Invalid Wheel Chair Added to Depot Here

Those Patronizing St. John Ambulance Free Medical Comforts Depot Urged to Promptly Return Goods Received.

An invalid wheel chair has been added to the free medical comforts depot maintained in Timmins by the St. John Ambulance Brigade. It may be obtained through your doctor who will issue a voucher to the depot.

The St. John Ambulance Brigade again makes special appeal to the persons who have medical comforts on loan to kindly return them as soon as they have finished with them. Several pairs of crutches have been out almost a year; some, for over a year. Persons are waiting to use these crutches. If you have finished with these medical comforts, and they are lying idle, it is a poor way to show appreciation for the service of this depot.

Hot water bottles, bed-pans, rubber sheets, ice packs, are also among the articles that have been out a considerable number of months. Please answer this appeal by returning any articles you have finished with.

Timmins Boxers at Big Noranda Event

Bill Thompson and Bill Johnson in Bouts. Pavich and Bussineau Again Fail to Meet. Roy Hamilton Introduced to the Crowd.

There was a boxing event at Noranda some days ago in which Timmins fight fans will be specially interested for a number of reasons. One of these reasons was that Roy Hamilton, the Timmins young man who has climbed to so high a place in the boxing world, was introduced to the crowd and the announcement made that he would appear at the next boxing meet in Noranda. Another reason for special interest was the fact that two of the boxers appearing in the leading bouts were announced as Timmins men. Still another reason is the fact that Pavich, of Kirkland Lake, and Bussineau, recently of Timmins, were billed to fight at the Noranda programme. Bussineau was unable to be present, however, and his place was taken by Willie Stevens, of Kirkland Lake, well-known in Timmins. It will be remembered that some weeks ago Bussineau and Pavich were booked to fight at the Timmins rink. Pavich did not appear and the card was called off altogether. It was mentioned in The Advance that the public thought that perhaps Pavich had been troubled with cold feet, as Bussineau was a former partner of Jack Dempsey's and supposed to be very bad medicine. The next week Pavich was in Timmins and called at the Advance office to deny that cold feet had troubled him on this or any other occasion. He explained that the only reason he had not appeared to take up the battle advertised at the rink was that he knew nothing about it until it was over. "If any arrangements were made about the fight in question," Pavich told The Advance, "I would be ready to take Bussineau on with the plan of the winner taking all," he said, which seemed, as The Advance said at the time, to be very far indeed from cold feet. In the recent Noranda case it was Bussineau that failed to show up, and the reports do not state whether it was illness or some other cause that prevented him. It may be of course, that Bussineau in this case was not fully consulted. In the case of some cards prepared in the North it does appear sometimes to the fans that the arrangements are not always perfected before the announcements are made. This is not exactly fair to the boxers or to the fans. Of course, there may have been nothing like this happen in the Noranda case, but it is simply mentioned as a possibility, in passing.

At the Noranda programme there were six or seven hundred fans present, which would be a good crowd for the place and the occasion. The programme was presented as a sort of revival of boxing in Noranda. The Northern News carried a full report of the event, and for the reasons indicated above this report will be of particular interest to readers of The Advance. The Northern News says, in part, last week:—

"J. A. Raymond being on his holidays, his partner, Mr. Decarie, was promoter and referee and showed himself to be ultra-versatile, by constructing the ring almost single-handed. The Rouyn-Noranda band was in attendance and the programme was in every way efficiently handled. Myron Cavers did the announcing and Bud Faraday was the time-keeper.

"Mike Vronick and Kid Bedard locked horns at 135 lbs. for the opener. They boxed and slugged 3 fast rounds and were notable chiefly for nourishing the only smiles of the evening, among the performers. A draw would be an equitable decision for this bout.

"Bill Johnson, of Timmins, 126 lbs., and Pete Doherty, of Kirkland Lake, 120 lbs., formerly of Rouyn, constituted the official preliminary. This melee lasted 5 rounds and as Doherty had a definite margin of 2 rounds, and two were even—the other for Johnson—Doherty got the decision.

Party Gets Rough

"There had been little real battling up till the third bout when Denny Mahoney, 140 lbs., of Kirkland Lake, took on Bill Thompson of Timmins, 145 lbs. Thompson was certainly the aggressor in this slug-fest, while Mahoney (who doesn't appear to have an Irish bone in his body) did the dance of the Dervishes and got mad as mad. However, the referee saw fit to call this a draw, as each was a master of offensive and defensive fighting—with Mahoney choosing the latter strategy.

Bussineau Does Not Meet

George Pavich

"The special attraction was to have been between Geo. Pavich, billed as a famous wrestler and boxer from western Canada, and Harry Bussineau, former sparring partner of Dempsey the great. Bussineau was unable to come, however, and Willie Stevens, of Kirkland Lake, who has a decision over Pavich to his credit, decided to fill the bill—and did for all rounds. Pavich has a very unusual and unpopular style of fighting. He is a gangling figure and indulges in frequent but death-dealing punches—if they ever land. He aroused the ire of the crowd by mixing his boxing and wrestling technique so far as wrapping his arm around Stevens' neck in the clinches, and after a punch or two, throwing him on the floor. Stevens' footwork was a treat to watch and almost invariably, after one of Pavich's wild swings went past him, he would get in a smart jab at his face. Pavich also had a trick of bending low—playing possum, and appearing on the verge of collapse, then he would suddenly throw an uppercut with all his weight behind it, which would do deadly damage to the receiving jaw, but like his long swings he missed more often than not.

"The referee, a Kirkland Lake official, awarded Pavich the decision and it was very unpopular. However, now they each have one to their credit, the rafters will need to be equipped with rumble seats when they meet again.

Roy Hamilton Introduced to the Crowd

"During the course of the evening, Roy Hamilton of Kirkland Lake, former 126 lb. champion of Canada, was introduced to the crowd. He is a very clean-cut lad and his manager announced he would have him meet any capable opponent at the next boxing show here."

Judge's Report on Band Competition

"Timmins Band Plays Quite Sweetly," Says Adjudicator at Temiskaming Firemen's Tournament Band Competition, July 1st, at Kirkland Lake.

The written report of Capt. R. H. Hayward, bandmaster of the Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto, who was adjudicator at the July 1st band competition at Kirkland Lake in connection with the Temiskaming Firemen's annual tournament, has been received at Kirkland Lake and is published by The Northern News last week with some comments. The following is the article in The Northern News in regard to the report. The article will be of general interest:—

Kirkland Lake Band "A Very Nice Band"

Some very interesting and very frank criticism is shown in the formal report which Captain R. H. Hayward, bandmaster of the Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto, compiled after judging the band competitions in Kirkland Lake during the Temiskaming Firemen's Tournament, July 1st.

The bandmaster, who acted as independent adjudicator during the trials has a warm word of praise for the Kirkland Lake Citizens' band, in charge of W. R. Sweet, winner of the Class 'B' trials.

His report says:—

"A very nice band. Plays with confidence; has good tone and intonation. Attack very good—release not so good. Expression marks generally well observed, but rhythm should receive still more attention. Soprano saxophone, (Geo. Bowers), wins medal in this class."

Bandmaster Hayward credits the Citizens' band with a total of 86 marks out of a 100—the highest by many points, given any of the four bands which took part in the tests.

The tabulation:—

Order of Playing	Possible Marks	Allotted Marks
Tone	20	17
Intonation	20	17
Technique	10	8
Interpretation	10	8
Tempo and Express.	10	8
General Effect	30	27
Totals	100	86

ATTENTION HOUSEHOLDERS

generally being prominent enough, except at the place noted. A greater regard for nuances will improve the performance, and rhythms should be more marked.

"Plays Quite Sweetly"

Timmins with Class "C" honours, is thus listed:—

Class "C" Band No. 1	Possible Marks	Allotted Marks
Order of Playing	20	15
Tone	20	15
Intonation	20	15
Technique	10	7
Interpretation	10	8
Tempo and Express.	10	8
General Effect	30	27
Totals	100	82

"A good toned band, plays quite sweetly, but is overbalanced in the accompaniments. Tuning requires more attention, and more regard should be given to marking of rhythm. Attack and release is quite good on the whole but the melody is too often smothered by faulty accompaniments. This band's cornet soloist (Leslie Richards) wins medal in this class."

South Porcupine Band

Of the South Porcupine organization Bandmaster Hayward has the following to say:—

Class "C" Band No. 2	Possible Marks	Allotted Marks
Order of Playing	20	15
Tone	20	15
Intonation	20	14
Technique	10	8
Interpretation	10	5
Tempo and Express.	10	7
General Effect	30	25
Totals	100	79

"This band would be a better job with more careful tuning, and a greater regard for balance. Watch marks of expression and be careful to give melody prominence. Attack good, but release sketchy. Note value and rhythm are both weak spots which require careful attention."

Lieut. Wetten's Leadership

The Citizens' Band is being highly trained under the leadership of Lieut. E. Wetten, the musical director of the organization, and is grooming itself for approaching Class "B" trials at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. Lieut. Wetten has contested eight times in C. N. E. and other trials and has taken seven prizes.

The adjudicator's report covered all of the four bands in the competition—the T. & N. O. Band, North Bay, which won second place in Class "B", the Timmins Citizens' Brass Band, winner of the class "C" tests, and the South Porcupine Band, also a Class "C" organization.

North Bay Band

His remarks on the musical ability of the North Bay organization are prefaced with a tabulation of points awarded this band, as follows:—

Order of Playing	Possible Marks	Allotted Marks
Tone	20	16
Intonation	20	15
Technique	10	8
Interpretation	10	7
Tempo and Express.	10	8
General Effect	30	25
Totals	100	79

"This band is rather badly out of tune. Attack and release require attention, and you should study note values more, which will result in a better interpretation. The tone is somewhat hard, especially in fortissimo passages. Balance is fair; the melody have been benefited. "Since taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, my daughter has lost that tired, sluggish feeling," says Mrs. Asa Dow, Port Daniel West, Que.

"Before taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was always tired. Now I am full of pep," states Doris Andrews, London, Ont.

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills built me up and put me in fine condition," asserts Mrs. James Doughty, Brantford.

ANOTHER RED DEMONSTRATION AT KIRKLAND LAKE LAST WEEK

Kirkland Lake last week had another of the red demonstrations. There was the usual pretence that it had something to do with the unemployed but it was evidently engineered by men who had command of money and had no interest in labour except to exploit it. The marchers carried banners or placards bearing such inscriptions as: "Defend the Soviet Union." "We demand the Repeal of Section 98." "Hands off China." and ones about imperialistic war whatever that may be. The parade marched in orderly way to the Ukrainian hall where speakers gave addresses. Including the women and children there were perhaps 200 or 250 in the parade. The addresses were of the usual silly red type. As soon as the unemployed, especially the aliens, realize how much harm these parades do them they will likely see that they are stopped. At present according to reports the only advantage to the unemployed is that occasionally some of those out of work are said to be paid to join in these parades in the hope of making them look impressive.

Fear, the Cause of Hard Times, Now Passing Away

(By John C. Kirkwood in "Marketing")

Bad times have a psychological base—fear and distrust. Present bad times are not due to famine or drought or plagues or to a lack of world wealth. Western Canada has in storage a hundred and thirty million bushels of wheat. Our Canadian banks are the custodians of a billion and a half dollars. Our farmers are growing more cereals, more fodder, more fruit and vegetables than man and beast require for their sustenance. Lancashire is able to supply the whole world with cotton cloth at short notice. The steel plants of the world have a capacity many times greater than the world's present consumption. The world contains two billion human beings with wants and needs which have never been and never will be over-supplied.

The whole world is in a funk. It fears men—not famine, nor drought, nor plague, and when it fears, it proceeds to safeguard its possessions. The spirit of enterprise and adventure is replaced by the spirit of caution.

But fear is a miserable state, and human nature refuses to stay for long under its dominion. Already there are unmistakable signs of mutiny. Courage is raising its head in Western Canada. It is singing in Great Britain. It is spreading in China like prairie verdure in the spring. It is returning to India. It is chafing for release in the United States. Everywhere men are beholding a brightening dawn. Before many months pass the strongholds of fear will be tenanted. Everywhere there will be a glad return to free trading. Repressed desires will feed themselves generously. Industry will hum again.

Since bad times are at bottom a state of mind, it follows that every human being can, this very day, become a useful contributor to the defeat of bad times—by evincing a courageous spirit. He can begin spending more freely, in the confidence that there is no longer need for keeping his treasure boxes tightly locked.

In particular, advertisers should resume their former bold canvassing of the public, knowing that courage breeds courage, that a smile begets a smile.

Better times are near at hand, and soon they will spread over the whole world, with the force and speed of a tidal wave, submerging fear.

ONLY ONE DWELLING ON EACH LOT IN KIRKLAND LAKE NOW

On account of sanitation and risks in case of fire many here have wished that the building of two or more houses on a lot had been curbed in earlier days of the camp. Recently fire restrictions and sanitary requirements have curbed any danger from this source, but in the cases where two and three buildings were put on the one lot the danger remains. Kirkland Lake has wakened up to this danger and taken steps to remedy it. In its last issue The Northern News of Kirkland Lake has the following:—

Under the terms of a new amendment to the building by-law, as adopted by the Teck Township Council, only one dwelling can be erected on any one lot in the municipality.

This new regulation is being enforced by Fire Chief R. J. Mathieson, official issuer of building permits, who says that the by-law amendment will prove a substantial factor towards the lowering of municipal fire risks, and on behalf of better town planning arrangements.

"It simply means," he explained, "that all dwellings must face a street, and that a registered plan cannot be subdivided for building purposes. The by-law, however, provides that in the case of a corner lot two buildings can be placed upon it provided both face the street."

The amendment:—

"No person shall erect on any lot as shown on any plan of subdivision of land situate in the Township of Teck more than one building, and then only upon application to and receiving from the fire chief a permit to do so, which will be on a form provided by the fire chief.

"Provided, however, that the owner of a property may erect on any lot a garage suitable for the storage of one or two cars, and provided further that the owner of a corner lot may erect two buildings thereon, providing both buildings face the street line."
