Old-Timer Explodes
Caps in His Mouth

Well-Known Prospector of the Haileybury District Meets Death in Peculiar Fashion. Had Been Ill with Rheumatism.

The story of an unusual method of taking one's own life comes from Haileybury this week in reference to the death of an old-time prospector there. Despatches this week from Haileybury say that no motive for suicide beyond evidence that he had complained of rheumatic pains, was advanced at an inquest held at Haileybury on Monday afternoon into the death of Peter Nelson, familiar figure in this district and well-known prospector, who, according to Coroner Dr. W. C. Arnold's jury, was the victim of an explosion of two detonator caps, "caused by himself."

Nelson, who had shared with James Brown a cabin at the Dickson Creek mine, two miles north of Haileybury was found dead on the floor Saturday afternoon by a neighbour, Jack Childs. His head had been shattered from the effects of an explosion, apparently when he had touched off a dry cell battery connected to caps placed in his mouth. Three similar detonators were found in his clothing later by Provincial Constable John Pretorius.

The jury learned Nelson had not been at the cabin since Tuesday night, which he spent there, and that he had been seen at different times in the early hours of Saturday morning walking along the main road in the direction of the property by Chief of Police McGillivray and Clarence Thorpe.

Childs, seeing no sign of activity about the place and noticing one set of tracks leading to the door, went to investigate in the afternoon and found Nelson dead. Nelson spent part of Friday night at a local hotel, the proprietor, Leo Beaudry, said.

Brown and Michael Brennan, with whom Nelson had been on Friday evening, both testified to him having spoken of his ailment, and his nephew, Charles Wall, Cobalt, said his uncle had never been sick, to his knowledge, but had suffered from rheumatism in one foot, which had been badly cut. Constable Pretorius found nine dollars in cash and a letter from a nephew in St. Paul, Minn., in the man's clothing. Nelson, 46 and unmarried, was Swedish by birth but had lived in the North since 1908.

Dublin Weekly Irish Times:—The future is obscure, and only two things can be predicted with any confidence. One is that the Irish Free State's new parliament will not fulfil its statutory period of five years. Even if his difficult alliance with the Labour party remains intact, Mr. de Valera's economic policy, long before five years have ended, must produce an economic crisis of the first order. The other certain thing is that the process of public education, which Mr. de Valera forestalled so cleverly by his sudden appeal to the electors, will make rapid progress in the coming months.

Police Clear up Recent Burglaries in Timmins

In recent times Timmins has escaped from the general epidemic of burglaries and breakings that seem to be visiting several parts of the country. Whether this is due to the vigilance of the police or the natural honesty of the people of the town and district may be left open to argument, but whatever the reason Timmins has escaped pretty well in this respect during the past year or two. However, the fact remains that even here there is the occasional burglary. During the past few weeks there have been two or three. There seems to be a tendency on the part of some to exaggerate these burglaries both as to number and extent. This was proven at the beginning of this year when the annual report of Chief of Police H. Jones showed the comparatively small number of burglaries and the relatively small amount of loss from the same. Recent burglaries included the entry into the Canada Packer's warehouse and the burglarizing of the Shankman store. In neither case did the loss run to $50.00. Better still, the police have been able to clear up both crimes. The good work done by members of the Timmins force last week resulted in the culprits being apprehended and those charged with the burglaries pleaded guilty and admitted the extent of their offence in each case. No doubt the fact that the police keep the burglaries cleared up helps to discourage this form of crime. Also, the plan of Chief Jones to prosecute those purchasing goods that prices and circumstances would indicate are not honestly offered for sale by those likely to be largely in possession of them should also help to discourage burglaries by making the disposition of stolen goods more difficult.

The extension of the T. & N. O. to Moosonee is making this prospecting activity possible in the far North. Without the airplanes, however, it would be greatly handicapped. It will be noted that the mention of a thousand miles north is made without undue excitement, though this is some distance in any country. However, with the use of aeroplanes a thousand miles is soon negotiated, and so between the new railway and the airships it may be said that prospecting in the far north now is made both possible and practical.

Montreal Gazette:—Communists held a parade in New York on Saturday as a protest against the inauguration of President Roosevelt. The demonstration is proof of their twisted mentality. Mr. Roosevelt was chosen at the polls by millions upon millions of voters, in direct contrast to the poor support given the Communist candidate for the high office, who was down at the bottom of the list. Do the "Reds" really think that a very small minority of the people should force the tremendous majority to knuckle down to them. The United States public thinks otherwise.

Ladies' Auxiliary Hold
Another Successful Event

The whist drive and dance held under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion on Monday evening in the Oddfellows' hall can be added to the many successful events of this organization. Despite the very stormy weather a very good attendance was on hand. The winners for the cards were as follows:—Ladies—1st, Mrs. A. Roberts; 2nd, Mrs. Pedley; 3rd, Mrs. Schebest. Gentlemen—1st, Mrs. Bound; 2nd, Mr. Price; 3rd, Mrs. Cowan. The prizes were very good and useful articles. After the cards the ladies served an attractive luncheon which was much enjoyed. Dancing was then in order. Round and square alike had the crowd up on their toes all the time. The event came to a close early Tuesday morning. All are looking forward to the next event under the same auspices.

Prospectors Start
from Moosonee Base

Several Parties Making End of T. & N. O. Their Headquarters. One Party Leaves for 1000 Miles North of Moosonee.

Last week the information was given out that a number of prospecting parties had gathered at Moosonee, the terminal of the T. & N. O. extension north of Cochrane, and that these prospecting parties would make Moosonee their base for operations in the wide area in the far north. It is understood that most of the prospectors hope to locate gold finds and most of them think they know just about where to go for this. Others, however, are after other mineral finds and also have ideas as to where to go. They certainly will not be cramped for room in the country north, east and west of Moosonee.

A despatch this week from Moosonee says that two of the four prospectors pushing into the James' Bay region in the interests of the Cyril Knight Exploration Co. have been delivered at their destination by plane together with provisions and equipment. The others are now gathering up their necessities preparatory to soaring to the same point. Two planes, manned by two pilots and two mechanics, are doing the transporting and a number of trips will have to be made before the explorers are thoroughly settled at their work.

It is unofficially reported that the mineral seekers are to look over the area in the Fort Smith region, on the Quebec coast of the Bay, and approximately 1,000 miles north of Moosonee. It is confidently expected that this venture will lead to other parties moving into the southerly sections of the newly-opened territory.

THE ABITIBI PAPER COMPANY

Bondholders of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company, Limited, are in receipt of a letter from Frederick G. Curry, secretary of the bondholders protective committee. The letter is accompanied by a report showing a consolidated balance sheet of the company as at September 10, 1932, the date of receivership, and a statement of surplus and profit and loss for the period from Jan. 1, 1932, to Sept. 10, 1932, as well as a statement comparing the balance sheet with the summary of assets and liabilities shown in the receiver's report which is on a different basis.

The consolidated statement shows operating profit for the period from January 1 to September 10, 1932, at $1,005,823, which compares with $5,199,946 reported for the full year 1931. Addition of other profits at $554,344 and income from investments at $100,000, left total income for the period under review at $1,660,167. Deduction of interest at $2,059,172; depreciation at $376,961, and investment reserve at $397,181, left deficit for the period of $1,572,147. Previous balance was brought forward at $57,031,648, leaving a profit and loss balance of $55,459,501. Net working capital as at September 10, 1932, is shown at $280,630, as compared with $10,106,413 shown in the report as at April 30, 1932.

Hardly had they penetrated the swamps when they met a bear. All turned tail and ran, leaving grandpap to his fate.

As they came panting into the yard they called "Oh, mammy, mammy, grandpap done got et up by a b'ar."

"Foolishment what yo' speaks children. Yo' grandpap done come in ten minutes ago wid de dogs!"

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT PLANS
PUTTING 250,000 TO WORK

President Roosevelt has recommended to Congress the creation of a "civilian conservation corps" to give jobs in the forests.

Again writing concisely, he addressed his fifth major proposal to the legislators with a promise of putting 250,000 men to work "by early summer," if given authority to proceed within two weeks.

The President also outlined suggestions for "grants to states for relief work" and a broad programme of public construction.

He asked establishment of the office of Federal Relief Administrator to direct the machinery for co-ordination of his relief plans.

He said he would soon submit to Congress recommendations to carry out the direct relief work and the public construction plan.

Funds are available for relief until May, he said, necessitating further appropriations before that time.

CREAM

And How to Save Money
When Buying It

Most people buy Table Cream for use in Coffee, etc., but we suggest that you try the following idea:

Buy a half pint of our Whipping Cream which tests 40 per cent Butterfat, which costs you 25c., and a half pint of our milk, which costs you 3c. Mix them together, and you will get a Table Cream testing from 20 to 22 per cent Butterfat, and it will have cost you only 14c a half pint, instead of paying 20c for a half pint of Table Cream testing 26 per cent Butterfat.

Our Whipping Cream can be diluted to any percentage, depending on the Test which you may require.
