Notable Comedy Drama
Two Nights, March 16-17

Last week two headings in The Advance were misplaced, one in regard to a dance being placed over the reference to the comedy drama to be given under the auspices of the C.W.L. on Friday and Saturday of this week. The dance is over but the notable comedy is still to come—Friday and Saturday of this week, March 16th and 17th. The reference in last week's issue is here repeated under the right heading—“Comedy Drama, Two Nights, March 16th and 17th.”

The comedy drama, in three acts, “Her Step-Husband,” is announced as to be given on two nights, Friday and Saturday, March 16th and 17th, in the basement of the Church of the Nativity, under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League. The event on each evening will commence at 8.15 p.m. “Her Step-Husband” is both interesting and amusing and will be enjoyed by all attending. The fact that the event is under the auspices of the C.W.L. is assurance that it will be good, as the C.W.L. although only recently organized in town, has enough successful events to its credit to prove that the ladies of this league know how to win success. “Her Step-Husband” is being presented under the direction of Rev. Fr. J. T. McManus and it will be remembered that Rev. Fr. McManus directed the event last fall. “The Absent-minded Bridegroom,” that proved so complete and enjoyable a success and won so much general favour and popularity. With an able and effective cast “Her Step-Husband” promises to eclipse the success of “The Absent-minded Bridegroom.”

Pasteurized Milk Has Special Value

Milk Accepted for Food Value, but There is Danger of Disease in Milk Not Pasteurized.

As noted in The Advance some weeks ago the Canadian Social Hygiene Council is carrying on a special campaign to have the pasteurization of milk made compulsory throughout Ontario as a means of aiding in the safeguarding of the public health. Popular approval has been given in this immediate district to the pasteurization of milk but the question is one that is worthy of public attention at all times, so that regulations may be continued for a full supply of pure milk. Below will be found an interesting article by Dr. Gordon Bates, Toronto, well known here. Dr. Bates is the general director of the Canadian Social Hygiene Council. He writes as follows:—

Reference is constantly being made to the food value of cow's milk. Not only is it often used as a substitute for human milk in the feeding of infants, but it forms an essential part of the diet of young children. Its consumption by adults is further desirable, particularly by those who are below normal health, and it is considered by all as a necessary addition to tea, coffee, cereals and other commonly consumed foods. Its use in the production of butter and cheese needs no comment. It is easy to justify the claims made for its use. The milk solids in one quart contain more of the necessary ingredients in a well-balanced diet than an equivalent amount of any other food. Fats, carbohydrate and protein are present—all in a readily digestible form. Further, it is our best source of calcium and phosphorus; and certain vitamins, particularly vitamins A and B, are found in desirable quantities. It must be remembered however, that it is not a reliable source of vitamins C and D, and that while high in certain mineral salts, it is low in iron. Unlike most animal foods it is consumed uncooked.

Without minimizing its food value, one is forced to admit that milk can be the most potent disease producing medium that is commonly found on the list of human foods. For years the problem of endorsing its use without minimizing the hazard confronted all health workers. Today no such problem exists. Pasteurization properly carried out will render clean milk safe for human consumption, without affecting its food value. This statement is not open to criticism, despite the arguments advanced by the opponents of this measure. None of the essential ingredients in milk are adversely affected by the heating process. The destruction of vitamin C has been referred to but milk, whether raw or pasteurized, is not a reliable source of either vitamins C and D and never has been. Provision must be made for the addition of both of these to the diet of the child whether raw or pasteurized milk is used.

Miss Leona McNeil Wins the Popularity Contest

Miss Leona McNeil was the winner in the big popularity contest conducted by the Riverside Pavilion and ending last Friday. This popular young lady is to be commended on her efforts, as is also Jean McChesney who made the contest very close. Miss McNeil was leading the contest week after week and was slated to win by many some time ago.

At the pavilion last Friday a big dance was held and the prize of a $100 cheque in a frame was presented to Miss McNeil. She also received a lovely bouquet of flowers.

The prize was presented by Reeve Gallagher, of Tisdale, who in a short but interesting address mentioned the beauty of the pavilion and the fact that it was built on the banks of the Mattagami. He said “Mattagami” was the Indian word for “meeting place,” and that a better meeting place for young lovers was hard to find.

Miss McNeil was presented with the cheque and called upon to say a few words, but she was too excited to say much. She heartily thanked everyone who helped her to win, and she said, “Of course, I'm glad I won.”

The dancing continued till 2.30 to the beautiful strains of Jimmy McFadden's boys, the Club Royal orchestra. The crowd, although not the largest seen there, was large enough to fill the spacious dance floor.

The fact that the popularity contest was a hit with the general public was shown by the excitement that prevailed in the pavilion before the results were

On the last day of the contest was thinned down to eight contestants who had a chance to win. In the last few hours there was a battle between two contestants, Leona McNeil and Jean McChesney. During the final count the lead kept jumping from one to the other.

The final standing was:—Leona McNeil, 580,700; Jean McChesney, 374,400; Joan Wharton, 341,900; Della St. Jacques, 299,750; Gertrude Morin, 270,000; Gab Larcher, 244,000; Margaret Easton, 155,450; Mae Neveu, 108,450.
