

Utterly Worn-Out

Mrs. Fitzpatrick Tells How Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Made Her Well.

Can Now Run Upstairs.

"I became run-down and unable to do my work for a family of seven," writes Mrs. W. P. Fitzpatrick, Marquis, Sask. "I was told I had anaemia, and I took treatment, but with very little improvement. Finally my sister, who had had the same disease, advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as they had done her so much good. I have taken seven boxes. Today I'm well: able to do my own work; no more tired feeling without puffing. I sleep and eat well. My friends are astonished at my changed appearance and never fail to ask what I'm taking. My reply is: 'Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.'"

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually create an abundance of new red blood, which is the reason why they have given new vitality and strength to thousands of such nervously exhausted and overworked women. Equally helpful for growing girls. Try them. At your druggist's in the new glass container. 50c a package. 272

The Canadian Legion in the Porcupine

By Timmins Branch Correspondent.

Things to Think About
Now that the nominations are completed and the ballots being prepared for mailing to the members, consideration should be given to ways and means of maintaining the relief fund. We have had very successful response by the public to every activity we have put on in connection with this purpose. We have had prize draws, chicken stags and socials, sports days and for the past two years, the Week of Wonders, all these including Poppy Day have helped the Legion relief fund. The past year has been a heavy one and as noted in previous letters the committee have done wonderful work. Now in all probability a new committee will take over the work and your correspondent makes the suggestion that their first consideration should be to seek out a scheme whereby the fund can be boosted up again. Another thing also to be remembered is that the Legion has never yet asked for a direct subscription to this worthy cause, but the time is coming when it will have to be done. To some of the members it may seem that the fund has been depleted purposely, with no effort on the part of your present officers to boost it up, but such is not the case. It has been administered as carefully as possible and a study has been made to find some means of raising money. This was not practicable at the present time, with other organizations seeking the same ends as ourselves and it was thought better to wait for better conditions before doing anything in the matter. Times have not got any better, the election of officers is now on and it seems a case of "Passing the Buck." In any event it seems certain that those who will constitute your relief committee will set to work in true soldierly manner and have the fund back to a strong position before very long.

Another consideration for the officers elected will be the securing of suitable club rooms. It is felt that a better spirit of comradeship can be maintained if the members could meet more often. As the situation is at present, we meet twice a month and although we have full attendances only about 50 per cent. of the members know one another. How can comradeship exist under such a state of affairs? With our own club rooms the members would necessarily become better acquainted and the branch hold much closer together in friendship and comradeship. This is one item of business that the newly elected officers will no doubt solve and have ready for the members before our next fall season.

To the members in general, you have also something to think about. You may have something on your mind which you consider would be for the betterment of the branch, such as our socials, smokers, etc. Don't be backward; come forward with your ideas and it will be found that the branch will continue to flourish. After the 31st of March it will be like starting anew and it should be the aim of one and all to continue to keep the prestige of the Timmins Branch of the Canadian Legion up to its present high standing.

Preparations for Vimy Night
Only five weeks more and our Big Night will be upon us. Vimy Night has always been our one outstanding event in the entertainment line. Our present entertaining committee are staying on for this event and planning something new and novel. It would be a good plan for all members to make arrangements now to attend. More details will be published as the weeks go

Looking at her lovely COMPLEXION

You'd hardly believe it was so low and blotched a short time ago.

The Cast of "The Dream"

Rehearsals are the order of the members of the Legion sketch party and the play, "The Dream" is sure to please all. The play will be produced in the Oddfellows' hall on Monday, March 7th, under the direction of Mr. Wilson Thompson. The cast includes such clever artists as Mrs. J. Gregson, Mrs. R. Stroud, Mrs. Pedley, Comrades Curtis, Nippers, May, Jenkins, Ballamy and Master James Cowan, truly a good aggregation. Several popular artists will also appear in the "Television" scene of the play. The play is one continual scream and should not be missed by any one. Don't forget the date, Monday, March 7th, and it's open to all.

Bakshish—What it Means!

Much comment has been made regarding the spelling of the word "Bakshish" in last week's letter, some members saying it's all wrong. "Buckshee" they say is the correct way. Others want to know what it meant, anyway. "Bakshish" is correct in the sense used and means "To Give." So there you are! The Legions is going to give a social evening to the members and their wives and sweethearts next Monday, in the Oddfellows' hall. All should make an effort to attend this "Bakshish," "Buckshee," "Buckshee," or what-have-you Social Evening. There's going to be singing, musical items and dancing. Refreshments will be served. The entertainment committee are requesting a big turnout. It's going to be free, so one who will be there will be —

Oldest Pensioner is Ninety-four Years

Other Interesting Facts in Report of Cochrane District Old Age Pension Board to Feb. 16th, 1932.

There is much of public interest in the report submitted by F. K. Ebbitt, secretary of the Old Age Pensions Board for the District of Cochrane. This board, which is composed of G. A. Macdonald, Timmins, chairman; F. K. Ebbitt, Iroquois Falls, secretary, and R. J. Carter, Kirkland Lake, handles all the old age pensions dealt with in the District of Cochrane, except those for the town of Timmins, the council in Timmins acting as the board for this town and dealing with all applications. I. E. Dunn is the secretary of the Timmins board.

The last report for the District of Cochrane Old Age Pensions Board is dated Feb. 16th and is prepared by the secretary, F. K. Ebbitt, who has given very generously of his time and effort to the work. The report in brief is as follows:—

St. Catharines Standard:—The Privy Council decision giving jurisdiction of the Federal Government over radio is not only based on law, but on common sense. And it might well come under the Department of National Defence in case of trouble. Now there must come improvement in Canadian radio operation, for subservience to the big chain interests of the United States is difficult to understand.

Rush Reported Now in Ramore District

Reports Made of Large Deposits of Low-Grade Gold Ore in Territory East of Ramore, Staking Being Done.

There are more gold "rushes" on at present than most people imagine, and it is hard to believe that one or more of the rush districts will not develop into a camp. Some of the areas that are being centred upon by the prospectors hold much of promise. It may be true that many lines of business are suffering from a slump—part due to a sort of panic and part due, perhaps, to a sort of discouragement, but the prospector's business is not one of these. It is years since the prospector has shown such a determination to find something big. The special difficulties seem to make him but the keener. The prospector after all is about the hardest man on earth to discourage, and as for quitting, he simply won't do it. He realizes that gold is badly needed at the present moment and he is out after gold. At the present time the prospector is busy in a number of sections and there are several areas where there are enough prospectors busy to call it a regular rush.

One of the latest rushes is in to the section east of Ramore. A couple of weeks ago there were reports of notable finds being made east of Ramore, though no particulars were available. Last week several parties are reported to have gone in, though their intention was not made known. Indeed, there is more or less mystery about it all, and anyone who knows the ordinary prospector knows that it is just that touch of mystery that sets him on his mettle. When everybody is talking about a particular area and everybody seems to know all about it, then the chances are that all the parts worth while is staked up. But when there is no more than an odd word or two dropped, a hint here and there, with careful guarding of particulars, then the prospector feels that there is really something doing and he is soon all set to go. The area east of Ramore has been to that position for the last few weeks. Few prospectors are ready to talk about it, even those who have been in. One prospector back last week from a trip out of town did not deny that he had been to the Ramore section. As he got on the train at Ramore to return home to Timmins there did not seem much sense in his saying that; he had not been in the Ramore area. He was not overly enthusiastic, however, though that may have been no more than camouflage. No high-grade deposits of any size would be found, he suggested when questioned. That is the idea that has gained ground about the section. While the high-grade area may not be there, the opinion is that there is an immense area of low-grade gold ore. It is said that samples taken on wide strips have shown a consistent amount of gold, assays running two and three dollars to the ton. Some of the prospectors are understood to maintain that the low-grade will prove to be high-grade as depth is made. The strike is thought to be a continuation of the Porcupine gold belt. "There are more Domes to be found," said one prospector, while another adds, "Yes, and more Hollingers as well." Prospectors have been through the Ramore section for years now, and many properties have been staked there. Up to date, however, a success has not been struck, but that may mean no more than that the lucky man has not yet hit the spot.

It may be noted here that while there is more or less of a rush to the Ramore area the prospectors are also busy in the immediate area of the Porcupine. There is especial interest in the country south of Timmins on the line that would be followed by the proposed road connecting Timmins and Sudbury. In McArthur township for instance, there is more than the usual amount of work being carried on and more is likely to be taken up in the near future.

"SPEND ON NORMAL BASIS" SAYS PREMIER TOLMIE

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Premier of British Columbia, is among those who believe that definite constructive measures would do much towards improving prevailing conditions. By public co-operation in developing a greater domestic market, industry, he believes, will offer more employment and greater activity. It is not a one-sided proposition by any means which the honourable gentleman puts forward. It is simply a matter of helping others to help one's self. "In the Dark Ages," Mr. Tolmie said recently, "no matter what his ailments, the patient was bled. We are reverting to the Dark Ages if we try to revive business by bleeding it. Depressed conditions do not right themselves; they have to be corrected by our beginning again to spend on a normal basis. "Until we do, our factories will stand idle and our workers will remain unemployed. The sooner we resume our normal gait, the better for everybody. Spending creates employment, and each additional worker becomes in turn a spender and adds his quota to the wealth in circulation. "An insistent demand for goods by stimulating production in our factories will enable them to market their products at lower cost to the consumer, besides encouraging the retailer to carry the home product in preference to the imported article. The imported article enjoys a vogue created largely by advertisement; frequently there is a better value in the home made or home grown commodity."

Claims Bears Really Aid Moose by Killing Wolves

There are all sorts of sidelights in the matter of the dispute about whether bears are harmful to moose or not. The latest new way of looking at the question comes from Kaministiquia in Northwestern Ontario. A despatch published in the newspapers last week from Kaministiquia says:—

"Score another for Jack Miner, defender of bears and one against M. U. Bates, of Metagam, who claims that bruin destroys the moose. Far from proving a menace to deer, bear actually act as their natural protectors by destroying wolf whelps in the spring, in the opinion of hunters and trappers here. This theory is based on the fact that bear and deer have been gradually increasing in this area, while timber wolves have been decreasing. Admitting that bears are fond of some meat in their greatly varied diet, particularly in the spring when they emerge gaunt and hungry from their long winter hibernation, which is more reasonable than to suppose that they turn to the easiest source of supply of flesh they can obtain, the whelps of timber wolves and coyotes in their dens. Wolf cubs are easier for human beings to capture than young deer and moose, and presumably are easier for bears to capture also. The dens of wolves would be more easily found by the keen nose and ears of the bears, than would the young deer and moose, which are constantly on the move. The scent of established dens, and the whines and yelps of the pups at play would be noted by the bear a half mile away. If the she wolf is half the bear could dig the whelps out of the den at leisure or catch them while outside at play. Even if the old wolf should return, the bear would be more than a match for her. While bear undoubtedly occasionally kill a deer or moose calf, it is the sickly one whose chances of life are slim anyway. They also occasionally kill a full grown animal that has been wounded by hunters, or is too old or sickly to escape."

Fort William Times-Journal:—The methods of the Chinese in carrying out the boycott of Japanese goods, by hauling them out of the stores and destroying them, may be violent but will no doubt meet with the approval of the United States. It was in just the same way that their highly respectable ancestors dealt with a certain shipment of tea in Boston Harbour and they got away with it. Imitation is the sincerest flattery.

There are more gold "rushes" on at present than most people imagine, and it is hard to believe that one or more of the rush districts will not develop into a camp. Some of the areas that are being centred upon by the prospectors hold much of promise. It may be true that many lines of business are suffering from a slump—part due to a sort of panic and part due, perhaps, to a sort of discouragement, but the prospector's business is not one of these. It is years since the prospector has shown such a determination to find something big. The special difficulties seem to make him but the keener. The prospector after all is about the hardest man on earth to discourage, and as for quitting, he simply won't do it. He realizes that gold is badly needed at the present moment and he is out after gold.
