They were called last week to Ottawa owing to the serious illness of their father, reaching the home before he passed away.

In referring to the death of Peter J. Burke, The Ottawa Journal on Monday of this week said:—
Peter J. Burke Widely Mourned

Many beautiful floral and spiritual offerings were received, among them being wreaths from the firm of Ahearn and Soper, officers and employees of Ottawa Electric Company, Ottawa Electric Inspection Department, Lines Department of Ottawa Electric Company, Canada Northern Power Corporation, Ltd., New Liskeard, Northern Ontario Power Corporation, of Timmins, Ont.; Lines Department of Ottawa Electric Railway, staff of No. 2 plant of Gattineau Power Company, staff of the Mines Department, United Delivery Company, of Ottawa, Dalhousie Social Club of No. 7 Fire Hall, as well as many offerings from individuals.

During his career, Mr. Burke was employed by the Ottawa Electric Company for more than half a century, and at the time of his retirement a short time ago was chief inspector of lines. He was a member of St. Patrick's parish for 50 years, took a keen interest in sport, and was a familiar figure at most events in the city. His death caused widespread regret.

Anniversary of the Kiwanis on Monday

Evening Meeting of Timmins Club for Kiwanis International, Ladies' Night, Interesting and Pleasing Programme.

The meeting of the Kiwanis Club on Monday was held in the evening at the Empire hotel and was a "Ladies Night." The special occasion was the anniversary of the establishment of Kiwanis, the event being observed by every Kiwanis Club in Canada and the United States. There was a large attendance and all found the programme for the evening a very interesting one.

Kiwanian A. W. Lang, acting president during the absence of the president and vice-president occupied the chair in his usual happy way. The singing of the National Anthem was followed by the singing of grace and then came a dinner that in menu and service alike was creditable to the Empire hotel. After some community singing there was the introduction of the visitors, R. E. Dye giving a special welcome to the ladies on behalf of the club. The introductory remarks of the acting president, A. W. Lang, were humorous and aptly turned, after Dr. Lee Honey spoke on "Anniversary Week," touching on the history and growth of Kiwanis and especially in regard to Timmins. There was special interest in Dr. Honey's reference to the first anniversary meeting of the Timmins Kiwanis held in the Masonic hall.

Jack Walker read the anniversary message of Joshua L. Johns, International President of Kiwanis. This message was as follows:—
"These are times of exceptional urgency and exceptional conditions, which demand courage and unity. We must all pull together in 1934, and by our co-operation, strive to put new spirit and new hope in all the people."

"Kiwanis clubs have proven themselves of great value in many communities. Many purely social clubs have proved themselves of little value."

"A Kiwanis club with an adequate quality membership, with an aggressive plan of activities outside the club, and activities of a social nature within, can prove itself of inestimable value to any community. An active club has a wide influence."

"Everyone, during these times, wants the most he can get for his money. No better investment can be found than in the spiritual values of life, and more intelligent, aggressive, and serviceable citizenship. All these may be found in a Kiwanis club. Here is a challenge."

"What the world needs to-day is new courage and unity, new leadership to carry on. Both are developed in Kiwanis clubs. Kiwanis is united to-day as never before. Its membership is catching the spirit of the times, and it's going places."

"No greater service could be rendered to the United States and Canada than the building of new Kiwanis clubs in communities where none exists at present, and bringing new members into established clubs. Your own community will benefit by your ambitions, and you will grow yourself, with these new duties. The vista of 1934 is before us."

"With new courage and joy, and united, let us go forth, resolved in our own mind, as God gives us new strength and enlightenment, to do our part, with kindness, faith, sincerity, and a loving heart."

An address by Reg. Smith, president of the Timmins Kiwanis Club in 1933, touching on the work of the club last year, was one of the special features of the evening. In giving a resume of the club's activities in 1933, the president for that year referred particularly to the Relief Fund campaign and the entertainment features presented by the club, such as "The Beauty Shop" and the boxing match given to aid the milk fund. Mr. Smith also made special mention of the good work of the several committees of the year, particularly mentioning the relief committee, the underprivileged child committee and the programme committee. In reference to the Kiwanis anniversary event, the speaker visualized the work of the Kiwanis since its organization in 1915. He pointed out the value of the club in building citizenship and emphasized the responsibility that each citizen had towards his town and nation. He mentioned the two sides of Kiwanis activity—the social side and the service activities. Each had their place in building friendships, helping the community and making life more worth while.
