetery and Culver Park."
