Heenan's Insurance for the Unemployed

Former Minister of Labour Submits Unemployment Insurance Measure to the Dominion Government at Ottawa Last Week.

Details of an unemployment insurance scheme were laid before Parliament last Friday by Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labour, with the expressed hope the Government would foster the plan. The total annual cost he placed at $90,000,000 to be divided equally among the Dominion workers and the employers. Benefits would range from $30 a month for single men to $65 a month for married men.

"In order to raise the contribution to be made by the workers," said Mr. Heenan, "each man would be required to contribute $15 a year or about 30 cents a week. One or two percent of the payroll of the average employer would raise the $30,000,000 required from that group and the remaining $60,000,000 would be contributed by the Federal Government, or, if it desires to co-operate with the provinces, it could contribute $15,000,000 and the provinces the remaining $45,000,000."

The insurance scheme to be effective, should be national in scope, said the former Labour minister. "And there is no excuse to delay it any longer. Any question of waiting for further information, of gathering additional statistics or of hearing the opinions of actuaries is to my way of thinking, only stalling off the proposition."

The Heenan suggestion was made while the House was debating the Government resolution to prolong until May 1 of last session. Once again the majority of the speakers rose from the Opposition benches, and they massed their attack on the "blank cheque" features of the measure. The Cabinet they argued, was attempting to secure all the functions of Parliament—power to spend money without specific authority, to amend legislation and enact new laws, all by order-in-council. The House of Commons was being rendered impotent, and its powers and rights surrendered to the Prime Minister and his Cabinet ministers.

A vigorous defence of the administration of money by the Saskatchewan relief commission was entered by Dr. W. D. Cowan, (Cons., Long Lake), Saskatchewan, he said, had proved herself equal to the task of handling her own business. In these depressed times, all the province wanted was some slight assistance to help it along.

Says the North Owes Much to Old Ontario

Writer of Letter Takes Issue with Statements Made by H. A. Preston in Recent Issue of The Advance.

A couple of weeks ago The Advance received the following letter, which was not published at the time as the writer neglected to send in her name as required by newspaper rules. In the meantime, however, the name of the writer has been duly sent in to this office, and so the letter is duly published herewith:—

Connaught Station, Feb. 24th, 1932
To the Editor of The Advance, Timmins.

Dear Sir:—Some time ago I saw in The Advance where Mr. Preston mentions that Old Ontario was like the monkey he saw in the museum at the Falls. Now, I beg to differ with this gentleman. Old Ontario does not send thousands of her unemployed to the North, but I can enlighten Mr. Preston in a good many ways. First, it was men from Old Ontario that helped to build the North, so I would advise him that some of the best miners that the North Country can boast of to-day come from Old Ontario, for I know for certain that there is a certain miner in the North that mined for over forty years in different places. What about our members of parliament? I know of two great men that came from Old Ontario. One, I am sorry to say, has gone to the great beyond some four years ago, but I personally knew these two great men.

I can remember a story that my dear old grandmother told me when I was quite young but I still recall it,—more so after reading Mr. Preston's letter. She told me that one day an American man had passed where a young man was working very hard in a field where there were a great number of stones. The man asked the boy what he thought would ever grow in such a field. The young man's answer was, "Well, sir, we will take a chance as to just what luck we will have in this piece of land, but I want to give you to understand what we do grow in this country is men." Now, this young man was quite correct. Glengarry can be proud of her men. I think Old Ontario had as much hardships to contend with as any New Ontario had. Did they complain of roads when they had to take their wheat miles to be ground into flour, sometimes on horseback. They were not fighting for roads. No, indeed, they had backbones! Maybe, Mr. Preston would prefer foreigners to Old Ontario men? If Mr. Preston wishes to answer this he is at liberty to do so.

A Glengarry Lady.

Death and Funeral of the Late Mrs. Donovan

The Northern Tribune, of Kapuskasing, last week says:—"Last Tuesday the death occurred at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bunce, at the Experimental Farm, Kapuskasing, of Mrs. Mary Donovan, widow of the late Thomas Donovan, in her 67th year. She had been in poor health for some time. Besides her son-in-law and daughter residing here, the late Mrs. Donovan left to mourn her loss two brothers, Denis Murtagh, of Timmins, and a sister, Mrs. J. J. Laberge, of Flint, Michigan. The funeral was held to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Kapuskasing, on Friday, March 4th, where pontifical high mass was sung by Rev. Father Nadon, assisted by Rev. Fathers Morisseau and Leclerc as deacon and sub-deacon. The choir was under the direction of Mr. L. Braun. After this impressive service, interment was made in the local Catholic cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs F. X. Gosnell, J. P. S. Ballantyne, A. Belzile, A. J. Bourdon, Secord Robinson and B. C. Roney. The many spiritual and floral offerings testified to the high esteem in which the late Mrs. Donovan was held."

Pedlar is a Parasite and Deserves No Help

The Advance recently has been quoting from various newspapers in the province to show the injury to the various communities by the activities of that class that for want of a more embracing name may be termed as pedlars. The Advance has been calling them peddlers. Other newspapers refer to them as pedlers. Some term them pedlars. They are the same injurious animal under any name. No town can prosper that is over-run with peddlers, pedlers or pedlars. An editorial in The Simcoe Reformer last week scores the pedlar. As pointed out recently in The Advance, The Simcoe Reformer says the pedlar is a parasite. He makes no contribution to the good of the community and gives no support to town institutions or to the progress of the place. The Simcoe Reformer editorial is as follows:—

"Police in the town of Amherstburg are making an intensive drive on pedlars who are going from house to house vending their wares. The chief of police has issued through the local press a request to housewives and others to phone him or the magistrate at once when they are bothered by one of these pedlars."

"The Reformer believes that a similar campaign should be conducted against this type of gentry in the town of Simcoe and in surrounding villages. The pedlar was always more or less a nuisance, but their ranks have swelled during the current depression to the point where they are utterly intolerable.

"The transient trader problem is a mere bagatelle beside this pedlar question. The pedlar makes absolutely no contribution to the community, yet he has the freest access to its homes, thus coming into direct competition with local merchants who pay taxes, give employment and support worthy community enterprises. The pedlar is an utter parasite and deserves scant consideration from householders and local authorities."

Tells Gospel Truth To Benefit Women

Thousands of women who are now nervous, sickly, weak and despondent might just as well be strong and happy, with Bright Eyes, Rosy Cheeks, abundant vitality and nerve force—if they knew the amazing value of The Indian Herb Tonic Never Die.

TO BUILD NEW BRIDGE OVER BLANCHE RIVER AT ENGLEHART

Tenders are now being called by the Department of Northern Development for the construction of a new high-level bridge over the Blanche River at Englehart. The bridge will be 800 feet long, will consist of a steel structure on reinforced concrete piers and abutments and will have a reinforced concrete floor and sidewalk, similar in a great many respects to the one built over the T. & N. O. and Nipissing Central tracks at Lang street, Cobalt.

It is understood that the new bridge will be in a different location to the present one, the Ferguson highway being changed to eliminate some bad curves, and it will also do away with the steep down grade which has been an inconvenience and danger to motorists. Two level crossings will be eliminated under the new scheme, it is stated.

Toronto Globe:—Because of collapse of banks in a Washington town wooden money has been placed in circulation; and in this same community sound Canadian dollars are at a discount! No wonder the intricacies of finance are beyond the grasp of the average man; and apparently too involved even for the supposed experts.

MAN OR WOMAN Are You "Half Sick?"

Are You Nervous, Weak, Run-Down?
If So, Let This Message Become Your Friend

Get strong and well. There is a "Right Way" of doing so. Others have learned the value of real knowledge concerning the blood and the nerves.

Debilitated, run-down conditions are due to poor quality of blood and poor blood makes "sick nerves." "Sick Nerves" indicate that Nerve Force—that mysterious unseen energy which gives us power of action—is being exhausted faster than it is being made by the blood.

It is being exhausted because the blood is failing to receive vital elements from the daily food supply, with which to rebuild nerve fluid and nerve force. "Sick Nerves" are starving—hungry for elements which the digestive function refuses to supply the blood.

Hence if a man has such danger signals as: Nervousness, sleeplessness, dizziness, trembling after slight exertion or mental excitement decline in bodily vigour, poor memory, and a general run-down feeling of being "always tired" and seldom happy and contented.

If a woman: Some of the foregoing symptoms, plus weakness, hysterical feelings, chills and hot flashes, irregular, painful occurrences, paleness with dark circles beneath the eyes,
