Overcoat and Cap Taken from the Turkey Stag
 “There were only two casualties at the Turkey Stag this year,” Manager Laprairie told The Advance this week. He went on to explain that a cap and an overcoat had been taken from the hall the night of the stag. Although the Turkey Stag does not take any responsibility for articles lost from the hall, “Lap” was just as annoyed about the loss of the overcoat as if it were going to cost him money, and that in addition he was Scotch. It was a good overcoat, and he could not understand how it could have been taken by mistake as there was no coat left in its place. The cap lost was not so serious a matter, and may have been a mistake. “If the fellow who took that overcoat from the Turkey Stag, either deliberately or by mistake, does not return it to Canadian Industries, 11 Fourth Avenue, within 48 hours immediate steps will be taken to secure the overcoat and the punishment of the man taking the coat,” Manager Laprairie says.

Attention is called to the fact that the Robert Simpson Company, Limited, are offering the “Serenader” Super-heterodyne Twin Speaker Radio at $69.00. In the advertisement elsewhere in this issue it is given at $79.00, but $69.00 is the price at which it is being sold by the Robt. Simpson Co. The notification of the reduced price was received too late to make the change in the advertisement, but the correction is noted herewith.
