

Fr. Kolsun Visits Ukrainian School

Urged Ukrainian Children to be Good Citizens of Canada. "Prosvita" Association Plan for Own Home Here.

Father Kolsun, of Sudbury, on his first missionary call to Timmins on April 15th and 16th, paid a short visit to the Ukrainian school for children while the class was in session under the charge of Mr. Hykawy. Addressing the class, Father Kolsun said he was speaking to the future good citizens of Canada, who must not forget that they are here to stay and to keep up the good name of Canada. The learning of their mother tongue, he pointed out to the children, should in no way prevent them from remaining loyal to Canada. "Next to school," said Father Kolsun, "comes the church, where we receive our moral and spiritual training."

It is interesting to note that the Canadian-Ukrainian "Prosvita" Association of Timmins is already in possession of a lot on the corner of Elm street and Fifth avenue, where the association expects some day to have its own home. The association is planning for the erection of the right kind of a building on their lot in the future, but in the meantime the association is located in the small house on the above-mentioned lot.

The Canadian-Ukrainian "Prosvita" Association has made notable advancement since its organization here and is doing much to offset the evil effects of any other Ukrainian groups that may not urge to loyalty to Canada and high standards of living.

Balanced Education Subject at Kiwanis

Principal S. E. Henry Gives Interesting and Helpful Address at Club Luncheon on Monday of This Week.

Principal S. E. Henry, of the Timmins High and Technical School, was the speaker at the Kiwanis Club luncheon in the Empire hotel on Monday. His address was a thoughtful and interesting one and had many helpful suggestions in regard to the true purpose of education. In this line the speaker's main argument was for a well-balanced education that would make the best type of citizens of the students. He quoted at some length from an address by an eminent banker who emphasized the idea that people in general must quiet down in their social activities if the best of life is not to be lost or overlooked. Mr. Henry touched on the point that pupils and teachers alike must keep proper hours to secure the most and the best from educational advantages of the day. Study and its need, he said, must be kept in mind constantly, but at the same time he urged the advisability of pupils not devoting all their time exclusively to academic studies. He felt there should be time for athletics and for social activities as well. Only by the proper balancing of these three branches, academic, athletic and social, could a full and well-rounded education be secured. He showed the care necessary to balance the three lines of school work so that the best results might be obtained for the health and the moral advancement of the student. Mr. Henry also gave a very interesting review of the history of the growth of the Timmins High School from its first small beginnings. At the present time there is a total enrolment of 480 students, and Mr. Henry believed the future would see even larger attendance at the Timmins High and Technical School with a broader field of usefulness.

Dancing and Musical Recital on April 30th

A dancing and musical recital of the pupils of Mrs. H. F. Burt and Mrs. J. Wilkins will be held in the basement of the United Church on Saturday, April 30th, at 8 p.m. This event will be a genuine treat for all who enjoy the grace of children and the harmony of music and dancing. There will be a programme of approximately two and a half hours, and the event is sure to prove a first-class entertainment. The children have been very effectively trained in dancing by Mrs. H. F. Burt, while the piano pupils of Mrs. Wilkins will be found to be talented and well tutored. Every dance will be in full costume. The dances will include: "Scar" dance, "Dutch Tap," "Minuet," "Ruesian Polka," "Spanish," "Military" and others. All the talent, both for the dancing and the music, will be by local talent and is deserving of the fullest public support. Some unusually pleasing pianoforte solos have been arranged for the occasion by Mrs. Wilkins. The whole evening is sure to be one that will be thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by all.

The sincere sympathy of all will go out to Mr. and Mrs. B. Ash in the death on Sunday, April 10th, of their baby girl, aged 11 months, 28 days. The baby was ill only a few hours, death being due to one of the ailments to which children are subject.

Noted Wrestlers Put on Good Bouts Here

First Series of Bouts Directed by Jack Corcoran Draws Fair Crowd. Prominent Heavyweight Contender in Main Bout.

The first of a series of wrestling bouts to be presented at Timmins under the direction of Jack Corcoran of the Queensbury Boxing and Wrestling Club, Toronto, was held at the Timmins skating rink on Thursday evening last and drew a fair crowd. Some of the world's noted wrestlers gave fans here an idea of what it means to be a huge-and-tumble artist. What these tosse-me-arounders go through is nobody's business. The ordinary man would just as soon tackle a wild bull as go into the ring with one of these nice quiet, playful and docile wild elephants. In the first bout, Alex Kasaboski, of Renfrew, Ont., 185 lbs., met the Armenian champion, Abe Kasher, New York, 192 lbs. One fall, time limit, 30 minutes. These two went at it like wild bears for 30 minutes and what they didn't do to each other can scarcely be thought of. Everything goes in this gentle sport, except the strangle-hold and hitting with the clenched fist. It looked to be as good to be hit with the fist as with an elbow or knee, and maybe these gentlemen didn't know how to use both of these. However, the crowd liked it. After 30 minutes of teasing and being tossed, sometimes clean out of the ring, Kasaboski was awarded the decision by the judges. It was a good bout, with Kasaboski displaying the more science of the two. The second bout was between Matros Kisilenko, 240 lbs., Russian Cossack, and Joe Gotch, 209 lbs., of Cleveland. The bout was 1 fall, with 45 minutes as time limit. These two dreadnoughts were slow at the start but got warmed up after a bit of running around the ring playing tag. After they settled down flying tackles figured frequently with Gotch's head at the business end of a human battering ram, and what Kisilenko missed out with his head was made up by him in the shape of scissors holds and big splits. Gotch was lucky to win from the Cossack in 17 minutes, the time of the first and only fall. The main bout of the evening was between Ray Steele, 214 lbs., of California, and John Katan, 209 lbs., of Winnipeg, Man. Two falls out of three. Ray Steele is the leading contender after the crown of Jim Londos. He gave Londos a tough battle at the Maple Leaf Gardens a couple of weeks ago and the Greek Adonis then had to exert himself to retain his crown. "The Perfect Wrestler" as Steele is called, was dazed and hurt by a fall on his head when Londos put his shoulder to the mat after 1 hour and 22 minutes. From his showing here on Thursday night he certainly knows his wrestling, although he did not have to exert himself very much to keep Katan at bay. Katan showed that he is no novice but it was apparent that Steele was the more crafty of the two, and after 30 minutes of cave-man play Steele got the first fall. After ten minutes rest the two went at it again. Steele got busy right away, and after giving Katan a few cartwheels, a couple of jolts with the elbow, a sock or two, and what-have-you, Katan was on his back again with only 11 minutes gone in the second stanza. On the whole it was a good exhibition, a good evening. The sporting public is looking forward to further programmes. The promoter, Jack Corcoran, has the rink booked all through the summer for wrestling bouts. Many think it would be a good idea if Mr. Corcoran mixed boxing bouts with his wrestling. There are some good boxing prospects in the North and a mixed boxing and wrestling programme might find special favour with the sport-loving public.

Mr. D. Mitchell returned last week from a few weeks' visit to the South.

Korva Luoma Passes Away Suddenly on April 19th

Sergt. Moore was called to the London hotel, Balsam street, opposite the liquor store, in the early hours of Tuesday morning, Korva Luoma, a Finlander stopping there having passed away suddenly. Medical help was at once secured but on arrival Dr. Stahl pronounced the unfortunate man as having been dead for a little time. The man had been stopping at the London hotel for the past two months, having been ill and unable to work. He came here to work for one of the lumber-companies of the district but had been forced to give up all work. He was suffering from tuberculosis. On the evening of his death, two friendly fellow countrymen had visited him, bringing him fruit and such foods as might tempt an invalid. He had been talking to them and after a short walk in the hall he returned and lay down on the bed. In a few minutes the friends noticed that he appeared to be unconscious and the police were notified. Dr. Stahl found death was due to natural causes. Coroner Montgomery was notified but did not consider an inquest necessary in view of the doctor's report. The late Korva Luoma was a native of Finland, where he has a widow and two children surviving him.

FIREMEN BURNED UP THE S.J.A.B. CRIBBAGE PLAYERS

Tuesday evening a couple of firemen off duty for the night showed that they can put out all the cribbage players as easily as they can put out a fire. The two firemen were Messrs Manson Smith and Jack McKinnon and they happened to drop in upon the St. John Ambulance Brigade cribbage tournament in progress at the S. J. A. B. headquarters, Shankman's hill. There was a big crowd of cribbage players present but the firemen put them out all. First prize went to Messrs McKinnon and Smith who now think they are the greatest crib players in the world. They admit, however, that the winners of second prize Tuesday evening, Mrs. Briggs and Mrs. Price, are also good players.

PLAN SHOULD BE USED ON BRIDGE AGAIN NEXT SEASON

Through the thoughtfulness of the Mountjoy Settlers' Association those using sleighs on roads into town by way of the Matagami bridge were benefitted by a simple and inexpensive plan during the past season. Boards were placed along the inside of the bridge and this method kept the snow on the bridge so that sleighs were able to get across the bridge without difficulty. A similar plan should be used next winter as it proved so valuable this past season. Next winter the plan should be put into force and effect early in the winter. McChesney's lumber yard kindly provided the lumber for the purpose without charge and Ambrose Racicot was equally generous in regard to the hauling of the boards, so the scheme was carried through without cost to anyone but with much general advantage.

F. W. Schumacher, Columbus, Ohio, formerly chief owner of the Schumacher Mine, was a visitor to Timmins over the week-end.

Annual Meeting of the Timmins Baseball Club

The annual meeting of the Timmins Baseball Club is called for Wednesday evening of next week in the town hall, the meeting to start at 8.30 p.m. The committee appointed at the recent meeting to organize baseball in town for the season have been working hard and will have much information for the annual meeting. At the annual meeting next Wednesday, April 27th, there will be the election of officers for the year and other general business. The chief business, of course, will be the arranging for a big season of baseball in Timmins for 1932. All interested in baseball should be present at the meeting next Wednesday night at the town hall, Fourth avenue.

Gambles Win the First Three Games in Play-offs

In the first three games of the play-offs of the Commercial bowling league, Gamble-Robinson's team came off victorious, but it was not a sure thing until the last game was played, for the first two were close. The first of the series went to the T. & N. O. with 65 pins. Gambles won the second with 42 pins, in spite of Art Saint's high score of 324. Horrester his opponent keeping close on his heels with 277. The third game was disastrous for the T. & N. O. as they lost by 330 pins. Not a man on the T. & N. O. team rolled up a 200 score, while every man on Gamble's with the exception of Eddy rolled over 200. This gives Gambles the advantage of 307 pins for the final games to-morrow (Friday) night.

TO START PARK AT RIVER TO BE READY BY MAY 24TH

Mr. Babcock informs The Advance this week that in the contest he has carried on recently in regard to the choice of a site for a park here there have been 800 votes for having the proposed park at the river and that consequently it will be built there. Previously Gillies Lake seemed to be the choice. Work on the new park will start any day now and it will be ready by May 24th, Mr. Babcock says. It is intended to put in a merry-go-round, and there may be a two or three concessions. Mr. Babcock also talks about having a couple of tennis courts put in.

Second Half of Bowling Comes to Merry Close

The second half of the Commercial bowling league came to a close on Friday, and as expected, Gamble-Robinson's treated the T. & N. O. with some of their own fruit, kindly taking all four points. Gambles were slow in starting in the first game and the two famous broadcasters were having a great time in trying to outdo each other in yelling. Half-way through, however, they both had to give way to others and get down to business, but it was too late, for Gambles had struck their stride and kept in front all the way to the finish of the three games and qualified in the play-off for the prize, the games to be played Monday and Friday, three games each night.

The Power and The Advance rolled their last games of the league on the other alleys, and a fine exhibition of sportsmanship was given, as has been the rule all through the league by all the teams, there having not been a single defaulted game. The Commercial league, it may be noted, is generally approved as the best league ever rolling on the alleys here, which is a nice thing to know as the season ends.

Cochrane Man Dies from Meat in Throat

Fred Daoust Chokes on Piece of Meat, Found Dead in His Home at Cochrane on Monday Afternoon.

An unusual accident occurred on Monday of this week to Fred Daoust, a well-known resident of Cochrane, the unfortunate man meeting his death as a result of the odd incident. Daoust was apparently eating a meal at his home when a piece of meat lodged in his throat and he choked to death as a consequence. He was alone in the house at the time. Some time later his dead body was found and the coroner, E. R. Tucker, was notified. The coroner ordered a postmortem examination and this disclosed the cause of death to be the lodging of a large piece of meat in the man's throat, the entrance to the windpipe being blocked and the man choking to death before he could dislodge the obstruction.

Daoust was a sectionman on the T. & N. O., being employed in the Cochrane yards. He was about 43 years of age. His wife has been ill for some time and at the time of the fatality was out of town on account of her health. The sad news of the death of her husband was sent to her by wire.

Cornish Club Hold Pleasing Banquet

Happy Evening Spent by Cornish Folk and Guests on Saturday Night. Excellent Menu and Programme of Merit.

The Cornish people have a fine reputation for hospitality and for high success in arranging social events and the annual banquet given by the Cornish Social Club in the Sons of England hall on Saturday evening last fully justified that reputation. There were about 80 present, including Cornish men and women, members of the club, and the guests for the evening. The evening throughout was a delightful one and every minute was enjoyed by all present. The menu was a remarkable tribute to the Cornish ladies who prepared the repast, and the well-set tables, decorated with flowers and Cornish emblems added to the interest. There was a generous supply of cigars, cigarettes, soft drinks, etc. for the period after the banquet.

Capt. D. Jones acted as toastmaster for the evening and carried through the duties of the office with rare talent and effectiveness. Capt. Jones told of his long association with the Cornish people in several countries and everywhere he had found them the finest people and he was proud that they accepted him as one of them, though he was only partly of their nationality. Leslie Toms, president of the Cornish Social Club, welcomed the members of the club to the happy gathering and gave especial welcome to the guests of the evening.

J. Docking in very effective way proposed the toast to the Duke of Cornwall; the toast to Cornwall's duke, who is also the Prince of Wales, being heartily responded to.

President Toms gave the toast, "To England," effective response being made by Mr. Bright.

Mrs. Bright proposed in brief but very pleasing way the toast "To Canada," Mrs. Richards being called upon for the response.

A. Jennings introduced the toast to "The Press," with flattering reference to the value of The Advance as an advertising medium and as a factor in the life of the community. In responding, G. A. Macdonald, editor of The Advance, referred to the kinship of the Cornish and the Scots, both being branches of the Celtic family. He spoke of the comparatively small size of Cornwall and its population of less than a hundredth part of that of England, yet the Cornish people, like their brother Scots, had pioneered in many lands and helped build up many countries. There were also a number of humorous stories told.

W. A. Stephens, in proposing the toast to "The Ladies" expressed the general appreciation for the splendid banquet enjoyed. Suitable reply was made by Mrs. Masters.

A splendid feature of the evening was the address by J. G. Harris, of Schumacher, who touched on the history of the Cornish Social Club and its continued success in the past seven years. He believed the club and gatherings such as the one in question were very valuable in helping to get people better acquainted and to add to the satisfaction of life.

Geo. Harris, son of John Harris, well-known in the Cobalt district and other parts of the North, was introduced by Capt. Jones as a true son of Cornwall while a loyal native Canadian. Mr. Harris was given a rousing reception for his own sake as well as for his father who was a very popular figure in the North among the Cornish people. In a very pleasing response Mr. Harris spoke of his visit to Cornwall some years ago. "My father had told me of the loveliness of Cornwall, but I found it even more beautiful than he had pictured," said Mr. Harris. Mr. Harris represents a Camborne firm in Canada.

President Toms thanked all for being present and expressed his appreciation for the kind words of the visitors. He

The Porcupine Rod and Gun Club has done much valuable work in the district during the past few years and deserves the heartiest support.

It is anticipated that the district meeting will be held at Timmins at an early date, at which time Hon. Mr. Black ("the Minister of Game and Fisheries"), and others, will be invited to attend, there being several matters pertaining to the district to be dealt with.

The matter of building a club house, the forming of a district gun club meet to be held in Timmins some time this summer, as well as inter-club shoots between Kapuskasing, Cochrane, Iroquois Falls and Timmins, will be up for discussion.

All lovers of game and sport, the outdoors and the conservation of the natural wealth of this country should be sure to attend the annual meeting of the Porcupine Rod and Gun Club in the Empire hotel grill room, Timmins, on Monday evening, April 25th at 8 o'clock.

Fire at Slotnick's Store Early Monday

Damaged to Building About $200.00. Stock Injured by Smoke. Fire Put Out by Use of Big Chemical Tanks.

Early Monday morning of this week fire did about $200.00 worth of damage to the building at 37 Wilson avenue occupied by S. Slotnick, grocer, while the stocks were also slightly damaged by smoke.

The alarm for this fire came in from Box 45 at about 7.55 on Monday morning and the fire had considerable grip when it was discovered. There was a dense volume of thick smoke in the building when the firemen arrived, and this smoke made the fire very difficult to fight. By the use of the smoke helmets the firemen were able to get into the building and discover where the fire was and the extent of the blaze. To save the serious damage invariably done when the water has to be turned on, Chief Borland and his men used the big chemical tanks to extinguish the blaze. Thus the smoke masks again showed their usefulness and value, with the chemical tanks also once more proving their worth. With these and the good work of the firemen a much more serious loss was averted. The cause of the fire is believed to have been electric wiring, the fire apparently having originated in a partition through which wires passed. The adjuster for the fire insurance companies is expected here this evening to adjust the losses.

It would not have been a true Cornish night without music, and there was lots of music Saturday night, and of the finest kind. Solos by R. Bowden were particularly enjoyed. Mrs. Gay delighted the gathering with her well-rendered solos, and won the heartiest appreciation for each of her numbers. One of the big hits of the evening was the song by Capt. Jones, an encore being enthusiastically insisted upon. Encores, indeed were the order of the evening, all the artists pleasing the gathering. Mrs. Harvey delighted all with her fine voice in a pleasing rendition of "The Sunshine of Your Smile," and this was another case where the demand for an encore was very insistent. The humorous songs by W. Bright brought down the house. President Toms won much applause by his solo, "Just Plain Folks." Mrs. Wilkins added to the success of the various vocal numbers by her talented work as pianist for the evening.

Recitations by Capt. Jones and a Cornish reading by President Toms were particularly popular numbers.

Cornish people always enjoy community singing and this pleasing line was specially featured. Mr. Bowden led in the singing of the "Porcupine Song," and there were many other popular songs heartily given by the whole company, including a number of Cornish favourites.

From start to finish it was a great night and when midnight came, the gathering dispersed after the singing of the National Anthem, all voting it a happy evening and a notable credit to all concerned in any way in its arrangement and success.

Mrs. J. H. Skelly left on Sunday for Hamilton, Ont., where she will take hospital treatment.
