Patrick Barry Dies at South Porcupine

Well-Known Old-Timer of the Camp Passes. Badly Wounded in the War, Suffered from Shrapnel Injuries.

Word from South Porcupine this week says that the whole community was deeply grieved on Tuesday morning to hear of the sudden death of Patrick Joseph Barry, a well-known figure in the life of South Porcupine and the Dome and also having many friends in Timmins and district.

Until a week ago he was one of the underground shift bosses at the Dome Mines. The late Mr. Barry was 34 years of age at the time of death. He served with the 105th Battalion Overseas he was transferred to the Second Machine Gun Corps. He enlisted at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island in 1915 and saw four years of service in France and Belgium. He was severely wounded at the base of the skull with fragments of shrapnel, portions of which were not removable owing to the extreme risk of operating. The presence of the shrapnel caused continuous severe headaches which seemed to increase in frequency and severity as time went on.

Recently he told friends that doctors had informed him that while the shrapnel could not be removed by surgical skill, the injury was liable to prove fatal at any time if the piece of shrapnel penetrated to the brain in a certain way while on the other hand the movement of the shrapnel might result in the loss of sanity. It is believed that the recurring headaches and the belief that he was faced with an inevitable fate of death or worse preyed on his mind and brought him to a mental state in which he ended his life. On Monday it seems that he purchased a phial of carbolic acid and took a room at the Maple Leaf hotel. The inmate of the adjoining room hearing strange sounds from Mr. Barry's room attempted to investigate but found the door locked and could get no answer from repeated calls and knocks. The Chinese proprietor of the hotel called in Constable W. Brooks, who looked through the transom and was convinced that the man was dead. Dr. McLaren was called in and the door being forced in the meantime it was found that Mr. Barry was dead. After enquiry into the circumstances the coroner decided that an inquest with a jury was not necessary, the facts being evident. The late Mr. Barry had been a member of the Canadian Legion and his fellow returned men were deeply grieved at his death. The late Mr. Barry was unmarried. His home was in Prince Edward Island though he had been in the Porcupine area for several years. A brother is the only near relative known to friends in this district.

The funeral took place on Wednesday of this week from S. T. Walker's undertaking parlour.

The relief office has been moved from the town hall to an office in the rear of the photographer shop on Pine street. The present relief office premises may be located by remembering that the place was used last December as the committee rooms for J. P. Bartleman, one of the candidates in the municipal election. The building is owned by Dr. Moore.

Another Long Session. Much Work Accomplished. Some Very Stirring Speeches and Interesting Discussions.

The adjourned meeting of the Legion was held on Sunday afternoon in the Oddfellows' hall. There was only a very average attendance, but this fact did not affect the amount of work transacted or the enthusiasm of the members.

President T. Parsons opened the meeting and called on the by-law committee to read these new rules. They had emerged from the storm the week previous like a boy all dressed in his Sunday best. After a little discussion they were given a final reading and adopted.

The sending of a grant to the Legion Campaign fund caused quite a lot of very interesting remarks. It was shown that to successfully hold this convention in March branches would have to assist in financing the event. Several members gave short addresses on the subject and it was eventually passed that the Timmins branch send a contribution, including the private donations contributed by the members.

It was unanimously passed that no delegate be sent to this convention, owing to the fact that with a building project in view and other causes, the funds would not allow at present of this expenditure.

Nominations for officers were then taken and this business is closed. A full list will be published in these columns.

After a three and half hour session the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

RUMMAGE SALE AUSPICES LADIES ST. MATTHEW'S CHURCH

Announcement is made of a rummage sale to be held in St. Matthew's church hall on Saturday, Jan. 27th, commencing at 9 a.m., under the auspices of the Ladies of St. Matthew's Church. This is sure to be an interesting and pleasing event and all should note the date and place.

RELIEF OFFICE MOVED TO REAR OF PINE STREET BLDG.

The relief office has been moved from the town hall to an office in the rear of the photographer shop on Pine street. The present relief office premises may be located by remembering that the place was used last December as the committee rooms for J. P. Bartleman, one of the candidates in the municipal election.
