The following was sent us from the Owen Sound Daily Sun-Times of April 18th.—The funeral of the late Ruth Helen Spencer was held on Wednesday, April 13th. She was the youngest daughter of the late Stephen Spencer and Mrs. E. Harrison, of South Porcupine, and was born in Amabel, Bruce County, on August 9th, 1910. She attended Shallow Lake public school, the continuation school at South Porcupine and Toronto Normal. She had taught one year at Gardiner and the past term at Eastford. On the evening before Good Friday she had started to come home for the holidays and was taken ill and put to bed at the home of a friend. The following Tuesday she felt some better and having a great desire to reach home her friends drove her into Cochrane to take the train. The trip was very hard on her and she was in a state of collapse when she reached her mother's home. A doctor was called and good hopes held out for her recovery but pneumonia developed and after two weeks' illness her heart failed, death taking place on Sunday, April 10th. She had a gentle affectionate nature, was very forgiving and considerate, and conscientious about her work. In both sections where she taught she tried to be an influence for good. Her passing has brought great sorrow to many who loved her. She is survived by her mother, two sisters Mrs. Cruickshank, and a private service was held there on Wednesday afternoon followed by a public one in the United Church, Shallow Lake, conducted by Rev. Woolley and Rev. Roche interment taking place in the family plot at Boyd's cemetery. There were many beautiful floral tokens among them being tributes from friends at Gardiner and at South Porcupine, Mr. and Mrs. F. Heyburn, Mr. and Mrs. G. McIntosh, Dr. and Mrs. Somerville, Miss Betty Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. D. Coffey, Mr. and Mrs. Dysart, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Young, Mr. and Mrs. S. The play "Mall Order Brides," put on by the Young People's Society of South Porcupine was quite up to expectations. A crowded house greeted its presentation and many a good laugh showed the enjoyment of the audience who followed each act with the keenest interest. The cast presenting the play consisted of:—"Mr. Henshaw, owner of the Ruby Heart Ranch," Will Andrew; "Nance, his daughter," Ivy Freeman; "Bob, his son," Don Crozier; "Princess Laughing Water, Indian housekeeper," Miss Paice; "Skeet Snyder," Roy Gemmill; and "Pinkie Butter," Robert McWilliams, Jr., were two of his cow-boys. "Mr. Hamilton, owner of the Chicago mail-order house," George Harvey; "Jane, his daughter," Betty Ferguson; "Florence, his son," Bryn Saunders; "Arabella Lucereta Melinda Jennings," Miss Walker; "Margaret Gaynell Jones," Miss McGavin; and "Queenie," Miss MacDonald, were the brides who came in answer to the mail order. "Rose Crandall," Miss Pashlar, the Henshaw's hired girl, had come on a quest of her own. The play opens at the ranch the day after a dance, where there were only four women and thirty-four men. "Skeet" and "Pinkie" are discussing it disgustedly when the mail-order catalogue of Hamilton-Blake's of Chicago catches their eye. "If everything else, why not some work-folk too?" Mr. Henshaw and Mr. Hamilton were boyhood pals and his son and daughter come out to the ranch for a visit. Bob Henshaw takes Jane into his confidence and tells her of a college escapade he is afraid to tell his father. Nance, the rancher's pretty daughter, his pride and plague both, was very well acted and the father and daughter scenes were full of pep. The old ranchman was a difficult role and particularly well taken, the love-making scenes after the three fair dames arrived from Chicago being fraught with amusing incidents. In real cow-boy apparel "Skeet" and "Pinkie" acted true to name. As a "bally" Englishman Deering Hamilton was being thoroughly initiated into ranch life when "Baldy," the bull chased him up a tree. Later one of the romantic misses from Chicago had to climb the same tree. Arabella's age was uncertain but she was certain of one thing—she was after a husband and she got one. The romantic incident that looked for a while like darkening Rose's and Bob's life cleared away and all was sunshine and roses. "Princess" was a scream with her huge form, her waddle, her quaint sayings and the eye she kept on everything. Jane, the peace-maker got everything running smoothly, but had a time trying to keep "dad" from being an "old goose" and spoiling everything. The play reflected credit on the actors and those training them for the way it was presented after the short time which there was for preparation when it was undertaken. The High School orchestra supplied music while the audience was assembling and between acts. Mrs. Wilkins of Timmins favoured with two piano solos which were heartily acclaimed. Chopin's "Minuet Waltz" was given first and as an encore a catchy interpretation, "Fashionette." Mrs. E. Stanlake was given a hearty reception when she appeared for a solo it being some time since she had been before a Porcupine audience. Her first solo, "Laughing Valley," was persistent, ly encored until she responded with "Down Vauxhall Way." There is some talk of an exchange of plays between Timmins and South Porcupine at a later date but nothing definite has been decided as yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Henderson, of Winnipeg, Man., were Timmins visitors last week.

Threatens to Kidnap a Sudbury Woman's Baby

The latest threat to kidnap a baby is reported from Sudbury. The Sudbury police are in possession of a threatening letter that was left a few days ago at the home of Mrs. H. Hiscock, 198 Eyre street, Sudbury. The letter is signed, "The Black Hand," and tells Mrs. Hiscock that the two-months-old baby of her daughter, Mrs. Ed. Arthur, 290 Walnut street, Sudbury, would be kidnapped. Mrs. Hiscock says that on receipt of the letter she at once notified her daughter. The police were then informed of the matter. The police while inclined to believe the letter written by someone with a perverted sense of humour so-called, warned Mrs. Arthur not to let her baby out of her sight. Mrs. Arthur is also inclined to think that the letter is not a real threat at kidnapping but the work of some supposed joker who may pretend to be a friend of the family. It is unthinkable that anyone should turn to this form of fendishness at the present time in any mistaken idea that it has the slightest approach to fun or humour. With the Lindbergh case in mind, people generally can not see any evidence of the humorous in anything concerned with threats of kidnapping. The letter looks more like the work of an insane person, but the kind of mental defective not fit to be at large.

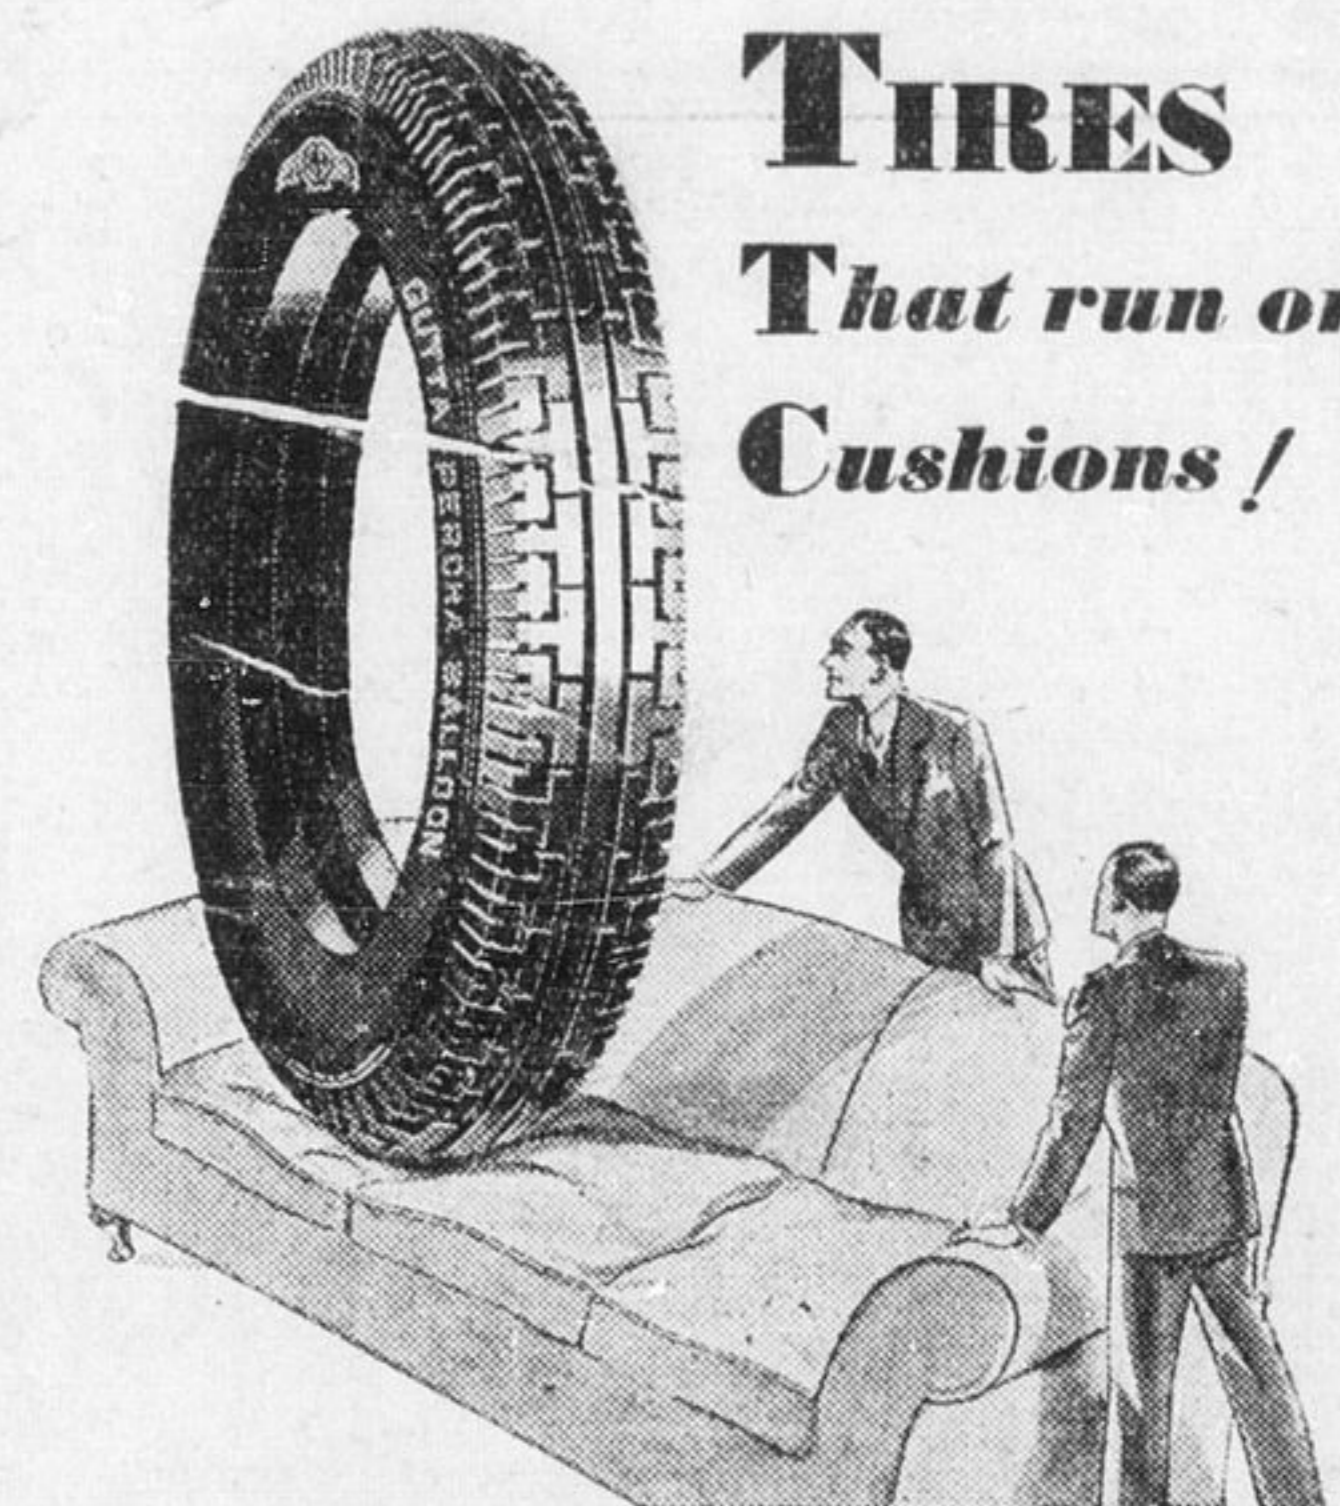

The Sudbury police are investigating the case and it is hoped that the person or persons guilty of this evil threat will be caught and sternly dealt with. Canada will have little patience with this sort of threatening letter.

COBALT WOMAN LOSES APPEAL AGAINST A TERM IN JAIL

At Halleybury last week the appeal of Mrs. Naomi Budarick, Cobalt, woman sentenced recently by Magistrate Atkinson to three months in jail for having liquor illegally at her Lang street residence, was dismissed Wednesday by Judge Hartman, and the accused has 15 days in which to decide whether the case will be carried to a still higher court.

It was the woman's second offence. Crown Attorney F. L. Smiley, K. C., argued on the evidence produced. The case was that in which provincial officers returning 23 bottles of beer, marked the containers with a diamond glass cutter, and when later they searched the premises, found 38 bottles of the same brand. Mrs. Budarick has been out on bail since the appeal was entered.

North Bay Nugget:—A Toronto man has returned after having been officially "dead" for nine years. One could imagine how embarrassing such a return could be to a man's family.

Restore an Estate

ARE you among the thousands who have suffered from the great depression? Have you had to make a hurried survey of your financial position only to find that you are worth less by thousands of dollars than you were? Do you realize that death compels a liquidation of securities at current values?

How can that situation be met?

You can instantly restore your estate to a healthy basis by taking out more insurance. The sure way is to insure to the point of safety as at least.

Over five hundred million dollars of life insurance was taken out in the Sun Life Company last year—much of it by level-headed men who balanced their accounts by this simple method.
