Dominion Exhibit at Chicago Helps North

bury and Porcupine, by way of Matachewan. The letter file in regard to this one item alone was over an inch thick. Unemployed relief had been carefully studied from every angle. Efforts had been made with the purpose of securing lower freight and express rates. Representations to Geo. W. Lee in regard to the need for facilities for loading and unloading live stock at Timmins station had resulted in a promise from Mr. Lee that facilities would be provided this spring. The question of a proposed "Old Home Week" for Timmins had been considered, but the board after due enquiry had found that the board could not finance the proper plans, but could cooperate with others who might take up the idea. The Government had been pressed by the board of trade in 1933 to appoint a poultry promoter for this district. The excellent and useful directories of the town available were possible only through the work of the board of trade, Mr. Langdon said. The question of power costs had been another subject dealt with by the board of trade. Also effort had been persistently made to have a Government radio broadcast station established for the North. Mr. Langdon said it was the duty of all good citizens to be active members of the board of trade and to help with their time and money for the advantage of the town. Mr. Langdon had a list he suggested that all should sign—a list of those ready to be active members of the board of trade.

Speaking of his connection with board of trade matters in the North generally and in particular connection with the Northern Ontario Associated Boards of Trade, Mr. Langdon introduced the speaker of the evening, C. W. Wright, a past president of the Northern Ontario Associated Boards of Trade, and at present honorary president of that body, as a mark of appreciation for the service given the North Mr. Wright had been Government representative to the World's Fair at Chicago, Mr. Langdon pointed out, and so was particularly well equipped to deal with the subject he had chosen.

Mr. Wright was given a flattering reception, and he soon proved that he deserved it. After a humorous introduction he proceeded to show the value of the Canadian exhibit at the World's Fair at Chicago to the Dominion in general and the North in particular. Chicago, he said, was a marvelous city and a fitting place, in view of its own phenomenal growth, to stage a "Century of Progress" exposition. It was an appropriate name for this particular world's fair to call it a "Century of Progress." After a general description of the site and arrangement of the big fair at Chicago, Mr. Wright proceeded to touch on outstanding features of the exposition. The "Transparent Man," showing the human frame, vital organs, nerve system, blood system system, etc., Mr. Wright thought was one of the most outstanding features of the science building of the fair. Another item that specially interested him was the display of the two machines in which had been made the world's highest and lowest "up and down" record—the greatest height achieved in the air, and the lowest depths achieved below sea level. Another outstanding item in his opinion was the Firestone building, showing the manufacture of rubber tires from the raw rubber entering at one end of the building to the paper-wrapped tire at the other. Mr. Wright digressed for a moment to describe the Sally Rand dance affair. Then he speeded up again to refer to the Chevrolet car exhibit, one of the remarkable features of the fair. People watched the manufacture of the car to its final stages, twenty-four being finished each day, and the cars were sold as fast as they were produced, being driven away by the purchasers, who had watched their being made at each step in the progress through the building. The Chrysler testing ground and the dare-devil stunts with cars to show the solid character of their construction also came in for mention, while Mr. Wright also had a special word for the Plymouth cars.

Turning to the travel and transport building Mr. Wright said that in this building sounds would re-echo thirty-two times and the fair authorities had capitalized this fact, charging 10 cents to each person who wanted to hear his or her words thrown back to their thirty-two times. In the travel and transport building he was specially impressed with the Pullman Company's striking delineation of a century of progress, shown by the uncomfortable unsanitary and unsafe first car used as a pullman, and the present luxurious sleeping coach. Mr. Wright referred to the "Flying Scotsman" on exhibit at the fair, and the humorous passages between the Scottish and Canadian and United States engineers. Tractors controlled by radio were mentioned as among the marvels of this section of the fair. Another startling miracle was the Bell Telephone loud speaker, that distorted sounds in transit through the air so that no one could "listen-in" though the message was delivered correctly at the proper destination. The method of checking children so that adults could go unhampered through the fair, collecting their youngsters in exchange for their metal checks at the end of the day, was also noted by Mr. Wright. Mr. Wright made complimentary reference to the exhibits of the various states and foreign countries, but he thought the Dominion display was probably more illuminating and interesting than most of them. He noted that it would be necessary to walk 82 miles to see all the thousands of exhibits at the fair. Millions of people attended the Century of Progress and they came from all parts of the continent and beyond. They found the Canadian exhibit a remarkable education on the subject of Canada.

Part of the Canadian exhibit was the immense map of the Dominion, showing all sorts of details about the country. It was the largest map of its kind ever made, and it was lighted electrically and attracted great attention. Other features of the display were equally arresting. There was unusual interest in the four Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the fame of these men having touched the imagination of the people of the South. Mr. Wright gave several illustrations of humorous questions asked him at the fair. One lady, for example, enquired about the "Film Flam" mine. Another lady made reference, seriously, to the "rock with whiskers on," meaning the asbestos ore display. Two and a half million people saw the Canadian exhibit and Mr. Wright suggested the value of this in spreading the true story of Canada and its resources. Mr. Wright outlined what had been done to give information about Canada, and things Canadian, and especially about the great North. During his stay in Chicago he had not only answered innumerable questions, assisted in showing Canada's story of resources and possibilities, but also he had given lectures to 51 clubs, schools and other organizations. He had addressed 18 to 20 Kiwanis clubs alone. He had written talks for publication. He had given radio talks. In short he had used every means to put over the story of Canada and the part of Canada he knew the best in the North. In answering the questions asked, he had found that nearly always it was a matter chiefly of directing the serious enquirers to the particular place where they could secure the details needed. In this he emphasized that the proper channel for such information is the board of trade.

He urged that the town continue a live board of trade. There was no other body that could take its place and all should support in every way the board of trade for the advantage of the community. This thought he made the moral of his address.

A vote of thanks to the speaker for his inspiring and educational address was moved by G. A. Macdonald and very heartily endorsed by all present. After a word of thanks to the speaker and the Kiwanis Club from President Langdon, the meeting was taken again by Kiwanian Gillies who referred to the appreciation felt by all for the excellent address. G. H. Gauthier was called upon to reply to a humorous comparison made of lawyers and engineers which he did very briefly and very effectively.

The meeting closed with "O, Canada" and the National Anthem.

Scottish Musical Players Give Delightful Events

The Scottish Musical Players at the Goldfields theatre last night presented a wonderful entertainment. Unfortunately for many who thus missed a delightful dramatic and musical treat, the attendance was not nearly that it should have been. "Wonderful" is the description given by practically all attending the event last night. There should be a crowded house to-night for the presentation of "Tam o' Shanter" by these gifted artists.

W. Rinn Bereaved by Death of his Youngest Brother

W. Rinn was called to the South this week by the death of his youngest brother, Angus Rinn, who passed away at Prescott, Ont., where he was accountant in the Bank of Montreal. He had been ill for a couple of months. The funeral was held on Tuesday at the home of his wife's people in Elora, Ont. Besides the widow, a little girl of 5 years old survives. The sympathy of all will be extended to Mr. Rinn in the loss of his brother.

ONLY TWO FIRE CALLS IN TOWN DURING PAST WEEK

No damage. On March 27th at 8:35 a.m. the call was to 21 James street where the stovepipes and chimney were on fire. Again his was a telephone call, and again no damage resulted.

News and Notes of Timmins Girl Guides

Patrol Charts, Patrol Contest, Singing Etc. No Meeting to be Held on Friday of This Week, March 30th. Meeting Friday, April 6th.

The following is the weekly letter from the Timmins Girl Guides:

Patrol Charts
All the patrols now have their charts, and it is very hard to decide which is the nicest, as some of them are quite artistic. The latest chart is the "Poppy." Although the artist did not give her name it is something to be proud of.

Patrol Contest
The girls are still working hard for the contest and it is almost impossible to say which patrol will be victorious. The present standing of the patrols:—
1st Pimpernel 641 marks
2nd Bluebell 631 marks
3rd Purple Heather 590 marks
4th Poppy 587 marks
5th 578 marks
6th 562 marks

The Bluebell patrol deserve special credit for their good work; in the past few weeks they have moved from sixth up to second.

Singing
The girls are going along nicely with their songs and hope to give quite an interesting programme in the near future.

The Guides are discussing a play which they hope to put on in the late spring. This discussion proved very interesting, especially when we discovered that we needed someone with a good Irish accent. After several attempts we decided that during the holidays we would try to adopt this accent, as there was none present Friday.

Fort Erie, Ont.—Mary Fitzgibbon, 17-year-old Fort Erie Girl Guide will represent Canada at the annual rally of Guides in Switzerland this summer. She will leave in June as a guest of the Juliette Lowe Memorial Association of the United States, which annually selects countries that may send one girl each to the rally.

Montreal, Que.—Guides in Montreal are now working hard for their annual rally to take place sometime in May.

The Timmins Guides will not hold a meeting this week, Friday, 30th, being Good Friday, the tube following Friday the meeting will start at 7 p.m. sharp.

Court of Honour will be held for patrol leaders and second on Friday, April 7th at 8:30. Plans for the spring meetings and company promotions, will be the chief discussions.

Sudbury Star.—Archery club in Alberta, says a news item, has decided to hunt game with the short bow. They will use the long bow, however, in describing the bag.

Sudbury Star.—News item says Toronto's main business thoroughfares are "alive with new model Fords." But up at Queen's Park it's the same old Henry.

Work Started Monday on Frederickhouse Lake Dam
Work started on Monday of this week on the construction of the dam at Frederickhouse Lake. Hon. Mr. Finlayson is giving service in the matter of this badly-needed dam, just as A. F. Kenning, M.P.P., gave service in assisting the Porcupine Fish and Game Protective Association in pressing on the Government the need for the work. In this case credit should be given for the attitude taken by all concerned. The dam was necessary to assure the continuation of the hunting ground at Frederickhouse Lake. Without a start at once the feeding grounds of the ducks would be destroyed. The immediate start made on the dam will avoid this. There is often criticism of the Government branches. This is a case where the people have been given both service and action and it also seems a case where due credit should be given to all concerned.

Benefit Dance April 20 at Riverside Pavilion
As noted in The Advance last week, through the interest and co-operation of a number of clubs and other organizations in town a benefit dance is to be held for the benefit of an old-timer of the camp who has given much assistance to the clubs and others in the past but who at present is ill and suffering some general ill-fortune. A committee was recently appointed to proceed with the arrangements for the benefit dance. They have arranged for the event to be held at the Riverside pavilion on April 20th. The Club Royal orchestra will provide the music for the occasion and other features of the dance will be up to the same high standards. It is certain that everybody attending will have a happy time and help a good cause. Tickets are now on sale and are selling well. Any wishing to secure a ticket may do so by applying to any of the committee:—F. J. Wolno, Timmins Band, chairman; Austin Neame, Canadian Legion, financial secretary; K. A. Eyre, Kiwanis, and F. J. Hornby, Band, publicity committee; A. Wilford, Band, musical committee; together with the following:—A. Odgers, Moose; E. Stephens, Cornish Choir; W. Nickson, Lancashire Club.

Englehart Cup Travels After Leaving Timmins
For some years the Timmins Curling Club retained the Englehart Cup here. Rinks from different sections of the North attempted to lift it from its place of honour at the rink here, but all these attempts were unsuccessful until some weeks ago a couple of rinks came here from Kirkland Lake to contest the trophy. To make the story short, the cup was lifted by Kirkland Lake and promptly taken to Kirkland Lake. After reaching Kirkland, however, the Englehart Cup began to travel. The Haileybury curlers took it away from Kirkland Lake after the trophy had been only a few days in the Lake Shore town. Still, the cup kept on travelling, because Englehart promptly rescued it from Haileybury. If the season holds for a few days more Timmins curlers should make a trip to Englehart and rescue that cup. In the meantime, it may not be out of place to ask Jerry if he knows any sort of craser that will remove his name from the cup held for only a few brief hours by Kirkland Lake.
