agitators but to carry on according to their own judgment and it is up to the powers that are concerned to see that there is no unseemly noise or interference with their work while they are in conclave. Two of the councillors were subjected to insulting remarks on Monday evening without any check being put on such conduct by the reeve. In fact she seemed to uphold the offender in his disturbance of the meeting and to encourage rather than discourage the noisy clamour of others present.

After the reading of the minutes the correspondence was read. Notice was given by Muskoka Sanitarium that one of the patients from Tisdale had been removed to the Ontario Hospital at Mimico. Dr. McLaren reported on an indigent Finn with chronic appendicitis. Mr. G. Helmer asked for the closing of certain streets on his property that are merely farm acreage now. As this affects no one but himself, there being no other owners of lots there, the clerk was authorized to take the necessary steps. Wages, salaries and expense accounts were passed for payment. Mr. Harris, of Schumacher, was present on behalf of the ratepayers' association and presented two of their resolutions, one sponsored by Messrs Offman and Anderson asking alternate meeting of council at South Porcupine and Schumacher and another sponsored by Messrs Kangrow and G. Henderson asking council re economy and efficiency programmes. Whether this was the outcome of the Schumacher scavenging work being given at last meeting to A. J. Holgovac, whose tender was one of the highest present but whose appointment the reeve staunchly requested, we cannot tell, but it was deemed just at the time as the new employee was a son of the former employee. An amusing incident of Mr. Harris' presentation of these resolutions was the fact that while he addressed council at the beginning of his presentation he turned his back on them and seemingly addressed the audience in his further remarks as if he were there speaking only to them and for their benefit. His problem was promised consideration.

An unseemly dumping ground in the vicinity of Gold Centre was reported by the reeve and investigation will be made.

Again a lack of bookkeeping methods was evinced when the way in which the police chief's salary was redistributed to be allotted to various accounts connected with it, was interpreted as being three salaries. The town clerk was also accused of receiving two salaries because part of his present salary has been covered by waterworks account and part of it by general account.

Mrs. Farrell asked re lane repairing between Bruce and Bloor; Mr. Catarolo re the condition of sidewalks in the central part of the town. Mrs. R. Diapole asked for the resignation of the township clerk. George Henderson's interpretation of the reeve's words "Are there anyone else that wanted to speak to council?" seemed to be that was his chance to do some mud-throwing at them. He first accused Councillor Hawkins of reducing his own taxes while sitting at the board. Then when Councillor Hawkins questioned it, he retracted it, and we had to erase it from our notes, and say that it was another man's taxes he reduced. Councillor Kerr was accused of getting $8 per meeting for an hour's work when he should be there four hours and general disorder prevailed for a while. A man from the Moneta extension asked for sidewalks.

Damage by Storm at South End and Dome

500 Windows Smashed at Dome. Power Off at South Porcupine. Much Damage Done by Hail Storm Friday. Other South Porcupine News

South Porcupine, May 22nd. Special to The Advance.

The I.O.O.F. lodge of South Porcupine marched to the Anglican church on Sunday evening last for their annual church service. The Ven. Archdeacon Woodall preached a very appropriate sermon for the occasion. There were quite a number of Rebekahs also in attendance.

Mr. Numella is able to be around again without crutches after his recent misfortune in breaking his leg by falling on the cement floor of his dairy barn.

Mr. Earle Hamilton arrived Tuesday evening from Victoria College, Toronto, for the summer.

Mr. Ted Gallagher, nephew of Messrs C. V. and J. Gallagher, who spent last summer in town here, was among those successfully passing S.F.S. examinations in Toronto.

Mr. G. Crookston, another who has spent his summers here, was also successful in getting his electrical engineer's degree.

Mrs. G. Heath motored up from Kirkland Lake on Friday and took Miss B. M. C. Shaw back with her for the weekend.

Word came to town on Sunday of the death at Halleybury Sanitarium of Miss Strain, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Strain, and daughter of the late Bert Strain and Mrs. Strain, now of Matheson. She was only in her seventeenth year. She was born in South Porcupine and spent her childhood here until the death of her father.

The hail storm of last Friday afternoon hit with particular fury around South Porcupine and the Dome. Many windows were broken and roofs torn to pieces besides the damage done to cars. It is said that over 500 windows were smashed by the hail at the Dome. In the half hour after the storm abated 200 panes of glass were issued at the warehouse and twenty crates of glass were ordered that night for repair work the next day. Mr. R. Hansen, caretaker of the dry, was badly injured when he fell while trying to adjust a window there during the storm and the glass fell on top of him. It was necessary to take him to the hospital.

At the Paymaster Consolidated the headframe at the old Heinz shaft on the West Dome section of the property was blown over. This is the headframe at the shaft where so many lost their lives in the fire of 1911, when the timbers of the shaft took fire. It was erected shortly after that tragedy. Roofs, windows and equipment were damaged badly on the Paymaster portion of the property. During the worst part of the storm the transformer house on the west end of Bloor avenue in South Porcupine took fire and all power in town was cut off. Fortunately the wind was blowing away from adjoining residences and the fire did not spread. The torrential rain that followed the hailstorm helped to quell the blaze. At W. D. Pearce's store and in some of the warehouses in town considerable damage was done by the overflow of water into the buildings. The wires of the Ontario Light and Power Company around town are hanging in rags, their insulation being stripped off by the storm. South Porcupine was without either lights or water from Friday afternoon until Saturday night. Lamps were hunted out, coal oil cans and water buckets were requisitioned while with characteristic adaptability the residents smiled and joked about their dilemma.

Kirkland Lake has recently been exercised over the question as to when a man is crazy. Eventually the police magistrate had to be appealed to. His decision will be regarded as final, and many not only in Kirkland Lake but elsewhere will have a sign of relief to be told that after all they are not as crazy as some other people may suggest.

What the magistrate held at Kirkland Lake was that just because a man does some odd thing like getting up in the middle of the night to play solitaire, it does not necessarily mean that he has bugs in his attic. Despatches last week from Kirkland Lake tell the story.

Two old-timers, well-known in and around Kirkland Lake where they have partnered and prospected for years, became, in the language of the North, "bush crazy." Anyway, one laid a charge against his partner of being insane and dangerous to be at large.

"Why do you think he is crazy?" asked Magistrate Atkinson, of Halleybury, who covers more territory in a year than most magistrates do in a lifetime.

"Well," said the complainant, "at night he gets up and starts to play solitaire."

"The two live in a shack on the outskirts of the town."

"Haven't you any other reason for laying this charge?" asked the magistrate.

"Yes," was the reply. "He reads cheap literature."

"What do you mean by cheap literature?"

"Oh, novels and books."

"And are those the only reasons?"

"Yes, those; and the fact that he's getting 'bushed'."

The magistrate dismissed the case and advised the two to try and get along. They walked from the court room, the accused telling the complainant, "you are the crazy one." The complainant was almost ready to admit it.

Bankers Advise Use of the Weekly Newspapers

Merchants who do not advertise are invited to read the following from the American Bankers Magazine, as it might give them a new slant on business—your own business—as well as the matter of building up your town.

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad, in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a 2-line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertiser. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business men."

Thinks Back-to-Land May be Successful

Correspondent Sure he Could Make a Success of Plan. Thinks Council Would Save Money by Giving Him a Chance.

Last week there was reference in The Advance to a gentleman appearing before the town council to seek the municipality's co-operation in getting him on a homestead under the Government's back-to-the-land plan. In reporting the council meeting The Advance said the gentleman seemed to be under a misapprehension as to how the plan worked, as he appeared to think he would have $600.00 cash to work with. In reference to this, The Advance has received the following letter:

Timmins, Ont., May 23rd, 1933

To the Editor of The Advance, Timmins.

Dear Sir:—I was reading in the paper about me being under a misapprehension. Please allow me to say that if you think that, then you yourself are labouring under a multitude of disarranged ideas. You see I belong to a family that does not go into anything with their eyes shut, so when I applied for land naturally I found out what there was to it. There are lots besides me that know that if the government give a thing away you have to work for it. And another thing when they do a thing there is mostly something in it. I mean, would they give four hundred dollars away if it was impossible? No, sir! They know and what's more I know that it can be a success. It's all very well for men to say that, for I know for a fact that some of them have been on farms for ten years and they cannot farm yet. Here is something:—I am willing to bet the shirt off my back that if the town will supply me with what I want with their part I can go out and stay out if I go. I am willing to bet that in six years I could come to Timmins and buy a car. That sounds like a fool. Well, my great granddad use to say, "You never know which is the fool till one of you dies." I myself have seen that proved. As for myself farming, well, a lot think they know something about it but they know nothing. That is the reason they went back. Now, me, I am different, I KNOW what has to be done. My eyes are not shut, you see. There is a lot more to farming than watching a crop grow. I could point out mistakes they make every day. I saw a farmer the other day come in to town. If I had asked him if he was making money and he had said "yes," I would have called him a fool, for I know that he does not make any. He had no less than four mistakes in his wagon. That is not farming. Look at this! He has to crop worth a 1,000 dollars; he goes to town and spends it through his mistakes. One thing any farmer must remember is that the little things count the most, in other words, "look after the pennies and the dollars can watch themselves."

I wonder how many men there are in this town would like to see me surprise the town council? I am willing to bet I can do it, even if the wages is two years' work at a dollar a day. A chap ought to have a chance to prove himself, if he knows as much as I.

Yours truly,
—A REAL FARMER.

One Industry Revived by the Present Depression

Believe it or not, but it took the depression to bring a dying industry back on its feet and start paying dividends.

Increased demand for oil lamp chimneys and lantern globes since hard times had been felt, resulted in the doubling of working forces at a Fort Smith, Arkansas glass company and huge increases in others. Glass products have been slumping since the "horse and buggy era."

An officer of one of the companies said the oil lamps are cheaper to operate than electric or gas lights. He also asserted the "back to the farm" movement had contributed to prosperity in the industry.

Disturbing Meeting of Tisdale Council

Regular Business of Tisdale Council Interrupted by Disorder in Hall. Schumacher Ratepayers Ask for Alternate Meetings of Council.

South Porcupine, Ont., May 23rd, 1933. Special to The Advance.

Tisdale township council met on Monday night with the reeve and all the councillors present. The disorder prevailing was a disgrace to the township. No council can confer intelligently on council matters with a continual whispering, as well as stamping, clapping and the hurling of irrelevant remarks at the councillors. If the reeve cannot, or will not, insist on the order which is required at such a meeting and give those sitting at the council board a proper chance to do the present business of the council without being subjected to the insolence of listeners, it is high time for provincial authorities to step in and see that the meetings are conducted according to municipal discipline. A council meeting is not an occasion for noisy approval or disapproval of what anyone sitting at the board does. It is not a political meeting but a business meeting of those who were elected to use their own judgment in the government of township affairs, and no sane member of the council is going to be a jack-in-the-box ready to jump according to the way some member of any certain element may wish to pull the strings. The councillors are not there to be made the subject of dictation from
