

Even the food expert admits there's nothing better for the children

FOR down-right nourishing food, there's nothing finer for the children's breakfast than Red River Cereal. Even the food expert will admit that, and many doctors, too. It's nourishing! And healthful!

The medical profession recommends Red River Cereal because it combines nutritive properties—cracked wheat, rye, whole flax—with nature's mild regulators. Children love it. Just prove it for yourself by serving it to them tomorrow morning for breakfast.

Noranda Loses 3 to 1 at South Porcupine

South Porcupine Team Shows Specially Good Form and Put up Notable Game on Thursday Last.

South Porcupine, Ont., Jan. 16, 1934. Special to The Advance.

The Porkies took themselves in their game against Noranda on Thursday in the Arena here and headed the Copperkings a 3-1 defeat. If the Porkies continue at the same pace they should go far toward winning the N. O. H. A. group.

The ice was soft but the eagerness to win, the pep and vitality displayed by both teams, went far to compensate for the slow ice, and the spectators were treated to the best game seen here this season.

Right from the face-off Chevrier and Clark were called upon to stop shot after shot that looked like sure-fire winners. Only the spectacular net minding of these two goalies prevented the scoring from being higher.

Johns scored the first goal for the locals on a beautiful pass from Gagnon about half way through the first frame.

Proulx put the Porkies two up in the second also on a pass from Gagnon. Noranda came through a few seconds later to fool Chevrier and get their first counter: Rice and Pender sharing the honours. The period ended just as the goal was scored.

The third period consisted mostly of heaving the puck up and down the ice.

Both teams were doing it, the Porkies to clear their area and defend their one goal lead and Noranda to get the puck as quickly as possible into the opposing zone. With the ice soft and slushy it was almost impossible to carry the puck and this seemed the only possible thing to do. With five minutes to go Maki put the game on ice for the locals and Noranda, though they played like demons, were unable to score.

The alternate line of Gagnon, Johns and Proulx were the locals' best, with Chevrier unbeatable in goal.

Starring for Noranda were Crutchfield, McCann, Killoran and Clark. The game was capably handled by McKnight, of New Liskeard.

Porkies—Chevrier, goal; Dunn and Smith, defence; Huggins, Maki and Taylor forwards; Gagnon, Proulx, Johns, Montgomery, subs.

Noranda—Clark, goal; Cook and Killoran, defence; Pender, Genois, Rice, forwards; Binny, Crutchfield, McCann and Rainville, subs.

Penalties—Johns (1), Taylor (1), Dunn (2), Pender (1), Killoran (2), Cook (2), Smith (1).

"Three Nations" Property Again to be Operated

Word from South Porcupine this week is to the effect that Mr. McAuley, who has been operating for Consolidated Smelters for several years, has formed a new company in Quebec and is going to operate the old "Three Nations" Mine. He left for the South on Tuesday after staying in Timmins a few days.

South End Firemen Banquet Old-Timers

Second Annual Event Given to Honour Pioneers at South Porcupine. Delightful Time Enjoyed by All Present.

The second annual banquet to old-timers and pioneers of South Porcupine and district was held last week. The following is a report as given by "One of the Guests":

On Wednesday, Jan. 10th, the South Porcupine Firemen gave their second invitation supper to the old-timers and pioneers of the South Porcupine camp and their thoughtful generosity was not only unique in the annals of Northern Ontario but was deeply appreciated by the guests.

An address of welcome was given by the chief of the volunteer fire brigade (Maxwell Smith) and a blessing asked by Mr. John Mason.

The menu, which was prepared by Mr. Wm. Olton, of the Canusa Mine, was turkey with cranberry sauce and dressings, plum pudding, cakes, coffee, tea, fruit, sweetmeats, cigars, and cigarettes. The service was splendid and the firemen deserve praise for their persistent service, so much so, in fact, that there was only one lone turkey left, which was passed on by the fire chief to the hospital. The ladies of the town cooked the turkeys and Mr. Reg. Vaughan supplied smoking tobacco, but was not able to be present, though an old-timer himself, having taken all the Imperial Bank branch money in a boat on the lake in the 1911 fire.

"The King" was toasted by the fire chief, with musical honours in response and Reeve C. V. Gallagher toasted the Volunteer Fire Dept., congratulating them on their thoughtful gesture in inaugurating such an affair where old-timers could fight their old battles over again.

Mr. Maxwell Smith in responding gave the information to the company that if the volunteer fire brigade funds would permit, it was the wish of the brigade to make it an annual affair but they had to limit their invitation by the cash on hand. This year their funds were greatly augmented by the interest and attendance at the firemen's dance of their friends from Schumacher and Timmins.

The following old-timers were among those in attendance, and they ranged in ages from 55 to 84 years, with an average of 64 years—T. Strain, W. D. Pearce, S. McCormick, S. Kennedy, Geo. Smith, W. Walsh, F. Kavanagh, W. W. Wilson, P. O'Shea, R. Brinton, A. Mansfield, R. Hansen, G. McIntosh, J. Burns, T. Smith, W. Miller, A. Pearce, P. Brooks, J. Fell, T. Fortune, A. Grenz, J. Mason, H. Blood, A. Taylor, J. Costain, J. Alexander, P. LaPorte, A. Boivin, J. Mullen, P. Hennessy, H. Huot. There were several absentees, but a place was set for them and kept vacant with their names on cards at the place.

The fire chief explained that the invitations were given for the town of South Porcupine only, so many old-timers, it was regretted, were not included, but this year the Dome Mine had been included, and he hoped that from time to time other outlying districts would be brought in and all pioneers over 55 would gradually be included.

The chairman drew attention to three absentees this year who were present last year—Tim Marleau, Pious McDonald and Arthur Schram—who have mushed their last trail. (Joe LeGros has since died). The company stood in silence in honour of those who had passed on.

The fire chief in his address continued to give a resume of the fire turnouts for 1933, and congratulated his men on their splendid work, thanking them also for their loyalty to him. He referred to the prizes won last year at New Liskeard at the Temiskaming Firemen's tournament. The trophies from the tournament were in the hall and were inspected by the guests. The fire chief publicly thanked all the firemen for their notable work. He said that after all there was no reward for the good work they did and the risk they took but the good feeling of the citizens of the town. He asked the firemen to carry on, knowing that they were doing something for the community, and acting the part of good citizens.

A letter was read from Harry Wilson, former fire chief, in his own inimitable style. He is now at Windsor and sent best wishes to the firemen and all old-timers for the best of luck, and also expressed his regret at being unable to be present. A letter from Reg. Vaughan was also read, giving best wishes for the success and enjoyment of the occasion.

The firemen present in their snappy blue uniforms were—Fire Chief Max Smith; Deputy Fire Chief Geo. Starling; Harry Grewece, W. G. Skinner, Stan Pearce, W. Deacon, W. Farren, R. Mansfield, M. Cybulski, B. Tomchick, R. Armstrong, J. Burns, L. Smith, H. Montrose, T. Ryan, W. Larsen, J. Miller.

Then the dining tables were cleared away and floor space made for the festivities of the night, with Scotty Wilson presiding at the piano. The chairman called for volunteers. Arthur Mansfield rendered a song and dance, "Little Poke Bonnet." Allan Pearce followed with, "I am Getting Ready for my Mother-in-law." R. Brinton then sang "Out on the Deep," and W. D. Pearce followed with, "My Old Dutch," informing the company that he had been married just 40 years and would not trade his wife for any other. That Irishman, Steve McCormick, sang a witty song with many verses. The chairman, Max Smith, gave "The Trumpeter." Paddy O'Shea, with the "Battle of Inkerman," proved that he had a wonderful memory. "Loch Lomond" was rendered by the firemen in solo and chorus form, with an encore, "Silver Threads Among the Gold." That notable entertainer, Jimmy Alexander, recited "The Fire-

Given Merited Honour

son of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Blood, of South Porcupine, has been awarded a bronze medal and certificate from the Canadian Electrical Association, for the successful resuscitation of a fellow-worker on July 3rd, 1933. His fellow-worker fell twenty feet after being "shocked" and burned. B. V. Blood was given the honour by the association because he showed "presence of mind, and thorough knowledge of resuscitation, as evidenced by the manner in which he met the situation." "Borden is a local boy who has grown up in South Porcupine, and we are proud of him," writes the correspondent of The Advance at South Porcupine.

man's Wedding" and later "No. 5 College Street," the gathering feeling that he had missed his vocation when he did not follow elocutionary work as a career. Peter Brooks followed with a mouthorgan solo and dance. H. Costain gave "The Yukon Trail." Max Smith, Junior, (the youngest present) gave a splendid rendition of "Home, Sweet Home" on the mouthorgan, and for an encore a waltz tune.

John Costain gave a light-footed step dance, and Tom Smith a recitation and a ventriloquist sketch.

Steve McCormick, with "Cassidy's Wedding Party," caused roars of laughter.

R. Quesnell first sang "Allouette," and then, with Wm. Farrant, a cowboy song, "Ze Zippy."

Scotty Wilson sang a Porcupine song with two new verses composed specially for the occasion.

There was a song by T. Strain. The step dance competition between Len Smith and Harry Huot was won by the latter who carried off the hat. Speeches, thanking the firemen for the splendid evening, were made by John Fell, John Mason, Vesty Kennedy, J. McIntosh, and T. Strain.

Harry Grewece gave the song, "We are the Boys of the Bulldog Breed."

A great deal of merriment was caused by the musical chairs competitions, Messrs McCormick, Pearce and Alex Grant winning hat prizes, while A. Armstrong won for the firemen.

Dancing became general and about one o'clock the jovial party broke up after singing, "Auld Lang Syne," "O. Canada," and "God Save the King."

The firemen with their usual thoroughness, put their cars at the disposal of the guests, who were fetched and driven home. A special effort was made to even get Mr. Hansen there in his rocking chair, though he was suffering from the results of a broken hip, which has confined him to his home since May last, except when he was carried to the polls to vote at the last elections.

Author of Lessons on Art of Cooking

Anna Lee Scott, Noted Domestic Science Expert, Author of Course in Cooking Commencing in This Issue of The Advance.

In this issue of The Advance, on page 2 of the second section, will be found the first of the twelve lessons on the art of cooking, a course equal to the ordinary cooking college course. The many taking up the course will no doubt be interested in Miss Anna Lee Scott, who prepared the twelve lessons and the supplementary books. Accordingly a brief sketch of Miss Scott and her career are given below:

Who is Anna Lee Scott?

Anna Lee Scott was born in Toronto, and received her education in that city and in England. After graduating from the University of Toronto, she determined on journalism and domestic science as a joint career, and to that end, spent several years of intensive study of cookery and allied subjects at home and abroad.

Miss Scott began writing feature articles on domestic science for Canadian national magazines, working during the latter years of the war in close cooperation with the Canadian Food Controller in the interests of food conservation.

One of the pioneers of Canadian broadcasting, Anna Lee Scott became widely known as an authority and lecturer on domestic science. She has been heard for years over Eastern and Western radio stations, and on Eastern-Canada hook-ups.

Miss Scott is the author of many authoritative and widely read books on domestic science—a few of which are—Cooking Arts and Kitchen Management, Cake Making, When We Entertain, The Maple Leaf Housekeeper, What to Have for Dinner, The Easy Way Series, including The Easy Way Cake Book, Marketing and Meal Planning, and Planning the Party.

She is the director of the Canadian Cooking School and author of the 12 lessons in domestic science appearing each week in this newspaper.

Woman Sentenced to 3 Months or More

Chief H. Jones Successfully Carries Through Cases on Tuesday, Though After Resignation Accepted.

At police court on Tuesday of this week Chief H. Jones gave evidence and otherwise assisted in carrying through the town cases for the day though his resignation as chief of police had been accepted by the council on Saturday evening last at a special meeting.

Pelxina Delcourt, 155 Main avenue, was sentenced to not less than three months nor more than two years less one day on the charge of being an inmate of a disorderly house. The case had been adjourned for a couple of weeks. Another young woman similarly charged explained that her presence at the house when the police raided the place was due to accident. She said that she owned the property and lived in a small house at the rear and had simply dropped in with the purpose of collecting the rent and incidentally using the telephone. As the explanation accounted for her presence in the house the charge was withdrawn against her. These two cases were heard in closed court.

The case of reckless driving against R. Beissonault, following a recent accident, resulted in a fine of $50.00 and costs being imposed. The truck driven by Beissonault and a truck owned by the Workers' Co-operative collided on the Hollinger road recently, the driver of the Workers' Co-operative truck being injured so that he had to spend some time in the hospital.

The Commodore Restaurant was charged with employing female help after the hour permitted by the by-law. The case was adjourned to next week.

Valencia Larche, Wilson avenue, was charged with the theft of $17.00 and a pipe with an amber stem. The accused admitted taking $10.00 only of the money, and claimed that she did not see the pipe. She was given a term of not less than three months nor more than two years less one day.

On a charge of illegally having liquor James Webster, of no fixed abode, was fined $100.00 and costs or three months. He is taking the three months. He entered a store on Wilson avenue last Friday and it was found necessary to send for the police. When the police searched him they found a bottle of moonshine on him, not to mention what was in him.

A master and servant case was dismissed, as was also a charge of the theft of wood. The accused had been permitted to take wood from the yard of another man but had been ordered not to take any more. He kept on taking the wood and was accordingly brought into court. The magistrate told the complainant that he could take civil action to recover for the balance due him for the wood, part having already been paid. The case was then dismissed.

A charge of illegally having liquor was dismissed.

A case taking up considerable time was that charging the theft of a steer. The case was brought before magistrate by Provincial Constable E. F. Hartlieb. In this case a father and two sons, named Lejeunesse, from Drinkwater Pit, were charged with the theft of a steer. The animal had been driven into the bush and slaughtered. The three accused were given time to pay for the steer and they were also bonded for their future good conduct. The owner of the steer considered it worth $120.00 but the man who sold the steer to the recent owner put the figure at about one-third that value.
