Scholarships Won by Northern Pupils

Miss Harriet Harkness Wins Robt. Simpson Co. $100.00 Scholarship for Timmins H. & V. S., and $50.00 for Best in North. Some weeks ago The Advance referred to the scholarship won this year by Timmins High and Vocational School. These scholarships included one won by Miss Harriet Harkness and a scholarship won by Miss Audrey Bourne. Last week again The Advance had occasion to mention the scholarship won by Miss Harkness, as an additional $50.00 had been awarded her for highest standing in the list of candidates eligible for the Robt. Simpson Co. scholarship. Below will be found the official announcement of the winning of these scholarships as sent out from North Bay:—

Each year the Robert Simpson Company Limited, awards to Upper School candidates attending schools in Northern Ontario valuable scholarships. These are given to the students who obtain the highest standing on nine Upper School papers. One of the conditions of the scholarship is that the pupil must attend one of the faculties of the University of Toronto.

These scholarships are awarded to Upper School pupils in Northern Ontario as far west as Sudbury and any school in the vicinity of the T. & N. O. Railway. These scholarships are valued at $100.00 for each school, and an additional $50.00 is given to the candidate who obtains the highest standing of all the candidates who write for the scholarship. The winners this year are as follows:— Miss Harriet Harkness, who not only won the $100.00 scholarship for being the best student in the Timmins High School, but also the additional $50.00 for being the best Upper School student who wrote in Northern Ontario. On the nine papers written by Miss Harkness, she obtained seven first-class honours and two seconds.

Mr. Leslie Anderson, of New Liskeard High School, is the winner of the $100.00 scholarship from that school. He obtained two first-class honours, six seconds and one third. Mr. Scott White, of North Bay Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, is the winner of the $100.00 scholarship for North Bay. He obtained two first-class honours, four seconds, one third and two credits.

These scholarships have been maintained by the Robert Simpson Company Limited for the past eight years. It is very gratifying to teachers, pupils and school authorities to find the Robert Simpson Company taking such a keen interest in the educational affairs of this section of the province. These scholarships prove a wonderful incentive to students to do work, particularly during their last year in high school, which, to a very considerable degree, is the foundation of their university career.

LAW OFFICERS HAVE TO DO THEIR DUTY, REGARDLESS

The New Liskeard Speaker last week says:—"During the past week a number have been arrested for illegally shooting partridge, either before the season opened or on Sunday. Some have been rather severe on the officers who have been responsible for their run-in with the law. This is hardly the right attitude of mind with which to meet the circumstances. The officer is appointed to do his duty, and while he is also expected to use a considerable amount of "horse sense" in the discharge of that duty, those who violate the game laws are well aware of the consequences if they are caught while doing so. At the same time the officer who does not do his duty is himself liable to be prosecuted and fined as well as suspended from his position."

TIMMINS MAN MAY SUE TOWN OF HAILEYBURY FOR REFUND

Some months ago reference was made in The Advance to the case of R. Abraham, of Timmins, in connection with taxes in respect to a lot in Hailybury. At that time Mr. Abraham asked council to refund the taxes he had paid on this particular lot, as he claimed he did not own the lot and had paid the taxes on it through error. Mr. Abraham owned property in Hailybury and had duly paid taxes on the property he owned. His claim is that in addition to paying the taxes on the property he owned he had been assessed with another lot which he did not own but which he did not understand had been billed to him. The Hailybury council answered Mr. Abraham to the effect that he had accepted the assessment for some years and had duly paid the taxes on the lot in question. This particular lot had been assessed to Mr. R. Abraham for ten years and it was only last year that he had made any objection. As a sequel to Mr. Abraham's approach to the council it is understood now that he has instructed his solicitor to collect $428.70 from the municipality of Hailybury. In his statement of claim Mr. Abraham contends he never was the owner of the lot in dispute, but had paid the taxes until he discovered his error in this respect. On the other hand, the town of Hailybury asserts that the amount of money asked for now was received for taxes on behalf of the assessed owner and was duly credited against the taxes owing on the property. The municipality also pleads the Statute of Limitations in the mat-

Porcupine Lodge A.F. & A.M. to Observe Birthday

Personal invitations have been issued by Porcupine Lodge, A. F. & A. M., No. 506, to members of the Order and their ladies to be the guests of the lodge on Friday evening of this week in the Masonic hall, South Porcupine, on the occasion of the twenty-first anniversary of the lodge. The event is to commence at 8 p.m., and there will be bridge, euchre, lunch, and other entertainment.

Husband Working and the Wife and Family on Relief

Every so often there are peculiar cases arising in connection with people on relief. For instance, The Advance not long ago heard a woman pleading for her son who was in danger of a term in jail for driving a car while drunk. She said he was practically her sole support. Incidentally she mentioned that he was on relief. Yet the car he was driving was owned by the mother. A still more peculiar case came to light at Kirkland Lake some days ago when a woman on relief had her husband in court for non-support. She said that she could not see why she and her family of five children should have to struggle along on the small amount given for relief purposes, while her husband was working. The woman had been living in Kirkland Lake with her children, while the husband was working in Rouyn. When the relief officer refused to pay the rent for her on the grounds that her husband was an employed man, she had the husband brought to court, she said. The man, in his own defence, said he had only been working part time. He claimed that sometimes he worked for his board only. Magistrate Atkinson finally placed the man under a $250.00 bond to keep the peace and do his best to get his wife and family off relief.

New Liskeard's Experience with Gardens for Relief

We are told that the gardens furnished by the City of New York for the relief of the jobless brought a total yield valued at one million dollars, and partial relief to two hundred thousand persons. Thirty-eight thousand gardens were cropped, as compared with thirteen thousand three hundred and seventy last year; thus showing that the promoters of the "back to the garden" scheme were well-pleased with the experiment. In like manner, the New Liskeard council must have been well-pleased with the first try-out in giving citizens free use of garden land, because many more plots were taken this year than ever before; and the crops were excellent in some cases, and an average perhaps in all cases. However, it might be well for the council to ask Mr. Cook, B.S.A., for advice in regard to the kind of crop to grow for the reason that the same land must be cropped with potatoes every year, as is being done. Or, it might be well to let those who want to use town land to be given charge of it at once so that they may have it cultivated and fertilized during the present fall. Of course, this town land is for sale; and hence the council should not allow it to be impoverished by being cropped without receiving necessary cultivation and fertilization. Impoverished garden land is not in demand. So, it would be well to let it be known that those who would cultivate and crop town garden land next year should apply for it now and put it into proper condition for receiving the spring seed.

KIRKLAND LAKE CITIZEN BUYS $52,500 TECK BONDS

A citizen of Kirkland Lake, who does not wish his name given to the public, has recently purchased $52,500 worth of the bonds of the township of Teck. The bonds were bought at par. The bonds are part of the township's debentures issued for waterworks extensions and other improvements.

Queen Victoria Coin Was Among Change

Coin that may be Valuable Passed as Cent in Local Store. Has Been Carried on Watch Chain Apparently.

Reference has been made on several occasions to the odd coins and imitation coins passed on collection plates at hand concerts and other events. The merchants have an equally large assortment of oddities in this line passed across the counter and would have many more if they did not keep careful watch. Usually the coins thus passed are of lower value than the coins for which they are passed. In one recent local case, however, it was otherwise. Thus, Flynn recently had a coin passed over the counter as a cent and accepted as such at his store at 19 Kirby avenue. A boy gave in the coin as payment for candy. Mr. Flynn thinks, on examination, however, Mr. Flynn thinks the coin may be of much more value to the owner than to him and is willing to give the coin back if this is the case. The coin has apparently been carried on a watch chain for some years and consequently may be prized by the owner for sentimental reasons. If so, he may secure it back from Mr. Flynn by giving proof of his ownership. The coin is nearly a hundred years old, so it must have a history more than most coins in circulation. It was issued in 1837 to commemorate the coronation of Queen Victoria.

Kirkland Warns Jobless Against Flocking in There

Despatches last week from Kirkland Lake say that "No Help Wanted" signs are in evidence in Kirkland Lake as a warning to all out-of-town jobless. "There is no work for them here," explained Gerald D. O'Meara, reeve of the municipality, in discussing the employment situation. "This municipality is a one-industry centre and the gold mines in the Kirkland Lake area are employing all the help they require and there is consequently no demand for outside help. This municipality will not be responsible for the welfare of any jobless people who come here in the mistaken idea that there is work to be had for them." It is estimated at the present time that there are approximately 1,000 unemployed men in Kirkland Lake and its surrounding area.

Few Partridge Reported in the Shillington Area

A Timmins citizen who was out partridge hunting during the week-end says that the birds are scarce in the Shillington area though they were plentiful there last year. The reason for this condition, he thinks, is the fact that for some time before the open season was announced the shooting of partridge was carried on. "The guns have been going for a month or so past all through this section," this particular gentleman says. He shot only a couple of partridge. While out on his hunting trip, however, he managed to shoot a couple of good big rabbits, as well as a big hawk. Rabbits, he says, are comparatively plentiful this year. This gentleman saw no evidence of the presence now of any bears in the Shillington country. Not long ago he was farther south and saw evidence of the bears where stumps were plainly torn by bears seeking ants and grubs. There were no such signs on the stumps in the Shillington area.

Ansonville Man Lost in the Bush Near Shillington

W. J. Grummett, barrister, Ansonville, who has been recently lost to the Liberal party through his active adherence to the new C.C.F. political party, last week was lost in another way, almost as serious, being strayed in the bush near Shillington. He and two friends, Leo Regimball and R. Tremaine were out partridge hunting and had entered the swamp near Shillington. They became parted from each other and eventually Mr. Grummett realized that he was lost in bush. At nine o'clock in the evening Messrs Regimball and Tremaine started shooting so as to attract Mr. Grummett's attention and lead him to them. He had only a few cartridges left and was unable to make this plan successful. He eventually got a fire going but was tempted away from this in effort again to locate his two friends. He had to spend the night in the bush but when morning came he was able to make his way out. It was a bitter cold night with snow falling at times and Mr. Grummett suffered from the chill in the air and he was also pretty well tired out when it was all over. Otherwise, however, he is no worse for being lost in the material bush, and his old friends will wish him an equally successful return from the political bush into which he has strayed. Provincial Officers W. McCord and W. Noyes went out with search parties in effort to locate Mr. Grummett in the bush near Shillington.

Work, Not Relief, to be Government Aim

Hon. W. Finlayson Speaks of Building up Payrolls Instead of Pensions. Jobs, Even at Cost of Deficit, he Says.

Describing direct relief as "this unhappy system we have developed," Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests last week sounded the first note of a new government policy "which even at the cost of increasing our annual deficit by five or six millions" would gradually eliminate direct relief and substitute in its place jobs for all who needed them. Speaking to Ward Three Conservative Association, at Toronto the Minister of Lands and Forests frankly deplored the present system and declared that it was dangerous to the welfare of the people to give them food and shelter without receiving work in return. "The transfer of the 12 millions which the Ontario Government spends annually on indirect relief; the building up of payrolls instead of a "pension system" was the objective of the government, the minister declared.

Mr. Finlayson spoke of sinking revenues; of receiving insufficient revenue from the lumber industry to pay the cost of operating the provincial services instead of the five millions which accrued to the government in normal times. Liquor revenue and succession duties were away down and the government was confronted with thousands of citizens living in idleness, receiving food and shelter without giving labour in return. "We would rather build up payrolls than build up direct relief," said Mr. Finlayson amid applause. "Frankly I am very much alarmed at the situation in the United States. We in Canada are greatly affected by what goes on in that country. The N.R.A. experiment alarms me. To my mind, it is almost as difficult an experiment as the Russian one. The creation of artificial price levels is resulting from the N.R.A. methods and it is a question whether this artificial price level can be maintained or whether there will be a flop. "It affects us, in regard to our newspaper industry. In Canada we consume only a small portion of the newspaper we produce. Our biggest market is to the south. If, by reason of this artificial price level, producers in the United States demand that our product be kept off their market, we are liable to lose this great market for our newspaper. It is a serious problem and one which may become an international one."

The minister appealed for support of the Government's plan to create work instead of paying out millions in direct relief. It was dangerous to have people realize that they could have food and shelter without having to work for it. The old men and women would always have to be looked after without expectation of work in return, but the able-bodied men of the province should be paid for work.

"Even if our deficit amounts to five or six millions instead of one million, we should do it," asserted Mr. Finlayson amid applause. "We should let a man earn his money and spend it the way he wants to. This unhappy system we have developed destroys initiative and saps the morale. I am not speaking Tory politics to you. I am speaking of Canadian matters, affairs that affect us all. We are a Northern people, a hardy and adaptable people. Let us face this situation as we faced the situation when the war broke out. I ask for your support in our endeavour to give leadership in getting people back to jobs." The minister declared that one of the things that alarmed him was the gold boom in Northern Ontario. This was the one industry seemingly unaffected by economic conditions. "I would be sorry to see a gold boom this fall," he said. "A gradual building-up is far better than any sudden boom."

C.P.R. HELPS SOME OF ITS TENANTS IN CITY OF TORONTO

Helping out in the unemployment problem, the Canadian Pacific Railway recently allowed workless tenants of a block of dwelling houses in Toronto owned by the company, to catch up on their rent and earn a little cash by painting and renovating the houses. The work was done quickly and well to the mutual satisfaction of both parties.

Considerable Activity in the Matachewan District

Notable activity is reported from the Matachewan area. The Hollings is busy on the Young-Davidson claims. The Matachewan Consolidated is busy under the auspices of Ventures, Ltd. The activities at the Arbadie have been noted in these columns in recent issues. The Sudbury Mines is understood to have an extended programme under way. The O'Connell Gold Mines, adjoining the Matachewan Consolidated, is getting ready for a diamond drilling programme. There are ten men now preparing the surface for a diamond drill programme, while the buildings and equipment are also being put in shape for use to carry on work through the winter months. Trenching and blasting are being rushed to get as much surface work done as possible before the winter sets in.
