Porcupine Miners' Quartette Return

Had a Wonderful Time in New York City. Enthusiastic About Kindness Shown Them. Made a Big Hit in Gotham.

The Porcupine Miners' Quartette—E. R. Street, first tenor; S. Hour, second tenor; W. S. Johns, first bass; A. W. Snow, second bass—returned on Sunday from their visit to New York, where they went at the invitation of M. C. Brush, president of the American International Corporation. Mr. Brush heard the quartette some weeks ago when the party of American mining and financial men visited the Porcupine. He was so pleased with the novelty of these miners singing attractive songs in miners' costume that he secured their services as an entertainment feature for the annual convention dinner of the American Institute of Mining Engineers at the Commodore Hotel, New York. The quartette went to New York under the management of A. Laprarie. On arrival at New York they had some difficulty in locating the Commodore hotel, though it is just across from the station. They received a lot of publicity from the fact that the New York Journal published a front page story saying they were taken for a ride in a taxi, the driver going round a couple of blocks and returning them to within a few feet of where he took them up, but right in front of the Commodore hotel. W. S. Johns says the story was true enough in effect. They turned the wrong way to see the hotel and hailed the taxi. The driver asked 65c fare from them for the ride and Stan gave him a Canadian dollar bill and said for the taxi man to keep the change. The story reached the newspapers and the boys had much publicity before they arrived to sing at the convention event. The taxi story, Stan says, was not as good as their experience with an automatic telephone through which they tried to reach the hotel. They did not note that they should dial the number wanted after dropping the nickel in the slot. Instead they put in the coin, lifted the receiver and waited for central to answer. Of course, the coin was returned to them in the receptacle on the machine for that purpose. When the nickel came back in this way, Stan suggested using a dime. Alf did so, but the dime came back. "Try a quarter, Alf," said Stan. But Alf wouldn't. He was afraid it might stick in the machine. The four Cornishmen, however, made a hit at the dinner by singing this song, made up for the occasion—
"We were riding in a taxi when we came. We were riding in a taxi when we came. We were riding in a taxi when we came. We were riding in a taxi when we came. Oh, he charged a dollar when we came. Oh, he charged a dollar when we came. But the dollar we gave in Was only a Canadian. So he didn't charge a dollar when we came. That song just brought down the house. Other songs given included "Boys from Porcupine," "Cebait," "Alouette," and Cornish favourites. They also gave a fifteen-minute programme over radio station WMCA, this being very well received.

While in New York the boys met Bill Thomas, formerly of Penzance, Cornwall, but now in high position in New York. He gave the boys a happy time and invited them back this summer as his guests.

The quartette greatly appreciated the kindly hospitality shown them by all in New York, especially Mr. Brush, who was particularly kind. They signed Mr. Brush's famous guest book, their autographs being added to such other famous ones as Vanderbilt, Amelia Earhart, Lord Birkenhead, John Jacob Astor, and many others. Mr. Brush has a collection of elephants he showed the boys, though Stan says there was not a pink one in the lot. They are toy elephants, some of them very small. Mr. Brush used to carry a little elephant as a lucky charm when he was a railroad employee years ago. His friends in the hope of getting his goat kept sending him these tiny elephants. He thanked them and took each one as it came along. Now he has 3300—the largest collection of its kind in the world.

Relief Cases Before the Township Council

Tisdale Council Holds Regular Session. Death of Mrs. Kinsman's Mother. J. H. Stovel Recovering. Other South Porcupine and Dome News.

South Porcupine, Feb. 28th, 1933. Special to The Advance.
The people of this part of the camp sympathize very sincerely with Councillor J. A. Hawkins, of Schumacher, in the sad bereavement caused by the death of his daughter, Mrs. King. Messrs. Gingras and Smith are leaving this week for their home in Stratford.

Mrs. James McCrea entertained a few friends on Monday for her mother Mrs. C. W. Dowsett. She was assisted at the tea table by Mrs. Hall, of Brampton, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. N. H. Russell, also by Mrs. Urquhart, of Schumacher, and Miss Betty Dowsett.

Friends through the camp will be pleased to know that Mr. J. H. Stovel, of the Dome, who was operated on at the Porcupine Presbyterian hospital for appendicitis last week is improving very satisfactorily.

Mary Curtis, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Curtis, of the Dome, is also a patient at the hospital and is doing well, after her operation.

Mrs. J. V. Stone, of the Dome, entertained with six tables of bridge last week as a benefit for Kitchener Rebekah Lodge. Mrs. Hilma Robertson won first prize for ladies and Mrs. H. Blood second. Mr. A. Carlson and Mr. Douglas Letterman carried off the men's honours. A delectable lunch was served after the games.

Sincere sympathy is being expressed throughout the camp for Mrs. (Dr.) J. D. Kinsman in the loss of her mother, Mrs. McNeill, accompanied by her mother and her father who is secretary of the Chartered Trust and Executor Company and also general secretary of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, were on their way to the skating carnival being held at the Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, on Thursday night last. She collapsed on Carleton street near the arena and died before a doctor could be summoned. Death was attributed to heart trouble and Dr. Julian Loudon, coroner, who was summoned, decided no inquest would be necessary. The late Mrs. McNeill made many friends here while visiting Mrs. Kinsman at the Dome. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Kinsman, and Miss Helen McNeill of New York. The funeral took place on Monday to Mount Pleasant cemetery. Scores of floral tributes banked the casket. The service was conducted by Rev. J. Wasson at Calvin Presbyterian Church where Mrs. McNeill had been an active worker. The pallbearers were John Gibson, W. S. Morden, W. H. Mitchell, F. C. Doran, John Wilson, and A. Q. C. O'Brien.

Tisdale township council met in their chambers on Monday evening for a regular meeting with the reeve and Councillors Kerr and Cook present. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and adopted. The minutes of a special meeting held on February 16th were not accepted by one of the councillors (Councillor Kerr) so will have to be read again at the next regular meeting. At this meeting the treasurer, Mr. F. C. Evans and the tax collector, Mr. Maxwell Smith were bonded so as to enable them to go on with their work for the coming year as usual, and the disposal of the tallies from the McIntyre mill into one of the lobes to the amount of $553.82 and salaries of $712.50 for the half month were passed for payment. Chief McInnis reported a case in Schumacher which he had been asked to investigate as worthy of help and permission was given for the man to have his tonsils removed at the expense of the township. The fire chief's annual report was read concerning the work in Schumacher. Temporary equipment was recommended until something more permanent could be installed. There was a petition from Schumacher residents re pedlars who are not taxpayers but as the names did not include merchants of South Porcupine this could not be dealt with for the township as a whole. Unnecessary time was taken up over the discussion of an anonymous letter. It is usually municipal custom for the council to order such doubtful communications to be promptly relegated to the waste basket. The consideration of the fire hall requests was decided to be let ride till the next meeting. Councillor Kerr suggested that as some of the dairymen were present they might like to know at what time the special meeting could be arranged to discuss the problem of pasteurization. One of the dairymen voiced his opinion that it would be much more satisfactory to him to have this meeting soon. The reeve stated that it could be left over for the present. Two councillors were not there, she said. After that matter was let ride a motion for adjournment was made but it was called to the reeve's attention that there might be some present who wished to consult council and the opportunity to do so had not been given. A man was present re an old man to whom his son-in-law here offered a home and board but who would not stay there and wanted the township to keep him. Council decided it would be cheaper to pay his fare to Sudbury where he had other relatives. The same man also asked for a larger relief dole to be given to some of the unemployed of foreign birth. He was told that the amount he was now getting was what the market had stated would be sufficient for him when he came to council first. Councillor Cook told him to have the man come there himself. Another man of foreign extraction made his appeal through John Wuori as interpreter. Clerk Evans explained that Government regulations required all men getting relief to register. It was not necessary for them to come to council about it. Each one could come to him

High School Talent in "A Pair of Sixes"

Timmins High and Vocational School Literary and Dramatic Society Score Notable Success in Bright Play Cleverly Presented.

The comedy, "A Pair of Sixes," presented at the Timmins High and Technical School on Thursday and Friday of last week by the school's literary and dramatic society, drew full houses at each presentation, and what is more the event and the presentations alike fully deserved the large attendance. In a word, the offering was a clever comedy with amusing lines and entertaining situations, and it was handled with notable effectiveness and talent by all taking part. A neat sum was netted from the feature, so in every way "A Pair of Sixes" may be set down as a very pleasing and complete success.

In introducing the play to the large houses attending each of the presentations, W. W. Tanner, principal of the Timmins High School, spoke of the pride the school felt in the outstanding success achieved by Mr. Broderick in the direction of the event and by the various members of the cast in carrying through the play with such distinctive talent. The event itself proved how appropriate and merited were these expressions of appreciation.

Special mention should be made of the scenic effects and stage settings. These would have done special credit to any professional company. There were two scenes shown, first the office of the Eureka Digestive Pill Co., and next the home of "Mrs. Nettleton." In both cases the stage settings were not only correct in detail but they were attractive and of superior quality. The curtain on the stage was also worthy of note, and there will be special interest in the fact that all these features were the work of the Technical School.

An extra special word is due to the school orchestra under the very able direction of G. Charlebois, of the school staff. The music by this orchestra delighted the audiences and was one of the many specially appreciated features of the event.

The comedy in three acts, "A Pair of Sixes," by Bruce Peple, is in itself a very entertaining play, and as presented by the cast last Thursday and Friday it left little to be desired. Each and every member of the cast took the part assigned with unusual effectiveness and carried it through in finished style. The cast was as follows:—
Geo. B. Nettleton and T. Boggs Johns, business partners, taken by Fordyce Scott and Gerald Killeen.
Krome, their bookkeeper, by William Sutherland.
Miss Sally Parker, their stenographer, by Laura Hawse.
T. J. Vanderholt, their lawyer, by William Kendall.
Tony, their salesman, by Henry Ostrasser.
Mr. Applegate, by Mr. Broderick.
Office boy, by Geo. McLean.
Shipping clerk, by William Tennyson.
Mrs. Geo. Nettleton, by Eva Monck.
Miss Florence Cole, by Katrine Morin.
Coddies, their maid, by Norma Taylor.

The plot of the play centered round the quarrels of two partners, former friends but stirred by jealousy at their own success. An absurd wager between them led to T. Boggs Johns having to act as butler for the other partner. Amusing situations naturally developed and there was opportunity for side-lights on character as well as the play of wit.

Fordyce Scott and Gerald Killeen treated two distinctive characters and carried through their parts with finished skill. Geo. McLean, as the office boy, made a big hit, and deserves special mention in view of the fact that on account of the illness of Gerald Scully who was originally cast for the part, George had to take over the character with practically little opportunity for rehearsal or practice. The stenographer's part was given importance by the able way in which Miss Hawse carried it through. William Kendall as the lawyer, Henry Ostrasser as the salesman, William Sutherland as bookkeeper, Wm. Tennyson as shipping clerk, and Mr. Broderick as Mr. Applegate, all carried through their parts with notable success. Messes Scott and Killeen in their leading parts were certainly well supported by the rest of the cast. Special mention should be made of the ladies in the cast, whose parts were specially well taken. Katrine Morin made the part of the fiancée of T. Boggs Johns an important and pleasing one. Eva Monck as Mrs. Geo. Nettleton was very effective. The scene in which Mrs. Nettleton displays hysterics was particularly good. Norma Taylor, as Coddies, the maid, contributed a material part to the success of the play, her scenes with the butler being especially effective. Gerald Killeen gave the right emphasis to the butler's part. Fordyce Scott had studied his role to notable effect and the result was an unusually well-balanced presentation of the character. All in all the play was a complete success and all concerned are to be congratulated on a very creditable presentation.

Another L. O. B. A. Dance on Friday Next Week, March 10
Dances and other events under the auspices of the L. O. B. A. are proving very pleasant and successful events. This week announcement is made of a dance under the auspices of the L. O. B. A. to be held in the I. O. O. F. hall on Friday evening of next week, March 10th. Refreshments will be from 10 to 2. Refreshments will be served. There will be the best of happy music by the Merry-makers' orchestra.

first and then if he couldn't get it or if the appellant felt the amount was not enough then it was time enough to come to council. The man was told to go to the clerk's office to-morrow. The meeting then put through the adjournment motion formerly proposed.
