 council to arrange a meeting to meet the ratepayers to discuss municipal matters.
 "Why not have them come here?" asked Councillor Parsons, who added that they could get any information at any of the meetings of the council.
 Mr. Bartleman replied that they did not wish to intrude or take up the time of the council away from regular business. He thought an evening meeting preferable, as it would allow more people to be able to attend. "If you would prefer that the ratepayers come to a council meeting, it will be all right," he added. He proceeded to say that at a meeting of ratepayers on Thursday evening last it had been decided to ask the council to meet the ratepayers so as to give an account of their stewardship. He said it was quite an enthusiastic meeting. In answer to the question as to how many of them were ratepayers he said he did not know, but he thought they must all be ratepayers or they wouldn't have been there; they wouldn't have been interested. Mr. Bartleman said that Mr. Stewart had been appointed by the meeting on Thursday night to attend the meeting of the council and ask council to meet the ratepayers as suggested. Mr. Stewart had been unable to come and he was appearing for him.
 "Which Mr. Stewart?" asked the mayor. "Do you mean the candidate for the C.C.F.?"
 "Yes," replied Mr. Bartleman, but he seemed to think the question had no proper bearing on the matter.
 "I simply wanted to know which Mr. Stewart it was," said the mayor.
 Councillor Parsons pointed out that all information was available to the ratepayers. They were free to attend all the council meetings, and they could follow proceedings all through the year in the local paper.
 "Oh, if you don't wish to meet the ratepayers, all right," said Mr. Bartleman, who claimed that there was information that was not available otherwise to the ordinary ratepayer who had a right to know how municipal affairs stood.
 Mayor Drew replied that any information desired by any ratepayer would be gladly given and was available all the time. He pointed out, however, that some were given to jumping at conclusions and making wild statements about municipal matters and there seemed to be no advantage in giving them ammunition. The mayor also referred to the report of one meeting of the Ratepayers' Association where it was decided that members of the council should not be allowed to speak on questions before the association or to vote in the meetings.
 Mr. Bartleman said that reports in the papers should not be depended upon but that the meetings of the Ratepayers Association should be attended. He suggested that there was no such resolution though the matter had been discussed.
 Dr. Honey asked for particulars in regard to any such resolution affecting members of the council, but Mr. Bartleman could not say it had been passed, nor would he say positively it had not been passed. He knew it had been discussed, but he did not believe it had been made into a resolution and passed. He thought personally it was a proper stand and that members of council should not influence the Ratepayers' Association nor vote on questions that might later come before the council. "However, that is but a detail," he said.
 Mayor Drew:—"If such a resolution were passed it would be an insult to the council. It is not a detail." He added that for any self-elected body to refuse the councillors the rights of other citizens was certainly objectionable. He also referred to the fact that all the criticism of the Ratepayers' Association had been destructive and not constructive. He thought it would be dangerous to cater to a body like that.
 Mr. Bartleman denied that the Ratepayers' Association had shown any animosity to the council.
 Councillor Massie:—"Have you read your own paper in criticism of the council?"
 Mr. Bartleman said he was not connected with any paper and did not give information to any paper. He maintained that the Ratepayers' Association was not against the council. They wanted to help the council. There could be criticism without ill-will. He repeated several times that they should not take newspaper reports but should attend the Ratepayers' Association meetings and know for themselves what was discussed there.
 Councillor Parsons:—"We don't have to cater to a bunch of sore-heads."
 Councillor Parsons and Mr. Bartleman locked horns when the latter suggested that there was mis-statement of facts in a letter in The Advance last week. Councillor Parsons wanted the mis-statements pointed out. Mr. Bartleman claimed that the tax rate had never been discussed in the Ratepayers' Association and that they were not responsible for what any paper might say. "You ought to give your paper the right information," Councillor Parsons suggested, but Mr. Bartleman thought this was not his duty. He suggested again that too much attention was paid to what the news-

Meeting of Council Township of Tisdale

Reeve Reports Home for Unemployed in Need of Repairs. Council Passes Supplies for Unemployed. Young Man in Need of Medical Attention.

There were many matters of importance dealt with by the council of the township of Tisdale on Monday evening, at South Porcupine, with the reeve, Mrs. J. A. Thomas, in the chair and all councillors present.
 A letter was received from the District Children's Aid Society telling of the work being done for the children in the district, and asking for the usual grant of $250.00 to assist in carrying on the work. A motion was passed for the payment of this grant.
 Mrs. Thomas, the reeve, referred to low prices obtained on shirts, breeches and socks for the unemployed. A representative of the Workers' Co-operative was present with samples of the goods. Council felt that other merchants should have an opportunity to submit prices and samples also. Mr. Sky, who was present, said he could meet the prices and quality and will submit samples.
 The reeve said she had visited the home for the unemployed men in the township, and found it in bad need for some repairs. The amount of rent paid by the township is applied on the taxes on the property. It was decided to repair the building enough to make it habitable for the cold weather, and also to supply washtubs and boilers so the men may keep their clothes and themselves clean. It was also noted that some of the beds need mattresses.
 Councillors called attention to the fact that some wedding parties were an annoyance through the unnecessary and continued tooting of horns. Many citizens had complained and though there was no desire to interfere with reasonable joyousness on an occasion like a wedding, still the nerves of the people in general had to be considered, and this nuisance stopped.
 A young man and his mother asked council for help in securing medical help for the young man who had been injured on the head while at work at the mine some time ago. He was again feeling the effects of the injury and local doctors could not help him further. He could not get Workmen's Compensation or other help. F. C. Evans, clerk-treasurer, is to make enquiries as to what may be done through Workmen's Compensation or otherwise, as the council is anxious to help this young fellow.
 Permission was granted for a tag day to be held in the township in aid of the Stratford strikers. Thos. Ryan spoke to council in the matter, and council granted the permission without dissent.
 Mrs. Ireland spoke to council in regard to the drain brought before to attention of council. The council was in favour of adjusting the matter. Mrs. Ireland also objected to the regular water rates on her property as at the present time and under present conditions the cost seems more than the service warranted. It was explained to Mrs. Ireland that the rates were based on the number of rooms.
To Have Parish Hall At South Porcupine
 Anglican Young People at South Porcupine Plan to Meet Need, Rebekah Bridge Party This Week. Other South Porcupine Notes.
 South Porcupine, Ont., October 25th, 1933. Special to The Advance
 The Rebekah Lodge is opening its winter session of monthly card parties and social evenings with a bridge (only) party on Friday this week. Next in line we believe will be a euchre only, and then possibly a cribbage party or a whist drive. This will give all card-lovers a chance to play their favourite game with other experts, and we believe will meet with universal approval.
 In police court this week the case concerning the Chinaman on Golden avenue was given a preliminary hearing. The three men concerned were committed for trial at Cochrane.
 Mrs. James Hendry and son, Donald from Kirkland Lake were visiting Miss Bess Hendry this week.
 A number of Anglican ladies have been meeting weekly in the vestry of the church, sewing with the object of holding a sale to start a fund for a parish hall in town. All summer has seen them busy and last Wednesday at Mrs. Naish's store on Golden avenue a tea and sale of goods was held. This was a tremendous success and over $60.00 was raised for the fund. Great oaks from little acorns grow. A parish hall is a crying need to town as the young people have at present, no place but the church in which to hold their gatherings. This initial success will give them greater encouragement to go ahead.
 The Dome Extension Boys' Football team enjoyed two chicken dinners lately. Mrs. Wm. Thomas, assisted by Mrs. B. Curtis at the Dome Ex entertained them at her home, and Mr. Dick Mitchell also feted them. This was the reward of victory.
 We are sorry to report that Mrs. W. D. Pearce is suffering from a dislocated shoulder caused by a fall at her home this week.
 Mrs. Bean, of Iroquois Falls, was a visitor to the Rebekah Lodge on Friday.
 Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Orr and family were visitors in town this week from Widdfield.
 Mrs. Tindle, of Monteith, is spending the week with Mrs. Maxwell Smith.

 South Porcupine High School is having a dance for the pupils on Friday, October 27th.
 Mr. Fred Mason and bride returned to town from Burks Falls and will reside at Dome Ex.
 There are many in town who will sympathize with Mrs. Guy Lawson, of Smooth Rock Falls this week, in the loss of her husband, known to many as "Scotty" Lawson. He was mayor of Smooth Rock for years, and greatly respected in the North. Formerly an International football player (for Scotland), he was in charge of railway construction north of Cochrane before settling at Smooth Rock. He died in Toronto of pneumonia following an operation, at the age of 59 years, on Wednesday, October 15th.
 Mr. Jim. Gibson returned to town from Jacksonboro' this week.
 Mr. L. Perossini arrived with his bride this week, the wedding having taken place in Sudbury. The happy couple have taken up residence on Golden avenue.

ONLY A FEW MEN REFUSED WORK AFTER CLOTHES GIVEN

In response to the suggestion of the young man who appeared before the town council two weeks ago on behalf of some of the unemployed, the town recently saw to the outfitting of about thirty-three men who said they wanted to go to Iroquois Falls for bush work but did not have clothes to wear. After the men had been looked after, thirteen of them failed to turn up for work, but the other twenty were on the job and played the game fairly with the town. The thirteen who failed to play fair are cut off any further help or relief from the town. All the men concerned had been residents of the town for some time. In such cases as this where men fail to live up to their obligations it is easy to see how their poor sportsmanship hurts good fellows who may be in difficulties for a time. The town can not be expected to help men in the way of clothing or otherwise when they do not intend to accept work, and it is clear enough that it is such incidents as the one in this paragraph that makes the town reluctant to do anything in the way of any kind of special help.

CELLULOID COMB CAUSE OF SERIOUS BURNS TO BABY

A serious accident befell two children of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dionne, of Noelville, near Sudbury, some days ago. As a result of the peculiar accident the little seven-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dionne is likely to lose her life from the serious burns sustained. The baby's five-year-old brother was standing near the baby playing with a celluloid comb when the comb took fire and dropped on the baby's clothing. The child was seriously burned as a result. First aid was given at Noelville and the baby then taken to Sudbury hospital where hopes are not very high for its recovery. The trip from Noelville to Sudbury took six hours on account of the bad condition of the roads.
