Daughter's Pride in Active Father

"I feel in duty bound," writes Mrs. A. J. W., "to express my gratitude for the marvelous results my father has obtained from Kruschen Salts. They should really be called 'Miracles.' He is ninety-two years old, and is as fit as a fiddle. He can nip about, and run up and down stairs. His friends marvel why it is he is always alert, and never feels slack. He always tells them the reason, 'my regular daily dose of Kruschen Salts every morning.' We always recommend Kruschen Salts to all our friends. To my idea no family should be without it."—(Mrs.) A. J. W.

Most people grow old long before their time because they neglect one vital need of health—the need for internal cleanliness. Eventually they start the healthy Kruschen habit. Then they start getting rid every day of all waste matter from the system. New, healthy blood goes coursing through the veins. And almost immediately they feel their youth has returned; they feel young, energetic and happy. In a word, they've got that famous "Kruschen Feeling."

FREE TRIAL OFFER

If you have never tried Kruschen—try it now at our expense. We have distributed a great many special "GIANT" packages which make it easy for you to prove our claims for yourself. Ask your druggist for the new "GIANT" 75c package.

This consists of our regular 75c bottle together with a separate trial bottle—sufficient for about one week. Open the trial bottle first, put it to the test, and then, if not entirely convinced, the Kruschen does everything we claim it to do, the regular bottle is still as good as new. Take it back. Your druggist is authorized to return your 75c, immediately and without question. You have tried Kruschen free, at our expense. What could be fairer? Manufactured by E. ## Stock-Selling Very Carefully Explained

Technological Explanation of Milking a Cow Literally and Paragically. Who Fed the Cow. Much Bull About This.

Robert Quillan of the Fountain Inn Tribune, Fountain Inn, South Carolina, has written one of the cleverest skits on improper stock manipulation, putting his thoughts into the form of a parable. Those who have learned by correspondence courses from soap-box orators that the capitalistic system is all wrong will find further proof to their taste in this parable of Robert Quillan's. But the story by the Fountain Inn man goes deeper than that. It doesn't prove the laxity of the capitalistic system, but rather the fact that this system has been abused to the point of the ridiculous. It will be noted by those who read Mr. Quillan's story with open minds and active brains that the trouble below it all is a double selfishness. The men who milk the cow are certainly shown to be selfish in that they are not satisfied with a fair thing. It will be noticed, however, that the people who are later victimized fall into a trap made possible only by their own greed. If selfishness did not blind their eyes—if they, too, were not seeking something for nothing, they would not have been deceived into a deal from which they could not hope for a profit. The remedy for the method of cow-milking will be given by the red element as consisting of a policy of cow-killing and burning of stables. This was the policy followed in Russia with the result that nobody can secure milk except the favourites of the ruling class. In a word the red idea is to bring everybody down to the same level as those who have no cow at all. To those who look below the simple surface, it seems evident that the proper method is to regulate the means and methods of manipulating cows and milk. The Quillan parable should make particular appeal to the humour of the people of this North, because there have been so many outstanding examples here of the policy outlined. Some paper-mill companies will at once crowd into the memory, and the game has not been confined by any means of paper product companies. Here, however, is the Quillan article in full. It is headed:

A Fairy Story

Ten men who were financiers chipped in ten dollars each and bought a fine cow that gave 10 gallons of milk each day.

The milk was divided at night and each man received one gallon as his share.

Soon the neighbours far and near heard about the wonderful cow and said to one another, "Think of getting a whole gallon of milk every day. What a wonderful return on a ten-dollar investment. I wish I had a share in her."

When this talk was repeated to the 10 men they held a meeting and one of them said, "Let us give these people what they want. Our shares in the cow cost us $10 each, and we can sell other shares at the same price."

So they went to a printer and obtained 1,000 sheets of paper bearing the legend: "One share in the cow." Then they sold 500 of these shares at $10 each, which brought them $5,000 and divided the other 500 among themselves as their reward of being smart.

Each man of the 10 now had 51 shares, whereas in the beginning each had but one.

But one of the 10 began to worry. "Look here," he said, "Every fellow who bought a share in this cow will expect a gallon of milk tonight, and the cow gives only 10 gallons. When the milk is divided into 1,000 and ten parts these new shareholders won't get a spoonful. Shares will drop to nothing. We'd better unload while we can."

So the 10 men went out on the street to find investors and each of them sold 50 shares that had been awarded to him and thus they obtained a second $5,000 to divide among them.

But now night was drawing near and again one of the 10 began to worry.

"There will be a row at milking time," said he, "Hasten abroad and persuade each of the shareholders to sign a proxy, which is a joker authorizing you to cast as you think best the vote to which his share entitles him. Then return with the proxies and we shall do some voting."

At twilight the men met at the barn, and in their hands were 1,000 signed proxies to represent the absent shareholders. And the 10 were entitled to vote in their own right, for each still held his original share.

"Now," said the one who did the talking, "We must organize. This company needs a president, a treasurer and eight vice-presidents. That gives each of a job. And since there are 10 of us and the cow gives 10 gallons, it is moved and seconded that each of us receive a salary of one gallon of milk per day. All in favour say 'Aye.'"

The motion carried without a dissenting vote.

And then they milked the cow.

Toronto Mail and Empire:—A despatch from Regina tells of a municipality called Harris which, instead of imposing taxes this year, will refund two mills to be paid out of other years' surpluses. We suspect this Harris must be some relation to the Mrs. Harris who was Mrs. Gamp's friend.

Only $2,000,000 May be Spent in the North

Maintenance Work Only to be Carried on Says, Hon. Wm. Finlayson. Apparently the North is to be "the Goat."

Although $3,000,000 is to be available for the work under the Northern Development Act, the actual appropriation for the year is considerably less than that, and $2,000,000 might suffice, Hon. William Finlayson Minister of Lands and Forests, told the Legislature at Toronto last week when the bill authorizing the amount was given second reading. The higher figure set is to take care of contingencies which might arise and it does not have to be all used, he said. Last year $5,000,000 was set aside, but because a drastic curtailment of expenditures of all departments is in order, only maintenance works are to be carried on in connection with Northern highways this year, he said.

At the end of the last fiscal year there was a balance in the fund of $915,000 but this has all been used up in the intervening period, and there is an overdraft, the Minister stated. "We have no money for new work, and there is not a single contract in Northern Ontario at present. We have had to lay off men all over the district. "It has been suggested that this is a sort of a personal cheque to the Minister, and that I can use it as I like. But I want to point out that every cheque, every work started and every account has to be authorized by an Order-in-Council. Many suggestions from the department have been turned down by the Council," Mr. Finlayson said.

Will Answer Questions

When the bill came up, Hon. Harry Nixon, Progressive Leader, asked if the Minister was going to reply to charges of maladministration of the work in the North which appeared in the press. Mr. Finlayson stated that he would answer them on another, and he hoped early occasion. "I have had them all checked up. Some of them are a rehash of old matters which have been cleared up long ago. I will be glad to discuss them later."

During the twenty-one years the work of Northern development had been carried on there had not been a single charge where it was proved that there has been any misuse of money, the Minister stated. "I do not say that some money had not been misapplied, but of the $60,000,000 spent in that time, no one has suggested that any of it was improperly spent."

No Crime in Camps

Mr. Finlayson dwelt at length on the work on the trans-Canada highway, and said that of the 35,000 men who had been in the Northern camps not a single crime had been committed. No city of this size could boast of a similar record, and it was a tribute to the type of men who made up the camps.

There were at present 12,000 men in the camps, who were getting $10 a month, and who were doing more per man than those who were obtaining a regular wage, he said. "I hope if we can keep the work going during the summer, that we will be able to open up the road from Pembroke to North Bay. Then one will be able to drive from here to North Bay and then east down the Ottawa River."

Second Reading Given

The bill sponsored by C. A. Robertson (Liberal, Huron North) to provide that debts could be extended for a longer period than six years without becoming outlawed, was given second reading and referred to the legal committee. It referred to simple contract debts. It was favoured by W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal House Leader, who said that it would not relieve any one of a debt, but that many such debts were between friends, and one did not wish to take action to collect it, but did not wish it to be outlawed.

A bill sponsored by T. P. Lancaster (Conservative, Peterboro' County) was also given second reading and referred to the Municipal Committee. It provided that all municipalities should publish in the press an abstract of their receipts and expenditures, so that the public might be acquainted with them. It was pointed out that the publishing of municipal annual statements was already being done and that both were not necessary.

A bill introduced by Hon. Charles McCrear, Minister of Mines, to transfer from the Minister of Mines the power he possesses in respect to municipal franchises to the Railway and Municipal Board, was also given second reading. An amendment to the Assessment Act, introduced by W. A. Baird (Conservative, High Park) to tighten up tax on incomes was also read a second time.

WORLD'S FARTHEST NORTH GOLF COURSE AN ODD ONE

(National Revenue Review)

What is probably the world's farthest north golf links is located at Chesterfield Inlet on the northern shore of Hudson's Bay. Also it might be called the most exclusive of all golf clubs, as it has a membership of only four, consisting of the Church of England missionary, the Roman Catholic missionary, the Hudson's Bay Company factor and his assistant. The membership fee, which entitles the payee to life membership, is ten polar bear teeth. The course is still in process of building, so far three holes being completed. They are 400 yards, 250 and 350 yards respectively in length, and are played three times in succession. Par for nine holes is 36. While the tundra moss was suitable for the fashioning of an excellent fairway, the construction of greens presented some difficulty as grass will not grow so far north. This problem was solved, however, by building the greens from hard packed beach sand of which there is an expanse of ten miles near the course. Four Eskimo boys, one for each member, form the regular roster of caddies.

Work to be Completed on the Haileybury Airport

"Authority has been received by Jos. Isherwood, in charge of the work on the Haileybury airport, to proceed with the completion of the project, even though the time extends beyond March 31st, the date normally set for cessation of works of this nature," says The Haileyburian last week. "This will enable him, Mr. Isherwood states, to finish the whole of the breakwater before the ice breaks up and will mean more employment in a season during which it has been all too scarce. The building of the airport has been responsible for a large amount of money paid in wages to men of this district, who have been able to get part-time employment during two winters. Airport itself is an important addition to public facilities in the North, providing safe and convenient harborage for the many aircraft visiting this and other points in the district."

Back to Land Plan Cheaper Than Dole

Method of Permanent Help Would Not Cost Ontario Municipalities as Much as the Present Ineffective Direct Relief.

It may be admitted that many thoughtful people have been in doubt as to the probability of success of the plan for settlement of a number of families on land in this North. One question that naturally arises so far as people intimately acquainted with this North are concerned is:—"What is the sense of spending money to establish new settlers on the land while hundreds here for years find it almost impossible to make a decent living?" There are hundreds of settlers in this North who are very close to starvation and defeat. Few settlers are so comfortably situated at present as to rouse any particular envy. For years past The Advance has urged a form of bounty for clearing land. Such a system is in force in Quebec and has worked with remarkable satisfaction. With roadwork cut off and with no particular market for pulpwood the settler in this section of the country faces a difficult situation.

The Ontario Government has had to spend considerable money on direct relief. A land bounty plan would have made the most of this expenditure unnecessary. It does seem to The Advance that the Government's first duty is to the old settlers. If they can be placed in position where they have a fair chance it does not seem either equitable or sensible that new settlers should be encouraged to start on new farms here.

At the same time in facing the facts as they appear, The Advance has felt that the back-to-the-land scheme deserves some support because it is not along the line of direct relief. It calls for work and effort on the part of those entering into the plan. To this extent it is of special value and benefit. It seems to The Advance that with a land-clearing bonus for the old-time settlers who have had so tough a struggle, there might be very general support of any plan to establish new settlers on the land. Several months ago The Advance referred to the possibility of certain weaknesses in the administration of the back-to-the-land programme. There certainly seemed to be too much red tape. Some of the suggested drawbacks registered against the back-to-the-land plan have been corrected. The plan now promises some measure of success, but it is difficult to escape the probability that after a couple of years on the homestead the new settlers, now so hopeful, may find themselves in no better position than the unfortunate who have been on the land in the North for several years past. The whole question seems to simmer down to this—that the land-clearing bonus appears to be the only method whereby this part of the North can hope to develop into any prosperous condition. A land-clearing bonus of generous type, together with a continuance of the back-to-the-land movement should mean a great deal, indeed, for the people of this area.

Last week The Advance referred to an address by Wm. Magladery in the Ontario House. Mr. Magladery last week gave out considerable valuable information to a committee of the House. What he said will be indicated by the following despatch sent out from Toronto last week. The despatch in question reads as follows:—

It is cheaper for a municipality to contribute $200 towards the cost of putting an unemployed man and his family back on the land in Northern Ontario than in maintaining the family on direct relief and yet many municipalities have proven decidedly reluctant to send the family north, the sub-committee on colonization of the Ontario Legislature was told on Thursday of last week by William Magladery, of the Colonization Department.

The sub-committee extended an invitation to all interested in the back-to-the-land movement to attend its next session, scheduled for March 29, and learn the "relief land settlement scheme" to give it its official title, was working out very satisfactorily.

210 Families Go North
The province, in co-operation with municipalities and the Federal Government, had sent 210 families north and not one had asked to be returned.

Under the scheme, all three governments contribute $200 each, and the total of $600 is used to establish a family in their home, keep them in supplies for nearly two years and make them virtually self-supporting.

Interesting sidelights were given by Mr. Magladery, who declared the Government was attempting to supply oxen instead of horses to the settlers and said the departments of Education and Agriculture were supplying the settlers with valuable correspondence courses in elementary education and agriculture.

Hon. Paul Poirson, minister without portfolio and chairman of the sub-committee, declared that in Essex County and the border cities numerous former residents of Northern Ontario were seeking to return to that district, but the board of supervisors and municipal councils were unwilling to donate the $200, although the men were on direct relief, because the Government had now assumed 100 per cent. of the relief costs.

North Bay Attitude

Charles R. Harrison, Cons., North Bay, agreed that the case in his district, where the council felt the $200 would not be spent in the city of North Bay and was thus reluctant to supply the funds.

The greatest necessity, Mr. Magladery said, was careful selection of the families to be sent north and proper supervision and the families were visited monthly in some cases, semi-monthly and weekly in others.

TRIBUTE TO CANADA FROM CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

(Christian Science Monitor.)
Canada looks back upon 1932 with pride. The nation retained world leadership in the export of wheat, printing paper, asbestos; was second in gold, platinum, cobalt; was third in wheat flour; fourth in automobiles and wood pulp; fifth in rubber tires. Canada winds up the year with a favorable trade balance of $50,000,000, contrasted with an unfavorable balance of $10,000,000 in 1931. There have been troubles, but they are being surmounted. Canada is a huge country, with only about 10,000,000 population—but the Canadians are an exceedingly hardy handful.

Cornwall Freeholder: In the sense of true sportsmanship Cornwall cannot hold a candle to Pembroke. Who has heard a Cornwall crowd applaud the scoring of a goal by a visiting player, particularly a winning goal, just because it was a wonderful play? Who ever heard Cornwall fans cheer a visiting team as it left the ice in possession of the championship? Such things are unheard of here. We need a little more of such sportsmanship in Cornwall and we hope that the example set by Pembroke will be followed here. The tendency to "razz" the opposing team, to "booh" the opposing players, is too prevalent in Cornwall.
