The engagement of a relief officer for Haileybury was decided upon by the town council after a long discussion over alleged frauds on the part of some persons who have been getting assistance from the municipality and the difficulties encountered in administering the relief by a committee of two voluntary workers and one member of the council.

It was suggested that if the council could secure the services of H. E. Blackwall, bailiff for the district, he would be a satisfactory man for the job, and it was agreed that he should be approached on the question.

Two Drunk in Charge of Cars Sentenced

Heavy Fine for Obtaining Board by Fraud. Obstructing Police Found to be Expensive. Other Cases at Court.

This week's police court showed fewer cases on the docket than during the previous few weeks, but what might be considered a lacking in numbers was somewhat made up in variety of charges. There were charges of obtaining board by fraud, assault, illegal possession of liquor, high-grading, common drunks, being drunk in charge of a car, obstructing the police, and so on. In all there were seventeen cases. One of the cases was withdrawn, four were dismissed, and two were remanded for a week.

Edmund Cyr and Arthur Foisey were charged with obtaining board by fraud. Cyr had stalled off a board bill on the excuse of having a cheque to cash, this cheque not being apparently in existence. Foisey said that he had been hired by Cyr to assist the latter in his work which was supposed to be that of secret service agent for the United States. Cyr admitted that he was to pay Foisey's board. Accordingly the charge against Foisey was dismissed, while Cyr was fined $100.00 and costs or three months. At the time of writing the fine has not been paid so the alternative of three months in jail will start at once, Cyr going down to Haileybury on Wednesday.

There were two assault cases before the court, one of them being withdrawn and the other one dismissed.

Laura Leroquo, 5 Kirby avenue, was charged with having liquor not obtained on her permit. A remand was granted in this case to allow opportunity for the securing of a witness said to be in Kirkland Lake.

A Dalpe, 51 Maple street, north, charged with high-grading, was again remanded for a week. At court this week the accused was represented by counsel and the case was remanded to allow full preparation for the hearing of the charge to proceed.

John Davidson, 14 Tisdale avenue, was charged with being drunk in charge of a car. On Saturday evening on the Hollinger road he crashed into two different cars. In the one case the driver of the other car was thrown through the windshield and had his nose broken as well as receiving minor bruises and cuts. A wheel was broken off Davidson's car and both the cars into which he crashed were more or less damaged. Davidson was sent down for thirty days with hard labour.

One charge of driving a car while under the influence of liquor was that against W. D. McLennan. This driver was also in an accident striking another

Penitentiary, requests for a Royal Commission of Inquiry have been made by some newspapers and individuals.

The position of the Government, it is understood, is that nothing has come out in all the discussion and controversy over the penitentiaries to warrant the further publicity and the unsettling of routine and discipline which might be expected to attend a public investigation.

It is pointed out that changes in the rules and regulations effected in recent months have given convicts more privileges than they enjoyed previously, and it is felt in official quarters that the situation may be left with Brig.-Gen. D. M. Ormond, the Superintendent of Penitentiaries, and his staff, in whom there is complete confidence.

"The belief is held very strongly that nothing but harm to the public can come of further exploitation of the alleged grievances of convicts and ex-convicts. Furthermore, it is argued, this is not the time for considering the broad question of crime and punishment and the reform of criminals.

In view of all these factors demands for a commission will be refused.

DEATH OF LITTLE DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. D. ALLAN

ARCADIA COMPANY RUNNING THE TRIPLEX GOLD MINES

The following paragraph is from the current issue of Loney's Mining Reports:—"As a result of the confirmation by shareholders of the Triplex Gold Mines, Limited, of the sale of their property in the South Porcupine district to Arcadia Gold Mines, Limited, the latter has taken title and at the present time is in physical possession of the property, according to A. M. Bilsky, general manager. Arcadia Gold Mines, Limited, holds a charter under the Ontario Companies Act, with a capitalization of 5,000,000 shares, and terms of purchase of Triplex include the exchange of one share of Arcadia for every two shares of Triplex outstanding. Furthermore, the Arcadia Company agreed to assume responsibility for Triplex obligations up to $80,000. The old Triplex property consists of 680 acres in Shaw, Carman and Langmuir townships, Porcupine district. The property has acknowledged ore possibilities, but active development has been retarded by a prolonged series of court actions extending over many years. Whether or not the fundamental difficulties which gave rise to the litigation have been retired by the recent deal remains to be seen."

Conditions in Canada Showing Improvement

An editorial in The Vankleek Hill Review last week says:—

"Despite the refusal of pessimists to see it, there has been a decided improvement in conditions in Canada during the past few months. The economic position of hundreds of thousands of Canada's workers has been bettered, and the improvement in their condition is bound to be reflected in better times for their neighbours.

"Of course, we have a long way to go yet before boom times will appear again. However, there is no use in throwing up the sponge just because we are not recovering from the depression fast enough to suit us. It took us three years to get to the bottom of this valley of depression, and many of us might do well to remember that uphill going is usually a little slower than sliding downhill on greased skids.

"The Bureau of Statistics' estimate that 200,000 persons have left the ranks of the unemployed in four months and become engaged in profitable work is the sort of news long awaited. Industrial returns on Aug. 1 show 104,000 hands added to payrolls across the country of firms representing 45 per cent. of the nation's business activities, and on this the estimate is based. The total number of industrial workers employed on the first of the month is placed at 804,219. The index number stood at 87.1, the average of 1926 being 100, which would indicate that some 924,000 persons were on the payrolls then. On Aug. 1, 1930, the index was 118.8, and the recorded number of employees 1,042,710, or 238,491 more than at present. Thus slightly less than 23 per cent. of the regular industrial workers would appear to be idle now. Or, to put it another way, employment would have to increase by about 20 per cent. to absorb the same number engaged three years ago."

HIGHWAY CAMPS SAID TO BE FILLED TO CAPACITY NOW

Reports from North Bay indicate that all the Trans-Canada highway camps in that section have a full complement of men. Last week there was an additional group of 120 workers recruited for the camps and sent out from North Bay to the Mattawa section. About 2800 men are employed in the highway camps. Of this number about 1400 are of Canadian and British origin, the balance being foreigners. The camps now give $10.00 per month and board to workers.

No Further Investigation of Penitentiaries Likely

Despatches from Ottawa indicate that there will be no investigation by royal commission into the conduct and administration of Canadian penitentiaries as recently proposed in some quarters. This seems to be the sensible and reasonable decision for the government to adopt and announce. There does not appear to be any real reason for any investigation or anxiety. Those in a position to know and whose word may be trusted do not join the demand in some quarters for an investigation.

Following the disorders of some months ago, and the subsequent trials of a number of rioters at Kingston car on Third avenue and not stopping. Someone around at the time of the accident noted the number of the car that did not stop and the police went out on a search for this particular car. They eventually found the car with the accused at the wheel. He was found to be under the influence of liquor and a charge was accordingly laid against him. Magistrate Atkinson sentenced him to ten days at Haileybury.

On Saturday evening the police paid a visit to 125 Hollinger Lane. As a result of the visit Moose Chartrand and his son, Morris Chartrand were taken in charge for alleged breach of the Liquor Control Act by illegally having liquor. There was a dance on at the house at the time of the police visit and it being Sunday morning the police required the discontinuance of the festivities on this account out of respect for the Sabbath regulations and the likelihood of those in the vicinity being disturbed by the proceedings. One of those present, Avila Bigras, Commercial avenue, persisted in playing the violin and otherwise interfering with the police in the discharge of their duties. As a result he was placed under arrest and on Tuesday faced a charge of obstructing the police. It was again made apparent that it is poor business to interfere with the police in the discharge of their public duties. Bigras was fined $25.00 and costs on the charge preferred against him. If the fine is not paid the alternative of thirty days in jail will have to be taken.
